RECORD NOISE AT CONVENTION OF DEMOCRATS

Renewed Demonstration for McAdoo Gave Way to Original for Smith.

ROOSEVELT THERE

More Fuss Than Work With Only Ten Candidates Nominated.

NEW YORK, June 27.—(Canadian Press.) —In a seven hour continuous session yesterday, always noisy and sometimes tumultuous, the Democratic National Convention advanced its work to a points where ten candidates for the presidency had been placed in nomination.

It witnessed two more demonstrations of note—a renewed one for William G. McAdoo, and a prolonged and original one for Governor Smith, and then it got tied up in a snarl over whether it would recess until ten thirty o'clock this morning. It decided to do the latter after a roll-call vote which might in some sense be accounted a test of strength.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's speech nominating Governor Smith, was the feature of the day's proceedings, but it did not come off quite according to the programme, as it had been understood by the majority of the delegates.

It had been arranged that when the name of Colorado was called for presenting nominations, the State would pass, and that when the clerk called Connecticut, that State would yield to New York, and Mr. Roosevelt would nominate Governor Smith.

But, when the name of Colorado was called, the delegation announced from the floor that it would pass, and then suddenly Chairman Walsh interrupted to announce that the chair recognized Governor Sweet. The Governor delivered a speech seconding the McAdoo nomination and the McAdoo forces got away to a fresh start on their demonstration at the point from which they left off on Wednesday afternoon.

The McAdoo demonstration quieted down after a few minutes, however,, and Mr. Roosevelt placed Governor Smith in nomination.

Roosevelt Changed.

Delegates who four years ago, saw Mr. Roosevelt standing before them at San Francisco, seconding the nomination of Governor Smith and winning the vice-presidential nominatiton for himself, had in their minds a picture of a young man in the flower of his manly vigor stepping briskly to the platform. Yesterday they saw him virtually carried there, crippled by the creeping inroads of infantile paralysis and obliged to prop himself against the Speaker's desk.

It was noticeable that the convention paid closer attention to Mr. Roosevelt than it had any of those who preceded him with nominating speeches, and that he had his audience under control.

But, it was noticeable also, that the managers of the demonstration which was to follow for Governor Smith had worked their plans as had the McAdoo managers the day before, and that they had not failed to equip their professional demonstrators with all the noise-making and enthusiasm-raising devices at their command.

When Mr. Roosevelt's peroration signalled the end of his nominating speech, the racket cut loose. In volume of noise produced, it exceeded the McAdoo demonstration of Wednesday.

For an hour and a half the din continued, one continuous wave of noise in which no particular sound could be distinguished. The marchers, disheveled, soaked in perspiration, and rumbled, kept it up until

U.S. COURTS ARE LIKE THE ARENA SAYS AMERICAN

Police Court Trial is a Sporting Event and Wealth is All Powerful.

JAILS CROWDED

Several Innocent People Confined in One Cell Many Months, He Avers.

TORONTO, June 27.—A thunder ing denunciation of alleged maladministration of justice in the U.S.A. was made by George W. Kirchwey, head of the department of criminology, New York School of Social work, who addressed a crowded assembly of the National Conference of Social Work yesterday at Knox College.

Mr. Kirchwey spok eof an official of his knowledge whom he was morally certain had caused through ramifications of the law to have a prominent man put to death in order to further his own threatened political ambitions.

As an example of the inadequacy of housing in county jails the speaker mentioned the jail of Cook county, Illinois, Chicago. In the crowded season of the year four and five people were confined to one cell, he declared. People awaiting trial, a third of whom were perfectly innocent, would often be confined from periods of time extending from four to eighteen months.

The truth of the matter is we are not a justice loving people, we are a sporty people." Scoring the method of securing juries the speaker said it sometimes took months to choose a jury ignorant enough to qualify to serve.

Power of Wealth

"We throw a safeguard about the person, if the guilty one is wealthy enough and shrewd enough he can escape punishment."

The modern criminal police court was compared to the arena of old Roman days. The gladiators were the lawyers and the judge was the sporting referee who was there to see that the rules of the game were observed.

"The police court trial is not a me dium of protecting society, but a sporting event."

"Are we dealing with the criminal in a way that pleases society?" inquired Mr. Kirchwey in conclusion The only method of securing a safe administration of justice was to do away with corrupt politics and the gladiatorial method of police court trial which was influened by money.

CARPENTERS ARE GOING

Ontario Association Will Discuss the Problem at Kingston Convention.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 27. —(Canadian Press).—The annual convention of the carpenters of Ontario opened yesterday morning in the labor hall without about fifty delegates in attendance.

The president of the executive board of the Ontario provincial council, Mr. W. Guy of Guelph, occupied the chair at this session, when addresses of welcome were delivered by Mayor T. B. Angrove, president Dowler of the local carpenter's union and president Melvin of the local building trades council.

The business session of the convention opened yesterday afternoon when an address was delivered by John Flett, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, after which the visiting delegates were guests of the local union and taken for an automobile drive around the city.

Among the business to be discussed at the convention now meeting will be the question of emigration and immigration. The provincial council puts a conservative estimate of the number of carpenters lost to the provine during the past year at 1,500.

Governor Al Smith tells "Ma" by long distance he has been nominated for the Presidency.

LAWYERS HAVE REAL CLEAN-UP

One Member Expelled and a Second Suspended for Unethical Conduct.

THIRD APPEALS

MONTREAL, June 27. —(Canadian Press).—At a special meeting of the Bar Association of Province of Quebec held here J. A. N. Pruneau was expelled from the Association. Mr. Pruneau defended Leo Davis in the recent trial of six bandits in connection with the Hochelaga Bank hold-up. During the trial Mr. Justice Wilson admonished Mr. Pruneau severely for misquoting him and bringing extraneous matters into his address to the jury. Mr. Pruneau was accused at last night's meeting of having among other things received $150 to institute a case for a client The deposed advocate took the money, but it is alleged he never took proceedings.

At another special meeting of the Bar Association here yesterday Leandre Plante, advocate, of Montreal, was suspended for two months for unethical conduct.

N. J. Marion, advocate, with an office in Hull to-day entered an appeal against a recent judgment of the court of King's Bench (appeal side) confirming a judgment of the Court of First instance which found him guilty of theft. Mr. Marion was charged with having converted to his own use $1300 recovered by a client, Dame Anna Daniel, for her husband's death by accident. He claims he can now bring witnesses not previously available, to prove his innocence.

RETURNED MEN APPEAL.

Delegation to Ottawa Will Ask Permanent Pension Bonus and Re-organization.

REGINA, Sask., June 27.—(Canadian Press).—The western half of Canada will be represented at Ottawa next week when representatives of returned soldiers in Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia and Manitoba will appear before the parliamentary committee dealing with returned soldiers' legislation.

The western men will ask that the pension bonus be made permanent for a re-organization of the pension staff at Ottawa and for some action for the relief of soldier settlers. The delegation will also ask that the question of the jurisdiction of the pension appeal board be settled for all time and will appeal for cooperation between the Pension and appeal boards. In effect, the westerners will press for the carrying out of the recommendations in regard to the Ralston committee.

ALLIES PLAN A CONFERENCE ON DAWES REPORT

United States Assured That Inter-Allied Debts Will Be Barred.

INVITE GERMANY

American Ambassador May Represent His Country on Invitation.

LONDON, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Premier MacDonald has informed United States Ambassador Kellogg that the forthcoming Allied conference in London will be confined to the Dawes' report, it is understood, and Great Britain has obtained the promise of the other Allies that the question of inter-Allied debts will not be raised.

It is stated in well-informed circles that Germany will be invited to be represented at the conference, but whether officially or through observers only, has not yet been made known.

Ambassador Kellogg, who, it is understood, will represent the United States, probably in the capacity of official observer at the conference, must await the official invitation from the British Government before taking further steps. It is expected, however, he will meet Premier MacDonald after the arrival in London of Colonel James A. Logan, American observer with the Reparation Commission, when they will discuss the position of the United States both as to the part it would take in the conference and its share in supporting the Dawes report.

It has been suggested that the attitude of the United States bankers toward the proposed loan to Germany will have much weight in preliminary discussion, particularly in making the report acceptable to Germany. Much of the success of the Dawes report depends on the Railroad Committee which was suggested by the report and is already functioning. It is believed that this committee will be able to file a full report on the relations between the German railroads and reparations payments.

Stuart MacLaren Still Has Chance to Beat U. S.

CALCUTTA, June 27.— (Canadian Press.)— Major Stuart MacLaren left Rangoon for Bangkok this morning, continuing his effort to beat the United States' army planes in the flight around the world.

MacLaren's big amphidian plane is working perfectly again and he is confident that he still has a chance in the race to be the first to girdle the globe in the air.

"The Americans aren't nearly around the world yet," he said before leaving Rangoon.

LOCUSTS STOP TRAINS.

ROME, June 27.—Thick swarms of locusts descended over Sardinia recently, obscuring the sun, ravaging the countryside and leaving desolation in their wake. In places they settled over railway tracks and held up the trains.

Second-Hand Dealer Was Guilty Of Giving Value

SASKATOON, Sask., June 27.—(Canadian Press).— While his partner, Moses Filer, was at lunch, Jacob Kaufman, second hand dealer, sold a nice blue serge jacket to a customer whose trousers just matched. When Moses returned, in his shirt sleeves, Jacob learned he had sold his partner's coat, and with it $75 in cash and money orders. The purchaser was located after a frantic search and made to disgorge by city police.

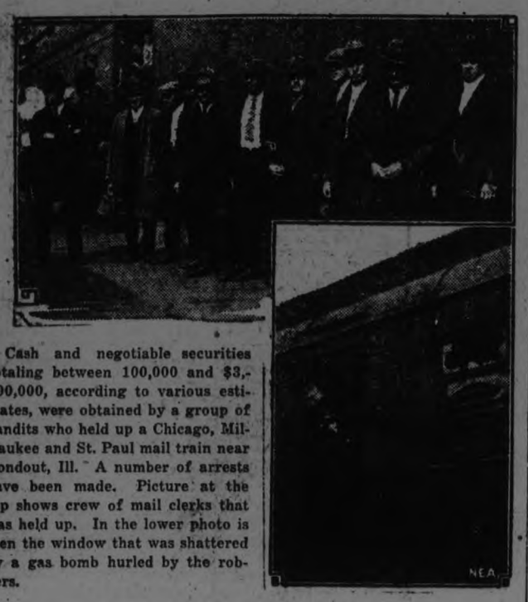
IN MAIL CAR ROBBERY



Cash and negotiable securities totaling between 100,000 and $3,000,000, according to various estimates, were obtained by a group of bandits who held up a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail train near Rondout, Ill. A number of arrests have been made. Picture at the top shows crew of mail clerks that was held up. In the lower photo is seen the window that was shattered by a gas bomb hurled by the robbers.

POST OFFICE IS DOING ITS WORK

Collections and Deliveries in Montreal Are Regular Despite Strike.

NORMAL CONDITIONS

MONTREAL, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—'Normal conditions" in every department at the post office was the description of the situation in the postal department given here yesterday by officials at the main office when asked as to strike conditions.

Mail in this city is being collected from the drop boxes regularly and letters are being delivered in every part of the city, while all the branches of the service are working smoothly, it was stated.

POLISH MARKS GONE.

Replaced Yesterday by New Currency Showing French Influence.

NEW YORK, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Polish marks disappeared yesterday from the foreign exchange lists of local bankers who begun quoting zlotys, the new Polish currency. Marks ceased to be legal tender in Poland after July 1, although they are redeemable in that country for some time after that date.

The change in Polish currency reflects the substitution of French for German influence over Polish affairs, the part value of the defunct Polish mark being 23.8 cents, the same as the pre-war German mark, while the par value of zlotys is 19.3 cents, the same as the French franc.

SUBSCRIBERS LOSE.

Judge Rules That Amounts Unpaid on Subscribed Stock Cannot Be Collected.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Amounts unpaid on stock subscribed in the Northwestern Trust Company, now in liquidation, cannot be collected, it was ruled today by Mr. Justice Dysert in a test case which concerns some 240 shareholders with a total unpaid baiarce of $175,000. Failure of the company to comply with the Sale of shares Act was sufficient defense to any action brought by the liquidator in this connection, His Lordship ruled.

Four In Line For Prize For Capturing Bandits

MONTREAL, June 27. —(Canadian Press).—Three men together with Detective Thibault of this city are in line for the $14,000 reward offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bandits who murdered Henri Cleroux and robbed the Hochelaga bank of $142,288.

The Bankers' Association offered $5,000, the Bank of Hochelaga supplemented this with $5,000 more and a third reward of $4,000 is believed to have been offered by the insurance company.

WILLIAM, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Five boats carried grain totalling 750,000 bushels from the ports of Fort William and Port Arthur yesterday, three boats taking full cargoes of wheat through to Mntreal and a full cargo of oats to Tiffin. Three vessels were loading grain yesterday and three are on their way up light, while four, including the Martian, which has just finished discharging coal, are awiting orders.

POLICE INVESTIGATION.

Montreal Mayor Says Not More Than 25 of 1,200 Are Bad.

MONTREAL, June 27—(Canadian Press).—There is need of an enquiry in one form or another into the Montreal police department so that the reputation of the great mass of the members of the department may be cleared, and the few unfit policemen gotten rid of. said Mayor Charles Duquette in addressing the Business Mens' Council of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropists here yesterday. The mayor said that his own impression was that no more than 25 men of the 1200 staff of the police force here were "bad." His remarks followed a statement by the judge in the recent bandit trial who said such an enquiry is needed.

Canada's Trade Balance Gives Hope For Future

OTTAWA, Ont., June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Canada has a favorable trade balance of nearly $200,000,000 for the twelve months ended May 31. During that period Canadian products exported were worth $1,069,715,880. Imports totalled $873,367,752. July totalled $132,958,403. Exports increased by $110,000,000 over 1923, and imports increased by $32,000,000. The chief increase in exports was in agricultural exports and wood and paper.

PAID TRIBUTE TO CLERGYMAN

Body of Rev. Canon R. S. Forneri Impressively Interred at Adolphustown.

LATE OF PETERBORO

KINGSTON, Ont., June 27 (Special to The Examiner). — Many Kingstonians paid their last tribute to the late Canon R. S. Forneri, who died at Peterborough, at the funeral service which was held in St. George's Cathedral yesterday.

On arrival in the city, the remains were met at the station by the rector and church wardens of St. Luke's Church. Canon W. F. Fitzgerald, Rev. W. E. Kidd, and Rev. F. G. Kirkpatrick.

Lying in state in St. George's Cathedral, the late clergyman was laid out in surplice and D.D. college hood.

The funeral service was conducted by the Bishop of Ontario and Rev. W. E. Kidd, and words of eulogy of the life so faithfully spent in the service of the Church and of comfort for the sorrowing family were spoken by the Bishop.

The honorary pall-bearers were Canon Jones, Canon Fitzgerald, Rev. T. W. Savery, Rev. J. Depright, Canon Woodcock, Brockville, and Rev. Mr. Patton.

The pall-bearers were George Hentig, E. Horsey, G. Compton, A. Murray, J. McCammon, and A. J. Shannon, all old members of his former parish, St. Luke's.

The chief mourners were Rev. A. L. Geen, a son-in-law and his two sons, Ernest A. and Percival, of Belleville; Raymond, his son, of Montreal, and Christopher Robinson, a son-in-law, of Peterborough.

The remains were taken to Adolphustown, where Rev. Herbert Pringle conducted a funeral service before interment.

KILLED BY STREET CAR

Child Thrown Under Wheels by Auto While Crossing Street.

MONTREAL, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Cut in two by the rear wheels of a street car on St. Lawrence Boulevard in the down town section of the city yesterday afternoon Jules Chequette, 3, was instantly killed. The child ran across the street and was confused by an automobile and a street car which was passing one another as he did so. It is thought he was struck by the automobile and thrown beneath the wheels of the street car.

CONSERVATIVES RESIGN?

Rumor in Montreal That Ballantyne and Stewart Left the Association.

MONTREAL, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—According to the Star it is rumored that Hon. C. C. Ballantyne and F. W. Stewart have resigned from the Conservative Association of Montreal. The reason given is that they are opposed to the nomination of a straight Conservative candidate for the recently vacated St. Antoine Division.

LORDS REGRET COMMONS VOTE ON PREFERENCE

Lord Arnold Declares Dominions Have Financial Advantages From Motherland.

MOTION CARRIED

Preference is Protection for Empire at Expense of British Taxpayer.

LONDON, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—In the House of Lords last night Lord Long moved a resolution regretting the Government's decision on the question of trade preferences as calculated to prejudice the unity of the Empire. He said that all his information led him to believe that but for the Government's great pressure on the labor members in the recent House of Commons debate the majority of six against the first preference resolution would have been converted into a considerable minority.

Lord Arnold, Under-Secretary for the Colonies, replying for the Government, said imperial preference was in effect protection accorded to subjects of the Empire outside the United Kingdom at the expense of the taxpayers of Britain. The Dominions and the colonies already had great financial advantages, owing to their connection with the Mother Country. The opponents of preference rejoiced in such benefits. They were prepared to do great things to help the Dominions, but could not approve the preference idea.

The motion was carried, the Government refraining from pressing its opposition to a division.

EVIDENCE IN STEEL CASE.

Judge Will Give Charge of Fraud Against Chase to Jury.

BUFFALO, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Evidence was closed today at the trial of Paul L. Chase, former manager of the L. R. Steel stock selling company, on a charge of improper sale of stock. Jusice Larkin will give the case to the jury at noon today.

Chase was a witness in his own behalf. He denied that he had told John F. Burke, complainant, that he had invested $20,000 in Steel stock. This indictment charges that this alleged statement prompted Burke to invest $1,000 more than he had intended.

Another defence witness was Walter M. Wilkins, former general counsel for the Steel enterprises, and the president of Steel Consolidated Inc., the organization formed by the stockholders' protective trust, to take over stock of two Steel corporations.

Wilkins is under indictment for illegally charging commission for the sale of stock of the Steel corporation of which he was an officer. Wilkins swore that last January Burke had told him that Chase had not used decoy checks to induce Burke to buy stock. Burke earlies in the trial had denied that he made this statement to Wilkins.

BLACK AND WHITE.

A wrap-around skirt of black and white flannel is most attractive with a sleeveless jacket or plain black flannel and a blous of white silk broadcloth.

STRIPED SILK.

Striped silk makes most attractive sport dresses and needs only a leather belt and a necktie in the way of trimming.

ADD VINEGAR OR LEMON.

If you are going to boil fish add vinegar or lemon juice to the water as this hardens the fish and helps keep it whole and thus saves the flavor and nutriment.

LIQUOR

England and Scotland report that exports of liquor to islands near our Atlantic coast are only a third as much as a year ago. But this doesn't mean the rum-runners are less active. What it does mean, is a flood of counterfeit liquor, made from alcohol exported from this desert country of ours. The stuff is shipped out, doctored, colored, bottled and labeled, then brought back as the real thing.

BLACK TULLE.

Black tulle is used considerably now for evening and dinner gowns, frequently with full, many-pointed skirts and close bodices.

U. E. L. HISTORY FROM ARCHIVES OF GOVERNMENT

List of the Settlers in the Belleville District of 1784.

INTERESTING NOTES
Daniel Cole Drew First Lot Because of His Large Family.

COBOURG, June 27.—(Special).—The U.E.L. celebration held last week in Belleville, naturally created a great amount of interest. In some press reports it was stated it was impossible to obtain a list or at least a complete list, of the members of Mayor Vanalstine's party, who settled there in 1784. In the Canadian Archives for 1891 there is a record of the personnel of the 92 men, 46 women and 103 children, who made up the party.

Here is the list of men: — Allen Joseph; Baker, John; Baker, John, Jr., Bangor, Conrad, Benson, Albert Benson, Garrett, Benson, Matthew, Bogart, Abraham, Bogart Gilbert, Bremner, Peter, Cammell, Alex, Cammell, John Lew, Carnahan, Joseph, Clark, Wm. Clouch, Benj. N., Cole Barrent Cole, Daniel, Cole, Simon, Cornell, Albert; Crysdales, John Deane, Moses; Deane, Samuel; Dear John, De Forest, David; Dorland, Philip; Dorland, Thomas; Drisdale, Cornelius; Duser, Casper V.; Duser Conrad V.; Dulyea, A. Peter; Dulyea, A. Peter, Jr.; Dyer, John; Ellison, Joseph; Feron, Andrew; Fitzgerald, John; Flister, Andrew; German, C.; German, C., Jr.; German Jacob, German John, Sr., and Jr.; Hagerman, Nicholas, Hartman, John Hesper Fred; Hofnagle, Andrew; Hofnagle, Joseph; Horn, Corns. V; Hover, Casper, Hover, Jacob; Huff, Peal; Huycke, John; Jones William; Lewis Barrent; McMasters; James Marbird, Michael; Maybe, Abraham; Moore, W.; Parsall, John; Patterson, Abraham; Patterson, C.; Patterson, Nicholas; Patterson, Paul; Roblin, Owen; Roblin, Phelp; Rush, John; Rutter, George; Ruttan, Pettit; Ruttan, Peter; Ruttan, W.; Ryckman, Edward; Ryckman, John; Ryckman, John Jr.; Ryckman, Tobias; Sharp, John; Smith, Richard; Staples, Ebenzer, Steel Matthew; Trumpour, Paul; Tuffey, Samuel; Vallon, Peter; Vanalstine, Mayor; Vandermodt, Michael; Vandermodt, Peter; Van Skiver, John; Van Skiver, Peter; Whitby, John; Yeurex, Isaac; Yeurex, William.

From "Personal Notes" prepared by T. W. Casey of Napanee for the late C. C. James of Toronto, when he was deputy-minister of Agriculture; it is learned that Daniel Cole drew the first lot. While the settlers were waiting in their canvas tents for the allotment of their grants, it was mutually decided that as Daniel Cole had the largest family he should be allowed at once to settle on the first lot. Then all set to work and erected him a log house, covering the roof with rushes and marsh. Daniel Cole had brought some seed potatoes with him and raised a few potatoes that year.

Joseph Allen was a Quaker and a large mill owner in New Jersey, when the American Revolution began. He had a contract to supply flour and provisions for the British Army. This incensed their opposers and they looted his premises. Mr. Allen was so moved by the occurrence that he laid aside his Quaker principles and raised a company of volunteers for the British service.

It is evident that the list preserved in the Canadian Archives is not a complete one, by any means. Old historians tell us of many other military men, who were U. E. Loyalists, besides many others who accompanied them to the Quinte shores because of their allegiance to the British flag. Joseph Allison, Dr. William Canniff, tells us in his records of the settlement of Upper Canada was born at Haverstraw, N.Y. His house and other property was burned, and so this staunch British patriot retaliated by entering the enemy's camp with a comrade. They watched their opportunity, and one dark night got away, taking with them five fine horses from a troop of cavalry. At the battle of White Plains his comrade was shot down, and Allison's canteen belt was cut in two by a ball. He went to Canada with Major Vanalstine, and took up Lot 17 at Adolphustown.

Henry Hover, according to Canniff, was 16 years of age when the Declaration of Independence was signed. His family lived along the banks of the Hudson, near New York. One night he went for the cows, was taken prisoner and carried to Lancashire jail. He escaped after a time, enlisted with Butler's Rangers, and with his brother walked from New York to Fort Niagara to join his company. He received a grant of land at St. David's, but his father, Casper Hover, had settled at Adolphustown, and the sons joined him there.

And in the story of the settlement of Canada by the U. E. Loyalists, it is well to remember the many who came to Canada before the general exodus of disbanded soldiers and others with their families in 1783 and 1784. We can only mention a few examples. There was Capt. Meyers, with whom the history of Belleville is inseparably connected. It is recorded that during the war he made an attempt to take General Scherlyler a captive. With a detachment of ten men he went to Albany for the purpose, but the story goes on to say that a female slave hid the General in the garret. A certificate of Masonry shows he was in Quebec in 1780, and he frequently carried despatches to New York. He came to the Quinte district very early, probably before it was surveyed. He was a pioneer in mill building, in trading and in sailing batteaux and schooners up and down the Bay.

Alexander Nicholson, a Scotchman, who settled in Thurlow in 1809, was attached to Rogers' corps, and first settled at Fredericksburg. He first enlisted as a private under Burgoyne, and was with that officer, and helped his Colonel when he (Col. Burgoyne) was shot from his horse at Bennington, escaping himself through a field of corn to a river, which he forded.

The list of Major Vanalstine's party of Loyalists contains the name of Duser Conrad V.; the name afterwards appears as Vanduzen or Vandusen. According to Mr. T. W. Casey's old records, there were two brothers of this name who settled in Adolphustown, Conrad and Casper. The former is stated to have lived "in the front on Bay of Quinte shore east, next farm to the Allisons." He first kept a tavern there, and it was in his house that Rev. Wm. Lossee, the itinerant Methodist minister, preached his first sermon in Upper Canada in 1790.

Conrad Vandusen was among the converts, and went out and chopped down his tavern sign. Playter, an early member of the family, for whom Playter Crescent in Toronto is named, gives an interesting history of this in his "History of Methodism in Canada."

It was in the house of Paul Huff that the first Methodist class in the Province was organized by William Lossee in 1791. The first Methodist church was built upon his land, and in his barn the first quarter sessions of the Midland district were held in 1794. This, of course, was prior to the erection of a court-house. Paul Huff's father, Solomon Huff, drew land on the Hay Bay shore.

Christopher German, who settled on the 4th Concession of Adolphustown, came of a family, which later gave several descendants to the ministry of the Methodist Church, one of whom was a pastor at Elm Street Church, Toronto. He was with the Loyal Rangers during the war.

George Rutler, who is mentioned, was a "hatter," and no doubt found lucrative occupation making beavers for the Quakers, of whom there were quite a number among the early Loyalist settlers. Canniff Haight, in his stories of "Country Life In Canada," gives interesting records of the Quaker Loyalists.

Lazarus Gilbert was a carpenter by trade, and built the first Anglican church.

William Robins is credited with having kept the first store in the township.

TAX COLLECTION GOOD.

No Difference to Other Years Reports City Tax Collector Green.

City Tax Collector Green reports that the taxes are coming remarkably well.

There is no difference between this and last year remarked Mr. Green. A large number wish to pay their taxes in one instalment, particularly the manufacturing establishments and the larger business interests. About one out of every ten of the residents pay their taxes in one instalment; the other prefer to take advantage of the time payment plan, but it is the same every year, observed Mr. Green.

CITY'S PAVING IS PROGRESSING

Construction Work in Operation in Several Parts of City.

The City has assumed a large road construction mileage this year and the work is well under way.

The Warren Bituminous Paving Company have Water Street near completion. They are required by their contract with the City to construct an asphalt pavement on Water Street from Brock to Dublin and on Water, from Antrim to Smith Street. The city does not intend to do anything with that part of Water Street bordering Goose Pond. The subsoil is settling, and before any road work can be done the sewer will have to be rebuilt and sunken.

In a day or two the construction company will commence to pave McDonnell Street, from Aylmer, west to Reid Street. They are also required by their contract to pave Argyle Street from Water to Sunnyside Streets. When this is done their work will be concluded, but the City are also contemplating paving Antrim Street, from Water to George and Murray Streets from Aylmer to 130 east of Water.

Mr. John Carrol had his men busy today on George Street, from Lansdowne to Romaine where the grading is being removed. Concrete pavement will be laid.

Water Street, from Smith to the C.N.R. tracks is at present closed to traffic. Mr. Carroll reports that the east side of the road will be ready for filling tomorrow and he predicts that the east side will open to traffic sometime during the second week in July, and the whole work finished and ready for traffic about July 20, or thereabouts.

MRS. DAVIS RECOVERS STRENGTH

The following statement contained in a letter from Mrs. Alice Davis of Jamestown, N.Y. should bring hope to other women who are in the same condition she was. She says, "I was nervous and weak with pains in my back, no ambition, and utterly discouraged, and could not sit up all the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength so I am now running a rooming house and do all the work." Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound is pre-eminently successful in overcoming such troubles and it will pay any suffering woman to try it.

DROWNED IN A WELL.

Farm Has Been Scene of Two Tragedies—Owner Shot Himself.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Charles Stratton, was drowned in a well on the Ralphs Johnstone farm near Hurkett, according to notice received by Coroner Laurie yesterday. This is the second tragedy at that farm, Johnstone having killed himself with a rifle about a year ago. Particulars of the drowning are not yet available.

RECORD DOISE

they were at the point of exhaustion and the signals were given to quiet down.

Little Accomplished.

From that point the roll-call of the States continued and when the adjournment was taken for the day, the record of things accomplished so far showed that the convention had before it, placed in formal nomination for the presidency, the following:

William G. McAdoo, of California.
Alfred E. Smith, of New York.
Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas.
Senator Samuel M. Ralston, of Indiana.
Former Senator Willard Saulsbury, of Delaware.
Governor Jonathan Davis of Kansas.
Governor Ritchie, of Maryland.
Former Secretary Houston.
Senator Ferris, of Michigan.
Senator Underwood, of Alabama.

The programme provided for almost as many to come.

Meanwhile the small sub-committee of the Platform Committee was still at work at attempting to harmonize the conflicting views into a party platform. While it was making progress, word was sent to the convention hall that the platform could not be brought in before Friday.

Negotiations were begun among the floor managers for an adjournment. National Committeeman Kremer of Montana, one of the McAdoo leaders, and David Ladd Rockwell, Mr. McAdoo's campaign manager, were opposed to more than a recess for dinner. They wanted to continue the session last night.

On the other hand, some of the other leaders who have openly expressed their sympathy for the Smith candidacy, wanted to adjourn until Friday morning at ten thirty o'clock.

Caused a Snarl.

Mr. Kremer moved for a recess. Then John Fitzgerald, of Brooklyn, moved to amend Mr. Kremer's motion to provide for an adjournment until Friday morning at ten thirty. The chorus of ayes and noes on that seemed so evenly divided that the chairman could not decide and a roll call was ordered.

The word was passed about the floor that the New York delegation wished to prevent a night session because it wished to avoid coming to the point of balloting for candidates until the Ku Klux Klan issue in the platform had been disposed of.

Finally, after a long tangle, the vote was counted and it was found that 558 votes had been cast against the proposition to merely recess as proposed by the McAdoo managers, and that 513 1-2 votes had been cast in favor of it. The vote on the adjournment quickly followed and the convention piled out to return to its work to-day.

HOTELMAN GETS PRISON.

Second Charge of Selling Liquor Provides For Jail Term.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 27. — (Canadian Press).—The first conviction under the Provincial Act which provides a jail term for a hotel proprietor convicted of a second offence of selling liquor was registered in the police court here yesterday. Chas. Humpherson, proprietor of the Empress Hotel was given sentence of six months imprisonment. Second charges against other hotelmen are pending.

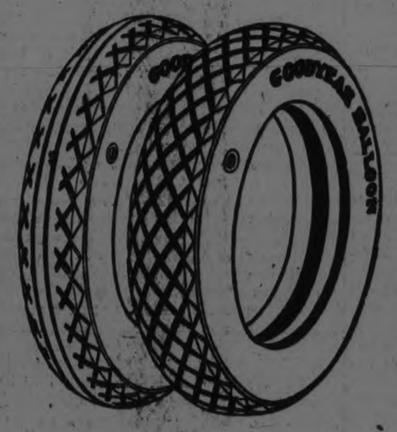
Balloon Tires to Fit Six Sizes of Wheels



As the world's largest manufacturer of automobile tires, Goodyear's chief interest in Balloon Tires is to provide Balloon Tire Comfort and Balloon Tire Economy to the greatest possible number of motorists.

For this reason, Goodyear builds Balloon Tires for six sizes of wheels and rims—covering all the new wheels and practically all present wheels.

On your present car or on your new car—you can enjoy the known value, economy and comfort of tested Goodyear Balloon Tires, without change of wheels or rims.

You may prefer the appearance of the smaller wheels on your present car. Your present wheels may not allow sufficient fender clearance for Balloon Tires. If so, see your Goodyear Selected Dealer, car dealer, or nearest Goodyear Branch, regarding new smaller wheels and rims.

FRIDAY, JUNE 27, 1924.

PETERBOROUGH'S TURN.

Belleville people speak of the United Empire Loyalist celebration last week as a huge success, attracting thousands of visitors, earning publicity for Belleville and providing the community with a memorable week of enjoyable functions.

It undoubtedly was a demonstration of what can be accomplished by an enthusiastic and hard-working committee, backed by the efforts of the public, and the Examiner believes that Peterborough should not be above taking a lesson from the experience of our neighbors.

An old boys' reunion or a similar celebration can be made a success in Peterborough.

There is just as much enthusiasm here as in any community in Ontario if it is given intelligent leadership.

If Belleville and Oshawa and Lindsay can put such events over triumphantly there is not a reason in the wide, wide world why Peterborough should anticipate failure should a similar celebration be planned for this city.

An old boys' reunion, because of the dearth of such occasions here, would be welcome to the majority of citizens who, reading about the gala events in other cities, are asking themselves the question, "What is the matter with Peterborough that her people are always going somewhere else on a holiday?"

It is something that should be kept in mind for next summer as an event likely to shake Peterborough out of its rut insofar as such affairs are concerned.

PROTECTING THE FOREST.

The time has arrived when Peterborough people, as do Canadians everywhere, are beginning the annual exodus from the city into the delights of river and lake resorts.

The effect of a vacation spent under such conditions sends you back to work refreshed and invigorated, sounder in health and more tranquil in mind.

To those whose fancy takes them on real camping tours rather than to the more formal summer hotels, a special appeal is being directed.

They are asked to do their utmost to protect the woods from disastrous fires.

All they need to do is to follow the simple Boy Scout rule in regard to camp-fires and to be careful about throwing away burning cigar stubs and cigarette ends.

The camp-fire is a necessity; no camp would be complete without the cheerful blaze of the wood fire.

But campers should take precautions to see that the fire is located in a safe place, that it is not any larger than is needed, and above all, that every spark has been extinguished.

It is too common a practice for campers to leave their fires burning when leaving one camp site for the next, and some serious fires have been the result of this carelessness.

Peterborough people who are planning to spend their vacation in this fashion should resolve to do their part in protecting the forests.

ENJOYING THE WATER IN SAFETY.

Some timely hints in regard to safe bathing are published in the Red Cross Courier, and the Examiner is glad to present them for the benefit of its readers.

Peterborough people are fortunate in the facilities they have for enjoying swimming, canoeing, wading and all forms of healthful and wholesome water sports, and it is in the hope that these may be participated in without the fear of tragedy that these simple, common-sense rules are published.

Swimmers and non-swimmers should both observe the following "Don'ts":

If you cannot swim:

Don't wade unless you know the depth of the water.

Don't go wading alone or where there is a swift current.

Don't go canoeing unless accompanied by an experienced swimmer.

If you can swim:

Don't attempt long swims early in the season. Wait until you get in condition.

Don't swim on a full stomach. Wait at least two hours after eating.

Don't swim if overheated.

Don't swim until exhausted.

Don't dive without accurate knowledge of the depth of the water.

Don't cry for help in fun. You may some time need help and not get it.

Don't go in swimming alone.

If you are a canoeist:

Don't attempt canoeing without some instruction in paddling.

Don't stand up or change seats unless ready to swim out. Many deaths result from this.

Don't try to scarce your companion by rocking the canoe. It isn't smart and may cause a death.

CANON FORNERI.

It was only the other day that we referred to Canon Forneri as being the longest ordained clergyman of the Anglican Church in this diocese, and now we have to record his death. We are glad that we had the opportunity in noticing his long service, and also a very able sermon on Modernism which he preached but a short time ago, to assure him of the esteem and effection in which he was held not only by those to whom he had ministered but by a very wide circle. We are glad that he saw this, and that we did not wait to say it till he had passed away. Now we can only say that his death will be regretted by all who knew him; he was a faithful, earnest servant of his Master; he was a true friend; he was a cultured gentleman, and his whole life was passed in trying to carry out the duties of his great and sacred calling.—Kingston Standard.

THE JACKSON PARK CAMP.

The reopening of the summer camp at Jackson Park calls attention to this phase of the activities of the Peterborough Health Association.

The camp since its inception has been a source of great benefit to many young children whose health is below normal, and for whom a holiday by lake or river is for financial or other reasons impossible.

The Jackson Park establishment admirably takes the place of the summer resort.

Situated on high ground, covered with beautiful pines, it is ideally located, and thanks to the co-operation of the Kiwanis Club and other organizations, a splendid camp plant is now available.

The safe wading and bathing pool constructed this year adds to the attractiveness of the camps from a juvenile viewpoint, and altogether no better location could be secured than Jackson Park for such an institution.

It is expected that the attendance this year will be larger than ever, and the association confidently looks forward to good results.

To provide children with an ideal playgrounds under supervision, to give them a well-planned diet and to make sure that they have sufficient rest during the day is to give them a long start on the road to good health, and in carrying out this work on a sound basis the Health Association is making a contribution toward the community welfare that is appreciated by the citizens generally.

Children whose health is not all it should be cannot fail to benefit by their sojourn at Jackson Park.

THE VERDICT.

Mr. Justice Wilson, the much criticized jury, Crown Prosecutor Calder and the Canadian system of justice, are all to be congratulated on the conduct and conclusion of the sensational bandit trial that closed last night, says the Montreal Star.

The community will breathe more easily today. Unmistakable notice has been broadcast over the Continent that Montreal is an exceedingly poor city in which to mix banditry with murder. That is the whole purpose, and the only purpose, of punishment. The lives and property of our citizens must be safeguarded. Another jury disagreement, in fact of the overwhelming evidence adduced against most of the prisoners, would have seriously shaken public confidence in our machinery of justice and advertised Montreal as a criminals' paradise, in which men may commit brutal crimes, be "caught with the goods," and yet escape.

Happily no such advertisement was sent humming over the wires. Judge and jury did their duty. The jury did more. They checked for a time at all events the rapidly rising movement for the abolition of the jury system. When a jury finds in accordance with the practically unanimous feeling of the community, it is performing exactly the task set a jury—that is, interpreting the lay rather than the legal mind on the case. The legal mind may now have a new innings in the appeal already announced; but the lay mind has spoken.

It is only fair that the officials, from the judge to the least attache of the court, should know that the great public outside appreciate their devotion to duty, their courage and the splendid mental ability with which they performed their stern task. The eyes of the country—and, we may be sure, of the underworld far beyond our country's confines—were on them through every hour of the trial. There was much anxiety; and there will now be much relief. The good old British system of justice still functions.

ST. LAWRENCE POWER.

Untold millions worth of power are rolling wastefully down the St. Lawrence Valley; and it is pure nonsense for anyone to expect that the sagacious and enterprising people of this Continent, on either side of the boundary, are going to sit still forever and watch that waste. They are bound to insist, sooner or later, that the river god be harnessed to turn the mills of two great industrial communities.

That this can be done without interfering with the navigability of the river has been shown already. It is not necessary to dam an entire waterway like the St. Lawrence, with its immense volume, in order to draw from it plenty of power to serve the country on both sides of it for decades to come. Water power is a magical thing on a river like the St. Lawrence. It can be used and released, and then used again farther down.

In a word, the first thing that our two Governments should do is to pronounce a divorce between the Channel scheme and the power project. The Channel scheme is a chimera. It can never be of value to either nation under anything like present shipping conditions. It would be a crime for either nation to waste money on it. It would be worse than a crime—it would be black treason for the Canadian Government to plunge us deeper into debt for so problematic a purpose at this dangerous period in our history when deficits dog the steps of every Finance Minister and our National Railways and fantastic Merchant Marine make quite heavy enough burdens for one country.

But we cannot and should not hold back power development. All we need do is most carefully to safeguard our proper rights of ownership in any power developed. On the international section of the river, half of it is ours; and even if we are not ready to use our half just yet, we should clearly establish by written treaty our full right to get it when we do need it. If we want to lease it to the Americans in the meantime, that is a purely business question.

Power development, of course, should not be a liability, but an asset. It ought not to cost us money—it ought to make us money. If any proposal will not do this because it is ahead of present demands, then it should wait. We have gone into debt just about as far as we want to go for the sake of sweet posterity. We should develop the power as it is needed; and if the American need outstrips ours for the moment, it should be quite easy to arrive at a bargain by which they can pay us rental for our share without acquiring the smallest measure of permanent ownership in it. The control should always be joint and equal.

In this way, we can satisfy the people who want power. Then it will be much easier to effectively enlighten the visionaries who think they want ocean liners to reach Chicago.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Mayor Hiltz of Toronto is urging the postal strikers to return to work. It is good, if belated, advice.

It looks as if a by-election in Gus Porter's constituency will now be a necessity.

Sir George Foster says the world is getting better, thereby differing from most of the veterans who speak of the "good old days."

There seems to be plenty of fighting spirit rampant at the Democratic Convention.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Falling in love is about like loafing. Both use up more time than a busy man can spare.

Three armed bandits got $43,500 from a New York jeweller, so now they have enough to spend a week-end at a fashionable summer resort.

"Autos," says a professor, "are making people lose the use of their legs." But we would say they develop pedestrian legs like bullfrogs.

The second crop of straw hats will be ripe soon.

It must be awful to work in a bank and count so much money and get so little of it.

Straw hats are beginning to feel as natural now as overcoats did a few months ago.

Your lot could be worse. Suppose you were a society girl and had to sit down and be still a few minutes?

WINNIPEG LIVESTOCK.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 27 (Canadian Press). — Arrivals yesterday: 42 0cattle and calves, 1,250 hogs and 240 sheep and lambs.

The cattle market opened with a moderate demand for desirable, handyweight butchers, the few offerings moving out at firm prices. The better grades of stockers and feeders also sold on a fully steady basis, while the demand for more plain varieties was exceedingly poor.

On the hog market bidding maintained a firm tone over Wednesday's close, thick smooths selling at $7.20 and select bacons at $7.92.

The sheep and lamb market turned somewhat weaker, prices ranging from 50 cents to $1.00 lower. Best lambs went from $15.00 to $16.00; yearlings from $9.00 to $11.00; and sheep from $5.00 to $8.00.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 27 (Canadian Press. — Corn, wheat, and oats yesterday all outdid prices heretofore, the top for the present season. Increasing unfavourable conditions for the new corn crop, together with scarcity of supplies on hand forced the corn market to 1.01 a bushel here for No. 2 yellow corn, immediate delivery.

The corn market closed nervous, 1 7-8c to 2 3-4c net higher, September 93 7-8c to 94c.

Wheat finished unsettled at 1 1-4c to 2 5-8c gain, July $1.16 and September $1.17 1-2 to $1.17 5-8, with oats 1 1-2c to 3c up; and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

ed buying back grain from the east.

Dearth of corn and oats here was so acute that some shippers report. The trade in future deliveries of corn assumed large proportions, and it was only at the end of the day that profit-taking on the part of the recent buyers checked the advance of prices and brought about any important downturn. The fact that unsettled weather was predicted for the entire corn belt made the crop outlook worse for corn and oats, and indicated that farmers were likely to tighten their hold on reserves on both the feed grains.

Reports from Iowa, the biggest corn producing state, said the best of future conditions would be without power to overcome the intense lateness of the crop, washed-out fillsides and flooded valleys. Special attention was also given to Minneapolis advices that much of the corn crop in the North-West would hardly mature before frost.

Wheat and oats advanced with corn, but wheat showed independent strength owing to an unexpected jump in Liverpool quotations and to word of urgent need of rain in parts of the Canadian North-West. There was evidence, too, of considerable foreign buying of future deliveries of wheat here.

Provisions responded to the upward swing of grain and hogs.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, June 27 (Canadian Press). — Cattle receipts yesterday, 7,000; most killing classes fairly active, 15c to 25c higher; liberal share week's decline regained; top matured steers, $10.60; several loads, $10.00 to $10.40; bulk long yearlings, $10.00; light kind, $9.75; demand broad for yearlings and medium grade light steers; common low qualitied offerings slow; stockers and feeders weak in absence of stable country demand; fat cows and heifers sharing advance; desirable heifers up most; bulls dull; best heavy bolognas around $4.50; several strings light sausage bulls, $4.00 and below; vealers unevenly lower largely $8.00 to $9.00 to packers; latter price taking choice handyweights; outsiders paid upward to $9.5 and above early for hand-picked selections.

Hogs, receipts 29,000; moderately active; mostly 10c to 15c higher; bulk good and choice, 250 to 325 pound butchers, $7.10 to $7.25; better grades 160 to 225 pound weight largely $6.70 to 7$.10; desirable 140 to 150 pound average mostly $6.25 to $6.60; bulk packing sows, $6.30 to $6.55; killing pigs weak; bulk good and choice strongweights, $5.50 to $5.65; estimated holdover 20,000.

Sheep receipts 12,000; fat lambs uneven; native steady to 25c lower; rangers strong to shade higher early; closing steady to weak; best natives and rangers to city butchers and shippers, $13.75; sorting generally more moderate; yearlings strong; sheep slow, scarce, steady; bulk yearlings, $10.00 to $11.00; few at $11.50; wethers, including around 30 per cent. two's, $8.00; best fat ewes upward to $5.75 ;feeding lambs were steady; few near top kind, $11.90.

A THOUGHT

INFLUENCE OF THE PRESENT

But a short time ago there was a storm. Black clouds and a pouring rain. The whole world looked threatening and my spirit slumped; but now the sun is shining, the air is fresh, the flowers are throwing to the wind their wild perfume, and the whole face of nature looks hopeful and cheerful.

How like nature is human nature. In time of trouble things make us resolve that nothing is bright, but when the sky is clear, these resolves retire.

Like children at school, we are taught. And like scholars after school, we soon forget. Education ends when we stop thinking.

We may have been taught, but no lesson is of value until we ponder.

Every man knows enough and has been taught enough by experience, but the trouble is, we must have more experience to make us think. The influence of the present casts its sunshine or shadow over past experience and this is a mistake.

When you spend your time in worrying about all the disagreeable, disappointing and disastrous things that may happen, you fail utterly to enjoy the pleasant things at hand to-day.

To-day and its pleasant memories of yesterdays are all any of us can bank on—for to-morrow never comes.

REGRET THEIR PROMISE

Nationalists in Africa Wish to Form a Duties Party in Opposition.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, June 27.— (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—The South African party headquarters, in a statement issued yesterday in reply to the appeal of Tielman Roos, leader of the Transvaal nationalists, for a re-union of the Dutch and for "our South African party resulting in the formation of the racial nationalist party and the latter's repeated rejection of re-union proposals.

The statement declares that the nationalists already regret their promise to labor and want to get rid of their labor coalitionists by forming a duties party.

THE KIWANIS CONVENTION

DENVER, Colo., June 26.—Victor M. Johnson, of Rockford, Illinois, was elected president of Kiwanis International to-day at the closing session of the international convention. Other officers elected were: 1st Vice-President, Ralph Ammerman, Scranton, Pa.; 2nd Vice-President, J. Walter C. Taylor, Montreal, Canada; Treasurer, Henry C. Heinz, Atlanta, Ga.; Trustees, Charles W. Gold, Greensboro, N.C., Dr. Burton D. Myers, Bloomington, Ind., Ray Crossman, Omaha, Nebr., O. Samuel Cummings, Dallas, Texas, George E. Snell, Billings, Mont., Douglas J. Scott, Winnipeg, Canada, Thomas J. Babb, Jr., Worcester, Mass., and Lewis Mitchell, Buffalo, N.Y.

After a spirited fight the delegates voted to have the 1925 convention in St. Paul. Indianapolis, Memphis and Kansas City have made a bid for the 1926 convention.

The more important resolutions presented at the convention were for the Kiwanians to exercise their franchise more unanimously at the polls; one against narcotics and reaffirming the pledge to aid in stamping out the evil; for the preservation of forests. It was announced that many resolutions relating to a world court, international peace, traffic rules for safety and safety first and for further work to bring the town and country together had been submitted, but all had been referred because they were covered by special committees that had these matters in charge. These also, it was announced, included many dealing with the underprivileged child and the foundation of a city of childhood, which also were covered in the special committee of the international.

Reports of various committees were madee, that of the treasurer by Russell E. Ward, Jackson,Mich., finance, Victor M. Johnson, Rockford, Ill.; credentials by Fred S. Kisteman, California, and then Roe Fulkerson, editorial writer of the Kiwanis Magazine, spoke.

Harry E. Karr, of Baltimore, reported on the new constitution adopted by the organization.

Mr. Fulkerson, of Washington, D. C., is editorial writer for The Kiwanis Magazine, a famous wit, and he illuminated his address with a number of stories. He stressed the necessity of Americans showing up, taking for his subject: "Dollar Chasing," and his "text" was "What profits a man to amass wealth and leave a rich widow!" Mr. Fulkerson said that in chasing the dollar American men were amassing wealth, but were forgetting how to smile, how to enjoy their families and how to get something out of life.

"It is for this reason," said Mr. Fulkerson, "that has come into being; to teach men there is something else than money, to teach them to consider others, to love one another, to be true and do something in this world really worth while. Kiwanis teaches happiness, charity, love."

Eugene Walsh, of Davenport, Iowa, addressed the convention on "Planning Activities," and O. Samuel Cummings, of Dallas, made an address on "Functions of Club Officers."

Canadian Leader Speaks.

An outstanding feature was the address by the Hon. R. J. Manion of Fort William, Canada, a member of the Canadian parliament and one of the great leaders of the Conservative party of Canada. He is also one of the most active and prominent Kiwanians in the neighboring country.

Mr. Manion spoke warmly of the friendship between the United States and Canada, paying tribute to the thousands of Americans who joined the Canadians at the outbreak of the war; of how Canadians and Americans always had been friendly and that it was only an imaginary line that separated the two nations.

"I never expect to see one flag for both countries, but I do expect to always see the two flags flying together as we see them to-day," declared Mr. Manion, and great applause followed.

Mr. Manion also said that the British empire was vitally interested in the Pacific Problem, when he alluded to Japan, though not mentioning that country. This British interest, he said, came not only through Canada, but more especially in Australia. It is an interest common with the United States, he said.

More Reports Made.

Committee reports on grievances were handed in by Royal M. Bates; district governors by Judge Reeder, of Salt Lake, because of the absence through illness of Lewis Mitchell, of Buffalo; music by Rev. Dr. Charles A. Gage, Chicago. The special committee on service to underprivileged children was reported by Dr. Burton D. Myers. He urged that the work of Kiwanis for these children be continued, and called special attention to the new law passed by congress and to be ratified by the states placing the child labor age at 18.

A group of 300 women from Idaho Springs, arrayed in the costumes and gowns of the old time, took part in the pageant. A bit of striking realism was injected into the pageant when cowboys rode into the bar and dance, broke up the roulette games and proceeded to shoot up the place in true western style, while the gamesters and hangers-on ducked behind tables, and chairs or fled from the building.

An event of particular interest was a rock drilling contest. The contest was won by driving a chisel thirteen inches thru solid granite in five minutes. After the contest a modern drilling machine penetrated the rock twenty-one inches in two minutes.

History of West Re-Enacted

Bands of cowboys mounted on spirited bronchos and armed with six-shooters, the covered wagon of a thousand memories and tragedies, the early stage coach with adventurous drivers urging their horses at breakneck speed to carry their passengers and the mail safely into the market trading post; a replica of the Western dance hall, the bar and the hotel, dancing girls, roulette wheels, gold miners, and above all, the pioneer women with her steadfast courage and never failing devotion—these were the elements of early Western society that brought back the spirit of the West.

The person of Theodosius Meyer, a Franciscan monk from Sante Fe, N.M., who marched in the pageant with cross and cassock, brought up a vivid picture of the zeal, the sacrifice and martyrdom of the early Christian missionaries who sought to plant Christianity in a strange land among a savage people.

Col. Kick Rutledge, Indian scout, a former companion of Kit Carson, and scout with Buffalo Bill, was one of the picturesque figures of the pageant. The cowboy band and several other bands, which are here for the convention, gave concerts, as well as a number of other Kiwanis musical organizations. The Spanish dancing girls gave an exhibition in the amphitheater.

The theme of the production was organized by Jerry N. Tobin of Denver and Courtney Riley Cooper, well known author of Idaho Springs.

Important Committees

Delegates who occupied important positions in the work of the convention were members of the following committees:

The report of the committee on public affairs contained a number of important recommendations to the international body. The report was made by W. H. H. Piatt, general chairman, J. Walter Taylor, chairman of the Canadian committee, and George A. Shurtleff, chairman of the United States committee.

Among the recommendations of the United States section were those favouring reduction of the city, state, and federal government taxation, adoption of the budget system in the administration of government affairs ,reduction of money cost and number of employees of the government, maintenance of a reserve banking system, and the unity of the law of sales in interstate and foreign commerce in the United States.

Recommendations of the Canadian section included annual observance in Canada of a week to be known as "Canadian Citizenship Week," that the Canadian Kiwanians constantly favour universal peace as a policy, that representatives in each legislature be reduced in number, that civil service be consolidated, that duplication of offices be eliminated, and that modern and efficient methods be employed to reduce the national debt and the taxes on industry.

The general committee recommended that all clubs composing the international give sincere consideration and devotion to the augmentation of moral and spiritual thought in the community life.

A. L. Shuman of Fort Worth reported on publicity; E. L. Chase, Kansas City, reported on inter-club relations; William R. Brown, Pasadena, reported on education; and George E. Snell, of Billings, Montana, spoke on the relationship between the individual and the international organisation.

Walter J. Campbell, district governor of New England, spoke on "The Individual and the International," and when he stepped to the front of the stage all the New Englanders arose and cheered. Mutual confidence among Kiwanians was the trend of his speech.

Dr. Gage, in his demonstrations of music, read the committee on music report which dsiclosed that for Denver there were fourteen musical organisations and that fifty-eight events were scheduled for the opening day, sixty-eight for the second day, and sixty for the third day of the convention.

Musical Programme Given.

Dr. Gage, in reviewing the power of music over man, at one place said:

"Jazz is not music—just nerve-racking noise!"

Jules Brazil, of Toronto, that little Canadian entertainer, who is putting the ginger into the convention, was at the piano with side acts and side remarks for the musical demonstration.

Attendance and Efficiency Contest Results.

Nine clubs in Kiwanis International scored 100 per cent. in the annual attendance contest, and so each of them will be given a prize.

These clubs belonged in the Blue section, which is for clubs of a membership of from 35 to 75. The nine club- were: Chester, Pa., Englewood, Chicago, Erwin, Tenn., Lahabra, Cal., Laredo, Texas, Rock Island, Ill., San Jose, Cal., South Orange, Maplewood, N.J., Tipton, Ind. These clubs got into first place, second place went to Alameda, Cal., and third place to Clinton, Ill.

There were five clubs in first place in the silver section for clubs of from 76 to 15 0members, being Annaheim, Cal., Ann Arbor, Mich., Burlington, Iowa, Fullerton, Cal., Van Nuys, Cal. Second place went to Woodlawn, Chicago, and third place to Bremerton, Wash.

In the gold section for clubs with 150 or more members, the first place went to Utica, N.Y., the second to Davenport, Iowa, and the third to Oklahoma City.

In the contest among the twenty-eight Kiwanian districts in the Blue division for districts with twenty-five or less clubs, the Colorado-Wyoming district got first with honourable mention for West Canada and Montana.

In the Silver division for districts with from twenty-five to thirty-five clubs, Michigan got first, with honourable mention for Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and Capitol districts.

In the Gold division for districts with thirty-six or more clubs, first place went to Illinois-East Iowa, with honourable mention for California and Pacific North-West.

Much Applause Aroused.

In the efficiency contests for clubs first place went to Vancouver, B.C., second to Cairo, Ill., and third to Valley City, N.D.

The attendance awards were announced by Victor E. Stempf, St. Louis, chairman of the committee, while Edmund C. Van Diest, Colorado Springs, as chairman, announced those in the efficiency contest. The attendance, of course, is for attendance at club meetings. The efficiency has to do with the manner in which the clubs were handled in all ways and its activities in the Kiwanian field.

Early Days of '59 in Great Pageant.

Denver, the village of '59, picturesque, wild and romantic during the gold rush days, was reincarnated at the Denver Civic Centre. A great historic pageant, "The Spirit of the West," was presented.

More than 3,500 persons took part in the spectacle. Fifty Indians, Apaches, Arapahoes, Santa Domingoes, and Navajos from the Great Painted Desert of Arizona, all of them clad in the regalia of Indians on the warpath, with painted faces, bows and arrows, imparted an idea of the pioneer's life.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

A Shower in Honor of Miss Anna Russell—Personal Mention.

MILLBROOK, June 27.—A pleasant social event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston on Monday evening, when about twenty members of the choir and teachers and officers of the Sunday School gave a miscellaneous shower in honor Mis Anna Russell, whose marriage to Mr. W. W. Kennedy takes place on Tuesday, July 1st.

Miss Russell has been a faithful helper in the choir, and as a teacher in the Sunday School she had done excellent service. A thoroughly good time was enjoyed with game and music before the chief event of the evening was happily carried out.

A small wheelbarrow, covered with white and beautifully decorated with roses and spirea, was brought in by Edna Gervan, who was dressed in white and wore a wreath of flowers in her hair. The barrow was piled high with gifts, useful, dainty, and for many purposes, which had been prompted by affection, warm friendship, and appreciation of services willingly given.

Miss Russell was taken completely by surprise, and found it somewhat difficult to express how highly she valued the kind thoughtfulness which had shown itself in such tangible form.

Pleasant social intercourse was further enjoyed, and a delicious supper served by the hostess, Mrs. Johnston, before the gathering was brought to a close.

Of Local Interest.

The Sunday Schools and Young Peoples' Leagues throughout the Peterborough district, whose representative on the foreign field in Rev. Ernest Hibbard, B.A., of Chengtu, West China, will be interested in the following facts concerning his life which are for the first time available.

Mr. Hibbard was born in the parish of Islington, London, Eng., of Wesleyan parents. His father, a successful business man in London, gave him a thorough business education, intending that he should follow him in a mercantile career. Finding that this was not his son's ideal, his father sold the business and retired to his country home at Leigh-on-Sea, where he had since passed away, but here Mrs. Hibbard still resides.

When only three years of age, Ernest expressed his desire to be a missionary, an ambition later realized, making him the ninth to go to the mission field from his father's and mother's family circle. Russia, Germany, India and China have been their respective fields of labor.

In 1902, Mr. Hibbard first came to Canada, spending a year on a farm at Burnside, then entering Portage la Prairie Collegiate Institute for his matriculation work. He graduated from Wesley College, Winnipeg, in arts and theology. During his college career he took an active interest in all its phases, holding such responsible positions as President of the University Student Volunteer Band, vice-president of the Scientific Society, treasurer of the Student Representative Council, and manager of the Matrimonial Agency.

In 1911 two important events in his life occurred—he was appointed to China, and his marriage to Miss Emma Barlow, of Woodstock, Ont., a deaconess working in Winnipeg, took place. The outbreak of the revolution postponed their departure for China for one year, and shortly after their arrival at Chung-King, Mrs. Hibbard contracted small-pox, passing away just one month after they had reached the Orient.

Bravely carrying on his work alone, he spent two years in language study, accepting then the position of Press accountant and treasurer of the mission at Chengtu, for which his business training had fitted him admirably. He also does preaching, teaching, or any work the mission required of him.

In 1919, just before returning to Canada for his first furlough, he married Miss Jane Ure, one of the most efficient teachers in West China, under the Women's Missionary Society, who had then just completed her first term of service. Their little son, Thomas Ernest, was born in Toronto in 1920, and a daughter, Doris Elizabeth, has since been born in China.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Harrington motored to Niagara Falls this week where Mr. Harrington is attending the convention of Hydro officials. Jean Stinson accompanied them for the trip which will include a brief stay in Toronto, Buffalo, and other points.

About thirty members of J. B. Hall Lodge, A.F. & A.M., No. 145, attended divine service at St. Thomas Church on Sunday evening. The rector, Rev. Canon Allen, preached an appropriate and practical sermon to the Order, and the choir rendered a special anthem for the occasion. The congregation was unusually large.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Lambert, of Barrie, who are on their wedding trip, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lambert, Waverley Buildings. Mrs. Lambert and little daughter, Lenora, accompanied them to Oshawa on Monday, returning with Mr. Lambert, who motored over on Wednesday.

Mr. T. J. Lang has been accomplishing repairs on the house occupied by Mr. G. Sanderson, which was badly damaged by the recent fire, with surprising speed. A new roof has been put on, and the interior carpenter work, plastering, painting and papering is nearing completion. It is not much more than two weeks since the fire, and Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson, who have been living in the kitchen part of the house, will probably be able to occupy the whole again by the early part of next week.

Professor Mains, of Albert College, Belleville, recently paid a brief visit to Rev. S. T. and Mrs. Tucker at the Parsonage.

Miss Kathleen Sutton was one of the pupils of Professor Gliddon who played at the recital given in the Conservatory of Music, Peterborough, last week, and also among those of his pupils who assisted in the tearoom at the "At Home" given by the staff of the Conservatory on Saturday.

Mrs. M. Pogue is visiting her daughter-in-law, Mrs. B. Rehill, Omemee.

Miss Marjorie Smith, B.A., of the Port Colborne Collegiate staff, is home for the summer holidays.

Miss Muriel Walters, of Whitby, has been a recent visitor at the home of her aunt, Mrs. A. A. Smith.

Miss Edna Eastcott, B.A., is home from her position in the School of Science, Toronto University, for the summer holidays.

The Continuation School examinations began on Monday and are continuing all this week, Mr. Davidson, of Cobourg, being the presiding examiner.

Miss M. Collins, of Oshawa, is visiting her niece, Mrs. F. Smith.

Miss Mary Higgs, of Whitby, was the guest of Mrs. C. W. Richards, and other friends in town over the week-end.

The Women's Institute has done a work which will be much appreciated by planting flowers round the Soldiers' Memorial this week. A low, ornamental fence encloses the square of the base, and within this plants have been arranged which promise a pleasing variety of bloom as the season advances. Miss E. Grandy, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Mrs. W. E. Ball, Mrs. Will Armstrong were among those who had the work in charge.

An impressive baptismal service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. S. T. Tucker, in the Methodist Church on Sunday morning. Four babies, each under three months of age, were very good throughout the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. W. Elson, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Hatherly, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Rowland, and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Sutton were the parents who brought their children for baptism, desiring to have Mr. Tucker perform this service before his removal from this circuit.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. G. T. Metzler, of Union Springs, N.Y., who are enjoying a motor trip for their holidays, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Byam, Mr. and Mrs. W. Mullen, on Monday and Tuesday of this week, leaving here for Napanee, where Dr. Metzler has a brother on the family homestead.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Appointment to the Public School Teaching Staff,—School Board Meeting.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 27. — Miss Helen M. Bygott, daughter of Major J. M. Bygott, was appointed teacher in the Primary Department of the Public School, to succeed Mrs. C. Read, resigned, at the regular meeting of the Board of Education held last night. Her duties will commence after the summer vacation, and the initial salary, according to schedule, is $800.00 per year.

Miss Bygott, who was appointed on the first ballot from among six applicants for the position, is one of the brightest graduates of the many turned out by the Campbellford High School. At present she is receiving her professional training in the Normal School at Peterborough.

High School Matters.

A report from High School Inspector Levan, who recently visited the local institution, was received, stating that conditions at the new building were satisfactory. There is, however, some danger of fire from the paper chute in use, and some changes were recommended. This matter will be looked into by the Property Committee.

The cost of heating the High School building during the process of construction last winter was $745.92, but the question as to whether this should be paid by Contractor Brown or by the Board has not yet been settled, and may be referred to a board of arbitration, a clause in the building contract providing that differences between the constraction parties be so disposed of.

The architect has ruled that the Board is responsible for this bill, but the majority of the members refuse to be held by this decision.

At a meeting of the Property Committee the architect and the representatives of four parties who have liens on the new building, the claims of the contractor and some of the sub-contractors for extras were dealt with. Mason & Hawkrigg, plumbers, filed claims totalling $1,514.38, and this aggregate was reduced to $460 by the committee.

Contractor Brown's claims over and above the contract price, and including the bill for coal, amounted to $2,624.58, and the committee cut this by $862.30. The Committee refused to take the responsibility of deciding the dispute over the coal, and if this is finally disallowed, Mr. Brown's claim for extras will total $1,016.37.

The report was accepted.

Other Business Matters.

There was only one tender received for the old brick building which stands on one corner of the Public School grounds, and which was formerly occupied by Primary classes now housed in the old High School.

John Nancarrow offered $135 for the property, which must be taken down and removed from the school premises. This tender was rejected as being too low. Trustee Hoover is in favor of having the Board demolish the building and selling the parts separately, as he is satisfied that the bricks alone are worth $200.

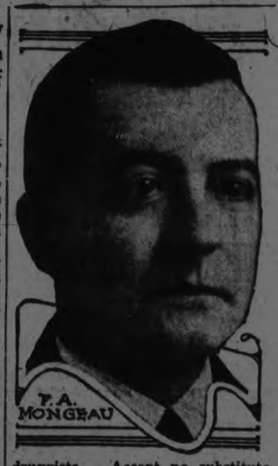
Trustees Douglas, Lynch and Bygott will look into the matter of renting the assembly room in the new High School for public meetings and entertainments, a report which will include a scale of prices to be submitted at the July meeting of the Board.

The drinking fountains in the High School are not in use as no supply of water or pressure tank is available. On motion of Dr. Watson, this question was referred to the Property Committee.

Principal Haig, of the Public School, was appointed a member of the Board of Examiners.

RHEUMATISM GONE, SAYS MONTREAL HOTEL MAN

F. A. Mongeau Tells How He Recovered Strength After Eight Years Of Rheumatism.



F. A. Mongeau, popular night clerk at the Prince of Wales Hotel, 17 and 19 McGill College avenue, Montreal, Canada, lends his name to further the cause of Tanlac, the treatment that has proved of such great benefit to him.

"After all Tanlac has done for me," said Mr. Mongeau, "I just feel like praising it to everybody. Eight years of muscular rheumatism had just about made a cripple of me. I go to where I simply had to limp around on a cane. My nerves became affected, my sleep unsound and I felt completely knocked out.

"Six bottles of Tanlac, taken eight months ago, made a new man of me and I have had no further trouble with rheumatism, or my health, since. My nerves are steady as a die, I sleep fine and feel the same way. Anyone wanting to know of me what Tanlac will do, just phone me here at the hotel."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

BRIGHTON HAD EASY VICTORY

Defeated Colborne By a Score of 18 to 5.

BRIGHTON, June 27. — The local team had no difficulty in defeating Colborne here on Wednesday 1-5.

Myles and Ives were pounded hard by the Brighton batters, while Roblin held Colborne to four scattered hits and struck out nine.

McKee and Shannon had four hits each, Halliday and Auchen three, the latter getting two triplets.

Frise, Ross, Halliday and Delaney contributed fielding features. Colborne's defensive work around second was very weak. Five of last year's High School team were in the Brighton line-up. Cowie and Adams handled the game well.

The teams:

Colborne: Hawkins m; Wilson ss lf; Barfett 2b; Ross 1b; Delaney rf; Ives 3b p; Myles p ss; Mathew c; McBride lf 3b.

Brighton: Solomon ss; Shannon lf; Archer m 3b; Frise c; Halliday 2b; McKee 1b; Thorne 3b m; Roblin p; Brown rf.

NEWS FROM TWEED.

Summer Resorts Are in Full Swing — Masons Celebrate.

TWEED, June 27.—Stoco Lake, with all its charms, is calling to the campers.

Miss Rayburn, Mr. Henry Clark, and Mr. F. Foster, of Tweed, and Mr. L. Ketcheson, of Thomasburg, have opened their cottages on Sugar Island.

Mr. F. Houston, of Tweed, and Mr. John McGowan, of Toronto, have built cottages on Kil-care Point.

The old swimming hole at Hickory Point, just where the Moira River enters the lake, is again the haunt of more than fishes. This is an exceptionally fine place for all. The river bank is soft, slippery sand, down which the little folk may slide while their courage grows. The river is shallow, and one can walk across to Grape Island. Those who are first venturing to swim have the assurance that they could stand up if they wished. And again those strong, sure, long-distance swimmers may go out into the lake. Then all may come back to the slippery sandy shore to rest with the refreshing thought that mother or some one will have lunch ready by the time clothes have been found and knots untied.

Masonic Gathering.

Tweed Masonic Lodge observed St. John the Baptist night, June 24. Bro. G. Morton, a grandson of Bro. Wm. Wray, charter member, was installed as Worshipful Master. The other officers are as follows: W. K. Sherry, I.P.M.; T. S. Rath, S.W.; Jos. Emerson, J.W.; Jas. Holdcroft, Chap.; S. B. Rollins, Treas.; W. W. Garrett, Sec.; R. E. Houston, S.D.; H. F. Corbett, J.D.; W. J. Lawrence, D. of C.; A. H. Lloyd, I.G.; R. S. Patterson, Tyler.

Bro. P. T. Bowlby was the installing master, and with a few well chosen words presented W. K. Sherry, retiring Master, with a Past Master's jewel.

Funeral Yesterday.

The funeral service of the late Mrs. John Martin was held yesterday afternoon at her home here. The service was conducted by Mr. Wight, and the body was then taken by train to Sharbot Lake, where it was met by friends and taken to Oconto. A former pastor read the committal service.

Mrs. Martin was not widely known because of her ill-health, and of the fact that she has lived here only two years. She has been a great sufferer for a great number of years. Those who knew her loved her, and many friends came from a distance to the funeral.

You Can Eat Anything You Like And Not Have HEARTBURN

In all cases of heartburn there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by a disturbed appetite, as when too much food is taken into the stomach it is liable to ferment and become extremely sour, vomiting occurs, and what is thrown up is generally sour and bitter. When you are in this condition you will find that Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills will give you relief right away.

Mr. Joseph H. MacDonald, Christmas Island, N.S., writes:—"Two years ago I suffered all the time from heartburn. I took one vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and have never been troubled since.

It is very nice to be able to eat anything you like and not have heart burn any more."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c, a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HASTINGS AND THE DISTRICT

Funeral of John Walsh Held in Asphodel Township —Students Home.

HASTINGS, June 27.—The funeral of John Walsh was held on Tuesday morning from his residence, Lot 5, Concession 6, Asphodel Township. Services were held in the Church of Our Lady Mount Carmel, and Requiem High Mass was said. The deceased is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Annie Elmhirst, three sons: Richard of Hastings, John of Otonabee, and David at home; four daughters: Sister Mary Fidelis of the Sisters of St. Joseph, Port Arthur; Mrs. P. Lee of Belleville, Mrs. Lowes of Ithaca, N.Y., and Miss Mary in Atlantic City.

The pall-bearers at the funeral were: Messrs. Richard Walsh, Thos. J. Lynch, Joseph Elmhirst, S. Redmond, Allan Elmhirst, Alex. Wilson.

Deceased has been a life-long resident of Asphodel, and was in his eighty-ninth year, and had been ill for some time before his death. A large number of friends attended the services at the church. Interment took place in Asphodel Cemetery.

A Plant Picnic.

A picnic to Birdsall's Beach will be held on Tuesday next, when the employees of the Hastings Tanning Company will hold their first annual affair. A tug-of-war between the Tannery and town, also a baseball game and other sports, will take place. A refreshment booth is being provided on the grounds. The people of hastings and vicinity are invited to attend.

Students Home.

The students from Hastings who are attending the High School in Campbellford and have been successful in passing in all, or nearly all, the lower school examinations are: Morris McGrath, Regina Airshaw, Ruby Cruickshank, Freddie Richardson and Frank Clancy.

Almost 15,000,000 water fowls, mostly wild ducks, are killed for game in a year in this country.

CHURCH UNION BILL CARRIED IN THE HOUSE

Measure to Make Bill Operative Next June Carried by a Large Majority.

DEBATE LAST NIGHT.

Reasons For and Against the Amendment — Dr. Chown's Remarks.

OTTAWA, June 27. — (Canadian Press).—The principle of the Church Union Bill was approved in the House of Commons at 1 a.m. Friday when the Brown amendment to Clause Two, providing that the bill would come into force on June 10th, 1925, carried in committee by a vote of 110 to 58.

The debate proceeded on the Brown amendment, and Rev. A. J. Lewis (Progressive, Swift Current) proceeded to give his reasons for supporting that amendment. He made reference to the fact that he was a minister of the Presbyterian Church. Lucion Cannon (Liberal, Dorchester)objected. Mr.Lewis could not address the House as a minister of the Presbyterian Church. Chairman Gordon suggested that the point of order was rather highly technical. L. H. Martel (Liberal, Hants) added his objection. Mr. Lewis, he said, must speak as a member of the House of Commons and not as a clergyman.

Chairman Gordon said he had not caught Mr. Lewis' exact words, but he could not, of course, address the House as anything but a member of the House. Mr. Lewis said that he was speaking as a member of the House. He supported Church Union because the Assembly had spoken with no uncertain sound in favor of it, and it was his duty as a minister of that church to support church government. He had been at first opposed to union, however.

Gordon Wilson (Conservative, Wentworth) opened by saying that he was not opposed to church union. Those who believed in union had a right to try and obtain it. Those who dissented from union, however, should not be deprived of the right to remain in the church of their fathers. He contended that there had been a growing feeling against church union recently in the Presbyterian Church. When his attention was drawn to the result of the vote at the meeting of the Presbyterian Assembly in Owen Sound recently, he declared that this meeting was not representative of the Presbyterian Church.

Not Representative.

Mr. Wilson said he did not believe the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church was representative of the thought within the Church. Church union was not a people's movement. He gave instances of Presbyteries which had expressed themselves against union, but the representatives of those Presbyteries have voted for union at the Assembly. To base the decision of the people to-day on the vote of 1915 was unfair; there should be a new vote taken on up-to-date voting lists.

The so-called and self-appointed leaders of the Presbyterian Church were largely responsible for bringing about the condition of unrest which existed to-day. tI was not in the interests of Christianity to have such seams occur as had been shown in the Private Bills Committee.There was still time for reconciliation.

Mr. Wilson said the "so-called leaders of the Presbyterian church had stultified themselves before the public bills committee by making fun of Presbyterian doctrines." Then it had tried to induce parliament to vote for the church union bill by openly threatening to make church union an issue in the next election and thus bring it into the realm of politics.

Asked who had made such a threat Mr. Wilson replied Dr. Chown had for one. He read a statement attributed to Dr. Chown made at Toronto some time ago to the effect that the supporters of Union would be forced against their will to make union an issue in politics.

There were several protests against the introduction of Dr. Chown's name. Dr. Chown had not referred to a general election but to more local issues. Mr. Wilson said that Dr. Chown was not the only offender and the threat had been made openly all over the country.

DIVISION COURT HELD IN OMEMEE

Suit Follows Sale of Farm and Stock—Omemee News.

OMEMEE, June 27. —Division Court was held in Omemee on Wednesday afternoon and the court room was crowded, chiefly with friends and neighbors of the defendant, Mrs. Joseph McConnell. The plaintiff was her brother-in-law, Mr. William McConnell, who was suing for $175 for work done in preparation for her sale of farm stock, etc., following the tragic death of her husband. Mr. E. Stewart ,of Lindsay, conducted the case for the plaintiff, while Mr. C. Frost acted on behalf of the defendant.

Judge Swayze, after hearing the evidence, dismissed the case, the plaintiff to pay all costs.

Getting Ready.

The sound of the fife and drum band can be heard quite frequently now in preparation for the glorious Twelfth. Mr. Samuel Fisher, who is a loyal Orangeman, has had his flag pole re-painted in red, white and blue, ready to hoist the flag.

STIRLING HAD FISHING CASE

Fines and Costs Amounting to $300 Imposed—Illegal Fishing to be Stopped.

(By a Staff Reporter

STIRLING, June 27. —The Ontario Game and Fisheries Department at Toronto is co-operating with the Trent Waterway's Association to protect the fish in that river. The overseers have been instructed to exercise to the utmost official vigilance so as to prevent the taking of fish by means other than trolling or angling. The waters that attract tourists from all parts of the continent are to be protected from the commercial fisherman. All net fishing is to be stopped and it is no longer possible to secure a special license to catch fish anywhere in the Trent River. The angler and the troller have the sport all to themselves.

Case at Stirling

The latest commercial fisherman to be brought to book by the overseers were tried here yesterday after noon before County Magistrate Casement of Madoc, and were found guilty and fined. They are out altogether over $300 although the minimum fine was imposed in each case.

George Mitchell and his son, Arthur, now of Trenton, but formerly residents of Wooler, were the defendants. The father pleaded guilty, when the charge was read to him but the son declared his innocence and evidence in his case was taken.

R. J. Allan of Campbellford, overseer for the Department of Fisheries in Ontario, testified that on June 10, last he had seen Arthur Mitchell who was in a punt on the Trent River, near Anderson Island raise a night line from which he took fish. He also found a hoop net attached to the rear of a motor boat belonging to the Mitchells.

Arthur Mitchell brought in the night line when ordered to do so by the overseer and this with the net and motor lunch were seized and stored in the government boat house at Belleville. A complaint was laid against the Mitchells.

Overseer Charles Amey of Moscow, who was with Mr. Allan, corroborated the evidence of the latter.

Arthur Mitchell's Defense

The defendant who is not yet 18 years old ,claimed unimuity on the ground that he was acting under the orders of his father, who pays him weekly wages for helping him in his regular business of catching frogs. Magistrate Casement pointed out to him that this did not relieve him of responsibility for breaking the law.

The minimum fine of $5 with costs of $5.10 was imposed on each defendant, the Magistrate ,warning them that the penalty would be much heavier if they ever appeared before him again. All the money the two had was $11, the elder Mitchell stating that owing to the postal strike he was unable to receive remittances from the Toronto people to whom he shipped frogs.

"If any one has to go to jail over this case," said the father, "let it be myself. I am little use at home and will pay the boy's fine if you will let him go."

Magistrate Casement, however, gave Mitchell a week in which to raise the money for his own fine.

Including the fines and the loss of their motor boat and nets the Mitchells are out about $300. The Magistrate told them that they might be able to buy the boat back from the government but that the nets were gone for all time. He emphasized the fact that the Department appear determined to protect the fish and to allow only angling and trolling in the Trent River.

NEWS FROM MARMORA.

Improvement to the Roads in the Village—Mack Chisholm's Death.

MARMORA, June 27. — A vast improvement is being made on the roads of the village. Tar is being applied to all the main roads and any bad pieces of road are being levelled. A great deal of work has been done this year to the road to Crowe Lake. The improvement on this road will tend to attract more visitors with their cars to the summer resort at the lake.

The first of the week Mack Chisholm was drowned at Baptiste Lake. The remains were brought to his home in Frankford. On Wednesday the funeral was held in Marmora, the old home town of the family.

Miss Eva Inkster, of Trent Bridge, was in town calling on her former friends on Thursday.

Mrs. James Reid of Wellington is visiting her former friends in Marmora.

A number of Marmora young people motored to Stirling on Wednesday evening to attend a garden party there.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reid became the proud parents of a baby son on Monday evening.

Mrs. Tom Potts has been very ill for several days with erysipelas.

NEWS FROM MADOC AND IN DISTRICT

Public Schools Close To-day —Rain Takes Curl Out of Bobbed Hair.

MADOC, June 27.—The afternoon Tea and sale of miscellaneous articles held by the choir of St. John the Baptist Anglican church, proved a delightful and financially successful event June roses, iris, and wild orhids made effective decorations, and the sale table was loaded with a variety of dainty and useful articles ranging from homemade bread cake and pie to luncheon sets and novelty bridge scores. Prettily gowned choir-girls were kept busy serving tea, sandwiches and cake, from four o'clock on.

The proceeds of the afternoon, which amounted to thirty-three dollars will be devoted to the robing of a surplice choir. It is expected that the choir will make its first appearance in surplices and cassocks on Sunday evening next, which will be the occasion of the visit of the Bishop of Ontario.

Schools Close

To-day sees the closing of the Public School, the High School having closed a week ago. The regular meeting of the Public School Board takes place this evening. There will be two changes on the High School staff in September.

Lodge Entertained

Oakdale Rebecca Lodge were entertained by the Stirling Lodge on Wednesday evening. A very enjoyable evening was spent, despite the dampening effect of a heavy shower.

Put on a Play

The young people of the Lodge-room Church put on a play "The Dust of the Earth" under the auspices of the Madoc Methodist Church. The young people deserve great credit for the manner in which they prepared and presented this play.

Baseball Game

The Madoc ball-players played a return game in Tweed on Wednesday. The local team are doing good work despite their youth. A number of the players are having their first experience in League games, but with more practice at the bat will make first rate athletes. The game stood 7-5 in favor of Tweed.

A Lawn Social

One of the first lawn socials of the season was held at Queensboro. The weather-man was in a much more agreeable mood than on the occasion of the Crookston lawn social which was scheduled. A very heavy rain "took the curl" out of the proceedings that evening as well as out of the bobbed heads of many disappointed young ladies.

The movement to allow bobbed-haired ladies to keep their hats on in the theatre is increasing in volume.

Personal Mention

Misses Mary Foote, Vera Keene and Anna Smith have returned home from Peterboro, where they were pupils at the Normal School.

Mr. A. H. Watson, editor of the North Hastings Review, is at his cottage at Moira Lake. His many friends will be glad to know that his health is improving after a long and serious illness.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cockram, who have returned to Toronto, from their winter hime in Florida were visiting old friends in Madoc on Thursday.

Mrs. Jhn Macdonald of Toronto, and Mr. Walter Hungerford of McGill University, Montreal and Mr. Jack Hungerford of Vancouver, are visiting their mother, Mrs. W. H. Hungerford.

Madame Rocha and Miss Helen Dafoe of Toronto, and Miss Essa Dafoe of Campbellford, are guests of their father, Dr. W. Dafoe.

Mrs. Marcellus entertained on Wednesday afternoon in honor of her sisters, Madame Rocha and the Misses Dafoe.

Mrs. F. E. Seymour has returned from New York to her summer home "Hawthorneden."

TORONTO STILL HIRES WORKERS

Striking Postal Workers in Toronto Yesterday Refused the Government's Offer.

TORONTO, June 27. —(Canadian Press.)—Rejection by the local striking postal workers yesterday of the Government's offer on June 18th of a sub-committee to investigate differences between men and the Dominion authorities, was followed up this morning by employment of substitute workers whose names had been placed on the "accepted list" at last oral examinations conducted by representatives of the Civil Service Commission.

It was also announced by Postmaster Lemon that the limited letter carrier service was inaugurated this morning from Station "G" in the eastern section of the city. The men were not escorted when they commenced their rounds.

Strikers reiterate that they will not return to work unless taken back in a body, each man to receive his former position and former wages and without losing his seniority or pension status.

Despite the efforts of the local officials to effect the distribution of mail, the situation is extremely serious. Business houses maintain that the skeleton service provided is totally inadequate and only a small percentage of a normal day's mail is being received in a majority of instances.

Refreshing—
and Wonderful to Taste

The blended essence of choice good things grown in the tropic sunshine of far-away lands—

Coca-Cola!—of course!—sealed in a sterilized glass package that protects its goodness and purity.

"Delicious and refreshing" describes it, but it is inimitable. Not from one vine or one tree, but a blend of pure products from nature's storehouse, it has a flavor all its own—a blend so delicate that you cannot distinguish one flavor from another. It is sweet with the sweetness of pure cane sugar, but it has a tartness, a faint sharpness, a gratifying piquancy. As it sparkles you get a hint of bouquet. Thirst is your natural capacity to enjoy it.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A STRANGE CONTRAST.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: Not long ago Sir George Foster came to Peterborough and with his usual eloquence discoursed upon the League of Nations. He laid bare the horrors of war, and of the arts of war, and condemned war and everything connected with it as the work of the Evil One. But, lo! the scene changes. He comes again to speak in favor of the affliction of war to the private lives of unoffending people. He declares war this time—war upon a who though just as respectable as he, yet do not in their capacities as private citizens agree with him. He so far approves of war and the rats of war this time that not only has he declared war upon unoffending citizens but he even advocates conscription of them. He points out what war has done for the good of the people, how they were compelled to do this and to do that, how the young men were taken (and the old men left at home) and he sees that war and the conscription of people are an excellent thing—when it suits him. Such is his idea of civilization and of peace of Christianity and of heavenly reform of the world, and of consistency. He did not quote Christ in support of Prohibition. It was just as well. He would have found it impossible. But he might at least have favoured us with consistency. A black man sat near him, one of that race whose freedom was bought with the blood of millions in the civil war. He was here to sing of the glories of what?—of punishing the guilty? of prohibiting the bar? No; but of invading the households of respectable citizens and coercing them, if necessary, with the lash of Simon Legree. It was a rare sight this coming of the negro, whose ancestors had come to Canada and knelt down and thanked God to be free, to breathe the breath of liberty, which he now comes to help to take away from those who are too spiritless to resent it. It was a grand sight, too, the coming of Mr. Drury. Shortly ago he was dismissed by the people for bad government, with the evil smell of it still in our nostrils, and yet he returns again to tell us what we must do to be saved. Did no one laugh? Surely that must have been a corker of an evening! Sir George declares that upon the altar of competition must be placed the entire energies and liberties of the people. If we would beat others and live we must kill ourselves in the attempt. He preaches a coming era of economic slavery. Do you not see what his figures proclain? Where are the Reds?

WHERE NATURE REIGNS SUPRME

To get away from the smoke and stifling heat of the City, to put on old clothes and live a vagabond's life in the great out of doors, there is no place quite so suitable as Timagami. Almost four million acres in extent, plentifully scattered with wonderfully cool, deep lakes, the whole area traced with a net work of rock-churned rivers or quiet shadowy brooks, Timagami is just the place to get back to the primitive.

Canoeists can paddle hundreds of miles through everchanging scenery without a single portage. The waters of Timagami are alive with speckled trout, black bass, while for the nature lover the number of moose, bear and mink to be seen allows ample opportunity to study wild life at close range.

There are many permanent camps throughout the district for those who insist on comparative luxury, or if you wish to establish camp wherever you happen to be you will find not a single "trespassing forbidden" sign in the whole region.

Any agent of the Canadian National Railways will gladly give you full information and literature.

Damages of $25,000 For Loss of Teeth

NEW YORK, June 27.—(Canadian Press.) — Suit for $25,000 damages was filed in the supreme court in White Plains yesterday by Mrs. Mary Carey, of New Rochelle, against the manufacturer and seller of a "hot cross bun" that last April caused her she says lose all her front teeth, injure her jaw and gums and permanently impaired her personal appearance.

She says the bun contained a wire nail. In her complaint she names as defendants the United Bakeries Corporation and Jacob Gringold, New Rochelle storekeeper. Supreme Court Justice Morchauser dismissed the complaint in so far as it applies to the baking company.

CONCERTS AT ZOO.

LOS ANGELES, June 27.—Tigers will sleep during a waltz, lions will laugh when they listen to a saxophone, baboons will dance to a jazz tune number, experiment has shown. Psychologists and students from several southern California universities and colleges invaded a motion picture zoo here with an orchestra and carried on various experiments.

SOLD IN BARGAIN FOURTH.

THE ROTARIANS PLAN A BIG DAY

Water Street is Being Paved For the Occasion, Says Press Agent.

Touching the matter of that Rotary Carnival. As the days pass and the committees file and sandpaper and polish up what they propose to put on, there will always be something more to say. Of course it should be something that will interest the public in the proposition and make all of mind to go and see the aggregation, constellation and other things to be admired and commented on.

But first, and this is important. The Carnival is not gotten up with the idea of gaining money for Rotary. When Rotary needs money for its own purposes, for its uses for itself, it puts up in meeting Rotarians Green, McElderry, Crane and Kenner to inveigle from the pants pockets of the members some ample coin. It has been done and will be incurred again. This time the Club is anxious to get some money for the Aid to Crippled Children Work. A mighty fine object. The needs, most piognant and pitiful, of children who are in positions where their parents are unable to pay for proper treatment, appliances and remedial attention. All over the land it is surprising how much is being done, in general, but each community has its own intimate problems in respect to these children.

The entire proceeds of the Carnival will go to the above object, and it is hoped that the avails will be something handsome. Of course the rule holds good in this case, just as in business that you have to expend money to make money, so the Carnival will cost considerable, which it is expected will be recovered from the admissions as a part of the takings. It will be helpful if everyone will arrange to lay out the small admission fee of twenty-five cents and in return get a good afternoon's entertainment, to say nothing of the evening seance to follow.

The City Council has gotten to work and is having Water street, for over a mile paved and other streets similarly fixed up. Men driving cars think that this work is being done to accomodate them. Not so, entirely. The Council, which is often positively benefifient, has had in mind the hundred of boys and girls slipping around on bicycles, and the paving makes wheeling a real pleasure. So youth will begin to share in the convenience of the paved street just as soon as either or both are able to straddle a wheel, which is just after both have gotten out of the kindergarten class.

In order to encourage riding of wheels Rotary is offering and in fact will give away two bicycles, one each to the boy and girl who will sell the largest number of admission tickets. that admit to the Carnival. Parents who have children, and most parents have, as Chris Graham sagely observed, will please impress the facts of the wheel competition on their offspring. The advertisement appearing in the Examiner tells of the offer. Tickets will be ready to give out, early next week and the wheels will be on exhibition in the window of Kingan's Hardware store in a day or two. Wheels shining in colored enamels and glittering with silver plated fixings. Cycles that any boy or girl would be proud to own, let alone the added renown of having earned the wheel one's self. Boys and girls will think of this competition every night the last thing before going to sleep, so as to have something nice to think about on getting up the next mrning. The writer knows of a boy who was given a nice big apple to be eaten the next morning, and he thought so much about the coming satisfaction that he got up in the middle of the night and consumed the friut.

The horse racing committee is at work rounding up several owners of horses to come in and bring quadrupeds that have a visible turn of speed. Understand, this committee does not race horses, as a practice, but only promotes such enterprise as a part of the game. It is, as you know, a little late for winter speeding and a trifle early for fall bursts of speed, but the aole cho... the committee thinks the matter can be fixed up if considerable inducements are offered. A few race in the two-wheeled (bicycle) class are proposed, it being assumed that we have young persons with ample endurance to propel wheels at astonishing velocity.

However it is almost too early to predict what is coming, and there is plenty of time to announce, but the main thing that the executive committee wish to have impressed on the public is that appropriations of twenty-five cents pieces be gotten ready to hand to the boys and girls who will ask, implore and inveigle those they meet to purchase.

Fishing Not So Good This Year, Tourists Report.

KING'S WHARF, June 27.—Tourists at Mr. O'Neill's report the fishing not so good as in former years. They say it is an ideal spot for camping and tourists will be sorry if the fishing fails. They attribute it to the cool weather.

Mr. O'Neill expects a big season and has made every preparation to accommodate his guests, building a garage to accommodate a large number of cars and have extra sleeping quarters and as the baker and butcher comes through here three times a week they will have no trouble in providing plenty of eatables.

Mr. Francis Cavanagh of Ennismore spent the week-end the guest of friends here.

A large number from here attended the social at Downeyville Friday evening and report a splendid time.

Mr. Andrew Morrissey is seriously ill.

Mr. Walter Herlihey and party of friends motored to Peterboro Sunday and spent the day the guest of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Perdue were business visitors to Lindsay Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Neill spent Sunday the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. O'Neill.

Mrs. Richard Murtha was the guest of her sister, Mrs. John Collin in West Emily Monday.

Dr. Blanchard of Lindsay made a professional visit to this locality Tuesday.

Miss K. A. Perdue, nurse-in-training at Parry Sound has returned to her duties after spending her holidays at her home here.

Miss Mary Twomey has arrived to spend her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Twomey here.

The Misses Nora and Mary Harrington, Marie O'Neill and Viola Herlihey of Lindsay are spending their holidays at their respective homes.

OVERLAND SALES SHOW STEADY INCREASE

May was the greatest month for retail deliveries in the entire history of Willys-Overland and in the third week in May, Willys-Overland broke all world records for retail deliveries.

During the first five months of 1924 Willys-Overland sales in Ontario have shown the greatest gain in percentage of total business done than that of any other of the five largest automobile manufacturers.

That there is a big gain in Willys-Overland sales generally throughout Canada may be judged from the following statement of Mr. E. R. Paige, Sales Manager, who has just returned from a five weeks' trip visiting Willys-Overland dealers in the Western Provinces.

Mr. Paige says: "Willys-Overland business is running 50% ahead of the tendency of the industry in the West.

"I found general conditions in the West, particularly in the three most Western Provinces, very much improved over a year ago. The beneficial effects of last year's big crop is most pronounced and the favorable possibility of another good one this year is the foundation for the optimism to be found on every hand.

"In Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia the automobile business in particular is showing a very substantial increase over a year ago. Manitoba is holding its own with last year, but an increase of 50% is predicted in the other two Prairie Provinces.

"While automobile sales in general are showing an increase of about 50% in the Western Provinces, it is very interesting to note that Willys-Overland business reflected for the first five months an increase of 100% over the corresponding period a year ago.

"There could be no more convincing proof of the satisfactory performance of the new Overland and Willys-Knight models and of their wide and rapidly increasing popularity, than is shown in the gratifying fact that Willys-Overland business in the West is 50% ahead of the general increase of the industry."

With Willys-Overland business showing substantial gains in Quebec and the Eastern provinces, Mr. Paige is very enthusiastic and states that 1924 will be a splendid year in the history of Willys-Overland in Canada.

REDUCTION OF STAFFS.

C.N.R. Shop Staffs to be Reduced by Fifteen Per Cent.

MONTREAL, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Fifteen percent of the staff at the Canadian National Railway shops at Point St. Charles will be laid off until further orders, commencing the end of June. It is declared that similar action will be taken all over the system.

A plebiscite vote was taken in the shops, among the "Big Four" union members as to whether they would prefer a lay-off of fifteen percent of the men or complete closing of the shops during one week in every month. The result of the vote showed the majority to be in favor of staff reduction.

TWEED SOLVED ITS PROBLEMS IN EDUCATION

Consolidated School Undertaken Amid Dissatisfaction Justifies Itself.

ONE OF FIRST

Amalgamation Brought 3 Schools Together, Lowering Tax Rate.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

TWEED, June 25.—Tweed was one of the very first communities in Ontario to take advantage of the opportunities offered by Hon. Dr. Cody when he was Minister of Education in the Hearst Administration, to solve the educational problem by setting up a consolidate school. This was not accomplished without a good deal of friction among the ratepayers, but the promoters of the movement held to the task that they had set themselves and now that the school has been in operation for three years they feel that their labors have been rewarded. As evidence of the success they point to a lower Public school rate and an attendance that has increased over 50 per cent in the rural sections.

Three Schools United.

Before consolidation there were five teachers in the Tweed Public school and the rate was 17 1-2 mills. The schools at Chapman's Corners and Farnsworth's Corners were taken in, each of these being three miles from Tweed. Some of the pupils form these sections come from homes that are six miles away. Two motor buses transport 51 pupils, the number from Chapman's, while the 62 pupils that come from the Farnsworth school are carried in three horse drawn vehicles. Before consolidation the children in some of these sections had a walk of three miles or more to school and in bad weather they were unable to attend. The busses in which they now ride are covered so that the pupils are protected from rain, heat or cold.

Transportation Problem.

One of the strongest arguments used by those who were opposed to consolidated schools is the claim that it would be impossible to operate these busses steadily during the winter season and that the attendance would suffer.

This is how the transportation problem has worked out at Tweed. In the two rural sections the attendance before consolidation was 65 per cent. of the enrollment. It is now 90 per cent. At the Chapman school the attendance, formerly 26, is now 51. The yearly cost of transportation is $3,500. The students from the county who are attending the Tweed High school from the neighborhood served by the busses are carried every day free of charge, this alone being regarded as an important consideration. Every student so brought into the village is an asset as the cost to the urban ratepayer of maintenance of the High school is lessened in proportion to the number of county students. These High school students are not required to wait for trains, running in the village without oversight, in order to make their homes. The buss rides are so many daily holidays to the children.

The Initial Outlay.

Tweed had a good Public school building when consolidation was effected. All the exchanges required were filling up the other as a manual training room and the basement as a play room. There were five teachers before consolidation and there are six now, one less than the total number employed in the three districts before consolidation. The rural sections turned over their property to the Board and this is still held, waiting a chance for a sale. The two school buildings with grounds attached, are valued at between seven and eight thousand dollars.

Cost Under Consolidation.

The probable cost has always been a factor in discussing the question of consolidation. Tweed's Public school rate was 17 1-2 mills before the union. In the first year after consolidation it dropped to 14 mills and for the last two years it has been 13 mills.

The school rate in the township sections has not been affected by more than one mill and for this nominal increase the children are enjoying the same educational advantages as those in the village. At the outset it was found that the rural pupils were not as well advanced as the village children in corresponding grades, but all this has been changed.

It is hardly correct to say that the rural rate has increased one mill under consolidation. One of these sections had not been levying enough by half a mill before the change and found itself faced with a deficit of about $400.

Inspector J. E. Minns.

To Inspector J. E. Minns, who has held that position in Centre Hastings for the past nine years or more, is given the credit for bringing about consolidation. He worked for it for years, figured out every detail and his estimates and forecasts in all cases proved correct. Much to the regret of the district Mr. Minns has resigned his position, having been appointed principal of the Collegiate Institute at Vankleek Hill.

Tweed School Board.

The members of the Public or Consolidated School Board of Tweed, are C. H. Kerr, chairman; J. F. Houston, secretary-treasurer, Miss A. Rayburn, J. H. Foster and R. T. Graham, every one of them a friend of education, and an enthusiastic exponent of the benefits of consolidation.

Every Teacher a Specialist.

Every one of the six teachers on the staff is required to be a specialist in some particular subject, and the people enjoy advantages that are denied those in many of thes High Schools of Ontario. S. H. Connor, the principal, who is preparing a class of 18 for the entrance examinations, also teaches manual training; Miss Bessie Clarke, third grade; Miss G. M. Moran, second grade, specializes in Art; Mrs. H. A. Rowe, second and first grade, in Agriculture; Miss Lila Maley, first reader, in Music; and Miss F. Garrett, first reader, in Household Science.

Hot Lunches.

Hot lunches are served the pupils from the country from November until April each year, the basement being fitted up as a dining room. There is a regular bill of fare for every day of the week, and the children bring from home the main articles on the menu, these being cooked at the school. All the atricles which it is necessary to purchase at the stores are paid for by the Board.

During the lunch hours the children are supervised, Miss Garrett being in constant attendance. They are given lessons in table etiquette, and are required to eat slowly, spending 20 minutes at the table. The boys are divided into five teams, and the girls into as many, these to take turns in washing and putting away the dishes used at each luncheon. This is another department of the school life which the pupils thoroughly enjoy. Fine specimens of workmanship are turned out by the class in manual training, and Mrs. Rowe gives her pupils a fine working knowledge of all matters pertaining to Agriculture and Nature Study.

Tweed has an excellent High School, the principal of which is F.M. Moffatt, who came here about a year ago from Campbellford, where he had successfully taught for six years and who is maintaining the reputation which he earned in that town.

Safeguarding Pupils' Health.

One of the features of the school is the care that is taken to prevent epidemics. If a child is taken sick during school hours he or she is placed in a small room for which a comfortable couch has been provided. If the sickness proves contagious the room is disinfected, so that there is little danger of an outbreak among the other pupils.

Miss Garrett has charge of this branch of the school work, in addition to her duties as teacher of the Primary Department and of Domestic Science.

In every class room, all of which are well lighted and ventilated, there are a number of high-class pictures that have been donated by the residents. Tweed's Consolidated School is an institution in which every public spirited citizen takes a pardonable pride, and the staff is voted by the inspectors as second to none in Ontario.

30 Miners Smothered To Death By Explosion

VIENNA, June 27.— (Canadian Press.)— Thirty miners were asphyxiated to-day by an explosion in colliery at Hartgloggnitz. Rescue work was found impossible owing to defective gas masks and some of the rescue party lost their lives.

WHEN THE OLD BOAT SPRINGS A LEAK

By Williamson

There are too many makes of carburetors to attempt to explain just how the float and valve operate, but the float serves the same purpose on all. The valve is usually shaped like a well-pointed pencil and fits into a tapered seat, the opening of which is very small. Shaped as it is, you can see why it is necessary for the value to be accurately seated.

Tapping the valve down into its seat is usually all that is necessary to secure the proper seating, but if it is necessary to grind it in, care should be exercised to keep the seat true and not to grind any more of the metal away than necessary.

With such a delicate valve, a speck of dirt can cause a lot of trouble. The strainer should be removed, cleaned and inspected once in a while. The strainer is made of wire mesh, and when removed you will find that it is usually covered with foreign matter which prevents the proper flow of gasoline into the bowl. If there is water in the gasoline, it is likely to cause rust, if the mesh is not made of some material which will resist it. It is not a dirty job to clean the strainer, so do not be afraid of it.

If you find that your float, which is usually made of metal, has sprung a leak, it can be repaired, but it is safer and usually less expensive to buy a new one.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, June 26.—In the County Court here last week, before Judge Huycke, the Bowmanville Hospital brought action against the Township of Clarke for some $700, payment for the care of a patient, Mrs. Charlotte Moore. Mrs. Moore died recently. She went into the hospital on August 22, 1922, and from then until September, 1922, her son paid the bill. From October 29, 1922, until the time of her death, June 14, 1914, he paid to the hospital $157.50, and the Hospital is suing the municipality of Clarke for the remainder of the bill. The Hospital charge was $10.50 per week, and this would amount to between $700 and $800. A number of witnesses were heard, and the case lasted the greater part of the day. Judgment was reserved.

A Fishing Trip.

Mr. Clarence Robson and Mr. H. L. Nathanson, of Famous Players' Canadian Corporation, passed through town recently on their way north to Hastings and district on a fishing expedition.

Orangemen at Coldsprings.

A large number from both men and ladies' Orange Lodges went to Coldsprings on Sunday night where they joined with their brethren of Coldsprings L.O.L. in a church parade to the Presbyterian Church where they listened to an able sermon by Rev. J. S. Ferguson.

Will Go To Peterborough.

The Orangemen of this district will go to Peterborough on July 12th to join in the celebration there.

Teachers Leaving Cobourg.

Miss Elcoaf, of Seaforth, commercial specialist on the Cobourg Collegiate Institute staff, has accepted a position at Galt on the Collegiate staff of that place. Miss Timon, of West Meath, another local C.C.I. teacher, has taken a position in Kitchener.

Death of Mrs. Hannah Doidge.

The death took place at the home of Mrs. John McKinley, Plainville, of Mrs. Hannah Doidge, widow of the late Thomas Doidge, of Hamilton Township. She was a daughter of the late Joseph Harris, and died on her 93rd birthday. Mrs. Doidge fell and fractured her leg a couple of weeks ago and had gradually failed since. Before that she had been usually well for a woman of her years. She is survived by one son, Albert, on the homestead, and by three daughters—Mrs. James Brooks, Gore's Landing; Mrs. John McKinley, and Mrs. James Ritchie, Plainville.

Bowling News.

Cobourg Bowling Club met on Friday evening and elected the following skips for the season:—Messrs. J. Watson, G. Mitchell, H. Hall, A. E. Hopper, W. H. Hopper, M. Boothe, J. W. Beckie, J. Davidson, D. W. Coyle, E. A. Carvin, E. Guillet, F. Burge, S. Thorpe, W. De Long, A. E. Martin, E. A. Hircoch, George Neal, F. J. Skitch. The local bowlers have decided to hold a torunament on July 9 and 10, when it is expected that a large number of teams will be here to compete for the valuable awards offered. It is hoped that a band concert will be put on the evening of the 9th at Victoria Park, where the green is situated.

The High Court.

Mr. Justice Riddell, of Toronto, was to have presided at the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court which opened here on Monday, but as there was only one action entered, and that was settled out of court between the parties, Mr. Justice Riddell did not come down from the city, but asked Judge Ward to sit in his place in order that the Court might give direction. The action was brought by Mrs. Tweedle, widow of the late Isaiah Tweedle, of Brighton Township, against Wood, and all, executors of the will of her deceased husband. The plaintiff asked the Court to declare that the money deposited in Molson's Bank at Trenton was the property of plaintiff and not of her late husband.

E. W. McMaster, judgment creditor of the estate, was added to the defence as a third party. The amount of the bank deposit was about $1,750. W. F. Kerr, K.C., and Archie Cochrane appeared for the plaintiff and J. B. McColl for the defendants.

ONLY IN DREAMLAND.

We shall wander no more,
As we wandered of yore,
O'er the bonny green hills of old Dummer,
When our hearts knew no care,
And enchantingly fair,
Every scene, in the warm smile of Summer.

How pleasant these bowers,
And how happy the hours,
Spent down by the broad river roaming,
Just whileing time away,
Until Sol's lengthening ray
Brought birds, bees and lowing kine homeing.

That time is gone for aye,
'Twas far too bright to stay,
And to mortals below is ne'er given,
More than a fleeting glance—
A foretaste, in advance—
Of bliss that blooms perennial, but in Heaven.

But, though all joy seems reft,
Still is one solace left,
One glad'ning ray, in life's beclouded weather,
In sunny scenes of sleep,
Our tryst again we keep,
O'er dreamland's hills we wander still together.

The leading French houses are showing more navy blue costumes than ever before, but so far there seems to be a decided preference for black with very knowing women.

RED CROSS IS BRANCHING OUT

Ten Years Ago It Was Established in Less Than 40 Countries While To-day it is in 51 Countries.

TORONTO, June 27.—(Canadian Press.)— Ten years ago the Red Cross was established in less than 40 countries. To-day, the International League of the Red Cross Societies has branches in 51 countries and it is anticiptaed that this total will be increased to 60 within the near future. Such were the facts which Dr. Rene Sand, of Paris, secretary of the League, cited as a proof of his assertion to yesterday's luncheon gathering of representatives of the Canadian and American Red Cross Societies that the organization was within measureable distance of covering the world.

As president of the Canadian Red Cross, Sir Robert Borden presided over the gathering which was held in the King Edward Hotel. In one sense the function partook of the nature of a birthday party, for Sir Robert was 70 years old yesterday, and following the King's, his was the first toast drunk by 300 or more guests.

DANCER'S HEART NOW.

LONDON, June 24.—The weird strains of syncopated music have produced the newest complaint — "dancer's heart." Fashionable London has succumbed to the malady. Everywhere you hear it —in ball rooms, at the theatre, in brightlighted cafes: "The doctor says I have dancer's heart." Doctors tell their patients that they are suffering from overstrain and must dance no more for months.

PLAN ALL-METAL PLANES.

LONDON, June 27. — Winged ships of metal, with staunch sea-going hulls, are being evolved by British aircraft experts. Refueling in mid-air from airplane tankers by means of flexible tube devices also is to be developed on the new air boats.

A Little Bit of Everything.

BOWS-WOWS.

Chairman Elliott, of the Northern Pacific, recites:

"My grandpa notes the world's worn cogs, and says we're going to the dogs. His grand-dad in his house of logs, swore things were going to the dogs. His dad among the Flemish bogs, vowed things were going to the dogs. The cave man, in his queer skin togs, said things were going to the dogs. But this is what I wish to state: The dogs have had an awful wait."

MEX.

More than a billion barrels of crude oil have been taken out of Mexico since the first well was drilled in 1901.

Some of the wells were fabulous producers. One flowed 168,000 barrels a day. It was all a huge golden plum for oil companies. Rivalry for ownership of the big Mexican oil fields fanned the flames of many a revolution.

But Mexican oil production is dropping swiftly. The end is in sight. The golden plum is withered. And Mexico is peaceful—for Mexico. There's less incentive for revolutionary plotting by outsiders.

FRUIT.

Here's a tree planted 294 years ago that will bear fruit again this season. Last year it yielded a bushel of pears. The tree is at Danversport, Mass. It was brought over from England by Gov. John Endicott in 1630 and planted on his farm.

Why does nature give 294 years of life to an unintelligent, relatively useless tree—and kill off men with superbrains before they are a third as old? Is she jealous of her secrets, afraid we'll learn too much? You've noticed that the finest brains usually are in weak bodies, nature trying to destroy them.

STARVING.

Thousands of people eat three huge meals every day, but are really starving themselves to death because they don't eat the most nourishing foods, especially ones high in vitamines. They get old rapidly in middle-age, become irritable, and decay. So lectures Dr. E. V. McCollum, of Johns Hopkins, diet expert.

You can smother the fire in your furnace by shovelling in too much coal And too much food smothers the fires of life.

SWING TO HEMLINE.

Many frocks of dainty printed muslin show rounded overlapping flounces that give a graceful swing to the hemline.

ANOTHER BOY LOSES LIMB BY CARELESSNESS

TORONTO, June 27. — Four year old William Richardson, 6 Wellesley avenue, had his left leg so badly mangled that it was necessary to amputate the limb at the Hospital for Sick Children yesterday afternoon.

The little fellow accompanied by a playmate, was playing on the Don flats when he tried to get hold of one of the steps of a slowly moving freight car. He was dragged from his feet and the wheels of the car went over his leg.

POLICE COURT HAD BUSY DAY

Amusement Tax Department Lay Charge — Local Lawyer Obstructed Fire Brigade.

SERIOUS OFFENCE.

A widow woman, with a large family, appeared in Police Court this morning on a charge of obtaining a ton of coal from R. Hicks & Company on false pretences.

She first appeared a week ago, but was remanded so that she might have an opportunity to make restitution.

The unfortunate woman pleaded guilty, and appeared in Court, accompanied by Mrs. Smith, Police Matron, who stated that the accused was prepared to make restitution and pay the Court costs. The price of the coal was $15.50, and $25.00 was accepted in full, although the costs amounted to more than $8.50.

With the approval of the Crown Attorney I am allowing you to go on suspended sentence, stated His Worship. "You have no husband and a large family to care for," remarked the Magistrate, "but, obtaining goods on false pretences is one of the most serious offences known to the law. I feel sorry for you, and although your lot is perhaps a hard one, even the poor must respect the law. I hope this warning will be a lesson to you."

Obstructed Brigade.

A local lawyer was charged with obstructing the fire brigade in the performance of their duties, by running over a hose with his car, while a fire was in progress.

Mr. J. A. O'Brien stated that he was appearing for both the prosecution and the defence, and that the City Solicitor had informed him the charge would be withdrawn, on payment of costs.

Magistrate Langley, on these instructions, withdrew the charge on payment of $3.25 by the defendant's solicitor, the amount of the costs.

Amusement Tax.

On June 20th, the Peterboro Amateur Athletic Association was prosecuted by the Amusement Tax Department for failure to make returns in reference to certain boxing bouts held in April last, under the auspices of the P.A.A.A.

Dr. A. W. MacPherson, C. E. Curtis and C. H. Pennefather, the officers of the association, were named as defendants. Last Friday the case was adjourned until to-day.

The amount claimed was in dispute, and Amusement Tax Inspector Cools, who was present to-day when the case was called, stated that a settlement with the Department had been made.

The only matter to be disposed of was the question of costs, and the case was adjourned until July 3rd, to permit time for payment of costs.

ALGONQUIN FIRE IS STILL RAGING

Between Two and Three Hundred Men Are Struggling Desperately to Stop the Progress.

ALGONQUIN PARK, June 27 (Canadian Press). — The assumption previously reported that the fire in the J. R. Booth timber limit in the south-eastern part of Algonquin Park has been get under control, has proved to be erroneous.

Under the strong westerly wind yesterday, the flames freshened and spread among the green pines until the conflagration is now pronounced beyond control.

Mr. Booth himself, in spite of his great age, is on the scene to watch the operations, and between two and three hundred men, equipped with fire engines and other implements for fire fighting, are struggling desperately to stop the progress of the fire, but it has now assumed such proportions as to seem to make their efforts futile.

St. Luke's Garden Party Was a Big Success

The St. Luke's Garden Party held last evening on the lawn of Mr. Alex. Fitzgerald was a huge success. The social was held under the auspices of the Women's Guild and the following ladies had charge, Mrs. Curtis president of the Women's Guild, Mrs. J. J. Turner, Mrs. Long, Mrs. Whitehouse and Mrs. Manice. Large crowds thronged the beautifully decorated lawn and the different booths selling ice cream and refreshments had a rushing business. Supper was served from 6 o'clock till 7.30 and the Juvenile Salvation Army Band supplied lovely music.

St. James' Church Held A Successful Social

The Cheerful Workers' Bible Class of St. James' Methodist Church held a successful social on Tuesday evening of this week, at the residence of Md. and Mrs. Wm. Swanger, 591 Romaine Street. There was a splendid attendance, and an excellent programme provided, including the following numbers: Vocal solos, Mrs. H. Doig, who gave several appreciated solos, Miss Nellie Payne, and the Misses Dorothy and Marjorie Seabrook, in duett. There was also a reading by Mrs. Geo. Rowe, and instrumental numbers by Mrs. C. Hill, and the Misses Marion Hill, Mary Wood, Edna Pilly, Amy Fairbrother and Greta Welbourn. The sing-song was conducted by Mrs. W. Atkinson. Ice cream and cake were served later. The proceeds of the social will be used for re-building the platform in the Sunday School-room.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died, he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who had gone abroad. After the death, Paul comes home for the reading of the will, and to Wanda's surprise she finds she is disinherited, and that he is the heir. Paul dislikes Wanda intensely because of her behaviour, and tells her she must leave the house immediately; she refuses, and, in order to stay there, pretends to be ill. One night, however, Paul goes down to the stable and discovers Wanda saddling his favorite horse in order to go for a ride. He orders her to unsaddle the horse, but she defies him. For a while they stay there, each refusing to move. Then the lamp goes out, and they are left in the darkness.

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT.

XIII—KING OF THE EARTH.

As Paul expected, Wanda's first instinct was to make a dash through the darkness to escape, and as he moved quickly to the door to stop her, she flung herself against him.

"You little devil!"

Half laughing, half angry, he gripped her by both arms, holding her fast.

"Let me go!"

"When you have obeyed me and taken the saddle off Lion."

"Let go of my arms; you hurt me."

He released her at once, standing with his back to the door while he fumbled in a pocket for matches and lit one.

Wanda was a pace from him her hat had fallen off and her thick bobbed hair stood up wildly on her head, making her look like some passionate, defiant imp. The longing to conquer and subjugate her grew in Paul's heart as he realized how entirely she was at his mercy.

He would prove to her that he was her master; he would show her that he was stronger than she.

Then the match flickered down in his hand and went out, and Wanda said again in a shaken voice:

"Very well. I'll take off the saddle."

He did not believe her.

"Bring me the lamp then, and I'll light it first," he commanded.

He heard her move away from him and come back.

"Here it is."

He struck another match and bent to light the wick, but there was not much oil left and it was some time in igniting; then just as the flame grew Wanda saw her opportunity and seized it.

She dropped the lamp which she had been holding for him, and rushed to the door, wrenching it open and letting in a sudden draught of night air.

"Wanda . . . !"

Paul waited a moment to make sure the light was extinguished, then he followed her.

His blood was up. He was furious with her, and furious with himself for having given her the opportunity for escape. Quickly as she ran, he easily overtook her, and caught her before she reached the darkness and safety of the garden.

"You brute! Oh, you brute!"

She fought against his arms, but he held her fast.

"I'll show you who is master! If you think you can master me."

He was passionately angry, even while he realized the futility of his anger.

"If you were a boy I'd give you the thrashing you deserve!" he said thickly.

"But as it is——"

She was momentarily stilled.

"As it is——" she challenged him mockingly. "What will you do, oh King of the Earth?"

"This!" said Paul, and before she could realize his intention or struggle to free herself he bent and kissed her lips many times, with fierce, angry kisses that meant nothing and were born of the sheer longing to subjugate and humiliate her.

"There!" he said at last, releasing her and speaking rather breathlessly. "If you will behave like a child, you must expect to be treated like one."

But to his surprise there was no storm of rage, no passionate outburst; she stood quite still for a moment, then she said in a low, throbbing voice:

"I'll never forgive you for this. Never."

Paul laughed.

"Do you think I care?"

Wanda began to walk away from him through the scented night.

"No," she said over her shoulder. "But I'll make you."

"You flatter yourself," Paul called after her mockingly, but she made no answer, and he saw the silhouette of her slim figure against the light of the drawing-room window before she disappeared.

In the morning she stayed in bed again.

"Wanda not getting up?" Paul asked of Mrs. Garnet at breakfast time.

"No. I've tried to persuade her, but she said she slept badly and did not feel so well this morning.

Paul smiled grimly.

"Slept badly! She was down in the stable at eleven o'clock last night, saddling Lion."

"Mr. Collinge!"

"I assure you that she was," Paul insisted. "She was going out for a ride when I found and stopped her. We had the usual scene, but I brought her back to the house with me."

He stopped, remembering that he had not succeeded in making her unsaddle Lion as he had sworn to do.

Confound her! Was she always to get the better of him?

CHURCH UNION HOLDING HOUSE

Twenty-six Clauses in the Bill Remain For Consideration and Amendments.

OTTAWA, June 27 (Canadian Press). — The Church Union Bill again holds the House to-day.

The vote taken early this morning was merely on one clause of the Bill. Twenty-six other clauses remain for consideration, but the amended clause adopted is regarded as the vital one of the Bill, and the general expectation now is that the Bill will pass.

It is probable that more may be heard of the amendment proposed by Alfred Storke of Skeena, providing for a reference to the Supreme Court on the point whether the Presbyterian General Assembly has the power to enter into the union.

When the Storke amendment came before the House yesterday it was ruled out of order on the ground of insufficient notice, but it may be brought up again at a later stage of the Bill.

Premier King has already favoured the idea of submitting a stated case to the Supreme Court.

No Counsel for Govt. At Home Bank Appeal

OTTAWA, June 27. — (Canadian Press).—Although the Dominion Government has been given the right to be represented by a counsel at the Home Bank appeal before the Privy Council, no appointment is announced.

E. L. Newcombe, K.C., Deputy Minister of Justice, is, however, in London on other business. Should the Dominion Government desire to be represented in the appeal it is likely that Mr. Newcombe will appear.

FARMERS' DAY AT KIWANIS CLUB

Twenty-five Members of the Farming Community Present at Luncheon.

A GOOD ADDRESS.

It was Agricultural day at the Kiwanis noon luncheon. There were twenty-five guests present, all of them farmers, and practically every township in the county was represented.

"The underlying principle of Kiwanis is friendship, co-operation and a broader sympathy with the problems of our fellow men," declared John Dewart, the speaker of the day. "We have representatives of our greatest industry gathered together with representatives of many other lines of business. The motto of our club is 'We Build,' and every farmer is a true Kiwanian in that sense," remarked the speaker.

Mr. Dewart stated that the four sources of Canada's wealth lies in her farms, forests, the sea and the mines, representing our great commercial structure. The greater portion of our produce is exported, as a result of which money pours into Canada, keeping our great commercial body in action.

Continuing the speaker observed that this great commercial structure is built upon four corner stones, the most important of which is the farmer. Although business is bad the foundation is good.

The well cultivated lands and fine farm homes throughout the country represent generations of hard work, and thrift, a price that we of this generation would not want to pay, he opined.

Business Depression.

Statistics showed that the revenue on the farm had been reduced by from 100 to 200 per cent. since 1919 and 1920. There is this enormous depreciation in the value of farm products to-day, but business conditions are not clear sailing either, remarked the speaker, pointing out that many established business houses had gone into liquidation as a result of the business depression prevailing during the last two or three years.

It was shown that all lines of business retrograde or progress in accordance with the stability of agriculture, the foremost industry of the country. The city suffers with the country and vice versa.

When binders were first introduced, declared the speaker, their price was $100 and the price of wheat was $1 a bushel. To-day wheat is the same price and binders are from $250 to $275. In other words he stated at one time it was necessary to draw out 100 bushels of wheat to pay for a crop and now it is necessary to draw out 250 or 275.

Under these conditions with the present prevailing general depression affecting all interests, one of three things must happen before a readjustment will take place, said Kiwanian Dewart. Either the price of farm produce must go up to cope with the high price of the manufactured article, the manufactured article come down to cope with the poor market prices of farm products, or a compromise must be effected. He stated that the people should endeavor to get the prices within the buying power of the farmer.

Last Year's Crop.

Last year, remarked the speaker, it was felt that Canada's record wheat crop of five million bushels would not find a market because of the decreased buying powers of the European countries. However, we are now assured by official reports, he stated that all of Canada's last year's wheat will be shipped to Europe before this year's crop is harvested. As a result of this, the prices of wheat has risen recently, and we are now assured of a foremost place in the markets of the world of Canada's cereals. "And if the Fordney-McCumber tariff is removed, he further stated, it will mean the greatest possible boon to the agriculture industry in Canada, and particularly to the farmers of Ontario."

"The eyes of the world are turned upon Canada," concluded the speaker. "It is regarded as a veritable Garden of Eden, and in the next few years, people will come to the Dominion, from all parts of the globe, and Canada is in a position to demand the very best of immigrants."

We have every reason to look forward with optimism, stated the speaker. "To-day our dollar stands higher than any other currency in the world, and the financiers at New York are buying them in great quantities, indicating that we are bordering on a period prosperity never before experienced in the history of Canada."

Kiwanian Dewart's address was a most excellent treatise on present conditions, and the wisdom of his words were accepted as the right solution of to-day's problems.

Mr. J. J. Duffus, in moving a vote of thanks, expressed his belief that the speaker had struck the keynote of the situation, and remarked that his address should prove an incentive for like gatherings, representing country and city, to get together on other occasions.

Mr. Sam. Staples, ex-M.P.P. for Northumberland and Durham, in seconding Kiwanian Duffus' vote of thanks, predicted that the inevitable re-adjustment of conditions contemplated would soon take place if there was a closer understanding between the different branches of industry.

Chairman Charlie Cook remarked that the Kiwanis Club is proud of Jack Dewart, in thanking him for the address.

The spirit of good fellowship was deeply implanted, and Chairman Charlie Cook extended an invitation to the guests present to drop in at any Kiwanian luncheon, if they were in town.

Kiwanian Walter Kidd was to-day's booster, and delivered a brief address on the history of the Gallagher Remedy Company, which was established here just three years ago on July 1st. He pointed out that 50,000 bottles of Gallagher remedies were sold last year, and that the company has completed their organization in Ontario, and will break new ground in the Province of Quebec next year.

A small bottle of juniper berries brought here from Italy by the Gallagher Remedy Company were passed around the tables, each member taking a guess at the number in the bottle.

The winners of the contest were Fred. Steinkrauss, H. Darling and J. G. Mann, and they were respectively presented with a garden cultivator, a package of condition powders and a screw driver.

The guests present at to-day's luncheon were: Messrs. Chas. Moore, Smith; Wm. Dawson, Otonabee; Harold Dawson, South Monaghan; Hugh Mackey, Douro; Howard Quinn, Douro; J. G. Mann, Smith; C. S. Thompson, Peterboro; M. E. Smithson, Otonabee; Allen Mann, Smith; T. W. McAdoo, Cavan; Joseph Madill, North Monaghan; Harvey Webber, North Monaghan; Fred. Likes to Board at the Local Hotels

An old man, who is an inmate of the House of Providence, imposed upon Mayor Turner's good nature by putting up at one of the city's best hotels at His Worship's expense.

It seems that this old man prefers the bright lights and the glare of the city to the monotony of a home for the aged and infirm. He likes to spend the evening in an easy chair in the lobby of a hotel, amongst the talkative travellers, and to retire to a luxurious bedroom, when all but the night clerk have departed.

This is not the first occasion that he conferred the honour upon a prominent citizen of allowing him to pay for his night's sojourn in one of the local hotels.

This morning, city official brought him in to the Police Station, where he was whisked off to the old peoples' home in the police car. He appeared to be in all his glory, riding the back seat of the big car.

BALTIMORE CASE HEARD YESTERDAY

The Verdict States That McCrodan Was Shot Without Justification.

TORONTO, June 27.—(Canadian Press.)—According to a verdict returned by the coroner's jury at the morgue shortly after midnight, the shooting of Byron A. McCrodan, near Baltimore, Ont., on May 18th, was "without justification." The verdict reads: "We find that Byron A. McCrodan died in Wellesley Hospital, Toronto, on May 26th, as a result of wounds received on May 18th on the preserve of William James Crossen, of Baltimore, Ont., from a shot gun in the hands of William John Crossen, game keeper on the above preserve, and we further find that, according to evidence submitted, shots were fired without justification."

The jury was out deliberating only about half an hour, but nearly four hours were taken up with hearing witnesses.

Some confusion was experienced in taking evidence owing to the fact that the name of the owner of the preserve is William James Crossen and the game keeper's name is William John Crossen, although the two are not relatives. The game keeper, who is under a charge of murder, sat with calm demeanor through the inquest, but was not called upon to give evidence.

LINDSAY OLD HOME WEEK.

Peterboro' Mayor and City Council Have Been Invited.

Mayor Graham has invited Mayor J. J. Turner and the members of the City Council to visit Lindsay during Old Home Week, opening to-morrow (Saturday), 28th June.

Peterborough will be represented if time will permit a carload of the aldermen to attend.

BRUSSELS, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—It was officially announced to-day that the Belgian Government is in entire agreement with the Franco-British communication to Germany. There had been press reports that Belgium was not in entire agreement with the Franco-British communication.

ITALY RESPECTS SLAIN MATTEOTTI

All Workmen in Italy Stopped Work This Morning From 10 O'clock to 10.30 to Show Respect.

ROME, June 27. — (Canadian Press.)—All workmen in Italy, irrespective of parties to which they belong, including Fascisti workers, stopped work from ten o'clock to 10.20 this morning, remaining in perfect silence for that period as a tribute to murdered deputy Matteotti and as a manifestation of protest against the crime. Demonstration was not observable outside factories and workshops, as public utilities such as street cars, taxi cabs and the like were kept in operation. Simultaneously groups of parliamentary opposition meeting separately in the chamber of deputies, defintely agreed on a resolution to be passed at the plenary sitting of opposition factions this afternoon. These groups observed a silence of ten minutes as their tribute and protest.

CANADA SHOULD HAVE GOOD NAVY

This Was Hinted by Sir Frederick Field at Canadian Club Luncheon Yesterday.

VANCOUVER, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Canada's duty as regards the naval protection was hinted at by Vice Admiral Sir Frederick Field at the Canadian Club luncheon here yesterday. He did not put it in so many words but that a great Dominion like Canada should have a navy to protect her commerce was a certainty. His speech, however, suggested Canada's lack in this respect.

Sir Frederick was given a tremendous ovation. Once when he asked if, in an emergency in any part of empire, would Canada stand aside, he was interrupted by tremendous "No."

"Nobody who has read the history of the British Empire," said Sir Frederick, "can fail to understand its great sea power. After war there is always reaction, for all governments find themselves in debt and faced with necessity for rigid economy.

"Our minds and minds of Governments become so crowded we are likely to forget in great empire like ours, a great navy is necessary for our safety.

All Saints' Garden Party Big Success

The garden party held yesterday afternoon and evening on the lawn of the residence of Dr. and Mrs. N. H. Sutte.., Park street, under the auspices of the Women's Guild of All Saints' Church, was well patronized, and proved to be a very successful affair. EX-HEADMASTER SELLS NEWSPAPERS

Lost Valuable Position on Joining Army and Now Suffers

GOLD MEDALLIST

Says He is Only One of Many Fighting Against Odds

A former schoolmaster, who claims University distinctions, sells newspapers at a street corner at Streatham, London.

"I gave up a job of £500 a year to join the Army when there was a call for men during the war—and things have come to this," he told a "Daily Chronicle" representative.

After a futile search high and low for employment he assumed he was too old at 46.

"I am ready to take anything which will bring me in a decent living," he exclaimed. "I am not 'too good' for any job."

He was admittedly sensitive lest any acquaintances should recognize him at his pitch, though Streatham is far from his modest abode in a street behind the Strand. Let him be styled "Mr. X."

TEACHER FOR 27 YEARS.

An Irishman of medium height, he summarized his educational record thus:

Whitworth scholarship in 1898 when serving as teacher.

Gold medallist in mathematics in 1901.

Graduated Queen's University, Belfast.

B.Sc. of London.

Held continuous scholastic appointments for 27 years.

"I was headmaster at Newry when in 1915 I resigned to join the Royal Army Medical Corps, being then at the limit age of 30," he added.

"I served for four years in the East, and on my return was employed by the Belfast Ministry of Pensions, passing the Civil Service examinations with ease.

"But cuts in the pay brought it down from £4 4s. 5d. net weekly to £2 2s. 7d., making it impossible to live up to the position.

"I tried Canada, but found the outlook there hopeless for clerical or educational work, and I came on to London in December, again to face a grim struggle for a living.

SLAVISH TOIL.

"I made the mistake when I left the Army of not immediately resuming teaching. I have applied for instructors' posts, and have put my name on the L.C.C. supplementary list for a teachership in the evening and continuation classes.

"When I can, I do envelope addressing at 6s. 8d. a thousand, but it is slavish toil for very little. I am a novice at this newspaper selling, which I do on Sundays only having chanced on a vacant pitch which brings me in enough for my bedroom.

"I want to rise, to score off my own bat. It is a desperate struggle, but I shall manage it.

"After all, I am but one of hundreds who are fighting against odds. For instance, I know of an M.A. of Aberdeen, steady, and a first-rate mathematician, who speaks nine languages, and all he can get is a small amount of occasional translation work."

JUDGE WILL SELL CELEBRATED RELIC

Lord Coleridge is about to sell the "S.S. Collar," which for several centuries was worn by the Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, and was passed to the late Lord Coleridge, Lord Chief Justice of England.

The origin of the Collar is a mystery. By some antiquarians it is thought that the letter S indicates "Sovrayne." Camden expressed the opinion that the S was the repetition of the letter which was the initial of an eminent Roman lawyer.

Seventy years ago there was an earnest endeavor by Foss, an eminent legal scholar, and Planche, the author of text books on English costumes, to solve the problem, but little progress was made.

FIVE KILLED IN AEROPLANE CRASH

Members of Royal Air Force Meet Tragic End

Five R.A.F. airmen were killed in one day in England—four in a collision between two machines at Grantham, and one at Northolt.

Two DH9A aeroplanes belonging to No. 39 Squadron collided while manoeuvring in formation over Spittlegate Aerodrome, Grantham. Both machines crashed in flames from a height of 1,000 feet, the pilots and observers being instantly killed. The names of the officers are:—

Flying Officer L. G. Lucas, Observer A. C. L. Coppleston, Flying Officer R. H. Daly, D.S.C., D.F.C., Sergeant W. H. Brewer.

Flight-Lieut. R. H. C. Usher was killed when his aeroplane crashed at Northolt, while manoeuvring with a fighters' squadron in a new type of machine known as the Dormouse. He was twenty-eight years of age.

POISONED BUT DID NOT CALL AID

An inquest was held at St. Anne's, Blackpool, on John Archibald Barber, 22, who was found dead in a house in St. George's road, St. Anne's.

It was stated that pinned on his bedroom door was the following note:

Urgent.—Please get me a doctor at once. I am nearly dying. I took some poison in mistake and I cannot speak. By mother's address is, Mrs. Barber, 16, Green-lane, Killamarsh, near Sheffield.

He took ammonia in mistake for whiskey prescribed for him for diabetes.

A policeman said that Barber told him that he took the ammonia after he had got into bed, and being in a strange house did not like to bother the householder.

The verdict was Death from Misadventure.

FOOTBALL CLUB'S DEBT OF £50,000

Chairman of Leeds United Resigns and Demands Payment

Hilton Crowther, chairman of the Leeds United Football Club, has sent in his resignation and has asked that immediate arrangements be made for the repayment of the money owing to him by the club.

He adds: "I realize, of course, that it may not be possible to find the whole of this sum immediately, but in view of my financial engagements I must firmly ask that a very substantial part of it should be paid to me before the end of August."

In all, Leeds United Club, it is said, is in his debt to the extent of £50,000. To reduce this liability a trust fund was formed towards the end of last season, but the response has fallen far short of expectations.

Mr. Crowther says he hoped to be relieved to the extent of £30,000 this year.

SNAKES IN BANANAS.

Two railway porters were unloading bananas at Southampton Docks when they saw one of the bunches move. They made an inspection and were surprised to see a snake raise its head and hiss. The men fled.

An ex-soldier named New, who had had experience in handling snakes in India, secured the reptile, dropped it into a haversack and sold it later to a taxidermist.

AMERICANS RENT LONDON MANSIONS

Duke of Norfolk's Palatial Home Occupied by Pittsburgh Lady

Two of London's most palatial mansions have been acquired for the season by rich Americans.

One of these is Norfolk House, St. James' Square, S.W., the magnificent town house of the Duke of Norfolk. It has been rented furnished until the end of July by Mrs. Harry Brown, of Pittsburg, America.

It is estimated that the furnished rental value at the present time for the London season is about three thousand five hundred guineas.

General and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt have taken Spencer House for the season. They are two of the most distinguished Transatlantic guests, and are extremely wealthy. They had a lease of Brook House, the home of Lord and Lady Monthatten, last year, where they entertained a great deal. Their daughter, Miss Grace Vanderbilt, is a popular member of the most exclusive society set, which includes the Royal Family.

Spencer House, St. James' Place, is familiar as one of the three stately mansions overlooking the Green Park at its south-eastern corner. The others are Bridgewater House, and the palatial building formerly known as Stafford House, and now the London Museum.

RELIGION ESSENTIAL SAYS LEVERHULME

Business to Succeed Must Stick to Golden Rule

Business, to be permanently successful, must be conducted on the lines of the Sermon on the Mount and the Golden Rule according to Lord Leverhulme, who presided at a luncheon in London to meet Dean Howard Robbins and the Rev. Dr. H. E. Fosdick, of New York. It was under the auspices of the English-Speaking Union and the British Council for the Interchange of Preachers and Speakers.

Proposing "The Guests," Lord Leverhulme said:

"I sometimes hear it said that modern business cannot be conducted on the lines of the Sermon on the Mount and the Golden Rule. I can only say this: that any other principle would not give permanently successful business. With all the best firms across the Atlantic and in all the great firms of this country you will find that the greater the prominence of the firm, the closer they adhere to the teaching of the Sermon on the Mount and the practice of the Golden Rule.

"I believe business is not outside religion and that religion is not outside business. We in business want the same guidance on the side of humanity as we have received on the side of mechanical utility from science. Don't imagine we are indifferent to it."

Dean Robbins, in reply, said they were all deeply convinced that democracy could not be stable unless it rested upon a basis of religious faith.

PLACE WHERE GIRLS CAN'T GET MARRIED

Yorkshire Town of 19,000 Has Excess of Females

TOO SHY MEN

Chief Industry Employs 1,000 More Women Than Men

In the little Yorkshire town of Bingley the young women, though otherwise comely, wear an anxious and expectant look.

Gathered in little groups along Moir street they eye hungrily; almost resentfully, the passing of each unescorted male.

The reason for this is the prevailing famine which threatens this fair spot—a famine, not of food, but of husbands!

According to figures quoted from the Census by Dr. H. Angus, medical officer of health, there are not only in Bingley, as elsewhere, many more women than men, but there is an excess of 2,000 single women over the number of single men.

In a town the total population of which is less than 19,000, this state of affairs is really alarming—for the single women.

The disproportion between the sexes is, in sober fact, believed to be the highest in the country, and it is getting worse. In the ten years between 1911 and 1921 there was an actual reduction in the number of males, and females increased in a greater proportion than in the previous decade.

The life of the town is seriously affected. Jewellers complain that they can't sell their wedding rings, and the confetti trade is a dying industry.

What particularly exasperates the Bingley girls is the callous neglect by the men of the town's natural advantages.

Bingley is set in a hollow of the Yorkshire hills, with woods providing scores of secluded leafy walks on every side.

"What is the use of all these quiet lanes," said a pretty mill girl to me, "when we have no one to take us along them? Where is the fun in a couple of girls going for a walk in the woods?

"Every Saturday afternoon it is the same. The men rush off to Bradford to a football or cricket match, leaving us to amuse ourselves as best we can. It is very unfair."

Resentment has been increased by a recent incident. At the parish church last Sunday the banns were read of a local young man. Imagine the wrath of the feminine party when they heard the name of the bride's parish. It was Brixham, in Devonshire. Only respect for the sacred building prevented a protest being made on the spot, and an indignation meeting may be held at an early date.

The customary excuses were made by the men I have met. They talk about the shortage of houses, and the slackness of trade. One, bolder or more cynical, said frankly that he is too busy enjoying himself to think of marriage.

A serious reason for the shortage of men in Bingley is the fact that the textile trade, which is the staple industry, employs nearly 1,000 more women than men.

Where Love-making Leads Young Man To Police Station

A novel way of winning a sweetheart was disclosed at Tottenham Police Court, when a boy was charged with disorderly behavior.

The police said that he chased a young girl.

Boy: Yes, sir, but the girl had taken my handkerchief.

Magistrate: Did you know the girl?

Boy: No. It's a way they have of getting an introduction and a sweetheart. (Laughter.)

Magistrate: And did you catch her?

Boy (plaintively): No, sir, the policeman caught me.

Magistrate: You would do better by leaving girls alone. You are bound over.

CURATE SELLS FISH IN CHESHIRE TOWN

Rev. A. MacLulich, who recently resigned from his curacy at the St. Mary's Church, Sandbach, Cheshire, has become a fishmonger.

Daily he goes round Sandbach and the district with a Ford lorry, hawking fish.

He carries a small slate from the top button of his duck coat, bearing the prices for the day.

Mr. MacLulich, in an interview, said birth and breeding were not incompatible with the lowliest occupation, and neither could assume to despise the other.

His mother was a daughter of Canon James Mecredy. His father was Canon John MacLulich, directly descended from Lulach, King of Scotland in 1076.

CUT SCOTLAND IN TWO BY CANAL

A Forth-to-Clyde canal, to be dug by the British Legion, was suggested by General Sir Ian Hamilton, at Aberdeen, in his address at the annual conference of the British Legion.

Why, he asked, should they not, after the great trench war, cut one last enormous trench, 29 miles long, 40 ft. deep, and 148 ft. wide; not this time against the Germans, but as a channel to drain Glasgow of its slums.

By means of a Forth-to-Clyde canal enterprise, within 20 years, twice today's traffic would be carried between Baltic and Continental ports to America. Why not lay the very heart of dear old Scotland open to these foreign seamen on payment of certain dues.

A plan of the proposed canal was on view at Wembley. Three-quarters of the 24 millions would go in wages.

MYSTERY OF ATOMS.

In a paper on "Atoms and Isotopes" read before the Institute of Metals, Dr. F. W. Aston said if one were to construct a scale model of an atom as large as the dome of St. Paul's, the electrons would be little larger than pinheads, while the protons would be practically invisible, being nothing more than dust particles.

Three Leaders at Chequers

They are shown standing on the steps at Chequers. Left to right: Mr. Cosgrave, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Sir James Craig.

ONTARIO MINES ATTRACT LONDON

Inexhaustible Resources of Mineral Wealth in British Empire

"We have in the British Empire inexhaustible resources of mineral wealth, and we have the men to develop them," said Viscount Long, presiding at the Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress, which opened at Wembley.

He pointed out that the Empire easily leads the world in the production of gold and diamonds, and that Great Britain's reserves of coal are estimated at 155,000,000,000 tons.

Seventy-five per cent., or £54,000,000, of the world's gold yield in 1923 was produced within the Empire.

"The half-dozen greatest gold mines of the world," said Lord Long, "are situated in the British Empire. Another great mine, which promises to be extremely rich, has been discovered this year in Northern Ontario.

The Empire's diamond production in 1920, the "boom" year, was 3,195,000 carats, the world's total being 3,608,000 carats.

The Premier mine, near Pretoria, in which the famous Cullinan diamond was found, yielded last year 585,378 carats, yet the average depth of the mine was only increased by about six inches.

BEGGING LETTER FRAUDS ON PUBLIC

Society's Activities in Britain Reveals Some Queer Cases

Amazing stories of begging by people who are well off, some of the appeals made to the King and the Prince of Wales, were told at the annual meeting of the Mendicity Society at Apsley House, Piccadilly, over which the Duke of Wellington presided.

Mr. Pierpoint, describing the experiences of investigation, mentioned the case of a woman who applied for assistance for her brother, a 'bus conductor, who was prevented by illness from following his occupation.

Inquiries revealed that the woman lived in a nine-roomed house for which she had just paid £10,000, that her income was £2,000 a year, and that her "invalid brother" was the owner of the 'bus, which he ran at a profit.

During the year, Mr. Pierpoint said, the society had investigated 1,173 begging letter cases, against 851 in the previous year. They had inquired into cases for the King and the Prince of Wales.

"Women moneylenders have figured in our inquiries," continued Mr. Pierpoint. "One has a very strong objection to the percentage which some of them charge, one penny in the shilling per week, which works out at 450 per cent. per annum.

One speaker suggested that there should be power to send persistent beggars to labor colonies for reformatory purposes.

MOUNTAIN PEAKS AS WAR MEMORIALS

A. W. Wakefield, member of the last Everest expedition, and president of the Fell and Rock Climbing Club, unveiled a War Memorial tablet last Sunday on the summit of Great Gable, Cumberland, 3,000 feet above sea level.

Twelve tablets will be erected to the memory of the members of the club who fell during the war, and each will be placed on a mountain peak.

When the club started its war memorial scheme in 1918, it was suggested that a mountain crag or cliff be bought. Then a hill or small mountain was suggested. Finally twelve peaks, and nearly all the land in their vicinity above 1,500 feet, were purchased, and handed over to the National Trust.

Other peaks purchased by the club are Kirkfell, Green Gable, Brandreth, Grey Knotts, Base Brown, Seathwaite Fell, Glaramara, Allen Crags, Great End, Broad Crags, and Lingmell.

Bobbed Hair is Becoming Unpopular With London Girls

Experts say London will very soon follow Paris in the reaction against the bobbed and shingled hair fashions.

Most women and girls who have had their hair cut short are now anxious for it to grow again—and quickly, a West End Court hairdresser told a reporter the other day.

Many are now having their bobbed or shingled hair permanently waved to lessen the "bare" effect.

Fashions in hairdressing are as liable to rapid change as dress fashions. Bobbing and shingling are becoming common, and therefore unpopular.

TOMBSTONE VERSE WAS REJECTED

Widow Poetess's Epitaph Not Pleasing to Solons

A dispute between a widow and the Leighton Buzzard Burial Committee, who rejected as unsuitable the verse she composed for her husband's gravestone, has ended in the widow's favor.

The disputed verse read:—

A bitter grief, a shock severe,
To part with thee we loved so dear.
Our loss is great, we'll not complain.
But hope in Christ to meet again.

When this was rejected the widow sent another:—

He has gone to his rest, his troubles are o'er.
He is free from his sorrow and pain,
The ills of this life, which he patiently bore,
Shall never distress his again.

After this verse was also rejected, someone discovered that the first verse was already in the cemetery, and in these circumstances the committee decided to accept it.

TO HONOR REIGN OF KING ATHELSTAN

Millenary to Be Celebrated by Pageant at Kingston

King Athelstan, the first King of England, was crowned at Kingston-on-Thames 1,000 years ago, and the millenary is to be celebrated by a pageant on Whit Monday.

Athelstan's grandfather, Alfred the Great, was King of Wessex.

Alfred's son, Edward the Elder, was King of Wessex and Mercia, and Overlord of the Kings of Northumbria and Cumberland.

Athelstan united all the kingdoms, including that of the West-Welsh in Devon and Cornwall, and his kingdom has lasted intact 1,000 years.

The King has a river-side palace at Kingston, and he was crowned in that town in 924.

Many benefits were conferred on his kingdom by the first King of England.

He organized public markets and unified coinage, set free a large number of slaves yearly, and prohibited the capital punishment of youths, ameliorated the harsh Saxon laws, translated the Gospels into Saxon for general use, and encouraged exploration and trade by making every merchant who made three voyages a Thane.

YOUTH STUCK IN SAFE UNEXPECTEDLY

A Blackpool youth helping his father, who was working on a large safe at a bank, walked into the safe with the remark: "Anyone who gets in here will deserve all he finds."

As he spoke the steel grille closed behind him and automatically locked.

No one in Blackpool could open the safe, and it was not until a representative of the makers had been fetched by motor-car from Manchester, over 50 miles away, that the youth could be liberated several hours later.

Food and drink were handed to him through the bars of the grille.

SCOTTISH MINISTER IN HARNESS AT GREAT AGE OF 99

Rev. James Rennie, senior minister of the St. Vincent street United Free Church, is in his 99th year. He is at present confined to bed by illness, and has not preached from his pulpit for eighteen months, but his congregation are all looking forward to his completing the 100th year of his life and the 75th of his ministry.

At the age of six Mr. Rennie was taken by his father to march with him in the Reform Demonstration of 1832.

He became minister of the St. Vincent street church in 1865. In 1897 he was elected Moderator of the United Presbyterian Synod, the highest honor in the gift of his church.

SECRET SIGNALS TO GET HIS MEALS

Aged Recluse's Curious Method of Signalling His Wants

LONELY DEATH

Gossiped About Politics Daily—Had Annuity of $300

"When I open the window I am ready for breakfast."

This was part of a signal code invented by Thomas Barr Summers, an eccentric old man of 71, on whom an inquest was held at Westminster.

For over 20 years he had lodged in a house in St. Leonard's street, Pimlico, always keeping his bed-sitting-room locked.

"Of late years he always communicated with me by what he called 'Giving the Signal,'" said his landlady. "He had a regular code, and, funny as it was, we both found it very convenient.

"Usually about 11.45 a.m. he would shuffle his bedside table which meant: I am getting up.

"About half-past twelve up would go his window, and I knew he was saying: I am ready for breakfast.

"He awlays waited until I was in the passage before he unlocked his door. Then we passed the time o' day and gossiped about what was going on in Parliament. After ten minutes' chat I would leave him.

"An hour later—he was a rare one to dawdle—down goes his window, and I says to myself:—

The old gentleman has finished his breakfast.

"Breakfast was the only meal he had in the house, although he seldom went out before seven in the evening. And then never if it was a windy day. Where he took his meals I don't know, but he didn't lack for money, as he had an annuity which brought him in something over £60 a year. And he may have had other means."

Harmsworth's Give $300,000 to Found Memorial to Father

A gift of £60,000 from Mrs. Alfred Harmsworth and her eldest surviving son, Viscount Rothermere, for the establishment of a benevolent endowment to be known as the "Alfred Harmsworth Memorial Fund," in memory of the late Mr. Alfred Harmsworth, is announced by the treasurer of the Middle Temple, Sir Robert Wallace.

Alfred Harmsworth, who was the father of the late Viscount Northcliffe and Viscount Rothermere, entered the Middle Temple in 1886, and was called to the Bar in 1889.

He had chambers in Pump court, and was attached to the South-Eastern Circuit. He died in 1889.

The administration of the fund is placed by the donors entirely in the hands of the treasurer and Benchers for the time being of the Middle Temple.

FAMOUS WRESTLER NOW PHILOSOPHER

Hackenschmidt Failed to Take Fall Out of Impressario

Hackenschmidt, the wrestler, has turned philosopher. Recently he visited London and called at the office of a famous impressario, but did not see him, as he was out.

To the impressario's secretary he expounded his newly acquired philosophy. This, he claimed, would end war, banish poverty and perfect peace. "Because," he added, "we shall return to the right method of life."

Hackenschmidt left the office after having spoken for an hour, during which period he mentioned casually that he had challenged Bergson, the French philosopher, to debate the theory of life for a side stake of 2,000 francs.

His proposal to demonstrate (at a fee) his philosophy from a London platform is unlikely to be agreed to by the impressario at whose office he called.

SCHOOLBOY PRANK HALTS RAIL TRAFFIC

A special train bringing back a thousand schoolchildren from a visit to Wembley was delayed two and a half hours, and all the Great Western main line traffic from South Wales was held up, because a boy pulled the communication cord at the incline in the middle of the Severn tunnel.

The tunnel had to be traversed from end to end, a distance of five miles, to see that no one had fallen out, and when the train came to start a second engine had to be secured.

Thousands of anxious parents, thinking some accident had occurred, crowded on Newport platform awaiting the train.

CHILDREN IN REQUEST.

Market Bosworth Guardians reported having received 500 applications for ten children in the workhouse for adoption or boarding out. The Press was publicly thanked for its assistance.

BARONET OUT $50,000; VICTIMISED BY GOLD STRIKE SWINDLER GANG

New Variation of Spanish Prisoner Confidence Trick Lures Many Into Net of Ingenious Crooks—Method Used Makes it Hard to Regain Money

A baronet who lives and carries on business in the North of England has been swindled of $50,000 by an American "gold strike" gang, and there is little or no hope either of bringing the swindlers to justice or regaining the money.

The way in which the swindlers operate is so ingenious that business men on both sides of the Atlantic have been duped with ease. The methods of the gang were described to a Daily Mail reporter in London.

In the first place they find out that a relative of a wealthy American or British business man has died. Then a letter is addressed to the dead man telling him of his good fortune, through lending financial support to a gold mine syndicate.

The letter is opened by the dead man's executor, often a brother or very near relative, who replies mentioning the family bereavement and usually offers in the interests of the legatees to continue the negotiations which the writer of the letter has mentioned.

This is precisely what happened in the present case.

A letter was addressed to him by a Peter Cushing (a false name) giving the address, Grand Central Hotel, St. Thomas, Toronto, Canada. The letter was headed "East Bound, March 12, 1924," and the following are extracts from it:—

Dear Sir,—Thomas is quite ill. He intended to come out of the mines to attend to the matter I am about to set before you, but has been ordered, if he would live, to remain in the altitude and dry atmosphere of Idaho for the present. He feels that you must want to hear from him, as it is a long time since you last heard from one another, and so he requested me to act for him and to write you fully. . . .

We are still in the Robbins Mining District of Idaho, where we have discovered and located the richest gold quartz veins I have ever seen.

Thomas has declared you in with him, share and share alike. . . .

His richest mine, named in your honor, will alone make you both immense fortunes. We have expended our best energies on it. . . .

To give you an idea of the quality of our ore I would say we have often knocked out of our richest rock in a single day with an ordinary hand-hammer from 30 oz. to 40 oz. of gold valued at £4 per oz.

I have arranged for shipment of gold under your care, so that you will have no bother on that score. . . .

I have put off recording claims at Thomas's request until after he has heard from you. He thinks your idea of incorporating our joint interest a good one, and he will gladly join you in any feasible proposition. He deems it advisable for you to send a trustworthy person back with me to look after your interests, as he intends to come out late next season and wants to leave the mines in the care of someone known to you. . . .

Caution the person you elect to return with me to keep our matter strictly confidential until after we have recorded as many claims as we want. . . .

Hoping to meet you soon, I am, sincerely yours. . . .

WALKING INTO THE TRAP.

To this letter the baronet replied on April 2:—

Dear Sir,—I received your letter dated March 12th, addressed to my brother (name of brother here) of——.

I know you will be sorry to hear that my brother died in July last year. He had only just returned from a holiday and was in excellent health. . . .

Your letter, therefore, was opened by me, as his sole executor, and I cabled you immediately: "Letter March 12th received; writing."

Your letter is very interesting reading and all I can say is that if you would like to meet me I should be very glad if you would come to the Plaza Hotel, New York, any time after May 3, as I am leaving for American on s.s. —— on the —— of this month.

P.S.—Please have letter awaiting me on my arrival.

The baronet met the man at a well-known bank in New York. The man, who was without hat, nodded in a friendly manner to the cashier behind the counter and assumed the air of a person well known to the officials.

He entered a private room with the baronet, where samples of gold were displayed, and later money changed hands. A further meeting was arranged at Chicago for the following day and on arriving there the Englishman found a letter awaiting him marked "urgent and personal" which said: "You hot-headed old fool; you are not the first who has been done by the gold strike gang. We should advise you to say nothing about it."

Nothing has been said by the Baronet except to a few of his friends and nothing more is likely to be done in the matter as the recovery of the money and the prosecution of the men is well-nigh impossible.

The trick apparently dates from April, 1908, when a letter stating "Thomas is quite ill" and couched in similar terms to the one quoted was received by an ex-Mayor of the West Riding of Yorkshire. A representative of the ex-mayor went to the United States but suspected a trick and no money was lost. Another Yorkshireman also received a similar letter later, but had fortunately heard of the fraud and took no notice of it.

Scotland Yard is in possession of facsimiles of the letter which seems to have been sent broadcast to wealthy Englishmen and Americans.

STRATFORD ATTRACTS WORLD TRAVELLERS

Shakespeare's Birthplace Visited by People of All Nations

The annual meeting of the trustees of Shakespeare's birthplace was held recently at the office of the Trust at Stratford-on-Avon. Sir Sidney Lee, Chairman of the Executive Committee, who presided, congratulated the trustees on the prosperity of the Trust. For a second year in succession the visitors to the three properties in their charge had scored record totals. The figures were 72,810 at the birthplace, 38,293 at Anne Hathaway's cottage and 8,055 at New Place.

It was interesting to note that visitors came from all quarters of the globe, not merely from the United States, but from the overseas Empire, from Japan, and wellnigh every European country. Japan, last year, headed the list of foreigners in point of number. The popular fallacy that the birthplace was visited by more Americans than residents in Great Britain was not borne out by their statistics, which showed that for every one American visitor there were four British. The ratio was highly creditable to the United States.

The revenues of the Trust, which came almost entirely from visitors' fees, amounted for the year to £5,596, another record figure, and the expenditure to £4,038. It was the trustees' duty under their Act of Parliament to maintain their properties on scholarly lines as a national Shakespeare memorial. A rearrangement of the birthplace collections and a new catalog, which was nearly ready, would show that a sedulous endeavor had been made to eliminate old elements of disorder and irrelevance and to obey Shakespeare's own impressive injunctions to respect degree, priority and proportion in all relations of life.

It was alleged in more or less strong language that Stratford-on-Avon lacked today an effective historic sense, but no such allegation could be justly levelled at the birthplace trustees.

A GRIM STRUGGLE.

A fight that began on a trawler's deck and finished with the combatants being put to bed side by side, occurred at Grimsby. The men fell overboard still struggling, but were rescued in the nick of time.

FIFTY CENT PENSION TO VETERAN'S WIDOW

The widow of a soldier who was in the Balaclava charge of the Light Brigade, Mrs. Mason, 89, of Northampton, has been granted a pension of fifty cents a week, after repeated applications for 14 years to a patriotic society.

EMPIRE COTTON.

It was stated at the annual meeting of the British Cotton-growing Association in Manchester that throughout the Empire, excluding India, 178,000 bales of cotton were grown last year —an increase of 65,000.

FRESH AIR CURE.

"If people would only sleep with the windows of their bedrooms open a good deal of tuberculosis would disappear," said Judge Sir T. Granger at Southwark County Court.

SOMETHING NEW IN THE FISH LINE

Two Unknown Specimens Come to Light in Britain

Caught recently off the coast of Iceland, where the sea reached a depth of 100 fathoms, an extraordinary fish brought to Hull has now been declared new to science.

It is three feet long, jet black in color, with a palmate tail and a curious rod-like process protruding from the centre of the back. The whole of the skin is covered with very sharp, conicle white spines.

Secured for Hull Corporation Museum the fish has since been submitted to the authorities of the British Museum for identification, and they state that it is of a kind previously unknown.

Pwellheli fishermen recently caught a monster electric ray fish, the first of its kind known to have been caught in Pwilheli Bay.

It weighed 84 lb., and measured over 3 ft. long and 2 ft. broad.

It is proposed to send the specimen to Bangor University.

Old Roman Died In Shropshire City Clasping Money Bags

Excavation work in connection with the Roman city of Uriconium at Wroxeter (Salop) is being resumed by the Birmingham Archæological Society.

Uriconium, covering 170 acres, was an important town, and its civil basilica, baths and other public buildings were on a large scale.

Ruins of hypocausts (chambers in which fires were kindled for heating baths and other rooms) have been found during former excavations. On the floor of one of these were many skeletons, mostly of women.

It is supposed that they had crawled there for shelter when the city was destroyed and the inhabitants probably massacred.

One of the skeletons was that of an old man, who lay with his money bags, full of coins, scattered about him.

It is though that the foundations of a forum may be brought to light by the present excavations, which are being carried out, under the supervision of Mr. D. Atkinson, of Manchester University.

So far the buildings show no signs of the influence of Christianity in the Roman city, but it is hoped that a Christian basilica may yet be revealed.

From time to time there have been found pottery, tesselated pavements, coins, moulds, cinerary urns and sepulchral stones.

TO WED MISS KIPLING

Attache at British Embassy at Madrid Her Fiancee

The interesting announcement is made of the engagement of Captain George Bambridge, M.C. (late Irish Guards), attache to the British Embassy at Madrid, to Elsie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudyard Kipling, of Bateman's, Burwash, Sussex.

PASS THE SAVINGS ON TO THE PUBLIC

And Quality is the Policy Regardless of Price.

The special sale proposition is contagious, for nearly every store holds them, and many houses overwork and abuse them, with the result that legitimate newspaper advertising is injured.

Maher & Wesley will never hold a special sale unless they have some special inducements to offer.

When Maher & Wesley advertise a special sale they will state truthfully the reason for holding it. They will advertise it well, and as "Quality is their policy," you may depend on getting merchandise up to the high standard they have set as the policy of their store.

New Method Removes Wrinkles in 15 Minutes

A veritable wonder-worker for wrinkled and flabby faces is a simple harmless application made by mixing a spoonful of powdered tarkroot with a spoonful of lemon juice. Not only does it quickly smooth out the wrinkles and age lines—before one's very eyes—but it has a stimulating influence upon the weakened and relaxed underlying tissues. The mixture is spread over the face with the fingertips, and in less than fifteen minutes the mirror shows that a most marvelous transformation has taken place. When the substance is washed off the average face actually looks ten or fifteen years younger.

The results are far better than those obtainable from the most expert massaging— and the cost is less than three times a treatment! Powdered tarkroot can be obtained from any druggist.

Owen Sound Deck Hand Met Death Yesterday

FORT WILLIAM June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Falling from a gang plank of steamer Manitoba Jack Rusk, deck hand, aged 19 years, of Owen Sound, was drowned yesterday. Rusk, with a number of others, was engaged in loading ice on the steamer Manitoba as it lay along side the dock at No. 6 C.P.R. freight shed. A big block of ice became loose and commenced to slide down the gang plank in the direction of Rusk. He jumped aside to escape it and fell into the water between the boat and the dock.

12 Able Bodied Men In Kingston's Jail

KINGSTON, June 27.—(Canadian Press.)— Tile making at the county jail has been delayed three months owing to shortage of prisoners. At one time there were only two incarcerated, and one was a woman and the other a man who was ill in the hospital. Now there are twelve able bodied fellows, including a man who claims to be dumb, so Governor Hawkey has started his squad making tile for county roads.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Ideal business partners are men who balance each other. They usually have different business qualifications without any characteristics that cause friction.

After a man gets a business started successfully the chances are that he will begin to look around for a partner. He himself is probably a good salesmen and an optimist. However, he needs a balance if his business is to grow and become more profitable.

He does not need another salesman nor another optimist. At the same time if he gets the extreme opposite to his character, as for instance a short-sighted man inclined to be stingy in expenditures, there is sure to be friction, and further progress of the business will stop.

In this case, a conservative, far-sighted financier and buyer would just about complete the balance for a highly successful partner.

In picking a partner therefore, it is wise to avoid a man with qualifications similar to your own. However, care must be taken to get a man who will balance the partnership and no act as a brake.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

MISTER BUNNY'S NEW SHOES

"Good morning, everybody! Got any shoes?"

"Pickles and porcupines!" exclaimed Mister Bags to the Twins one day. "Here comes old Mister Bunny in his bare feet. What do you suppose has happened to him!"

Pretty soon the door of the little store opened and in hopped Mister Bunny with a hearty "Good morning, everybody! Got any shoes?"

"Lots of them," laughed Mister Bags. "But it seems to be more than you have."

"Right you are," said Mister Bunny with a grin. "And I'll tell you how it happened!

"I've been wanting a new pair of shoes for ages and ages—a nice new shiny pair with lots of squeaky leather in them.

"But every time I'd say 'shoes,' Blossom, that's my wife, Blossom is. Well, she'd say: 'Why, your old ones are good enough Ben, plenty good enough!' And then she's go on and tell me how long it was since she'd had a new hat, or how we needed a parlor rug, or how we'd have to save up for our summer's vacation or something like that.

"At last I decided that I'd have to fool her some way, or I never, never, never would be having a new pair of shoes. So I thought and thought of a plan to get rid of them."

"Oh, what was it?" cried Nancy. "How did you get rid of your old shoes, Mister Bunny?"

"Why, just as easy! Just as easy as rolling off a log!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "You see the tree-toads out our way are something terrible! They go sqrrr! sqrrr! sqrrr! all night long just like that, and you can hardly sleep a wink. And as though that was not bad enough the crickets chirp all night, too, like scratchy old slate pencils. And then there are the squeedillums. They're simply awful! Why, you'd just think——"

"My goodness!" cried Mister Bags. "What have crickets and tree-toads got to do with shoes, Mister Bunny? Pickles and procupines! I do believe you forgot what you started to talk about. Losing so much sleep must have kind of upset your mind."

"Ha, ha, ha!" laughed Mister Bunny. "You're all wrong, Mister Bags. You see I thought of a plan. Last night when the racket began, I sez to Blossom, sez I, 'I'm going to throw something at them. Mebbe that will keep them quiet!'"

"'Do,' sez she; so I reached out of bed, and grabbing one of my old shoes, I threw it out of the window so far I just knew I'd never find it."

"Did it do any good?" asked Nick.

"Well, not so much!" said Mister Bunny. "Not so much as it might have. So I sez to Blossom again, sez I, 'I'm going to throw something else. I didn't get a good aim.'

"'Do,' sez she. So I let fly the other shoe. It didn't stop the noise, but I was so happy about losing those old shoes, I went right to sleep. And now I want a new pair. I'll have bright yellow ones that squeak, please. Number nines."

At that minute the door opened again and in bustled Mrs. Bunny with her husband's old shoes in her hand.

"Look yere, Ben," she cried. "I found your shoes over behind the bushes. You won't need new ones after all. That money will buy me a new washtub."

THE OLD MECHANIC SAYS:

Just sittin h'ere and watchin' folks drive in and out for gas is a reminder that I'm due for a busy season of repairin'. A lot of people seem to think that most of the damage is done to cars when they're bein' pushed hard on the highway. They ought to be in my shoes awhile.

Take that feller with the "eight." He's usin' the engine and clutch to keep the car from coastin' backwards while he waits for the chap with the Lizzie to pull away from the gas pump. With a clutch like his, and such a flexible motor, you'd probably think this sort of thing wouldn't make any difference. For the time bein' he can get away with it, but when a driver starts usin' his clutch for a brake he might as well figure that he's doin' to have to pay dearly for the brake linin' he's tryin' to save.

Any clutch gets twice as much abuse as it deserves, anyway. And besides, you don't wear out any brake linin' just settin' the emergency so the car won't coast backwards. I'm willin' to bet dollars to punctures that when the man with the "eight" gets up to the pump he'll set the emergency and ride about a block with it that way after he starts off again.

Look at that chap comin' in with that "four." The engine's buckin' so badly you can almost see the connectin' rods bendin'. Too bad, that sort of thing. All well and good to have a motor pull you along at a creepin' speed, but you've got to have the bus tuned up for it. I've told that bird a half-dozen times that his piston rings are worn. He oughta know he can't get A1 performance when she's throwin' oil on the plugs. And he oughta know that when you try to force a motor to give A1 performance on Z99 conditions you're lookin' for trouble.

Yeh, this "slow" business ain't what it's cracked up to be.

THE FESTIVE WOOF IN GOLF TOURNEYS.

Ancient Sport Drops Cloak of Dignity as Riotous Method of Handicapping Gains Favor.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

Razz and Jazz have entered the stately game of golf, supplanting, on occasions, the funeral silences which are fundamentally identified with the ancient Scottish obsession.

Where the game was formerly played at all times with the most profound dignity, and an almost religious respect for the conventions, tournaments running to the freak and foolish are now common.

For instance, a "woof and riot" tournament is announced the Shackamaxon Club at Westfield, N.J. In this tournament golfing etiquette is abandoned. All the contestants leave the tee at the same time. The high scores at each hole drop out and become gallery-ites. Yelling and rioting are encouraged.

Imagine trying to drop a six-footer for a win with a hundred guys barking, "Hold 'em Millsaps!" or "Smith Brothers, Rah, Rah, Rah!"

This, of course, is a plain nut event. It doesn't inidcate that golf is now drifting in that direction. Just the same, the wild and untamed "woof" now occupies a definite position in the system of handicapping. It ranks right along with the stroke and bisque.

When your opponent gives you a stroke he specifies the hole at which it may be taken; when he gives you a bisque—which is another silly way of saying stroke—yo uelect the hole at which the andicap applies. But a woof is neiter a stroke nor a bisque. It is simply a woof.

When your opponent agrees to give you a woof, say, the third, fifth and sixteenth holes, it means that you are to have the privilege to cutting loose with a blood-freezing shriek at any one of these holes, and at a time whes you calculate it will do him the worst harm.

Usually the woof is most effective on the putting green, and that's where it gets its biggest play.

WEATHER MAN IS PENNANT FACTOR

Bad Weather at Start Means Double Headers Later On In Season.

Jot down Mr. Weather Man as a pennant factor.

He will have considerable to say as to who will win the 1924 flags in the major leagues.

The double-header menace is already looming up big before the eyes of a half dozen major league leaders.

Perhaps no two managers fear it more than Miler Huggins of the Yankees and John McGraw of the Giants. The Yankees dropped two on Monday.

The leaders of the two pennant winning New York clubs must overcome it if they are to repeat.

* * *

Practically every major league leader is seeking pitching strength. The staffs of many of the big league clubs are unbalanced. Several have capable first string men, but none for relief or emergency work. Some have only one or two first string men with many promising recruits.

Double headers are a great strain on a pitching staff. Proper selection of pitchers must be guided by the rest the men receive between starts.

A succession of double headers often so throws a staff out of routine that it is weeks before it is back in shape and running smoothly again.

* * *

It is doubtful if there ever has been a worse spring for baseball than the 1924 brand. During the first two months of play there were not more than a dozen really good days. Many games were played under unfavorable conditions. The result: many double headers for later on.

* * *

The Yankees are going to feel the handicap of the double headers in this respect.

In the spring, with a first string pitching staff going great, it would have been to the Yankees' advantage to have played every game. The world champs had the edge.

Several opposing clubs will have benefited by the bad spring. The Chicago White Sox, for instance, have been without a manager and two of their best pitchers, Faber and Robertson.

The Cleveland club suffered a general slump, and the Detroit team suffered for a time because of injuries to a trio of regular pitchers.

Undoubtedly, the first string pitching staff of the Yankees, which will have to carry most of the burden, will be put to a hard test because of the many double headers. Monday shows this.

A similar condition exists with the Giants. McGraw's reserve strength is probably stronger than the Yanks, but he lacks as many capable first string men.

* * *

Manager Miller Huggins of the Yankees isn't much concerned about the state of affairs. "It's just as hard for the other club to win double headers, if not a little harder," was his laconic observation.

The NUT CRACKER
BY JOE WILLIAMS

Ancient and charming custom of balloting ball games on belligerent basis of non-skid left hooks and self-lubricating right crosses is being revived.

Revived is pretty and proper language. After recent massacre between Yanks and Tigers, pulmotors, Big Bens, diabolical rays, and a Hiram Johnson bellows were needed to revive infuriate athletes.

Might not be an uncouth idea at that if the boys replaced the lively ball with the lively fist.

One Pusch O'Goofty can remember when knuckle parties were as much a part of the game as left field foul line and unmuzzled hot dogs.

"In those days," remarks Mr. O'Goofty, "everything went, including your ears, if you didn't duck quick enough."

They had a K.O. column in the box score, and the summary would read: "Knockdowns, Kelly, 3; black eyes, Sweeney, 5; teeth lost, McGraw, 6; hit by pitcher (with iron pipe), McGurdy, Chyonski, Kopoleskie and Ryan. Left on bases (unconscious), Murphy, Cohen, Reilly, Schwartz. Arrests, 48. Time: 90 days and costs."

Day after Yanks and Tigers put on their Roman holiday 40,000 gore-bathed fans stormed pak. American taxpayers are against rowdyism in all chaste forms, and Judge Landis' system of dignifying baseball is just what the doctor ordered.

Turnstile fish at ball games don't care who wins as long as home ensemble doesn't lose, or how many fights are started as long as home talent finishes 'em.

And the best way to finish them, they hold, is with long swinging right hand to the Van Dyke meadows.

The jolly old annoyance is drifting back to the moist medieval days when batsman was out on first bounce.

Only difference now is that you must crash him hard enough to make Thrilling game.

SPORT HEADLINES

"Fred Fulton takes stylish drubbing but is on his heroic pedals at end of the 10th round."

"With the bases filled and the count three and two, Pitcher Dummer grooved the next one for Babe Ruth."

"Dempsey spurns million dollar purse and consents to battle for sweet charity."

"Bill Tilden, central figure in player-writer controversy, refuses to talk for publication."

"Johnny Weissmuller fails to break his own record in 220-yard breast stroke swim." (To say nothing of 100, 440, 880, etc.)

"Walter Camp agrees with critics that his All-America team is awful hunk of roquefort."

"Tex Rickard admits the customers are terrible saps to pay $25 to see reformed barroom bouncers swing the mittens."

"Called out on a third strike, Benny Biceps, noted slugger, insisted the umpire was correct!"

"New open golf champion refuses to capitalize title. 'The glory of winning is good enough for me,' he says."

When you hear that Paddock was beaten you know what the philosopher meant when he said "the race is not always to the swift."

The big-mouth fish season opens this week in Ohio. In many places the big-mouth fish season never closes.

A prohpet is not without honour, save in his own country. . . Which may merely prove you can't fool all the people all the time.

Of course, when Mr. Rickard announced there would be no outdoor fights this season he had no idea what the Yanks and Tigers planned to do.

While Harry Wills' showing may of people, it was a downright relief have been a disappointment to a lot to Jacques Kearns.

Geese that whistle are to be found in Michigan waters. There are a couple of 'em around this office, too.

On the other hand, he who laughs last may have heard it before.

A defeat has its solaces. Paddock for instance, knows now that a fourth placer gets a better view of the finish than the winner.

Italy Will Attend London Conference

LONDON, June 27. — (United Press)—Italy has accepted an invitation to attend the inter-allied reparations conference, it was announced to-day. The conference is to be held not later than July 16th.

GANGWAY! HERE HE COMES!

A Remarkable Picture, Showing Bud Evans, Illinois' Great Speeder, Who Beat Paddock's Time, in Full Stride.

The Charley Paddock of the middle west is what the experts are calling "Bud" Evans, crack sprinter of the University of Illinois, who recently equaled and bettered marks made by the noted Californian.

Evans ran the 200 meter in 21 1-5 seconds. This equals Paddock's record on a straightaway. Evans had a turn to make. This circumstance is supposed to represent an added obstacle and as a consequence his time is accepted as better than Paddock's record.

In the 100 meter Evans' time was 10.4-5, the same as Paddock's in the last Olympics.

NO TROUBLE IN GETTING AVERAGES

Belleville Scorers Make Easy For Some Players to Make a Good Showing.

It must be easy to get a batting average in Belleville, esecially for Peeney Mills. The big backstop is hitting the ball hard and often and has earned a legitimate average of fine proportions without the padding the Belleville scores are giving him, and which is making a joke out of the averages.

On Monday he was at bat six times against the Petes and got but one hit. Yet he was credited with five times at bat, and with three hits, being given one on a muffed fly ball and another on a fielder's choice. Wednesday he had three clean hits, one of them a triple, and the other two singles—yet the Belleville scorer marks him with two triples and a double. Here is where one of the triples happened. Weir was on first when Mills lined a single into let which Legon fielded cleanly. Weir tore for third on the hit, and when the fielder's throw got away from Helson, Weir scored, and Mills reached third on the error. It was nothing but a single of course. Later on with a runner on second, Mills again singled over short, and when Legon threw to the plate trying to cut off the run, Mills went to second on the throw in. And they gave him a double. Peeney ought to be hitting .800, and leading the extra base hit beat by a mile with that kind of stuff.

DRAGOONS BREAK CAMP.

Interesting List of Events For the Wind-up Yesterday.

As a wind-up for this year's camp at the Exhibition Grounds of the Third Prince of Wales Dragoons, a field day of a military character, ending with refreshments served in the big mess marquee, was held at the Exhibition grounds yesterday afternoon Several hundred people witnessed the various games which comprised the afternoon's programme, and between 50 and 60 invited guests were entertained later at tea, with Ken Blood's orchestra providing excellent music during the afternoon.

A couple of ball games between the two squadrons were the first events of the afternoon, the officers winning the pennant at the camp, defeating B Squadron by a score of 7 to 5, and headquarters by 14 to 0. Captain Douglas Loomis, Corporal J. Fanning and Orderly Room Sergeant E. Sheehy provided the battery for Headquarters and Captian Clare Stuart pitching, Adj. Max Sloan, the officers' battery.

An unusual event on the programme was the Balaclava Melee, a sort of burlesque on one of the ancient tilting tourneys, in which the men, four on a side, mounted on trusty steeds, who appeared later to bear most of the heat of the affray, charged at each other and strove with might and main to knock off with small slender sticks, the paper plume which surmounted their visors fashioned from the leather and netting headpieces used in bayonet practices. C Squadron won this interesting event, and also came off winners in a bareback horse wrestling contest, in which one competitor had his entire shirt torn from his back during the affray, and rode around like an Indian seeking for some one to conquer.

For the best turned out mount and rider, with five entries Trooper G. Harrison and W. Milne of the local C Squadron, won first and second place respectively, while Sergeant Walker of B Squadron, came third.

B Squadron broke up camp last night and C Squadron will leave the grounds to-day.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT

PRIMITIVE BATTLES STAGED IN GILBERT'S NEW PICTURE.

"The Wolf Man" is a Fighter, all the way from His Fashionable London Clubs to the Wilds of the Northland.

From the first scene to almost the last, "The Wolf Man," just released by William Fox as a vehicle for John Gilbert, is a series of fights. The last scene of course is just the opposite for that is where the Honorable Gerald Stanley ceases to be "The Wolf Man" and becomes the lover. This picture is now playing at the Regent Theatre.

The story concerns a young Englishman, who is a gentleman until he drinks. Then he becomes a beast. The trail of tragedy takes him into the timber country in Northern Quebec, and there after fighting his weakness for a year, he eventually becomes his own master and wins the girl of his choice.

It is a dashing romance with a strong moral. The dual natures of a man essentially good, but whose most primitive passion rule him when he is under the influence of drink, are subject for a story which was written by Frederick and Fanny Hatton. The picture was directed by Edmund Mortimer.

In the cast with John Gilbert are Norma Shearer, A. . Frances, Geo. Barroud, Eugene Pallette, Max Montisole, Charles Wellesley, Edgar Norton, Thomas R. Mills, Richard Blayden, D. R. O. Hatswell, Mary Warren and Ebba Mona.

In the role of the Hon. Gerald Stanley of London, Gilbert starts fighting with the opening of the picture. Later, as "The Wolf Man," of the Canadian timber lands, he fights half breed trappers and lumberjacks. And all the while he is fighting himself—his sub-conscious self.

According to advance word from the west coast Gilbert has equalled the finest work of his career in this picture.

AT THE ROYAL

BRIGHT COMEDY FEATURE AT ROYAL, 'SUNSHINE TRAIL,' FULL OF PEP AND LAUGHS.

Thomas H. Ince's latest production, "The Sunshine Trail," is now running at the Royal Theatre. "The Sunshine Trail" is a fast-moving western comedy-drama featuring Douglas MacLean in the role of a cowboy-doughboy who tries to live up to a motto: "Scatter sunshine on your way; do something good every day."

Some of the incidents in "The Sunshine Trail" are highly dramatic, among them a bank robbery which the doughboy foils by giving chase to the bank bandits on a motorcycle. MacLean gives local sleuths a good suggestion in the way he overcomes a car full of desperate bank thieves. There are endless amusing complications in the story which keeps one always on tenterhooks — whatever tenterhooks may be—and the picture provides an excellent evening's entertainment.

The photoplay was directed by James Horne from an adaptation of William Wallace Cook's story made by Bradley King. Included in the cast, in addition to Douglas MacLean, are Edith Roberts, little Muriel Frances Dana, Josephine Sedgwick, William Courtright, Barney Furey, Rex Cherryman and Albert Hart.

Trouble piles up high for the hero right after the picture starts. The conductor on the train makes trouble for him over his ticket, he falls in with a gang of crooks, a strange lady runs off and leaves her baby with him, he misses trains and motor 'busses, hotel thieves steal his pants and money, he is shot at in a bank robbery just after the bank refuses to honor his draft, a lawyer tries to defraud him of his inheritance, sheriffs and detectives mistake him for another criminal and make his life miserable, his home town friends denounce him as an imposter, those whom he tries to befriend turn on him and defraud him, bank bandits escaping in an auto shoot his clothes full of holes when he chases them on a motor-cycle, police accuse him of kidnapping, a mob threatens him with lynching, friends insinuate that he is a liar and ought to have remained buried in France, an angry mob menaces him, and to cap it all his best girl flaunts an engagement ring given her by his rival. If you want a good laugh don't miss this one.

"Hot Air," a mermaid comedy on the same programme, is also filled with clever laugh-provoking stunts. The whole programme is up to the mark and worthy of your patronage. It is, in our estimation, ideal entertainment.

AT THE CAPITOL

A real farce comedy, with plenty of laughter in its funny situations, is the feature at the Capitol Theatre for this week-end. The pretty Sylvia Breamer, Owen Moore, Mary Pickford's former husband, Tully Marshall and Sidney Chaplin make an excellent cast for this picture, with its droll plot. The action centres about the dilemma of a girl compelled to marry within twenty-four hours, and making a choice of a husband from among the elderly inmates of a Home for Incurables. A young man who takes a sudden notion to the pretty heroine impersonates her elderly choice, and then complications ensue. Further entanglements are provided by the injection into the story of a lost nephew, impersonated by a thug, captain of a band of villains. The picture is packed full of ridiculous situations, and kept the house in a constant turmoil of laughter at its first presentation last evening.

Another of the evidently popular burlesque comedy features which are having a vogue lately is the comedy attraction, with Will Rogers in "Little Pictures," burlesquing the popular big favorites of recent times, including "Over the Hill," "Robin Hood" and others.

Local Tennis Club To Entertain Oshawa Club

The local tennis club will entertain the Oshawa club on Saturday afternoon at the Monaghan avenue courts in a regular league fixture. The Oshawa club are regarded as the strongest players in the league, and as Peterboro will have their strongest line up in action some very good tennis should be developed

While the accommodation at the courts is somewhat limited all visitors will be made very welcome and it is particularly hoped that younger players will avail themselves of this opportunity to see some good tennis. Tea will be served at the courts.

HECKMAN AHEAD WITH .382 MARK IN BATTING LIST

Petes' Pitcher Has Been Stinging Ball Hard and is Now Out in Front.

HOLYMAN'S BIG GAIN

Five of the Petes Are Hitting .250 or Better in Central Loop.

Al Heckman, who has been hitting them very consistently, has climbed to first place among the Peterboro batters, leading the parade with the healthy average of .382 in eleven games. Heck has also driven in the most runs with his war club, sending in eight.

AL HECKMAN

Tommy Holyman is another Peterboro player who has been stinging the pill in recent games and he has climbed up into fourth place in the list, his average now being .270. Legon has dropped from .424 to .348 during the week, and is now in second place, while Swanston is third—crowding the .300 mark close. The only other regular to bat .250 or better is Hall, with .250 exactly.

Extra Base Hits.

Two base hits — Legon 4, Heckman 3, Swanston 3, Johnston 2, Harrison 2, Holyman 2, Shaughnessy.

Three base hits—Hall 1, Collins 1, Heckman 1, Holyman 1, Serth 1.

Runs Driven In.

By Heckman 8, by Holyman 7, by Swanston 7, by Harrison 7, by Johnston 5, by Legon 4, by Serth 4, by Hall 1, by Batten 1, by Collins 1, by Helson 1.

Shiner Johnston ran his sacrifice hit total up to 10, by making three in the last three games, and has a wide lead in this department.

WESTCLOX AND THE QUAKERS MEET TONIGHT

Tonight at 6:15 o'clock the Westclox and the Quaker Oats meet in what should prove the best game of the season in the Mercantile League. A win for the Clockmakers will give them the first half championship, while a Quaker Oats win will give a couple of the teams a chance to go into a tie with the Westclox. Wolfe will do the heaving for the Clockmakers and "Lefty" Turner for the Porridge crew. It should be a great battle.

THE THISTLES DEFEATED THE G.W.V.A. 3 TO 0

The First Half Was Fast and Clean Without Any Scoring.

DAWSON CONSPICIOUS

Richmond's Clever Goal Was Added to by Two More Later.

The Vets lost two valuable points last evening in the Senior Soccer league when the Thistle defeated them by three clear goals to nil, at Nicholls Oval before a good attendance. The Jags started the game with only nine men but Hotston and Ross filled up the gap later while the Vets trotted out a complete eleven. This win makes the games even between the two teams—each have won one and drawn twice this season although the Vets are two points ahead of the Thistles.

Opening Stages.

The Vets won the toss and kicked off with the sun at their backs. With only nine men the Thistle made progress on the right. Melville centred smartly when Williams shot over the bar. At the other end, Curtiss fisted out a cross-ball from Sharman, in the nick of time.

Dawson's Nice Try.

Time and again the Thistle centre-half forced the play against the Vets defence. He beat man after man, then tested Griffin with a left foot drive which Griffin stopped in below the bar. A solo run by Wade gave Curtiss some trouble in clearing his goal. He fisted clear twice thereafter when Vets forwards were upon him. The Jags went to Griffin's goal to compell the Vets to give away a fruitless corner.

Blowers Missed a Penalty

A raid upon the Thistle goal awarded the Vets a penalty. Blowers took the kick but shot past the upright, much to the satisfaction of his opponents. Ross now arrived on the field for the Scots to make up the eleven. A well-placed corner by Burgess was headed into the Vets goalje's hands, who cleared. At the Thistle goal, Burrows was trying hard to gain a goal but was missing the mark by inches. Melville and Hotston were conspicuous on the right which resulted in Griffin putting up an excellent defence in between the sticks. Midfield play was in order when half time arrived. No scoring.

Half Time.

On resuming, play ran from end to end that full of nice football. Both teams were giving their best when they raided each goal in rotation without any issue.

Hotston-Richmond Goal

Midfield play by Melville let Hotston travel down the wing. He evaded the defence completely, that left Richmond to open the scoring with a left-foot drive. At this reverse, the Vets were down in the attack but Anderson and Rae were as solid as a rock.

Williams Scored Second Goal.

Ten minutes later nice combination between Hotston and Melville left the Vets in queer street when Wag sent a rocket drive across the goal. Griffin ran out to meet the ball but misjudged the distance that proved costly for the Vets as Williams touched the ball past Griffin for the second time.

Kicking Out Tactics.

Some of the spectators began to let themselves heard and advised the player to kick out and it was regretable that the players paid any attention to their attitude which lacks sportsmanship.

Dawson Made It Three.

Throughout the whole period, Dawson was working like a trojan in attack as well as on the defense. Three minutes to go, he dribbled through the Vets' defense, steadying himself he let drive for goal to increase the Thistles score to three. Thereafter play was of a ding-dong nature and the Thistle won two valuable points which will make the league more interesting. Thistle 3, Vets 0.

Goal scorers—Thistle: Richmond, Williams and Dawson.

The Teams.

G.W.V.A.—Griffin, goal; Crow and Wasson, backs; Frost, Mann and Blowers, half-backs; Wade, Clark, Burrows, Dyer and Sharman, forwards.

Thistle—Curtiss, goal; Rae and Anderson, backs; Jackson, Dawson and Ross, half-backs; Melville, Hotston, Richmond, Williams and Burgess, forwards.

Referee—J. L. Howarth.

OSHAWA PLAYED WELL.

Outfielder Ward Seized at Kingston Fair Grounds—Is Recovering.

KINGSTON, June 27.—(Special).—Outfielder Ward of the Oshawa Baseball team was taken ill at the Fair Grounds on Wednesday evening and it was later announced that he had acute stomach trouble. Dr. Little attended him at the field and he was later taken to Dr. Crowley's office and given further attention. He recoveerd sufficiently to return home with the team.

CANADIAN BOWLERS LOST.

LONDON, June 26. — Canadian Press. — A team representing Bedfordshire, Herts and Bucks, defeated the touring Canadian bowlers yesterday at St. Albans by a score of 174 to 116.

Two Old-Timers Hold Cream of Sport World In Championship Play

Two reports in the sport columns today challenge the attentions of today's youth.

J. H. Taylor, 53 years old, is only two strokes down in the struggle for the British open golf title and Norman E. Brooks who won the championship before his contestants of yesterday were born, led the field in the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Taylor got in the habit of winning championships three decades ago. Brooks won the Wimbledon championship twenty years ago.

And today each is leading a field of young men gathered from all corners of the earth, the athletic pick of the nations. Sarazen, Hagen, Ball, Barnes, Havers and Whitcombe failed to match the old veteran. Taylor on the course and Rutnana of India and Hunter of the United States Olympics were outdone by the generalship of the old-time tennis master on the courts of Wimbledon.

EXAMINER CREW TIED ELECTRICS

Mercantile League Game Brought Examples of Good Twirling by Both Teams.

SCATES STARRED

In a good exhibition of twirling between Freddy Scates and Jack McDonough the Examiner and the C.G.E. teams finished with a tie score 4 all. Scates turned in a great game for the newspaper outfit. He held the C.G.E. sluggers to five scattered hits and fanned twelve. He was in great form and with better support from his teammates he would have turned in a victory.

Jack McDonough who dished them up for the C.G.E. also turned in a nice game. He was a trifle wild at times but managed to hold the Examiner crew pretty well in check. His outfield gave him great support having five hard chances and taking them all in good style.

The Examiner crew were somewhat handicapped as four of their regulars failed to turn up and subs had to be used. Dugan, Holyman, Grey and Collins were missing. Only one fly out of five knocked to the outfield was caught. Three of the others went for cheap hits.

The C.G.E. took the lead in the first innings when they shot two runs across on two misjudged flys and a double. They came back again in the third and registered another counter but were blanked in the fourth, Scates striking the side out in this innings. A bone head play in the fifth gave them another run but they failed to score in the last two frames.

The newspaper crew came through with one run in the fifth and three in the seventh and evened the game up. In the last innings, Maudsley the first man up drew a pass and Franks singled through short advancing Maudsley to second. Elliott the new first sacker of the Examiner line-up cut the pill for three bases and the two runners scored. Elliott scored a minute late when Marchen shot a nice one at Wilson, whose throw to get Elliott at the plate was a little late.

John Marchen, the new receiver for the Examiner showed good form behind the bat and will add considerable strength to the infield. He will do the receiving for the rest of the season, while Harry Dugan will likely fill the short stop position.

J. Jones in the centre and Griffin in left for the C.G.E. were the stars. The former had three nice flies and handled them all nicely while Griffin picked off a couple of nice ones in the sun field.

The lineups follow:

C.G.E.—Mahood, c; McDonough, p; F. Jones, 2b; Griffin, lf; McLeish, 1b; Williams, 3b; Wilson, ss; J. Jones, lf; Killenbeck, rf.

Examiner—Baker, 3b; Taylor, ss; Maudsley, lf; Franks, 2b; Elliott, 1b; Clarke, rf; Marchen, c; Graham, cf; Scates, p.

C. G. E. STARTED SECOND SECTION MIDLAND LEAGUE

Won Last Night's Game From Raybestos by 15 Runs to 4.

McELROY CHASED

Raybestos Scored All Their Runs in the First Two Innings.

The C.G.E. got off to a good start in the second section of the Midland League when they beat Raybestos by 15 to 4 at the Exhibition Grounds last evening. The game provided all kinds of good and bad baseball for the entertainment of the fans.

The brakemakers started strong, scoring all their runs in the first two innings and driving McElroy to the bench. The electricians started out in the third with 3 runs, and added 5 more in the fourth. The brakemakers got several runners on the paths, but snappy double-plays killed their chances. The electricians went scoreless for several innings, and then pounded Duggan for half a dozen in the ninth.

Delahaye provided the fielding features when he robbed Ranger and Turner of hits by nice catches back of second base, and Nichols cut off two runs with a fine running catch of MacPherson's liner to left.

GREYBIRDS WIN FROM MASSEYS BY SIX TO TWO

Junior Soccer Game in the Major Taylor Cup Competition.

LED ALL THE WAY

Saunders in Goal Was Bombarded From Left and Right, Fast and Slow.

The C.P.C. Grey Birds met the Masseys in the Mayor Taylor Cup series second round at King Edward Park on Thursday evening, and after a splendid exhibition of soccer the Grey Birds came out winners of 6 goals to 2.

There was some new blood introduced into both teams. Billingsley, who obtained his transfer from the C.P.C. Juniors and McClennan, who made his first appearance for the Grey Birds were in the limelight all through the game.

The Masseys won the toss and Billingsley made a splendid run and sent across to Laughlin whose shot went over the bar. Clarke sent well up the field. Lynch passed nicely to McClennan who tested Saunders with a cross shot. Foster and his partner Somers were very prominent with some fine passing and Foster nearly beat Saunders who saved at the expense of a corner. Cross took the kick and sent well in the goal mouth, Cooper coming to the rescue with a timely kick. The Grey Birds were having the best of the argument. The right wing got possession McClennan placed nicely to Cross whose shot beat Saunders. This put themselves. Hotston who played a the Grey Birds on good terms with great game at half back sent Cross up the wing and with a splendid shot he again beat Saunders. From the centre kick Billingsley made a great effort to score but his shot just went over the bar. The Massey's were now playing a much better game, Bell sending in some beautiful centres which went begging. Clarke kept sending the ball well up the field. Foster made tracks up the field and from long range scored the best goal of the game. Billingsley went centre forward and this worked wonders but the shooting of the Massey forward was very weak. Buchan was not in difficulties with any of them and Clarke and Bradley were in their besto form. Hotson kept plying Foster with nice ground passes and making the best of them he again found the net with a nice ground shot. Half time arrived with the Grey Birds leading by 4 to none.

Second Half

Upon resuming the Masseys forced the game and it was evident they meant business and it was not long before their efforts met with success. Billingsley opened their account with a shot well out of the reach of Buchan. The game was now very fast. Each goalkeeper was kept on the alert and from one end of the field to the other the ball was travelling at great speed. Saunders was very lucky to save from Somers, by giving a corner. Cross tok the kick. McClennan was very prominent and kept sending the ball out to Cross whose speed was of great advantage to him frm his centre Somers sent in a terrific drive which beat Saunders all the way. Cooper kept urging his comrades to play up and they responded and the Grey Birds were having all their work cut out to keep them at Bay. Buchan was penalized for carrying the ball. Billingsley took the kick, Clarke saving with a huge drive. The Masseys came again; Laughlin saw an opening and scored the second goal for the Masseys. The Grey Birds now took up the attack and Saunders was kept very busy. McClennan from the corner flag sent in a high drive which Saunders failed to judge and made the score 6 to 2. The Masseys were not done with and by long passes they were within an ace of scoring. The game was fought right up to the finish, but their was no further scoring and the Grey Birds were left winners of a very good game by 6 goals to 2.

The teams:

Grey Birds—Buchan, H. Bradley, Clarke, H. Hotson, Feeley, R. Batley, Cross, McClennan, Lynch, Somers, T. Foster.

The Masseys: Saunders, Cooper, Ashmore, Smith, Naish, Bell, Laughlin, Pulley, Vinet, Billingsley.

Referee—Frank McKinley.

DELORA WON AGAIN

Invincibles Defeated C.G.E. 4 to 2 in Friendly Exhibition Game.

MARMORA, June 27.—On Wednesday afternoon Delora added another victory to their baseball schedule when they defeated the Peterborough General Electric baseball team, 4 to 2. This makes the fifth victory for Delora, and not a game has been lost. Wednesday's game was merely an exhibition game.

COBOURG SOFTBALL

COBOURG, June 27.—Cobourg Soft Ball League has had some interesting games this week.

The Dye Works won from the Sheiks.

The Langslow team won from the Heavy Battery.

The Concert Band deefated the Hydro Sparks.

The Knights of Columbus won from the B.Y.P.U.

The great Carpentier will next take on Mr. Gene Tunney and we presume he will do most of his training on a bicycle.

KINGSTON TEAM HERE TOMORROW

Petes Determined to Stop Loosing Streak at Expense of the Visitors.

END FIRST HALF

The Central League game at Riverside Park tomorrow between Kingston and the Petes may decide the first half honors. The Ponies cannot of course get worse than a tie, no matter what happens now but as a win over the Petes will cinch the first half title the Limestone City outfit are sending their full array into action. The home gang are equally determined to put an end to their losing streak before the second half opens and thus get squared away for the next series. Last year the Petes were beaten out of the first half but came on and won the second and they are hopeful of repeating the feat again this year despite their falling away in the last two weeks. A win over Kingston would have a splendid effect upon the whole squad and the Petes are keyed up to trip the Ponies who have been riding roughshod over the League ever since they broke their losing streak at the expense of the Petes two weeks ago Wednesday. Prior to that game Kingston had lost four in a row but the 9-8 win over the Petes started them off and they haven't dropped a fixture since. The local crew figure on getting a similar start by beating Kingston here tomorrow.

The game is called for 3 o'clock with Hallinan and Benson in charge.

SOCCER NOTES.

At Nicholls Oval, on Saturday afternoon, the G.W.V.A. will meet the Quaker Oats in the first round of the Peck Cup. Kick-off at 3 o'clock. Referee, A. Mitchell.

The Canadian Woollens have completed arrangements to go to Campbellford on Saturday when they meet the Trent Valley boys, in the Peck Cup. Mr. Jack Clarke, the well-known soccer referee has consented to go as the "Knight of the whistle."

The Quaker Oats will place the following team against the Vets: Pellow, goal; Honor and Willshaw, full-backs; Logan, Metcalfe and Butler, half-backs; Mayette, G. Logan, T. Craig, Wilson and Williams, forwards.

A few weeks ago, the association received a communication from the government requesting all the club secretary names so as they may collect the amusement tax, if any admission is made at the playing grounds. Unfortunately, they are not so lucky.

At the beginning of the season, the soccer schedule was arranged so as not to interfere with the Thistle F.C. annual picnic on July 1st when they go to Wallace's Point for the full day. They have arranged a soccer game, soft ball game and 5-aside tournament.

By the end of the month, the mid-week games will be finished, according to schedule, although a postponed game between Nomads and Thistle will have to be played soon before the second round cup tie.

The Vets executive asked the Soccer Council permission to postpone the Quakers vs G.W.V. game on July 1st which was granted providing the two teams could agree and, if possible, fulfill the fixture later.

The Athletics are the worst hitting team in the big leagues, but not in hitting the chutes.

YANKEES LOSE SIXTH IN ROW

The Great Babe Fanned Twice With Men Holding Bases.

EHMKE PITCHED.

RED SOX BEAT THEM

BOSTON, June 27. — (Canadian Press).—Boston defeated New York yesterday, 8 to 5, although the world champions outhit the Red Sox, 15 to 12. It was the Yankees' sixth straight loss. Ehmke twice fanned Ruth with men on bases. Score:

COOLIDGE WAS THERE.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(Canadian Press)—Washington broke even in a double-header here yesterday with Philadelphia, before a crowd of 25,000, including President Coolidge and his family, who turned out to celebrate the return home of the Nationals with the League leadership.

Walter Johnson shut out the visitors in the opener 5 to 0, running the Washington winning streak to ten games, but Rommel repeated the performance in the final, in a duel with Martina, Philadelphia winning 1 to 0.

President Coolidge was given an enthusiastic reception by the crowd when he arrived just before the start of the second game. Scores:

BUFFALO GOLF TOURNAMENT.

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 27 (Canadian Press). — Edith Cummings, of Chicago, national women's champion, and Glenna Collett, of Providence, R.I., defending the tournament title, yesterday won their way through the third round of the annual women's invitation golf tournament of the Buffalo Country Club.

Miss Cummings eliminated Helen Paget of Ottawa, Ont., 7 up and 5 to play, and Miss Collett defeated Mrs. David Gaut of Memphis, 4

VERDICT FOR STRIBLING.

NEW YORK, June 27 (Canadian Press). — Georgia's sensational schoolboy boxer, William L. (Young) Stribling, was given a judge's verdict over Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, in a spectacular six-round struggle last night.

We are urprised that Tex Rickard handled the preliminaries of the Democratic convention when all his life he has handled nothing but wind-ups.

It may be true that Harry Greb is a joke fighter, but the joke, you'll notice, always seems to be on the other fellow.

MIDLAND TEAMS WILL PLAY OFF

Games on Saturday in Cobourg—Here Dominion Day.

TWO GAMES

The play off for the first half of the Midland League schedule will take place in Cobourg on Saturday. Last week the locals showed that Punch Derry and his crew could not hold them to two hits as they did in the first game but that they could fight an uphill battle against a long lead. They expect to take a large number of supporters to the Lakeshore town, and should score a win.

On July 1st the fans will have another opportunity of seeing two such close games at those of last Saturday. At 2.00 p.m. the C.G.E. entertain the C.N.R. while at 4.00 the Raybestos and Dyeworks joint battle. These games will help provide the baseball fans with a full day's play as there will be a Central League game in the morning.

ROCHESTER WON FROM TORONTO

Rustled the Leafs in Fourth and Brought Down 12 Runs.

SCORE WAS 19 TO 4

TORONTO, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Rochester won the second game of the series here yesterday, 19 to 4, scoring 12 runs in the fourth inning when sixteen players went to bat. Errors by Vincent lost two men at the plate and started all the trouble for Doyle. Colon hit two home runs and Griffin one. The Leafs fielded smartly in the early part of the game. Moore was very good and the Leafs could not do anything with him until the last two innings, when he eased up. Score:

Rochester .. 102(12)00013—19 24 0
Toronto .. .. 000 1 0002?— 4 12 5

Moore and Lake, Head; Judd, Faulkner, Glaser, Doyle and Vincent.

FOUR-BAGGER HURT.

BUFFALO, June 27.—(Canadian Press). — It was a good game between the Syracuse Stars and Buffalo yesterday afternoon up to the fifth frame, when Joe Hamel hit a four-bagger. This had the effect of knocking Parks out of his stride, for he was hit quite freely after that, the Bisons winning by 7 to 3. Score:

Syracuse . .. .. 00100200—3 10 3
Buffalo .. .. .. 00002302x—7 10 2

Parks, Perrotti and Mitze; Proffitt and Vanderbach.

READING WON.

READING, Pa., June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Reading took its game with Jersey City yesterday, 5 to 1. Mamaux was given first-class support and kept the pests' hits well scattered. A double-header is scheduled for to-day. Score:

Jersey City .. .. 00100000—1 7 0
Reading .. .. .. 20110100x—5 9 1

Barnhardt and Freitag; Mamaux and Lynn.

TWIST BEARS' TAILS.

NEWARK, June 27. — (Canadian Press).—Baltimore concentrated its attack on Newark pitchers in the fourth and eighth innings yesterday, and the Orioles tied the series with the Bears by winning 13 to 8. Score:

YOUTH DEFIED BY CHAMPION OF LONG AGO

Norman E. Brooks' Relentless Precision Wins From Men at Wambledon.

TENNIS TROPHY

King and Queen and 15,000 Fans See United States Hope Defeated by Veteran.

WIMBLEDON, England. June 27.—(Canadian Press.)— Norman E. Brooks, the old-time tennis master from Australia, is keeping youth from being served in the Wimbledon championships. On Wednesday he defeated Cambridge University's young Indian hope, D. R. Rutnam, and yesterday before the King and Queen and 15,000 excited tennis enthusiasts he defeated Francis T. Turner of the United States' Olympic team in a fiercely fought five set match. The score was 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 5-7,, 6-3, and the wily old court general who won the Wimbledon championship twenty years ago, proved to the satisfaction of Hunter and everybody else who saw the relentless precision of his seemingly effortless play, that it is not always the pace that kills in lawn tennis.

Hunter hit his hardest, but could not get them past the old-fashioned racket which Brooks handled with the skill of a man who was a tennis star before Hunter was born.

Otherwise the United States' players advanced a round, Vincent Richards moved up by beating the Jap,, Takeo Tarada, in straight sets. R. Norris Williams and Watson M. Washburn were kept busy winning their first doubles. The temperamental French team, Lacoste and Borotra, held their opponents safe through five sets. In the end Lacoste's poor form set back Borotra's brilliant net game enough to give the Americans the victory.

Among the women, Miss Helen Mills and Mrs. George Wightman and Miss Eleanor Goss and Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup, and the Mlle. Lenglen and Miss Elizabeth Ryan team advanced in the women's doubles.

The play of Miss Wills, United States' champion, gave further evidence of her growing familiarity with the conditions. She is,, however, troubled by distance, many of her overhead strokes yesterday afternoon going far beyond the base line. She seems to be sacrificing pace for much needed control.

Miss Wills will play Mrs. Egington, of England, to-day. Observers do not expect that she will have much trouble in disposing of her, but the next match, which is likely to be against Miss Evelyn Colyer, one of the best of the English players, will be a supreme test of her form. She will need a combination of power and accuracy to displace the girl who eliminated Mrs. Beamish.

HARRY GREB WON FROM TED MOORE

Young Stribling Met Tough Opposition in Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia K. O. King.

NEW YORK, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Harry Greb, holder of the world's 160-pound title, to-day returned his middleweight crown to the metaphorical moth balls after dangling it tantalizingly before the envious eyes of Ted Moore, British champion, at the Yankee Stadium last night while 60,000 contributors to the Milk Fund watched the human windmill go through his characteristic paces.

A perfectly delivered left uppercut, swung with intense rapidity to the open jaw of the British champion, with almost unbelievable regularity, battered Moore into pugilistic submission. There was nothing inconsistent about Greb's attack. He started his punches from wherever his shifting gloves happened to be, and usually they found an opening.

A Macon, Ga., schoolboy, William L. "Young" Stribling, met a tough proposition in Tommy "Ko" Loughran, a Philadelphia battler, but the decision went to Stribling after six rounds. This award was extremely unpopular to the fans, and a demonstration of protest ensued.

Gen. Tunney, U. S. light heavyweight champion, scored a technical knockout over Erminio Spalla, European heavyweight champion, in the seventh round of a scheduled 12-round encounter.

Buffalo Cabin Cruiser Was Destroyed by Fire

PORT DOVER, Ont., June 27.—(Canadian Press.)—While the fine thirty-five foot cabin cruiser owned by Fred Sullivan, of Buffalo, was on its way to that port from Port Rowan yesterday morning, carburetor trouble developed, causing the crew to head for this port. The launch caught fire, forcing the crew to take to its dinghy. They were picked up by the yacht Champion, of Cleveland, while Joe Thompson hooked on to the burning craft and towed it to shallow water, where the boat burned to the water's edge. The loss will be heavy, being estimated at from $6,000 to $10,000.

EVERETT SCOTT TELLS SECRETS OF SOME PLAYS

The Iron Man of Shortstops Explains Catching Grounders and Others.

CONFIDENCE NEEDED.

Tagging Runners is Another Important Lesson—Hands Up Policy.

Learn to always play the ball on the big bounds is the first requisite of a successful shortstop.

Playing "heads up" baseball at all times would be my second bit of advice to any shotstop who aspires to make the big league.

By "heads up" baseball I mean to make a study of your batters, be alive to every situation, figure out what your are going to do with the ball when you get it, so as to make the wisest possible play.

A ground ball is difficult to handle only when the fielder plays is badly and gets it between bounds. This happens often, even to the most expert infielders in the major leagues.

When a ground ball is hit in the general direction of the shortstop he must figure the number of bounds the ball will take before it reaches him and play it accordingly.

On a certain ball it may be necessary for the shortstop to back up a couple of steps to be in proper position to receive it. On another ball it may call for the fielder to run in three or four steps to meet it.

Always Try to Play the Ball

In the parlance of the ball field, getting a ground hit on the proper bound is known as "playing the ball." The big bound is always the proper bound, making it easy to handle.

When a fielder is not taking a grounder on the big bound he is letting the ball play him and then trouble starts.

Of course there are certain batted balls that cannot be played on the big bound. Such a ball is one that is hit on a line, very close to the ground and strikes a few feet in front of the shortstop.

Another type is the slow hit ball with a fast runner. To try to figure getting the slow hit ball on the high bound, would nine times out of ten mean the loss of the decision at first base.

Must Get Ball Away Fast.

The line drive that strikes a few feet in front of you and the slow batted ball are two types the shortstop must take as they come. The main essential in the successful completion of such plays is to keep your eye on the ball until it strikes your glove.

Confidence and getting the jump on the ball are two essential assets every shorstop must possess.

Always make an effort to field the ball in such a manner that your are in a position to throw without any lost motion. The slightest fraction of a second loss is often fatal.

Figure your runner's speed on every play and rate your throw accordingly. I play a deep field on a hard-hitting right-handed batter, such as Harry Heilmann. With a fast left-handed hitter up, like Ty Cobb, I play in much closer than on the ordinary batter. It is always well to try to make the play so that you will never have to hurry your throw.

How to Properly Tag Runner.

Knowledge of the fields to which certain batters are prone to hit and familiarity with the style ball that is to be pitched them, is of great aid to the shotstop in shifting on each batters so as to be in the best possible position.

Tagging the runner must also be considered. Getting a good grip on the ball and laying it in front of the bag, directly in the path of the runner, will get most of them.

On runners with a deceptive slide it is best to get between them and the bag so as to block them off. Never go out to meet a runner about it is best to go between them and the bag so as to block them off Never go out to meet a runner about to slide; let him come into you, it is far easier and much safer.

Work with your second baseman on every play by means of a signal or word of mouth, so each man will know just what to do.

These are just a few of the fundamental pointers in the art of playing shorstop, which to my way of thinking is the most difficult of all positions.

On runners with a deceptive slide to slide; let him come into you, it is far easier and much safer.

Tagging the runner must also be considered. Getting a good grip on the ball and laying it in front of the bag, directly in the path of the runner, will get most of them.

RAY SCHALK GOES WILD AT BAT.

Ray Schalk is no Speaker, Cobb or Ruth, but on June 27, 1922, he discovered such an affinity for the pitching of Ehmke and Cole that he slammed out a single, a double, a triple and a home run in four times at bat—and right on Detroit's own ground at that. The score:

GOLF TROPHY IS SURE TO CHANGE

Whitcombe Leads Old-Time Champion by Only Two Shots.

HOYLAKE, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Half-way through the 72-hole struggle for the British open golf title, E. R. Whitcombe, member of a famous British golfing family, led the contestants last night with 147 for the 36 holes played yesterday. J. H. Taylor, noted old-timer, is second, with a card of 149. After Taylor, two golfers from the United States, Walter Hagen and MacDonald Smith, are tied for third place, with 150.

Gene Sarazen is further behind Whitcombe than any of his compatriots. He could not make his putter behave, and ran up to 158, losing, at least, seven of his strokes on the greens. On five greens yesterday morning he took three putts.

Scattered between Whitcombe and Sarazen are a number of Englishmen and Scotchmen, with a couple of continental players and two title-hunting professionals from the United States besides Hagen and Smith—Gil. Nicholls, with 153, and Jim Barnes with 155.

George Duncan, who was paired with Barnes, beat out his opponent from across the water by two strokes for 153. Duncan negotiated bunkers and high grass that lured the shots of Barnes.

The day was favorable to some and very bad for others. Following a peri ; of calm in the morning, a gusty wind sprang up, only to die down at noon. Late in the afternoon the wind freshened off the sea and brought a peppery rain in its trail.

Will Change Hands.

As a result of the first day's play it is certain that the British open golf championship will change hands. Arthur Havers, the title-holder, was left a practically impossible task after two moderate rounds yesterday. E. R. Whitcombe of Camedown, brother of C. A. Whitcombe, winner of the Daily Mail tournament, leads the field by two strokes, but the most noteworthy feature is the high position of the two veterans, J. H. Taylor and J. Sherlock.

The Englishmen are certainly in the ascendant, though the United States challenge has not yet been overthrown, for Walter Hagen and MacDonald Smith are well within striking distance. Cyril Tolley is the best amateur in the contest so far, though it is unlikely that he will contest the ultimate result.

E. R. Whitcombe made the first round yesterday morning in 77. He had the remarkable experience of being twice out of bounds, and started poorly, but he gave a magnificent exhibition of golf in the afternoon, and equalled the course record with 70. J. H. Taylor was suffering from lumbago but carried on gallantly.

The scores of some of the leaders were:

E. R. Whitcombe, of Camedown, 147; J. H. Taylor, 149; Walter Hagen and MacDonald Smith, both of the United States, 150; J. Sherlock of Hunstanton, 151; Len. Holland of Northampton and F. Leach of North Wood, 152; George Duncan of England, Aubrey Boomer of Paris, P. Weston of Western Park, Nicholls of U.S.A., R. Jones of Wimbledon and Frank Ball of Langley Park, 153; Gadd, Cyril Tolley, J. Barnes and Herb. 155; Arthur Havers 156; Abe Mitchell and Gene Sarazen 158; C. Whitcombe 159; Braid, Compston and Ray 160, and Roger Wethered 167.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

BY BILLY EVANS.

QUESTIONS

1. Can the batsman step out of his box to lace his shoe after he has once taken his position? —B. D.

2. Can base runners advance on a play in which a base runner is hit by a batted ball, for which he is called out?—B. D.

3. With first and second base occupied and one out, the batsman hits a high fly, which the umpire rules an infield fly, only to have an outfielder make the play and muff the ball. Does it affect the original decision of the umpire? In other words, must an infield fly be handled by an infielder?—B. H. B.

4. Runner on first and one out. The batsman grounds sharply to the first baseman, who touches first, retiring the bater, then throws the ball to the second baseman, who touches the bag but not the runner. Has a double play been made?—E. H. F.

ANSWERS

1. He can, if he request the umpire to call time before the pitcher has started his delivery.

2. When a base runner is hit by a bated ball, he is immediately out, and no runners can advance unless forced to make room for the batsman, who is entitled to a hit and first base.

3. If the umpire rules infield fly, it being his opinion an infielder can handle the ball, the batsman is out, even though an outfielder finally makes the play and muffs the ball.

4. Only one man has been retired on the play, the batsman. When the fielder touched first, retiring batter, he removed the force, and mere touching of second base did not complete a double play. In such a case it is necessary to touch the runner.

Railway Shop Men Stand By Strikers

MONTREAL, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Rail shop men in Montreal showed their sympathy with the postal strikers last evening when a delegation representing eleven thousand rail shop men waited upon the Trades and Labor Council Executive to discuss the ways and means of assisting the strikers. It was unanimously agreed that the Government be requested to appoint immediately a board under the Industrial Disputes Act for the postal employees now on strike with a view to the restoration of normal conditions in the postal service.

FAMOUS ATHLETE DIED LAST NIGHT

Lawrence "Larry" Berger, of Stratford, Died From an Attack of Pneumonia.

STRATFORD, June 27.—(Canadian Press).—Stratford citizens were shocked this morning to learn of the death late last night at his home in New Hamburg of Lawrence "Larry" Berger, well known athletic and hockey player. "Larry" succumbed to an attack of pneumonia with which he was stricken a little more than a week ago. His death will be mourned throughout the province where his ability as a hockey player was well established, he was considered one of the fastest men in the O.H.A. Berger came to Stratford in 1918 and has won considerable fame. He was a member of the Junior Team of 1920, which lost in the finals to the Toronto Canoe Club, next year he entered the Intermediate series and was a member of the championship team of 1923. Last year with his team members he graduated to Senior company and held down the defence position with the team which lost out in the finals to the Hamilton Tigers. He was also well known in Association Football, lacrosse and baseball circles. Larry was born in Tavistock, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Berger, now of New Hamburg, and was 24 years of age.

IN MEMORIAM.
STABLER. — In loving memory of my dear father, John Stabler, who died on 27th June, 1921.
Three years have passed, my heart's still sore;
As time rolls on I miss him more;
His loving smiles, his welcome face—
No one can fill his vacant place.
His memory is as dear to-day
As in the hour he passed away;
The happy hours we once enjoyed—
How sweet their memory still!
But death has left a vacant place
The world can never fill.
—Inserted by his loving Daughter, Mrs. B. Fitzgerald. 1d-152-4031

BIRTH.

CONVENTION ON ANOTHER NOISY DEMONSTRATION

Sixteen Names Are Now Before the Democrats For Balloting To-night.

PLANKS WON'T FIT.

Platform Committee Struggles With the Ku Klux Klan Issue Again.

NEW YORK, June 28. — After four days of oratorical flourish and colorful demonstration, the Democratic National Convention is ready for its final showdown on nominees and policies.

In another long and noisy session yesterday it received in formal nomination the names of the last of its sixteen presidential candidates, and was informed that its platform had been practically completed in committee except for the troublesome plank of the Ku Klux Klan, which must be perfected on the floor of the convention itself.

Meeting an hour earlier than usual to-day it will fight out its differences over the Klan and then, probably at a night session, begin balloting for a nominee.

The developments of the last few hours before the test of strength showed outwardly no shift of sentiment on either candidates or platform. McAdoo and Smith still lead in the delegate strength pledged to them on the first ballot, and the supporters of John W. Davis, Ralston, Glass, Ritchie, and several others, claimed victory after the deadlock has run its course. The debate over open condemnation of the Klan went on with growing bitterness.

Last night the campaign managers for the rival candidates put their camps on a war footing for the initial impact, while the Platform Committee made a final desperate effort to prepare something tangible as a basis of debate when the controverted plank reaches the convention floor.

Seventeen Hours.

All of yesterday's convention session was taken up with nominating and seconding speeches for candidates to the usual accompaniment of noise-making. When the end of the 17 hours that had been devoted to that stage of the convention came at last there was only a feeble remonstrance against the proposal of party chiefs to adjourn until to-day. The decision was accepted generally as meaning that the convention must run over into next week.

Beside the sixteen entered formally on the roll of candidates three or four others probably will receive the complimentary votes of their States for the first ballot or two, distributing the convention strength so widely that several roll calls will be necessary before the rival managers can completly get their bearings.

These trial votes to be taken before adjournment to-night, will give the political captains a working basis for the jockeying and manoeuvring that is expected over the week-end.

The sixteen placed in nomination, when the roll closed just before adjournment late yesterday, are as follows:

Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama
Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas.
William G. McAdoo of California.
Willard Saulsbury of Delaware.
Samuel M. Ralston, of Indiana.
Jonathan M. Davis of Kansas.
Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland.
Woodbridge N. Ferris, of Michigan.
David F. Houston, of Missouri and New York.
Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska.
Fred H. Brown of New Hampshire.
George S. Silzer of New Jersey.
Aldred E. Smith, of New York.
James M. Cox, of Ohio.
Carter Glass of Virginia.
John W. Davis of West Virginia and New York.

Six of these, Cox, Bryan, Brown, Silzer, Glass and John W. Davis, were placed in nomination at yesterday's session, and the nominating speeches for them were interspersed with a dozen seconding speeches for those whose names previously had been put before the convention.

Demonstrations of varying proportions accompanied every mention of the name of a candidate, but both delegates and convention officials had begun to weary of the long monotony of oratory and noise.

One or two of the demonstrations were notable for the new ele-

A PROVINCIAL GOVERNOR PUT VETO ON UNION

Ministry of Justice Finds He Should Have Referred to Governor General.

REGRETS ACTION.

Refer Church Union Bill Back to Lieut. Governor of Prince Edward Island.

OTTAWA, June 28.—(By Canadian Press).—That the Lieut. Governor of Prince Edward Island should have reserved judgment on provincial legislation which he felt unable to ratify and left a final decision to the Governor-General, is the opinion expressed by the department of justice in a report submitted to the Governor in Council and tabled in the House yesterday. The fyle deals with the action of Hon. Murdoch Mackinnon in vetoing the Provincial legislation incorprating the United Church of Canada.

On April 24 last the Lieut-Governor reported to the Governor in Council that he had witheld his assent to the church union bill, which was a private bill. He expressed the conviction that the interference with property was unconstitutional and added: "Freedom in all matters of public worship in so jealously guarded in all of His Majesty's Dominions, and sweeping interference therewith by legislation is so seldom exercised I have deemed it advisable to withhold my consent."

The matter was referred to the Minister of Justice, who ruled that the Lieut.-Governor should either approve provincial legislation or refer his doubts there on to the Governor General for advice.

In it's report the Ministry of Justice," considers it regrettable that the Lieut. Governor should have adopted the course he did and rejected the advice of the provincial legislative assembly. He should have reserved the matter for the Governor-General

"However the purpose of this minute is not to censure the Lieut.-Governor but to point out that in the circumstances the bill cannot go into operation by any action of your Excellency's Government. It can only be sanctioned constitutionally by the Lieut.-Governor on the advice of the provincial legislators. It cannot now take effect by your Excellency's signature."

The Department advises that the matter be referred back to the Lieut. Governor of Prince Edward Island for consultation with his government.

A NEW ARTIFICIAL INLAND SEA WOULD MAKE CANADA'S WHEAT BELT ACCESSIBLE TO SHIPS FROM EVERY OCEAN PORT IN THE WIDE WORLD

The Greatest Development Enterprise of the Century Was Proposed and Planned by a Canadian Engineer — Three Dams on Rivers Emptying Into Hudson's Bay Would Supply Water For the Sixth Great Lake and Restore the Water Levels of Fifty Years Ago.

GENERATE A VAST AMOUNT OE POWER.

TORONTO, June 28.—Ocean-going steamers before long may sail up the St. Lawrence, through the Great Lakes and into the heart of Canada's mid-west wheat empire over the waters of an artificially created sixth great lake.

Other ships can go up the Mississippi, up Lake Michigan and across Lake Superior and, too, reach the sixth lake.

The project which would create this sixth lake, would make possible the generation of a vast amount of hydro- electric power and would restore the lakes to the water level of 50 years ago.

This tremendous undertaking is the idea of Ralph Keemle, Canadian engineer who has spent almost a lifetime studying the water -dotted section of Canada between Lake superior and Hudson's Bay. Sir Adam Peck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro- Electric Power Commission, is considering the project.

An area as large as Lake Erie can furnish the basin for the sixth great lake, says Keemle. Into this basin, north of Lake Superior, can be diverted the waters that now flow into Hudson's Bay.

All that is necessary, says Keemle, is construction of three dams, and three diversion channels, for the three main rivers upon which the new lake will depend. Access to the lake would be effected by the English and Winnipeg rivers, which would become navigable streams, to Lake Winnipeg, and by canal to Lake Superior.

The project would more than pay for itself in a short time in water power and navigation benefits, says Keemle.

Settle Controversy.

Yet one of its greatest advantages is seen in its possible solution of the controversy over Chicago's withdrawal of water from the Great Lakes for its sewage disposal.

"Chicago is drawing off 10,000 cubic feet of water every second," explains Keemle. "This diversion has lowered the lakes' level about five and a half inches. Every inch the lake level is lowered cuts the cargo capacity of big vessels and costs many cities millions to dredge their harbors so big freighters can continue to dock. The loss in power is enormous.

"With the Chicago withdrawal cut down and the immense volume of water added from the new lake project, the Great Lakes will be raised to the level of 50 or 100 years ago and the value to commerce will be inestimable."

Keemle cannot see the completion of his project before another decade or two, but when it is done, he says, it will become a priceless asset to the United States and Canada.

"Before long," he adds, "the Great Lakes will be used to make seaports in the heart of the continent. Many of the harbors and channels are shallow and it is of prime importance to conserve the water supply, to maintain levels and if possible to raise them."

EIGHT HOUR DAY TOO LONG WORK SAY EMPLOYEES

Argentine Civil Service Likely to Defy Order of the President.

OFFICES LOADED.

Double Staff in Post Office and Seven Deliveries Every Day.

BUENOS AYRES, Argentina, June 28. — The Argentine Government Civil Service employees have organised a league to oppose President de Alvear's recent order directing that the eight-hour working day be observed in the Government Department.

The league has filed a protest alleging that eight hours of continuous work would "induce fatigue and reduce efficiency."

Probably little attention will be given to the presidential order, as Argentine men, especially those with political connections enabling them to obtain Government jobs, dislike labour in any amount.

All Pay Rolls Overloaded.

Many Government departments do not open before 11 a.m., and the employees quit work at 4 p.m. Little attention is paid to giving the public service. It is doubtful if any other city in the world has a greater number of non-working men than has Buenos Ayres. Most of them spend the day in cafes. Generally they are connected with the Government pay rolls, all of which are overloaded.

The post office in Buenos Ayres is a good example of the political management here. When the 400 employees struck a few years ago the Government hired men to replace the strikers. Thereupon the strikers gave in and were taken back.

However, the strike-breakers were retained and Buenos Ayres now has a double force of postal clerks. Business houses are served by seven mail carriers daily and there are two-hour deliveries. Many of the clerks work only four hours a day.

FINE FOR MISTAKES

LENINGRAD, Russia, June 27.—It's Leningrad — not Petrograd—and Soviet government authorities intend to fine anyone who presents a letter at the postoffice addressed to Petrograd. All newspaper dispatches from this city carry a Leningrad date. The name of Peter the Great's capital was changed in tribute to the late Bolshevik premier, Nicholai Lenin.

LEOPOLD'S CASE PROSECUTED BY STATE ATTORNEY

Women Who Attended Slayer's Bird Class Tell of Brain Storms.

WOULD LEAVE HOME.

Children Arrested For Making Threats to Kidnap Bereaved Man's Daughter.

CHICAGO, June 28.—A startling and graphic picture of the turmoil that was in the mind of Nathan Leopold, Jr., a few days before he and Richard Loeb kidnapped and killed little Robert Franks was laid before the state's attorney yesterday in the testimony of a woman to whom he had given impulsive confidences.

Nathan had intended to leave his father's house.

He had boasted of his ability to succeed in his own way.

He had announced his determination to marry a girl of whom his family did not approve.

He had complained bitterly of the restrictions placed upon him by close relatives and had spoken kindly of only one, his dead mother.

He had announced his intention of pursuing his own bent in the quest for experience of every variety and he had given broad hints that he considered himself above the rules and customs that apply to ordinary souls.

Former Pupil Tells Story.

This cross section of his turbulent brain was revealed in a statement made to Assistant State's Attorney Joseph Savage by Mrs. Hamilton Moses, one of the members of Leopold's bird-study class for whom subpoenas were issued.

These matters had been told to her in a boastful, boyish speech incident to a visit that may have had a more sinister motive. Young Leopold came to her house, she said, with a significant pause, to suggest that she hire a tutor for her 8-year-old son, whom she intended to send to a summer camp. This was only a few days before Robert Franks' body was found in the culvert in the Calumet lowlands.

Mrs. Moses said that she had known Leopold two years, that she had joined his class in 1923, and that she had found him a youth of brilliant attainments.

Intended to Marry.

"In his last conversation with me he said that he intended to marry Miss Lourie, the girl who was recently questioned regarding his sanity," she said. "He told me that he refused to be bound by family demands and that he was about to go out and live his own life. He was intensely serious but he gave one the impression of a pouting little boy and I laughed at him. He resented that.

"He spoke kindly of only one member of his family—his mother. He said that he took flowers out to her grave every Sunday.

"Except for that one conversation I never spoke to the boy outside of his bird-study classes. He never gave me the impression that he might be other than perfectly rational."

Another of the women called to the state's attorney's office told Mr. Savage of a similar meeting with Leopold on the day mentioned by Mrs. Roses.

"I had been in his class a year and he had come to see about getting me to join for another year," this witness said. "He came into the house and talked on a number

MURDER TRIALS LINDSAY COURT

James Bacon and Fred McGahey Will Appear at Fall Assizes.

RUMOURS UNTRUE.

LINDSAY, June 28 (Special to The Examiner). — The announcement has been made that the Fall Assizes will be held in Lindsay on Monday 29th September.

Mr. Justice Logie will preside.

There are two murder cases on the docket—James Bacon, of Snowden Township, Haliburton County, who is charged with murdering an infant, and Fred McGahey, of Ops Township, charged with the murder of Beatrice Fee.

Bacon is at present in Kingston, serving sentence for another offence, and will be brought back to stand trial.

There are a number of rumours afloat regarding Fred McGahey's condition, but these are without foundation.

The accused manifests the same stoical manner as was evidenced at the preliminary hearing. He sits quietly in his cell, and has very little to say at any time. His health appears to be excellent.

AMEND COMPANIES ACT

OTTAWA, June 28. — (Canadian Press).—The bill to amend the Companies Act was given a third reading in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon there was no discussion.

Rotary Carnival Tickets

Tickets for the Rotary Carnival will be issued at the Dominion Express Office, Hunter street, from nine a.m. till noon on the holiday, July 1st. All boys and girls wishing to enter this contest must come prepared to pay for the tickets they take out.
This will mean no loss to any boy or girl as all tickets unsold will be taken back and money refunded.
Tickets will be issued in lots of five to the package. Nothing less than one package will be issued, so that each contestant must bring at least $1.25.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF MAIL

Railway Postal Clerk at London Faces Charge of Stealing Registered Articles.

AMOUNT UNKNOWN.

LONDON, Ont., June 28 (Canadian Press). — Stanley Hawkins, of Cargill, a railway mail clerk, was taken into custody yesterday at the instigation of the Post Office Department, and charged with the theft of a quantity of registered mail.

Hawkins was employed as a mail clerk on the C.N.R. . His return extended from Walkerton to Palmerston.

The extent of the robbery is not yet known, officials at the post office here state.

It is intimated that the thefts have been going on for some time, and measures were taken by Superintendent W. J. May, of the London Postal District, with headquarters here, to apprehend the alleged thief.

Hawkins has been in the mail service for a number of years.

The run on which he was engaged is one of the most important of the north branch lines of the C.N.R., and considerable quantities of mail pass over the line daily.

FINDS CROWS NAPPING.

PARSONS, Kas., June 28. — Exploding two charges of dynamite beneath two trees where crows perched at night enabled Mark Lowe, a farmer, to present the county clerk with 280 dead crows next day.

Figuring that Lowe shot the birds one at a time, and that each shot would have cost him 5 cents, the clerk paid him $28.00.

WESTERN CROPS REPORTED GOOD

Only in Scattered Districts Are Conditions Unfavorable to Growth.

WARMTH NEEDED.

WINNIPEG, June 28.—(Canadian Press).—With the exception of scattered districts in Northern and South-Western Alberta, where rain is badly needed, the crop prospects of the Prairie Provinces are favorable, according to reports received yesterday.

In Saskatchewan and Manitoba present weather conditions are expected to materially improve the backward state of the crops, while liberal rains during the past week in these two provinces have provided sufficient moisture to ensure sturdy growth, warm nights, however, are needed to force maturity.

Reports from the Edmonton district indicate that crops are looking well, but that rain is urgently needed. In the outlying sections the crops have been somewhat retarded due to dryness and cool weather during the earlier part of the week. Some claim that if more rain is not forthcoming some time early in July, the crops will be a total failure in these districts. Lack of rain has also been reported along the Goose Lake line from Munson to the Saskatchewan border. Conditions in the Calgary district are excellent, while around Lethbridge warmer weather is more urgently needed than moisture. Generally the crops have been free from pest or hail damage.

THE WEATHER.

Last evening's shower totalled .20 of an inch. The total for the month, however, is short, being but little over an inch, or 1.08. In May we had 3.06. In June of last year the amount was 4.77, but in July there was a great deficiency, only .76 falling. The rainfall this year is much more evenly distributed, but the total is much the same. The season is progressing, but we have not had as yet any high temperature, 83 being the top mark. ". P.

A reduction of more than five per cent. is to be made in the pay of British officers.

JAPANESE PAPER THREATENS U.S.

Comments Menacingly on Killings in California—Puts Blame on Nation.

END THE INSULT.

KOBE, Japan, June 28. — The Osaka Asahi Shimbun, commenting on the reported killing of two Japanese in California, says:

"It is regrettable that the friendship between Japan and the United States, which has been growing close has been utterly undermined by the enactment of anti-Japanese legislation in the United States. It is true that some Americans are criticising the legislation severely but it is regrettable that in spite of the warning of representative American newspapers and public bodies, other Americans are ready to resort to violence.

Intimidation is Seen.

"Japanese who are insulted without cause and are subjected to unreasonable and discriminatory treatment must be ready to clear away the insult. The Japanese people generally therefore are making efforts to awaken the consciousness of the Americans without resorting to any rash acts. On the other hand, some Americans, probably misunderstanding the Japanese attitude, and thinking that they have submitted Americans to insult, are trying to intimidate the Japanese residents in the United States by force.

Puts Blame on the United States.

"It is impossible to judge the ideas of all Americans by a single occurrence, but as a nation they ought to bear the responsibility. If the lives and property of the Japanese residents in the United States should be placed in danger, it would be impossible for the Japanese at home to remain silent. Should the situation turn from bad to worse the responsibility will rest with the United States."

The Asahi Shimbun adds that proper steps should be taken to meet the situation in the future and that in the meantime the people should act decently and with sound judgment and not allow themselves to be irritated by the actions of a few anti-Japanese Americans.

A goose egg that weighs 14 ounces and is 10 inches was exhibited recently on an Indiana farm.

OPPOSITION TO FEE INCREASES

Proposal to Set Charge For Protest of Notes Came Before House.

SUGGEST FLAT $3.

OTTAWA, June 28. —(Canadian Press).—Legislation to provide a new tariff of fees to be charged by notaries in connection with the protesting of bills of exchange or promissory notes was discussed in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. Minister of Justice Hon. Ernest Lapointe, who proposed a resolution to deal with the matter, stated that at present the fees varied greatly from province to province. In Ontario at present the fee for protest was 50 cents and 25 cents for each notice, while in Saskatchewan and Alberta it was $3 for protest and 50 cents for each notice, and in New Brunswick there was a flat charge of three dollars. Under the proposed legislsation there is to be a uniform tariff for all the provinces of $2 for protest and 50 cents for each notice.

J. D. Chapell, Conservative, Lincoln, said he though the Minister should take into consideration the fact that people were being pretty heavily taxed now. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Opposition leader, remarked that the schedule had been suggested by the Bar Association, and apparently it had placed the fee for protest as high as in any of the provinces. He suggested that it should be placed at $1.

C. G. Coote (Progressive, MacLeod) also objected to the increase. If this bill passed, the cost of a protest in Manitoba would be doubled.

He believed that the fee charged was not in accord with the service rendered.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, said that he would not prolong this session for the sake of the bill before the House. He had submitted it at the request of the Bar Association of Ontario and other bodies. He suggested that the resolution be passed and, if members so desired, amendments to the schedule could be made when the bill reached the committee stage.

The resolution carried, and a bill based on it was given first reading.

LOW WATER HAS LOWERED CARGO

Grain Boats Are Unable to Carry Full Cargoes of Former Years.

AT FORT WILLIAM.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 28 (Canadian Press), — Five boats cleared from the harbours of Fort William and Port Arthur yesterday with 1,164,000 bushels of grain, the United States boat Pollock carrying a mixed cargo of wheat, oats, rye and barley totalling 217,000 bushels, while the Canadian steamer Mathewston took the largest cargo, 400,000 bushels of wheat and oats.

Owing to the low water none of the grain carriers can take on their full cargoes such as were carried in former years.

Four grain carriers are waiting orders and three en route.

ARRESTED

A Chicago woman, 50 years old, notorious pickpocket, arrested for the 232nd time. She had been in 12 penitentiaries and 62 jails, and has paid fines totaling more than $25,000, police say.

There was a time when she was an innocent little girl with no thought of breaking the law.

Crime is 90 per cent environment and association, not more than 110 per cent natural inclination.

AUTO-HYPNOSIS

Working in a stone quarry, Antonio Sero hears a warning shout. He looks up, sees a big rock crashing down toward him. He yells, starts to run, trips and fall. The rock rolls over his leg. When they pick him up, he is dead. The doctor says the injury could not have killed him, that Sero plainly died of fright.

And still there are medical men who deny the power of the mind over the body.

REST-A-WHILE PROPRIETOR IS A GIFTED POET

He Lapses Into Metre to Advertise the Popular Summer Resort He Conducts

AT HEALEY FALLS

And Only Poetry is Adequate to Describe the Charms That Lure Hundreds.

(By a Staff Reporter).

HEALY FALLS, June 28.—Fred. S. Kelle, proprietor of the well-known summer resort, "Rest-a-While," at this place is a man of parts, and has succeeded in many ventures. No one, however, ever suspected, until recently, that he possessed poetic gifts when he produced a metrical advertisement of his place of business, a parody it may be, but a clever relation of the sentiment in the original composition to fit his own case. "When the Fish Begin to Bite" is respectfully referred to the publicity branch of the Trent Waterways Committee.

The resort so well known to tourist from the United States and Canada was originally opened by the father of the present proprietor. D. Bartek acquired it later but Fred S. Keller took it over a few years ago. He has improved it by extending the original building, erecting two cottages that have sleeping accommodation for 20 guests, and putting up a large garage, which during the tourist season is always filled with high power cars. The location of the resort is ideal, the buildings, standing on an elevation near the bank, at a point where the Trent River broadens out into a lake fully one mile in width. The fishing grounds are among the most famous in the district and every year the resort is crowded from the opening to the close of the season.

Favored by Americans

"Rest-a-While" has always been favored by wealthy Americans who come to this district on their annual outings. There are at present 31 of these registered many of whom have been guests at the same place every summer for years. They are as follows:

J. M. Craig, and W. A. Burtnett of Alliance, Ohio, L. H. Webber, L. J. Webber, E. C. Henn, L. A. Federman and J. A. Zimmer of Cleveland John Harsch of Lakewood, O. A. A. Benesch of Cleveland, O. F. Dormer and Mrs. O. F. Dormer of East Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Stockburger of Cleveland, John A. Hartzill of Alliance, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Falor, of Akron, O., Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Davidson of Akron, accompanied by their daughter Betty, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Krans, Mrs. C. P. Weaver C. Taylor of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Harroff and two sons and Mrs. Elizabeth Harroff of Youngstown, O.

All of the male guests in the above list are men of affairs at home who are glad to escape from the daily grind of business for a month or two during which they array themselves in old clothes and take part in every form of rustic enjoyment. Every day when the weather permits the guests join in a picnic at Burnt Point, an elevation about a mile up the river, when a dinner cooked by volunteers who are expert in the culinary art is served. There is excellent fishing at this place, the river widening out into several bays where there is no current.

Where Champlain Sailed

Every summer resort has an attraction with a history usually more or less traditionary. There is a legend here that "Burnt Point", so popular as a picnic spot, attracted the attention of Champlain when he sailed down the Trent to Lake Ontario, that he chose it as a camp for the night and that he was so well pleased with it that he remained there two or three days, resting his crew, repairing his outfit, exploring the surrounding country and making friends with the Indians. The river here is excellent for navigation. It forms part of the Trent Canal and required little dredging and there is no lock between Healey Falls and Hastings.

Americans and Prohibition.

The American visitors are not kept away from Ontario by the fact that the Province is dry. They have been used by this time to a more drastic Prohibition law at home, a law that has been made a part of the Federal Constitution, that sacred American document that is supposed to guarantee equal rights to all and special privileges to none. The visitors here say that as the Volstead Act is a Federal law, it is enforced without sectional favouritism. At present in Ohio they are sending men to the penitentiary for first offences. The law is a hard and fast measure, beyond manipulation and far out of the scope of the local politicians or even the governments of the individual States. Without stating their personl sentiments with regard to Prohibition, several of the visitors here gave it as their opinion that the law will never be repealed.

"The Home of Presidents."

It will be noted by the list of guests given above that they are all from Ohio, the State that has turned more Republican Presidents than any other in the American Union, so that the political affiliation of the majority of the Americans at Healey Falls may be taken for granted.

There was one peculiar circumstance noted—although the Democrats were enduring the agony of a national convention in New York, none of the tired business men here seemed to know anything about what was going on or to manifest the slightest interest in the proceedings. When they leave home they come for a holiday, to forget for a time all their cares and worries. While they are here, some of the guests rated as millionaires in Bradstreet, never receive a letter or telegram from home and never read a newspaper.

Come by Automobile.

All the guests came to Healey Falls by automobile, and there is a costly collection of cars in the garage. They cross into Canada at Nigara Falls, and an automobile ferry between Rochester and Cobourg would save them many a mile of travel. They are unable to understand why such a ferry has not been installed years ago, and wonder at the lack of enterprise shown by the American railway company that has this matter in hand.

Some Big Fish.

One of the most successful anglers in the party is Mrs. "Dick" Falor, whose husband is with the Goodrich Rubber Company in Akron, Ohio, the Rubber City, where 67 per cent. of the tires used on American cars is produced.

Mrs. Falor yesterday landed, with all the skill of an expert, a 12-pound pickerel that put up a hard fight. Her ambition is to capture one still larger which she will have mounted to preserve as a memento of her angling exploits in Canada.

While fishing in the afternoon, Mrs. Falor was pulled into the water by a large fish that she had hooked. But she swam like a cork to shore, her only worry over the mishap being the loss of the fish and her tackle.

FIRST PHOTOGRAPHS OF GRAND CANYON

NEW YORK, June 28.—When Major Powell made his second trip through the Grand Canyon in 1891 neither the dry plate nor the easily carried film roll or pack has been invented. Photographs were taken by the wet-plate process. The photographer carried as many glass plates, covered with an albuminous substance as he had pictures to take When he was ready to make an exposure he would coat one of the plates with collodion, which formed a film to hold the silver solution with which it was covered. This plate had to be exposed while it was wet—which gave the process its name—and developed within a few hours. After having been developed it was dried, and varnished as a protection against injury, and the ncarefully packed in a grooved box to await the day when prints could be made.

The photographic apparatus consisted of six hundred glass plates, some of them nearly a quarter of an inch thick; several cameras, one of them designed to take the then popular stereoscopic pictures; quantities of collodion, silver solution, developisg and fixing chemicals, and varnish. Added to these was a darkroom made of canvas and wood mounted on a tripod. This equipment was placed in rubber sacks and packed in canvas-covered wooden cases on board the three small boats of the expedition.

TORONTO MAIL STRIKERS ARE STANDING FIRM

The Tenth Day of Strike of Postal Employees Shows Very Little Change.

WOMEN MOB MAN.

Strike Situation Will be Considered by Cabinet This Morning.

TORONTO, June 28. — Postal strike is costing Toronto hundreds of thousands of dollars a day.

Executives of larger business houses of the city yesterday stated that the situation daily becomes more serious and that severing of vital means of communication may bring about paralysis in many industries. So far, it is believed, no firm has been forced to suspend operations but unless relief is forthcoming shortly such action will not be surprising.

Most significant of any statement issued to date was that given yesterday by R. A. Stapells, President of the Board of Trade, who based his opinions upon his conversation with many members as well as upon his own observations as a business man. "Business and industry in Toronto is suffering from results of this strike as it has never suffered before," declared Mr. Stapells when questioned. "Mot certainly there has been an adverse effect upon business and it has been very widespread. All firms doing business by mail are suffering—they cannot receive their orders nor carry on with their usual despatch. Then there is the terrible tie-up due to delay in forwarding money. I myself know a man who is in a very serious position, although he has four large cheques somewhere on way to him."

Strike Unchanged

The tenth day of the strike of employees of Toronto post office shows but little change in conditions that have prevailed ever since the men stopped work.

Strikers Determined

The strikers appear to have lost none of their determination to hold out until a satisfactory settlement is secured, while on the other hand the local postal authoriies are steadily taking on recruits opening new stations and attempting with more or less success, a street delivery.

Early this morning Gordon Jackson made announcement in a local paper that Post Master Lemon last night transmitted by telephone to Hon. Charles Stewart, at Ottawa, stand taken by striking employees and that Mr. Lemons had been assured by Acting Postmaster General that the strike situation would be considered by the Cabinet this morning

At a mass meeting of the men earlier in the night, however, message from Acting Postmaster General was read which gave but little encouragement.

"Your telegram of last night to Prime Minister has been referred to undersigned for reply. There can be nothing added to the Government's previous statement of position."

Strikers are holding mass meeting at ten o'clock this morning.

Women Sympathize.

Women sympathizers of the striking postmen caused a demonstration on Dagmar Avenue yesterday afternoon when a number of them mauled a strike breaker attempting to deliver mail. As the postie handed a number of letters to a woman they were flung back in his face and he was pushed from the doorsteps to the lawn. A number of other women took a hand in the assult, and the mail carrier was roughly treated and thrown to the ground. His clothing was partly torn from him, and the police reported that a woman rushed from a house with a pan of boiling water and potatoes and threw the contents over the letter carrier. By the time the police arrived the women had fled and everything was in order on the street.

Striker Arrested.

The first striker to be arrested was Arthur Dowey, letter-carrier, living at 7 Wellsley Avenue. Dowey was taken into custody at Queen and Church Streets by Detective Waterhouse, charged with assault, and was released from the Court Street Station on bail of $800. He is alleged to have struck William Stronach, 14 Ross Street, a crippled letter-carrier, as he was delivering a letter on Yonge Street. The police stated there were four or five men around when Stronach was attacked. He was struck several blows in the face, and the mail bag was torn from his shoulder. Letters were strewn about the sidewalk. Despite his physical handicap and injury to his face, Stronach picked up the mail, restored it and continued his delivery.

Men Resigned.

The mail carrier from Section 'G' met with a stormy reception on Ashdale Avenue yesterday morning. Cries of "blackleg" and "why didn't you go to the front?" given by women, were followed by a series of attempts to strike him with brooms. Another mail carrier on Bertmount Avenue had his coat torn from his back.

Both of these men are reported to have resigned. On Badgerow Avenue tomatoes were hurled at one of the strike-breakers.

Instructions have been issued by Acting Chief of Police Geddes to the police to afford all possible protection to the men carrying the mail.

Replying to a request of the Amalgawated Civil Service Workers' Executive, suggesting that their association act as mediators between the striking postal workers and the Government, Hon. Charles Stewart, acting Postmaster-General, states that no delegation will be received to discuss salaries of the postal workers until the final report of the Civil Service Commission has been received.

NEWS FROM STIRLING.

Interesting Wedding In the Village—Couple Will Go Abroad.

STIRLING, June 28.—The Methodist church was the scene of an interesting event on Wednesday morning, when Miss Lillian Kennedy, eldest daughter of Mrs. A. Kennedy became the bride of Mr. Chas. H. Banks, of Moose Jaw, Sask. Rev. Mr. Barrett performed the ceremony. The honeymoon will be spent abroad. It is the intention of the couple to visit the Wembly Exhibition, also the battlefields of France, as each lost a brother in the Great Wary. They will also visit points of interest in England and upon their return will reside in Moose Jaw, where the groom has an important position in connection with the railway.

Lawn Social.

The members of St. James' Roman Catholic church held their annual lawn social and chicken supper at the Agricultural Park on Wednesday evening, with a fairly good crowd in attendance.

Several from here attended the garden party at the Children's Shelter in Belleville on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Linn, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fox, motored to Kemptville this week, where Mr. Linn attended a convention of cheese men.

Mr. Thos. Montgomery, Sr., one of the directors and Dr. M. W. Sine, secretary, were canvassing the village this week in the interests of the Agricultural Society.

T. Hume Bissonnette and his bride arrived in town, having motored from Cedar Rapids, Iowa. They are staying with his mother, Mrs. Annie Bissonnette, for awhile.

Mrs. German Bailey and daughter, Mrs. Diack, of Toronto, are renewing acquaintances here and at Sine.

Dr. B. F. Butler and wife of Belleville are visiting their son, J. G. Butler and other relatives here.

Mrs. R. A. Sutcliffe is visiting relatives in Brighton.

Dr. A. C. Gordon, who formerly practised here, but had to leave on account of serious illness two years ago, is fully recovered now, and was visiting here for a few days. His many friends were glad to see him looking so well. He was on his way to Tweed to camp for a few weeks.

Some of the farmers have begun the cutting of their alfalfa, which is a good crop.

Strawberries grown locally are on sale in the groceries, at 25 cents a box. With frequent showers a good crop is assured.

The Methodist Church held their annual social on the church lawn on Friday night. Music was furnished by the Frankford Orchestra, and a good crowd was in attendance.

MENTAL BURDENS.

Equanimity is a word that Mr. Mann of Anytown might have had difficulty in defining. Equanimity is an all too little known word, and an all too little practiced condition.

Equanimity means calm, poise, balance — all those things which if practiced, would be of tremendous help in this nervous, fretful world.

The secret of equanimity, it has been pointed out, rests not so much in repressing fear or worry, but in dropping or ignoring them.

Carying a mental burden never solved any man's problems. Gaining control of the attention is an important step towards gaining equanimity. The failure to learn the lesson of control is one of the greatest evils of the day.

"Forget it!" is a good phrase to commit to memory.

FOOD FOR CHILDREN.

BERLIN, June 28. — One hundred boys and girls—all children of Berlin journalists—have been taken to Denmark in order to get nourishing food. The children were selected by physicians who reported that they had not been properly fed for many months.

MOTHER OF TWIN BOYS

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieved Her of Inflammation and Great Weakness

West St. John, N. B.—"I was in a general run-down condition following the birth of my twin boys. I had a great deal of inflammation, with pains and weakness. Finally my doctor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. He said that your medicine would be the only thing to build me up. I am sure he is right, for I am feeling much better and am gaining in weight, having gone down to ninety-three pounds. I was in bed for over a month, but am up again now. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to my friends and give you permission to use my letter." —Mrs. ELMER A. RITCHIE, 82 Rodney St., West St. John, N. B.

There are many women who find their household duties almost unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them.

Desert Makes Animals Resourceful

NEW YORK, June 28. — The cleverness of the desert deer, sheep, and antelope is extraordinary. They can stampede across the taluses of broken stone on a mountain side without even so much as scraping a dewclaw or twisting a pointed toe, and evade the wolves. The pursuers were quite as cunning as the pursued. Long ago the old gray wolf found that deer and sheep disliked leaving certain localities, and that when startled they would run in wide circles about the home base. They could out-run him, but he found that by starting a fresh wolf at given points on the circle he could tire out and finally drag down the quarry. I think he probably learned that much wisdom from his humble brother, the coyote. The coyote had invented the relay for outwitting the jack rabbit. It was useless to run straight after him, or try to stalk him or to catch him napping. The rabbit was too cute for such common expedients. But the relay running and the coming in of a fresh coyote at a tangent often proved too much for him. The rabbit lost.

The cunning of the coyote is a wonder to everyone who knows him. He is more foxy than a fox, and many are the devices he has for gaining a living and keeping out of trouble. He is not brave, though he will fight fiercely if cornered; but his discretion is magnificent. He knows all about you and has looked you over long before you see him. Sitting motionless on some little hill, his dusty coat blends into the sand and rock so perfectly that your eye does not pick him up. He will sit there and watch you manoeuvre for over an hour if convinced that you do not see him, but the moment your eye catches him he knows it and is off. His impudence is colossal, but so, too, is his shrewdness.

The wildcat, the lynx, and the mountain lion were quite as truly past masters of strategy in sneaking, crawling, and springing as the coyote. They, all of them, had wits sharpened because of rather empty stomachs. They could not afford to let anything get away from them. And that was the condition of the prey. It could not afford to get caught. So defense and offense were both speeded up. Every pursuit was swift, and every fight, if possible, was swifter. So the struggle went on, but life was somehow endured, and everything brought forth after its kind with no whit of energy or hope abated.

Even the reptiles and the insects insisted upon suriving, no matter how pitiless the circumstances. They were not endowed with spine armor, nor great fighting strength, nor swiftness in flight; but to many of them was given the most deadly weapon of all—poison. The rattlesnake is a native of the desert — usually found on the ledges of the desert mountains. One day as I was descending a steep side of rock, and, thinking to save time and distance by dropping some ten feet upon a projecting ledge, I discovered that a large rattlesnake was occupying the ledge. I dropped a rock, instead of myself, upon him. —John C. Van Dyke, in The Mentor.

CONVENTION ON ANOTHER

ments they brought into the perplexing turmoil of the convention. At the start of the session there was a touch of the unusual when the name fo Cox of Ohio, was placed before the convention by Newton D. Baker, President Wilson's war-time Secretary of War.

The delegates cheered Baker, cheered again when he mentioned Woodrow Wilson, and continutd cheering for Cox, couragous leader in Democratic defeat four years ago.

When the name of John W. Davis was presented from West Virginia, the applause led the delegates in many parts of the hall helped to swell the cheers. There was a short but cordial period of flag-waving and approving noise.

of subjects. He was a very facile speaker and entirely at his ease despite the fact that I had spoken to him only a few times before and then only on the subject of birds.

Says He Talked Freely.

"He did not allow the casualness of our acquaintance to bother him, but talked rather freely on a number of sex topics that showed me for the first time the extent of his sophistication. I came to the conclusion then that this boy was not the person I wished to associate with my children and I told him as gently as I could that I must postpone my decision on joining the class."

Extortionists Work.

Blackmail letters flooding the mails since Roberts Franks was kidnapped and killed for ransom by Leopold and Richard Loeb, continue to stream into the homes of wealthy Chicagoans, it was announced yesterday by Chief of Police Collins.

The Chief declared that he had six extortion letters in his office which were received by prominent persons, and in the safe of Chief of detectives Hughes at least a hundred more are locked up.

Even children have entered the merry game of blackmail letter writing and the other night three boys in short trousers were arrested when they tremblingly braved the darkness of an alley to call for a fortune of $50 which they had demanded from John Borner, a cement worker.

Franks Signs Warrants.

Jacob Franks, father of Robert Franks, appeared at the detective bureau yesterday and signed complaints against the three boys arrested Tuesday night in an attempt to extort $8,000 from him. The three had sent him a letter threatening to kidnap his daughter Josephine if he failed to bring the money to a spot in Division Street which they specified.

When they came to get a decoy package they were arrested by Lieutenants Albert Winge and Hugh McCarthry.

The boys arrested were Edward Krug, 12 years old and small for his age; his brother, Henry, 15 years old, and Elmer Olson, 16 years old.

BIG CELEBRATION PORT HOPE JULY 1

Always a Good Performance and Lots For Your Money.

This year's Dominion Day Celebration at Port Hope promises to eclipse all previous demonstrations. Three bands will furnish music. The band of the Ontario Regiment (by permission of Lt.-Col. Cameron and officers)), the Kilties Concert Band of Cobourg, and the Citizens' Band of Port Hope.

Entries indicate a big field for the horse races, 2.15 class, $500.00; 2.20 class, $400.00; 2.30 class, $300.00. Another feature of the afternoon's events will be a League baseball game between General Motors Oshaws and Port Hope.

The Vaudeville Acts will surpass all previous programmes, and will include Novelty Juggling and Chair Balancing by Lewis Demaneche; Conjuring and Magic by Will Chambridge; Novelty Contortionist by Joe Volaine; Novelty Musical Duo, Saxaphone and Xylophone; the Watson Sisters, Terpsichorean Dancers, and Bassett and Bailey, (man and woman,) Comedy Balancing and Acrobatic and Table Novelty.

The Vaudeville Programme will be given afternoon and evening, and the day's events will conclude with a magnificent display of Foreworks under the personal direction of Hand & Co. of Hamilton.

Meet your friends at Port Hope on Dominion Day and enjoy a real day's fun.

EXPECT ANIMALS.

PARIS, June 28. — A great crowd gathered to meet Ras Taffari, the Prince of Ethiopia, on his recent arrival in Paris because of a rumour that the Prince would be accompanied by 15 or 20 jungle animals. The only animal he had, however, was a docile bulldog.

WAR WIDOWS WED.

LONON, June 28. — The British Isles have 100,000 fewer war widows to-day than there were immediately after the armistice. Most of them have re-married, records show, although some of that number have died. There still are 160,000 widows on the books of the Pensions Ministry, however.

SAVE THE CHILDREN.

The Local Council of Women is making an appeal to Peterborough people on behalf of the "Save the Children Fund," an effort to take care of some of the starving Greek children whose condition is desperate unless more help is forthcoming.

When it is stated that $12 will look after one of these children for a year it will be realized how much can be accomplished by a substantial donation from Peterborough.

So far this city has not been called upon to contribute anything to this splendid cause, and the Local Council of Women in supplying the necessary machinery is giving Peterborough a chance to make up for lost time.

There is no question of the need; the conditions under which thousands of these unfortunate children are existing at the present time beggar description.

The organization formed to look after the fund in Canada is composed of public-spirited citizens whose names are a guarantee of the bona fide nature of the appeal.

Although there are pessimists who are fond of complaining about hard times, it is a simple truth that Canadians are living in a land of milk and honey as compared with some of the countries in Europe, and out of our plenty it should be possible to spare something that may mean the difference between life and death to some little tot across the Atlantic.

DECORATION DAY.

Tomorrow the Peterborough branch of the Great War Veterans' Association will hold its annual decoration day, when the ceremony of decorating the graves of former members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force who are buried in Little Lake Cemetery will be observed, followed by a similar ceremony a week from Sunday in St. Peter's Cemetery.

The number of former soldiers buried in the two local cemeteries is surprisingly large.

Some were men who died during the training and never had a chance to serve in the great adventure overseas.

Others were soldiers who, after being invalided home from overseas service, passed away in the land for whom they fought.

All gave their lives for Canada, and it is fitting that the comrades who served with them should keep their memory ever green by means of this beautiful decoration day ceremony.

One of the main objects of the Great War Veterans' Association is the preservation of the memory of former comrades, so that the Peterborough branch in setting apart an annual decoration day—or rather two of them—is living up to the constitution of the organization.

The attendance tomorrow and on the following Sunday should be large, and will be if every ex-service man who survived the World War will appreciate his responsibility toward this duty of honouring the memory of the men who gave up their lives.

LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE.

The suggestion has been made to the Deputy-Minister of Highways that the motor car speed limit on rural roads be raised from 25 miles an hour, as it is at present, to 30 or 35 miles.

The argument is advanced that nobody pays any attention to the present limit, but if it were raised to 35 miles an hour it would be observed.

That sounds familiar.

Some time ago when the rural speed limit was 20 miles an hour motorists who liked to drive fast pointed out that the limit was being disregarded and it might as well be made 25 miles an hour to keep automobilists from breaking the law.

Now they come back with a similar contention to support a plea for a higher limit, and in all probability were the request to be granted, a year or two from now there would be drivers arguing that the 35-mile limit was being violated by everybody and that a raise to 40 or 45 miles an hour might as well be made.

The legislators had better let well enough alone.

A thirty-five-mile-an-hour limit would simply be an invitation to everybody to "step on the gas," and while there are drivers with skill enough and nerve enough to handle their cars safely at that speed, always provided their machines are in good mechanical condition, there are many more of another class in whose case the present limit is about as fast as they can be trusted to negotiate in safety either for themselves or for others.

APATHETIC ELECTORS.

The problem of persuading people to exercise their franchise at municipal and other elections is one that is not peculiar to Peterborough.

It is not confined to Canada either.

An authority living in the United States declares that in the last presidential election nearly half of the citizens who were entitled to vote didn't vote at all.

For every 100 who voted 96 stayed away from the polls.

When it is realized that this means that 25 million people eligible to vote in the presidential election failed to exercise the franchise, while in the national election in Germany nearly 30 million Germans voted, although the population of Germany is not much more than half that of the United States, the real seriousness of the problem begins to become apparent.

Here is an example closer to home.

Recently a money bylaw was placed before the electors at Stratford, and with 4,500 names on the list only 819 votes were polled.

Many of these would not have been registered had not the voters been driven to the polls.

Outside of the apathy thus indicated, not a desirable thing in itself, there is a real danger.

The way is open for putting over a doubtful proposition.

It would not be difficult in the face of indifference of this kind for an aggressive organization to poll enough votes to carry a bylaw that would be very decidedly against the public interest.

The apathy of electors in such matters is a real menace.

PRICE OF GOSSIP.

Gossiping is one of the most deplorable habits we all possess, says the Brandon Sun, in an editorial to business men. It does vast harm in personal affairs, but a professional journal has been pointing out that gossip affects business and harms incomes. It goes on to show that a rumor that a plant is about to shut down can create consternation among a great number of employes. It will reduce efficiency. The worry so started may result in serious accident. A report that a concern is in financial difficulty may create that difficulty and wreck a business that otherwise would run along satisfactorily. Half the people who repeat gossip wonder if it could be true and what would happen if it were, and so sometimes help to bring about the thing they have discussed.

It is impossible to stop gossip as long as we continue our interest in the other person and his doings. Few people start gossip about themselves, particularly gossip which will injure them. The people you'd least expect to injure themselves by repeating stories they've heard are the so-called solid business men. If they hear that business is bad in a certain town, they're likely to mention it to their customers, and so sensitive is the public purse to fear for the welfare of our families that a rumor of bad business in a neighboring town will affect business in our own town. Often much of the talk has been of an entirely innocent nature. The men have merely been passing along gossip. They have not realized that it might have an important bearing on their own business. Often they do not realize the position of authority they hold in town.

A merchant's customer list may be largely made up of people who work and not as a rule as well informed about outside conditions, so when the merchant comments adversely regarding the state of business their first thought is to protect themselves. It just happens that a great many people get frightened at the same time, and begin to stop spending and that spreads, so it is well to consider this when listening to a particularly blue story, and it is better, a thousand times better, to be extremely careful to whom you repeat the sad story. Instead of merely passing on a bit of idle gossip you may be reducing your income.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST EMPIRE.

A Chicago paper finds recompense for the troubles of the U. S. Government by remarking that Britain has more of them.

Of course it has, for the very simple reason that the British Empire is over four times as big as United States and has over four times as many people, 450,000,000 in all.

Without in any sense being boastful it is worth while now and then to take a look over the Empire, the greatest political and moral power the world has ever seen.

Its area is 13,500,000 square miles, one-quarter of the land surface of the globe; it is seven times as large as the Roman Empire at the zenith of its power; it would readily make four United States or 65 Germanys. Canada, the premier Dominion in the Empire, is nearly as large as Europe, including Russia; it is larger than United States; Australia is as great in extent as either Brazil or United States; India covers as much ground as Europe, with Russia excepted.

The British Empire has within its bounds places, the names of some of which have come down to us in Old Testament history, the Holy Land, or Palestine, Judea, Samaria, Galilee; in point of age—Chaldea, Mesopotamia, Moab and Edom. Its mountains include Hor, Nebo, Tabor and Carmel, famous as the place where Elijah challenged the prophets of Baal.

Great sections of the ancient empires of Assyria, Babylonia, Persia, Rome and those of Alexander are within its boundaries.

The Hudson Bay, Canada's great inland sea, is three times the size of the Baltic; in Canada are some of the world's greatest rivers, the St. Lawrence, Mackenzie and the Saskatchewan; in other parts of the Empire, the Nile, Niger, Ganges and the Zambest; in sacred history and tradition, the waters of the Euphrates, Ganges, Jordan and Kishon; the Dead Sea and the Sea of Galilee are on its borders, while Canada has half the fresh water on the earth.

From the standpoint of world vantage, Britain stands at the "gates." She is at Gibraltar, again at Suez, Aden, Singapore and in our own land at Quebec.

The world's greatest wheat market is at Winnipeg, and from the port of Montreal is shipped more wheat than the three chief ports of United States combined.

Britain is the world's greatest wool producer; produces more gold than the rest of the world combined; has the world's richest iron ore mines off Newfoundland, and the greatest tin mines in Malaya.

The world's greatest seaport, at Hong Kong; the greater portion of submarine cables are British.

The sites of the world's most ancient cities, Babylon, the mighty, and Nineveh, are in the British Empire; also Beer-sheba, Hebron, Bethlehem, Nazareth, Capernium.

The Empire made the greatest contribution to the cause of the Allies in the World War, Canada having more men enrolled than had Napoleon when he set forth for the invasion of Russia.

Yes, it's a great old Empire, so there's no wonder that there are a few problems coming to the front now and then, for John Bull's people live in many strange places all over the world.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It should not be forgotten that the Toronto postal strikers had their chance to return at the same terms as the other postal workers throughout the country.

An American exchange puts it effectively when it says: "Take time at railway crossings—or take eternity."

With wheat growing up and the price of wheat going up, it is a case of two good things moving together, as the Lethbridge Herald declares.

Forty thousand clothing workers in New York have gone on strike. It might have been imagined from some of the costumes seen on the street these days that there has been a strike among the dressmakers.

A THOUGHT

THE TOP STAYS WHITE

We've found such a bright little laundress
Who comes Monday mornings at nine;
A widow with three little children,
Who doesn't lament nor repine.

She always seems cheerful and happy
While scrubbing the dirt all away;
As smiling when rinsing and bluing,
As when she's receiving her pay.

We asked of this bright little laundress:
"How came you so cheerful to be?"
She answered: "I wasn't so always;
The suds taught a lesson to me.

"Perh..ps, when you've washed, you have noticed,
It's surely a most common sight,
No matter how dirty the water,
The suds, right on top, stay white.

"An' so I jest figgered it out, maam,
My soul should stay top o' the heap,
No matter how hard work or life 'was,
The top white and shining I'd keep."

Officers of Greek Navy Have Mutined

ATHENS, June 27. — (United Press).—One hundred and fifty-five of the 200 officers in the Greek Navy have mutinied and are demanding the resignation of Minister of Marine Hadjikyriacos.

The disgruntled officers charge that the Minister promoted several superior officers unjustly. It is predicted in some naval quarters that the affair will develop into a serious affair.

All navy aviators have joined the mutiny. Premier Papasastassiou refuses to comply with the demand to oust Hadjikyriacos, and the Government declares that all guilty parties will be punished sternly.

There is talk of executing the ring leaders.

What is said to be the smallest dog in England is owned by Lady Kimberly. It is a Mexican hairless terrier only a few inches in length.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, June 28. — The preseen week at the Union Stock Yards has proved the most disastrous one for cattle shippers in over a year. The shipments were not excessive, being only 5,950, but the market was unable to assimilate them except at heavy losses to the owners, and in one instance Western Ontario shipper experienced a loss of over $2,000 on thirteen loads. Nobody foresaw the bad conditions of the present week, but commission men have constantly admonished shippers against contracting at too high a price in the country.

The hot weather and poor general business conditions gave the packers legitimate grounds for starting the week with lower bids and further lowering them as the week progressed.

Export and choice butchers had the best market, but prices here were reduced 25 to 30 cents a cwt., and in a good many of the less desirable butchers prices dropped 50 cents to $1.00 a cwt. On Thursday prices $1.50 a cwt. lower than those paid in the country were offered in some instances, and the holders decided to carry the cattle into next week rather than make the sacrifice.

The exporters took practically all the heavy steers and heifers and also bought a considerable number of steers and heifers around 1,000 pounds each. For extra choice 1,400 pound steers $8.50 and $8.75 a cwt. was paid, but the lighter cattle were taken at $6.75 to $7.25. For a load of export bulls the average cost was $4.30 a cwt., and this was half a dollar less than paid last week. The exporters have two boats to fill next week and will need about 800 to 900 to add to the 350 they now have on hand.

The packers started discounting the price of choice butchers on Monday, and except in a few special cases the top price paid was $7.50 a cwt. For good butchers which were bringup to $7.25, the price was lowered to $6.75 and late in the week to $6.60, and occasionally to $6.50.

Medium butchers sold well below $6.00. There was no competition worth while even at the drop, owing to the uncertainty of the beef trade.

Butchers' cows and bulls did not feel the effect quite so much as the other butchers', and the changes were kept down to from 25 to 50 cents a cwt. Very few cows made $6.00, and fair quality cows sold at $4.25, with common cows down to $3.00 a cwt. A few really choice bulls brought $5.50, but good bulls were not over $4.50, and bologna bulls went at and below $3.00. The milcher and springer trade showed bad prices, but the stocker business was dull more than weak.

Several loads of Western stockers with breed and from 800 to 900 pounds each sold from $5.35 to $5.80 a cwt. After this week's experience and a holiday on Tuesday, it would be natural to look for lighter receipts next week, and this would help to stimulate prices.

Calves kept fairly steady until Wednesday, when the supply overfilled the local demand, and several loads were bought on speculation for Buffalo. Top calves made 11 cents during the week, but closing would be a dollar a cwt. below this. A fair sample of good calves sold at $8.00 on Wednesday, and common calves had a bid of only $4.00 a cwt. on Thursday morning.

Lambs were easier this week, and choice ones in bunches were not better than 15 1-2 cents, and a good many sold at 15 cents. Light unfinished lambs are only saleable at about 11 cents. Sheep are holding firm, owing to a demand for breeding ewes, but heavy sheep are not much wanted.

The price of hogs has stiffened 25 cents a cwt. to $8.00 f.o.b., and some dealers are paying a little better for picked lots.

WINNIPEG LIVESTOCK.

WINNIPEG, June 28 (Canadian Press). — Arrivals yesterday: 320 cattle and calves, 310 hogs, and 60 sheep.

The cattle market opened with very few desirable offerings available, which was reflected in general trade in activity. Prices appeared to hold about in line with Thursday's close.

The hog market remained practically unchanged, with thick smooths at $7.20 and select bacons at $7.29.

Sheep and lambs were in very poor demand and lower prices generally prevailed. The best lambs found difficulty in reaching $13.00, while thin lambs sold as low as $8.00. A few sheep offerings went from $5.00 to $8.00.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 28 (Canadian Press). — Huge profit-taking led to a break in corn prices yesterday, after the high records for the season again had been smashed.

Corn closed unsettled, 5-8c to 2 1-4c net lower, July 93 1-2 to 93 3-4, with wheat heavy, 1c to 1 5-8c down, oats at 1-4c to 1-2c decline, and provisions unchanged to 10c lower.

Tumbling down of prices in the corn market was especially severe during the last fifteen minutes of trading. New buying power appeared to be almost exhausted for the time being, and quotations fell rapidly, with the downward sweep of the market accelerated by wild efforts of brokers to execute standing orders in order to avoid losses. In some cases an extreme break to 5 1-4c under yesterday's finish took place. Previously the buying had been persistent, and on all declines the market had rallied in notable quick time. In this instance, however, the upset could only be in part overcome before the day was at an end.

Warm weather in sight and likely to help the corn crop recover more or less from the ill-effects of the unprecedented backward season, had considerable to do with bringing about a general movement to sell and to check fresh buying. Earlier in the day new demand had been based largely on crop damage reports, especially from Illinois points.

Wheat and oats reflected the overturn of corn values. Besides, lower quotations at Liverpool and showers where needed in the Canadian North-West, tended to ease down wheat values, and so, likewise, did slackness of export demand. Thus far purchases of new wheat have been small.

Foreign selling of lard weakened provisions somewhat.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 28 (Canadian Press). — Cattle receipts yesterday, 4,000; general trade steady, largely steer run; yearlings numerous; liberally preparation fed and yearlings fed Nebraskans, top matured steers, $10.50; average weight, 1,293 pounds, Colorado fed long yearlings, $10.15; few loads handyweights and weighty bullocks, $10.00 to $10.35; yearlings mostly $7.50 to $9.50; bulk weighty steers, $8.00 to $9.75; six loads string short fed Missourians, $7.00 to $7.75; mostly $7.65 to $7.75; Texan grassers, $7.25; some demand for fed cows of value to bring $6.00 and better; others and low-priced heifers lower; desirable beef heifers mostly $6.50 to $7.50; bulls scarce, slow at recent declines, practical top heavy bolognas, $4.50; vealers largely $8.00 to $9.00.

Hogs, receipts 28,000; active, 5c to 10c higher; light weights scored full advance; slaughter pigs showed 25c to 50c gain; bulk good and choice 250 to 340 pound butchers, $7.20 to $7.30; top, $7.30; desirable 160 to 225 pound average generally $6.75 to $7.15; better grades 140 to 150 pound weight, $6.40 to $6.60; bulk packing sows, $6.40 to $6.70; good and choice strong weight killing pigs largely, $5.75 to $6.00; estimated holdover, 12,000.

Sheep, receipts 7,000; active, fat lambs steady to 25s high; cull natives steady to strong; feeding lambs steady; sheep and yearlings fully steady; bulk native fat lambs, $13.00 to $13.25; few to city butchers, $13.75; sorting comparatively moderate; no top grade range lambs offered, bulk $13.00 to $13.10, with 70 to 75 per cent. left for feeder buyers; cull natives, $8.00 to $8.50; feeding lambs slow, sales steady; good kind, $11.40; choice handyweight fat ewes, $5.75; heavies downward from $3.50; choice 100 pound yearlings, $11.25; range yearlings, $10.00; wethers, $8.00.

JAMES COX NOMINATED AT NATIONAL CONVENTION

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 27. — (Canadian Press).—Newton B. Baker, former Secretary of War in the Wilson Cabinet, placed James M. Cox, former Governor of Ohio, in the nominations at to-day's session of the National Democratic convention.

Mr. Baker, who placed Mr. Cox in the nomination in 1920, declared the former Governor became a national figure during the 1920 campaign when he had had courage to follow the "new faith, new political religion of Woodrow Wilson."

Mr. Cox is one of the 'dark horse' candidates conceded to have considerable support among the delegates.

Mr. Cox ran for President in 1920.

FRANKS CASE IS PARENTS' LESSON

An Educated Person Without Character is a Menace to the World.

PHILADELPHIA, June 27. — (United Press).—Busy parents, who have not time to properly care for their children are responsible for the Leopold-Loeb-Franks case in Chicago, according to Dr. Wm. C. Covert, general secretary of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church. Covert lives in Philadelphia.

"I know the parents of the Leopold and Loeb boys and they are seemingly fine people", Dr. Covert said, in discussing the case. "They are intelligent, but they were too busy to attend to their sons' education. Therein lies the answer.

"An educated person without character is a menace. He has no moral direction to his life, nothing to guide him in the right way and consequently is self-indulgent and anti-social.

"A man who has no moral education comes pretty close to the jungle. He reverts to the rule of the beast and there you have the cause of this crime in Chicago. There you have the difficulty with Leopold and Loeb. Both boys were intelligent, both had everything that money would buy, but they were lacking in something far more precious —moral stability.

"My son was a councillor in a camp in Wisconsin which Loeb attended. He knew him as only persons who have lived in the open together can know each other. Loeb at that time was a healthy, normal boy, inclined to be mischievous, but not vicious. He grew older and his brains developed, but he had no restraint placed upon his normal thoughts. Consequently he took the path the results of which is known all over the world.

"There is no question of sanity in this case. Both boys are admittedly brilliant, but they have not schooled themselves to restraint. They followed their impulses, regardless of where it led them.

"The biggest necessity in the world today is the arousing in American parents a consciousness of their responsiblity to their children. When this is done there will be fewer cases of juvenile delinquency and the world will be a better place to live in."

DYSPEPSIA WAS SO BAD
Could Hardly Eat Anything

Mrs. C. Stone, Nanticoke, Ont., writes:—"Some time ago I had a very serious attack of dyspepsia, and was also troubled with gas on my stomach. I could hardly eat anything, and very often had pains after meals. I had used different medicine, but they didn't seem to do me any good. At last I happened to run on the track of Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using it for a short time I felt a lot better. I continued its use until I was completely relieved and now I am ready to recommend it to anyone troubled as I was."

Burdock Blood Bitters is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FABRIC BODY PUT AHEAD OF METAL

Builder Claims Easier, Quieter, Lighter Riding For New Type.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Automobile bodies of fabric construction in place of sheet metal have been tested and found serviceable.

This is the report made to the Society of Automotive Engineers here by K. L. Childs, president of a corporation manufacturing fabric auto bodies. After driving a fabric body car 20,000 miles under all kinds of road and climatic conditions. Childs makes these claims:

1. Fabric bodies are quieter than equivalent metal bodies, eliminating most of the drumming and rumbling sounds encountered in sedans.

2. Fabric bodies average from 25 to 110 pounds lighter than corresponding metal bodies.

3. They can be cleaned more easily than the painted metal bodies, because the fabric coating is hard and withstands abrasion.

4. All panels are made in sections, so that any part of the body that may happen to be dented or injured can be removed without disturbing the rest of the body or any of the interior trimming.

The last feature, Childs says, has led insurance companies to insure fabric bodies at a lower rate than metal bodies.

At the same time, he adds, construction of fabric bodies is easier, speedier and cheaper. In the end it may mean a reduction of at least 15 per cent in the body costs of cars.

Man Mistook Large Window For a Door

GUELPH, Ont., June 27 (Canadian Press). — While doing business in a local garage here last evening, Mr. Josiah Castle, of New Dundee, Ont., after concluding his conversation with the office staff, started for his car, which was standing at the curb.

Mistaking the large plate-glass window for the main doorway, he walked through it, discovering his mistake when he picked himself up out of a head of shattered glass.

Fortunately his injuries were confined to a badly cut arm.

BOYS AND GIRLS LOOK WHO'S HERE

Chance to Win a Bicycle and Help Crippled Children.

The plan adopted by the Executive committee of the Rotary Carnival deserves some further explanation, that boys and girls may understand just how they will go to work.

No tickets will be sold, anywhere, but by those taking part in the enterprise, viz., the boys and girls. On the day of the carnival tickets will be sold at the gates.

Tickets will be ready to give out morning of Tuesday, July 1st, at the Dominion Express Office, Hunter street, from 9.00 a.m. to 12.00 noon. Chairman Jack Seels has charge of this part of the detail work.

As it would not do to give out these tickets indiscriminately, each boy or girl will require to bring with them $1.50 or $3.00, as the case may be, getting five or ten tickets, as the case may be. The money received by the boy or girl from the sale of the tickets can be used to take up other lots. Accurate record will be kept of all sales, and on this record will be determined the winners of the bicycles. Any boy or girl may enter the contest. See the advertisement in another column. Tickets are sold at 25 cents each.

It is hoped that citizens who wish to hold a boy or girl, and who may not have the use of money to take over the first batch of tickets can help by "staking" the workers with loan of a sufficient sum. Many boys have bank accounts and savings and will not require help, but there are others. Of course if any citizen will 'phone Jack Seels and say that the citizen will be responsible for the amount required, that will be perfectly all right. Even thus early in life a boy or girl may require an endorser. All tickets unsold will be taken back and money for same refunded. On Saturday, July 12th, the returns, so far, of sales of tickets, will be published, with names of sellers, and every day afterwards until the close of the Carnival. All contestants will do well to get down bright and early Tuesday morning, July 1st.

May this appeal be made on behalf of the young ticket merchants. When children call on citizens, please do not look on the lads and girls as a sort of nuisance. They are out to help the Crippled Children Fund, which is the object of Rotary, just now. Give the kids a welcome and a cheering word. Each boy or girl sees, in his or her mind, a bright new bicycle, a real useful ad satisfying prize to the winners. Give them all a lift,, and so aid the object in view. It won't hurt anyone to buy three or four tickets and such expenditure will hearten the sellers every time. Five tickets only represent about four gallons, or maybe five gallons of gasoline.

Now one thing has been thought of by the committee in charge. It might be possible that the winner or winners be so small that the standard size of bikes would not be useful, So in such case junior bicycles, of standard make will be supplied, and the difference in cost of wheels be paid to the winner in cash. So the deal is a safe one, no matter whether the winners be large or small.

Names of contestants will be published, with sales made and as recorded. A really big day is looked for, and the bigger the day the better for the Crippled Children Fund. Lots more to tell about the attractions, in following issues of the Examiner, and in the programmes, of which 5,000 will be distributed.

HOTTEST SPOT IN THE WORLD

NEW YORK, June 28.—It seems strange that the world's "record" for high temperature should be held by a place more than thirty-six degrees north of the equator, yet this distinction belongs to the Weather Bureau station in Death Valley, located in a latitude of 36 degrees 27' N, about the same latitude as Norfolk, Virginia. An accurate theremometer enclosed in a standard wooden screen and therefore recording "shade' 'temperatures registered 134 degrees Fahrenheit on July 10, 1913. This is seven degrees higher than the highest ever recorded, with the same precautions, anywhere else in the world. —The Mentor.

GERMANY WILL HAVE TO OBEY

If She is Loyal She Will Not be Disturbed, But if She is Not, She Will Not Be Spared.

PARIS, June 27 (United Press).—"Premier MacDonald and I have agreed that if Germany is loyal she will not be disturbed, but that if she is not loyal, she will not be spared."

That was Premier Herriot's declaration in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday when he outlined the results of his recent conversations in London and Brussels.

Herriot also gave the results of his talks in a speech before the Senate.

Premier MacDonald has informed me that in case Germany defaults, Britain solemnly promises to remain beside the Allies, he told the Senators.

He stated that in Brussels he had found Premier Theunis and Foreign Minister Hymans of Belgium in full accord with the French viewpoint.

"I have not had the slightest difficulty on any point," he said.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor, Examiner:

Sir,—How easy it seems for a person to stand by and criticize something which he knows absolutely nothing about? I must say first of all that it puts us all in mind of an old barrack-room slogan, "Rave on McDuff."

I wohder if our worthy friend, Mr. Dobbin, is aware of the fact that we did not strite for an increase of wages. I wonder also does he know that old age pensions was not an issue. In aswer to which let me point out for his mitigated information a few points which I hope he will grasp 'lock, stock and barrel.' In the year 1920-21 the government saw fit to announce the fact that cost of living had decreased 25 p.c. and the cost of living bonus was cut accordingly. The postal workers throughout Canada took the cut without a murmur, notwithstanding that cost of living in Ottawa was still at the war-time level. The hostile word "strike" was not mentioned by a single branch and during the period from 1920 to date the efficiency of all ranks in the service increased 20 p.c. This fact alone will prove that the service in general had the interests of the public first, fully aware of the fact that the public had no control over whatever legislation that was enacted at Ottawa. Let us now turn to the years 1923-24. The government now insists that the cost of living has decreased a further 33 1-3 p.c., in spite of reports from the bureau of statistics to the contrary. This is a point I do not wish to dwell upon, well knowing that the statement will be ridiculed by all, particularly those who do the household providing. Household necessities at Ottawa in 1924 still remain 85 p.c. higher than in 1920, while throughout the Dominion they were only 40 p.c. higher, according to the postal workers' salaries. One more point I hope our friend will grasp and that is as far as the local office is concerned there is an aggregate of 125 years' service in the army at $1.10 per day. We are all anxious to pay off a small amount per month to own a little of the country we fought for, and with that end in view we are seeking justice and politely asking the government to meet the fact as they exist. The civil service commission compels us to be 80 p.c. efficient. Meanwhile the local office is carrying on with a 97 p.c. efficiency, which examinations held every six months will prove. We are all willing to learn at all times.

I sincerely hope that our worthy friend will continue to "stand around and look pleasant and catch hold," and at the same time to catch facts.

POSTAL WORKER.

The Many Wonders of the Year 1849

COBOURG, June 28. (Special.)—The Scientific American for July, 1849, contained an article that set the world of that day agog. It contained a description of the nucleus of the present airplane as follows:

"At Lowell on the 4th at 4 p.m. Captain Haggart made a balloon ascension with his flying machine attached. He was up about one and a half miles and travelled 75 miles, and showed himself over Crescent, Tewkesbury, Haverhill, Reading, Andover, Ipswick, Salem and other towns. He also went some distance out to sea. On his tack to Lowell at Middleton, the gearing to his fly-machine broke. Had not this happened he would have landed in or near Lowell, where he started from. Captain Taggart has exhibited a great deal of energy in trying his experiments although we have seen no balloon to satify us of the safe and economical feasibility of travelling through the air, yet may we not expect the next great invention of locomotives to be an aerial one, and such an one as will serve the construction of railroads, steamb..ts."

This shows that there were men so far ahead of their times as to dream of an aerial means of transit in 1849.

The Most Improved Car on the Market
IN three months the Gray-Dort has become the greatest motor car value ever offered in Canada. From being one of a class of about equal worth it has jumped to undisputed leadership. Why?
Simply because the new management of Gray-Dort Motors believes that the buyer of a car at Gray-Dort's price is entitled to the same quality and workmanship as the buyer of a car costing a thousand dollars more.
Simply because we believe that you are entitled to expect a Gray-Dort car to be just as free from faults as if you were paying $2,000 or $3,000 for it.
No question of profit can excuse poor parts or slipshod work.
That is why engineering refinements have been made in the Gray-Dort. That is why a new axle was designed. That is why we use a new Gray-Dort disc clutch. That is why we have doubled our inspections.
And that is why the Gray-Dort today is the greatest dollar-for-dollar value you have even been able to buy. See the cars themselves. Drive one. Let the car sell itself to you.

FABLES ON HEALTH

TAKING THE FIRST STEPS.

"How you carry that child—Look out—Don't sit her down that way!"

Mrs. Mann was constantly interrupting Mr. Mann's parades with the firstborn.

And well she might keep a careful eye, for the posture of the child is most important.

For several months the baby should remain lying. If it has properly developed by the third month it should be able to hold the head up without aid. Its back and head should always be supported by the person holding the child. By the end of the sixth month the child should be able to sit up without support.

About this time the child will already indicate a desire to creep and, if normal, will have started doing so. By the ninth month it should be trying to stand up and before the end of a year should be able to take some steps. Many babies are walking within a year, while others take up to 15 months.

It is unwise to encourage the baby to walk without some mechanical contrivance to aid while the bones are gaining their proper strength. Also the child should be allowed to assume the posture it chooses and should not be encouraged to assume any particular position ,or to walk before it shows a desire to.

FRESH AIR AND MILK.

When the Mann child reached the age of six Mr. Mann of Anytown wanted to sit down and rewrite at least one section of Shakespeare's "Seven Ages of Man."

"He didn't put any of this hollering and rumpus raising into the thing," Mr. Mann would declare.

And because such an age is one in which animal spirits are running high and much energy used up in the course of a day it is a period when adequate diet and rest are essential.

The child must have plenty of play and fresh air and sunshine. It is no time to raise a hothouse plant.

But when the normal child has been shouting and romping all day it is all the more necessary that an early bedtime be set and put into rigorous effect.

At least a pint of milk should be given a child of this age and the use of milk should be continued indefinitely. If acquiring of the milk habit is bred into the growing child; it is likely to continue. No excuse of "I don't like it," should be tolerated. Some parents have used a little flavouring, of some sort or other, to get the children to like milk. This should be avoided, if possible, but resorted to if necessary.

WHAT ARE VITAMINES?

Mr. Mann of Anytown read in the papers that a professor at Columbia University had succeeded in isolating a vitamine.

"What's all this vitamine stuff?" inquired Mr. Mann, who thought of isolation in terms of living in the woods.

Never has there been a healthier interest in the vitamine subject and there are any number of people who, like Mr. Mann, had no idea what vitamines are all about.

The best three known vitamines have been named alphabetically A, B and C.

Vitamine A is to be found in abundance in butter, cream, unskimmed milk, young sprouting leafy vegetables, such as parsley or lettuce and in egg yolks: It is found in small quantities in many vegetables. It is referred to as "fat soluble A" because it is soluble in fat. It helps to build up resistance.

Vitamine B is to be found in grain cereals and practically all vegetables. Many underweight children have been benefited through diets containing this vitamine.

Vitamine C is helpful in maintaining health and keeps away scurvy. It is to be found in fresh fruits and vegetables and, to a smaller extent, in milk.

Vitamine D is particularly valuable for growing children and is believed to prevent rickets in infants. It is to be found particularly in the yolk of eggs and in cod liver oil. The placing of an egg yolk in the milk of a bottle-fed baby has been recommended by some physicians.

ITALIAN FINANCES GOOD.

ROME, June 28. — (Canadian Press).—Outlining Italy's financial position in the Senate yesterday, Professor Alberto De Stefani, Minister of Finance, declared that the finances of all the nations which participated in the world war were still in a convalescent state, but said that the financial outlook for Italy was very promising. He predicted a balanced budget for the country by next January, with a sufficient surplus to begin reduction of the floating debt.

In the dark ages abbreviated signs were much in demand for the preservation of records.

COBOURG, June 28.—Miss Elcoat, who has been in charge of the commercial work at the C.C.I., has accepted a good position in a large collegiate at Galt. Miss Timin, also of the C.C.I. staff, has accepted a position at Kitchener.

Tweedle Case Settled.

The Supreme Court non-jury sittings were to have opened here on Monday before Mr. Justice Riddell, but as there was only one case entered for trial, and this had been settled out of court between the parties, and only required to be ratified, Mr. Riddell did not not come down and asked Judge Ward to preside. The case in question was brought by Mrs. Tweedle, widow of the late Isaiah Tweedle of Brighton Township, against H. G. Wood, et al, executor of her late husband's estate, asking to have it declared that the money on deposit in Molson's Bank at Trenton, Ont., was her property and not that of deceased. E. W. McMaster, creditor of the estate, was added as a third party in the defence. This case was an outcome of one that came up for hearing some months ago, when Mr. McMaster brought action for payment of cheque. which, it was alleged, the late Mr. Tweedle gave him before his death, after having previously made a will leaving his estate to his family. Judgment was given for McMaster in this instance. A settlement was arrived at between the parties and only required the Court to give direction. W. F. Kerr and Archie Cochrane for plaintiff, John B. McColl for the defendants.

Ketchum—Ormsby.

The marriage of Miss Anne Ottillie Marion Ormsby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Yeadon Ormsby, to Mr. Philip Allan Cheyne Ketchum, son of the late Judge and Mrs. Ketchum, of Cobourg, took place on Wednesday at Grace Church-on-the-Hill, Toronto.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. F. E. Niven and son, Queen Street, are leaving at the week-end for their summer home at Rice Lake.

Mrs. James T. Clarke Fergus is spending a few days in town with Misses Ida and May Clarke, King Street.

Mr. Stanley Fahrni, of Gladstone, Man., has joined his wife, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. D. H. Wenaker, at the week-end. They left on Tuesday for a trip to Ottawa before returning to the West.

Miss Carsewell and Mr. Schaltz, of the Collegiate Institute staff, have returned to their homes in Toronto for the holidays. Miss Elcoat left for Seaforth, and Miss Timin to West Meath.

Sanderson—Swain.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Swain, of Cartwright, the marriage took place recently of their eldest daughter, Annie E., and Rev. Milton R. Sanderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Sanderson, of Burketon. Miss Agnes Swain, sister of the bride, played the wedding music. The bride was given away by her father and wore white georgette with a touch of silver on her frilled skirt. Her veil was arranged in Juliet cap effect, and she carried pink roses. Mr. Weir Swain, brother of the bride, was groomsman. Rev. R. G. Carruthers, B.A., officiated. Miss Eva Sanderson, Toronto, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid, wore Canary crepe de chene, and carried pink roses and sweet peas. Mrs. Swain the bride's mother, wore a handsome gown of black duchesse satin with fringe. Mrs. Sanderson, the groom's mother, was wearing a draped gown of black satin. The groom's gift to the bride was a rope of pearls, to the bridesmaid and pianist bar pins, and to the groomsman gold cuff links. Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson left to spend a couple of weeks with friends in Grand Rapids, Mich. The groom is a member of the Toronto Methodist Conference and a graduate in theology of Victoria College. Of late he has been supplying the work on the Tyrone circuit. They go to Birch Cliff to occupy the parsonage there in July. Among out-of-town guests present at the marriage were Mr. and Mrs. Powers, Lindsay; Mr. and Mrs. Hocheridge, Hopeville; Misses Byers, Ottawa; Messrs. Melrose Sanderson and David Kay, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Wannamaker, Seagrove; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Byers and Miss Byers, Port Perry; Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Clarke; Mrs. Arthur Wright, Oshawa.

UNION BILL READY FOR THIRD READING

There is One Section Which Has Not Yet Been Passed in the House.

OTTAWA, June 28 (Canadian Press). — The Church Union Bill is now ready for a third reading except for one section. The section which has not yet been passed is that in regard to the vote to be taken by congregations to decide whether they shall enter the United Church or remain out of it.

When consideration of the measure was resumed yesterday, it was evident that the vote on the Brown amendment on Thursday, which struck out of the bill the Duff amendment sending it to the courts, had been accepted as a test of the opinion of the House on the Bill.

Section after section slid through quickly ,with only verbal amendments for the purpose of correcting clerical errors.

Two sections caused some debate, but on neither was it prolonged.

The first issue to be raised was an amendment by William Duff, of Lunenburg, that a vote of the congregations in regard to entering or remaining out of the new Church should be taken by ballot, distributed through the mails.

The Bill provided for a vote at a meeting.

Subsequently Mr. Duff changed his amendment to provide for the distribution of the ballots or the holding of a meeting as alternatives.

There was an hour's discussion, and then the section was laid over.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA PLAYED IN COBOURG

On Thursday evening the Peterborough Symphony Orchestra motored to Cobourg, and put on a very enjoyable concert at the Victoria Opera House, for the benefit of the Crippled Children's Fund of the Cobourg Rotary Club, under the direction of Mr. R. Gliddon.

About sixty members of the orchestra were present for the occasion, and provided an excellent programme of instrumental music, assisted by two vocalists, Miss Ina Allen and Mr. R. A. Brown, both of whom sang several numbers, and were accorded the appreciative attention and applause that greeted the orchestral selections, which were as follows:

Coronation March, Lustspiel Overture, In a Monastery Garden, the Sextette from "Lucia di Lammermoor," the Anvil Chorus from "Il Trovatore," selections from "Rob Roy," the intermezzo from the "Cavalleria Rusticana," overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," and a final march ,"The Vanished Army."

DOMINION BILLIARD PARLOURS AND TOBACCO STORE

Under New Management—Changed Hands To-day.

The Dominion Billiard Parlours, Shoe Shine, and Tobacco Store, has changed hands to-day, and the new owner has put in charge Mr. S. Andrews ,who will put in an up-to-date stock of tobaccos, and employ only the best shoe shiners, and will conduct the business in a thoroughly city-like manner.

The new management will offer some special inducements in the course of a day or two, so that he may establish a trade which he will look after to the very best of his ability.

A BLACK COW WAS REAL BLACK BEAR

All Hunters in Country Are Out After Bruin's Hide —Was a Big One.

ORAND, June 28. — About six a.m., this morning as Frank Moran of this place, was going for his cows, he noticed what he took to be a black cow in his corn field, and whistling at it to drive it out he was astounded to find that it was a large black bear whose slumber he had disturbed.

He hastily returned to his home and reported to his father what he had seen, and grabbed a shot gun, and started in pursuit . His father called W. J. Latimer to bring guns and aid in the chase, and soon the whole community was aware that an unusual visitor was in the vicinity.

Bruin, when disturbed made for Mr. Walter Carr's woods, where he was pursued by Moran and Latimer, each armed with a shot gun. He was located in some short bushes about ten rods west of the gravel road and just south of Bethany church.

He ran eastward, and just as he was about to jump the fence Moran emptied the gun on him but at too great a distance to do him up.

He was followed about half a mile when he outdistanced his pursuers, and up to the present he has not been located although by half an hour he had about a dozen experienced hunters after him as he retreated towards Wooler.

Those who saw him estimated that he would weigh about 350 lbs., and of a brilliant black.

WHITBY IS PLACED IN RUM ROW CLASS

Three Car Loads of Good Beer Arrive in the County Town Each Week For Distribution.

TORONTO, June 28 (Canadian Press). — The Globe publishes the following despatch from Oshawa:

Whitby is now in the rum row class. About three carloads of beer arrive in the county town every week. This is loaded on the frailest of lake craft, which are supposed to take the liquor to American ports. However, the time between the voyages creates the impression among the law enforcement officers that all of it is not reaching the land of Uncle Sam, but is being distributed along the lake shore, ultimately reaching Toronto and other good business points.

The latest method of hauling away big consignments—boats themselves not being large enough to take the whole carload of some 1,400 cases on board—is to use a scow for one-half load and a boat for the other half load.

Then the boat and flat-bottomed scow disappear into the night.

The superstition that it is unlucky to be married in May originated with the ancient Greeks.

RESTORATION OF A FAMOUS HISTORICAL EDIFICE

YORK MINSTER:

The announcement made in the press of a few days ago that the Rockfeller Foundation, or Rockfeller Jr., had made a gift of $100,000 to assist in the restoration of Rheims Cathedral, destroyed by the Germans during th war, recalls that in England earnest efforts have been going on to restore (in part) the former appearance of the famous York Minster, the finest of the historic edifices built under ecclesiastical auspices in the whole area of the British Isles.

A friend has sent to Alderman Stocker a clipping of much interest, telling of the efforts being made to deal with the work of cleaning and restoring the magnificient windows of stained glass, conceded to be the masterpieces in the Art of the world. The city of Halifax referred to in the narrative is not the premier city of Nova Scotia, in our Canadian Dominion, but a neighbouring city, interested in the preservation of the old and renowned edifice. In its issue of October 30 last, the "Yorkshire Observer" says:—

A well-attended meeting was held in the Halifax Town Hall yesterday afternoon to consider if it would be feasible for Halifax to be responsible for one of the windows in York Minster. The meeting, which was very representative, was presided over by the Mayor of Halifax (Alderman A. W. Longbottom). The Mayor announced that as a result of invitations to that meeting they had received promises of $25 from Sir George and Lady Fisher-Smith, $20 from Sir Frederick and Lady Whitley-Thomson, ten guineas from Mr. E. Huntriss, five guineas from Bishop Frodsham, Mr. A. S. M Crae ten guineas (a second gift), and Mrs. Marbetti five guineas. Mr. V. W. Wanklyn had promised to act as treasurer. The Mayor said that if they got to work they could endeavour to take their place among other towns in the country.

Dean Norris, alluding to his stay in Halifax as Archdeacon of Halifax, and of the West Riding generally, said that in those places there were affection and friendship one could never get elsewhere, and it was with a very full heart that he spoke to old friends. The start in Halifax had been better than in any other place. In the last few months, he proceeded, circumstances had altered. In the realm of art they had rediscovered that England was a home of art and craftsmanship in mediæval times. Examining the ancient windows in York Minster they found that they had been made by English artists and English craftsmen. It was no use telling him that John Thornton (one of the early workers) was not an Englishman. From 1371 to 1578 there was an unbroken, continuous list of the artists and craftsmen who worked in York Minster—one family had it from 1447 to 1578. He did not want to claim that York Minster windows were the only ones of their kind, but there was no collection in England, or in the world, anything like their size.

There are 109 great windows, all containing glass dating from the thirteenth to the middle of the fifteenth century—there was nothing like it in the world. Alluding to the value he had made—£73,000,000—of the windows, Dean Norris said he calculated it on the price some old glass was sold at in New York. The East window, the biggest glazed window in the world, was the size of a full-sized tennis court, and there was not a piece of glass in it bigger than the top of a breakfast cup. At present they had the "Five Sisters" window down, and it was in an indescribe condition. Some of the glass looked like extremely rough and dirty flint. They had found that the yellow brownish color was caused by the plain outer window having been rusted by iron saddle bars. These would be cased in copper. When they hadhad finished the window they would have a blaze of color which had not been seen in this generation.

When Rievault Abbey was dismantled in 1534, the lead from the roof having been converted into ingots, was buried by a fall of masonry, and when a pile of debris was recently removed, the ingots were discovered. When he heard that, he went at once and said that the lead must come to York, and they were now repairing the York Minster windows with that lead. This question, he went on, was not one of Church, or archæology: it was an appeal of spirit to everyone who had got a spirit worth keeping. The late Sir Mark Sykes just before he died, brought three Turkish officers, who had left the Turkish Army and were training at Catterick for the Air Force, into the Minster. They were Mohammedans. Sir Mark Sykes told him with what amazement they regarded the glass. They wrote their names in the visitors' book, and one wrote in Arabic: "Oh, Allah, save this Thy glorious temple from attacks of the heathen."

Dean Norris, alluding to the great cost of repairing the windows, said they had to have their own highly-skilled craftsmen. There was a large amount of work to be done, but they could not, in spite of much unemployment, get the men with the necessary skill or those who would have a six months' training for the work. They wanted four other masons, but they could not find four sufficiently good to work for the Minster. Concluding, he said it was not a question merely for the Dean and Chapter of York and England: it was for every man who had a soul in him in all parts of the world. There remained another three or four years' work.

Bishop Frodsham said he was by no means certain that, with the claims made upon Halifax for the poor, unemployed, and the many other claims before them, that meeting could pledge Halifax to undertake anything of such a big nature as to guarantee to pay for one window, but they would do their best. He hoped a committee would be appointed on those lines.

Sir George Fisher-Smith, though he confessed himself a Nonconformist, assured the meeting of his support. York Minster belonged to no special denomination, but to the nation as a whole. He proposed that a committee be formed to endeavour to raise sufficient money to pay for one window being preserved.

Alderman H. Clay, seconding, suggested that it would be a happy thing if it were also associated with the merce and similar bodies.

Mr. C. W. Crossley, Lady Fisher Smith, and Mr. D. I. Mallinson (treasurer of the Halifax Antiquarian Society) supported the resolution, which was carried unanimously.

Replying to questions, Dean Norris promised to let them know which window would be suitable to be the one for Halifax—he might find one that had some relation to that district.

A committee was chosen from the meeting, with power to add names from the ancient parish of Halifax, they to meet on November 16 at the Town Hall. The Mayor (whoever is elected) has to be chairman, and his secretary to act in that capacity for the committee.

FARM NEWS

WILL BREAK UP AN ACCREDITED HOLSTEIN HERD

James White, of Indian River, Has One of the Few in Peterboro County.

FARM HELP SCARCE.

The Herd Was Started With Three Cows and Gradually Built Up.

On Friday next, July 4th, one of the few accredited, tuberculous-free herds of cattle in Peterboro county, will be broken up and sold. Thirty-six animals, including nineteen milch cows, eight calves, the sire and a young bull calf, comprising the Holstein herd, with an absolutely clean bill of health, belonging to James White, of Indian River section of the county, will be offered for sale. The first of four tests, made by a Government inspector about a year ago, revealed only one reactor, which was killed at once. Three later tests, the final one made in June of this year, resulted in a certificate of good health for the entire group.

Lack of farm help is given as one of the reasons for disposal of the cattle. Mr. White, who had three hundred acres of land, two hundred in Dummer, one hundred in Douro, across the road, for the entrance to his farmstead is on the corner of four townships, Douro, Dunmer, Asphodel and Otonabee, does most of the farm work himself helped by one hand who has no liking for using the milking-machine in the big barn near the house. Mr. White's only son is taking an electrical engineering course at Queen's University Kingston. In 1906, Mr. White, then living about two miles down the road, from his present home, bought three Holstein cows, from George Rice, of Tillsonburg. Later, others were added, and gradually bred to the pure strain, until, in 1919, twelve animals were sold, and only two or three kept as a nucleus for the present herd, at whose sale Mr. White declares his intention of going out of the cattle business altogether. In meantime, removal had been made to the home of Mr. White's uncle, James Barns, living in the house built by his father some sixty years ago. From the highest hill in the countryside, three and one half miles northeast of Indian River, a low red brick house, with a clump of spruce trees shading it, looks down over the swamp and the poplar wood to the north. Here, within a radius of twelve miles, one may see the portions of eight townships. The "Porridge Pot" of the Quaker Oats building is easily discernible at night, and the chimney fires of five places, Peterboro, Lakefield, Norwood, Hastings and Havelock, can be sighted on the horizon.

Many Notables.

In the field behind the house is the Holstein herd. A member is the twelve-year old Pontiac Sylvia Pet, with black body and white head, one of the surviving members of the old group, a daughter of Lawncrest Meadow Maid, who had, at the age of one year and eleven months, a record for production of fifteen pounds of butter-fat weekly, and who was, moreover, a half sister of the famous May Echo Sylvia. The sire of Pontiac Sylvia Pet was Pontiac Hermes, owned by G. A. Brethen of Norwood, and sold by him at public auction some years ago for the sum $700. Several of his daughters were record butter-fat producers.

Another member of the present herd is Calamity Texal Posch, an extraordinary name that had its antecedent in Calamity Jane, mother of the sire of one of the first cows, with the record of her time for production.

Mr. White, who ships his milk to the Warsaw Cheese Factory, finds that, although he is not able to command a higher price for milk from an accredited herd, cattle kept in good condition, free from taint, give the best results, and also the largest possible quantity. He has a milking-machine equipped with two units, which allow him to get through with the milking of his herd within the space of an hour. The cows, it is said, take very kindly to the milking-machine, and the regularity of its work seems to agree with their tempers even better than the sometimes rough hand milking. Young heifers submit to the action of the machine without kicking which sometimes accompanies first attempt by hand, but striping is necessarily carried on in the same old way.

On the top of the hill ,two forty-foot wells, one in the barn and one near the house, supply an unfailing source of refreshment for inmates and animals alike. A radio installed in the kitchen gives access to the best music broadcasted from as far away as Omaha, Georgia, and Nebraska. Near the door frolic the four fat puppies of Gyp, the collie dog, and in the barnyard are the five horses, one of them old Nell, twenty two years old, but still a fine old worker.

KING'S WHARF FARMS.

KING'S WHARF, June 28.—Prices for eggs and dairy produce is unchanged in this locality; eggs still are 22c, dairy butter 30c, and creamery butter 31c per pound.

There are a few splendid fields of sweet clover through here. Mr. Michael O'Neil has a beautiful field, abour four or five feet in height.

Seven Foot Rye Stalks Grow Near Peterborough

Mr. A. A. Goodfellow, 518 Water Street, brought two stalks of rye into The Examiner office yesterday afternoon measuring 7 feet 4 inches in height.

They were taken from an acre of rye growing just north of the filtration plant, belonging to Mr. Alfred Spenceley. Mr. Goodfellow stated that the patch was very thick and filling well. Rye does not ripen until about July 15 and it will grow taller yet.

It is exceptionally well advanced for this time of year, he remarked. "It is the best patch of rye I have ever seen and I have cradled a good bit of it in my time, said Mr. Goodfellow.

CROP PROSPECT GOOD LOCALLY

Farmers in This District Report Favorably to the Examiner.

NEED MORE RAIN.

R. A. Dobbin, of North Monaghan, states that the crops in that district are fairly good. The fall wheat is looking very good and the peas are about six inches high and are beginning to blossom. The hail in that district was rather heavy but did not do any damage. The ground was mostly covered with the hard pieces of ice.

James Hawes, of Smith Township, reports that the crops in that district are very good, and that the rain in the last few days will help them along a good deal. They still need some rain, but if it comes along in a few days everything will be O.K. and a good yield is expected.

Richard Nurse, of Ennismore Township, is pleased with the crops at the present time, but says that considerable rain is still needed. Things have picked up considerably and help can be obtained in most cases if a good wage is paid. The peas are coming along fine, and a good crop is almost certain if they get plenty of rain and warm weather.

Fred Shannon, of Emily, also states that things are very good in that district and that grass for the cattle is plentiful in most cases. He states that they have had considerable rain in that district in the past two weeks and that the prospects for a good yield are much brighter since the rain came

NEW PLAN FOR SALE PRODUCE

Farmers Will Cut Out All Middlemen in New System.

ROADSIDE BOOTHS.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 28 (United Press).—The Pennsylvania Board of Agriculture has set its approval on the plans of farmers to eliminate at one stroke the middleman and the high railroad rates in marketing their produce.

Fruits and vegetables will be sold from roadside stands this summer, the State Department of Agriculture announced.

The farmers will take their produce to these stands maintained on a co-operative basis, and the tourists from the city will stop and make their purchases assured that what they buy will be fresh and within a moderate price.

The State Bureau of Markets makes these suggestions:

1. Such a business can only be developed successfully through satisfied customers.

2. Prices should be set somewhere between the return that the farmer receives at wholesale and the price prevailing at stores.

3. Customers should understand that all of the receipts at a roadside market are not profits.

4. The wider the variety of products offered on the stand the greater will be the inducement to the purchaser to patronize it.

Of course, roadside marketing has existed since the advent of the auto, but not until this year has any State recognized it officially.

CUT ALFALFA AT CAVAN.

CAVAN, June 28.—The hay crop is very poor in these parts, not anything like earlier expectations. The fall wheat is very good. Robert Robinson, on the 11th concession, has some that is remarkably good.

H. Seymour has commenced cutting his alfalfa.

CAVIAR IN HAMBURG.

HAMBURG, June 28. — The world's largest storehouse of caviar —supplying the New York, London, and Paris markets—is in Hamburg.

Outside of Russia caviar is one of the most expensive luxuries of the European tables. But in Petrograd or Moscow it is a common dish of the working man.

EXECUTIONERS UNITE.

MADRID, June 28. — Nine Spanish executioners have organized a union to demand bigger salaries in view of the high cost of living and the risks of their calling. The executioners have often been threatened with death as a result of their duties in carrying out the extreme penalty.

More than 75 per cent of the foreign-born white population of the United States is urban.

YOUR HEAD CAN SAVE YOU SOME NEEDLESS TRIPS

Last Lesson in Efficiency Deals With Saving of Useless Motion.

HEAD SAVES HEELS.

Instead of Spitting on His Hands the Efficient Man Wears Gloves.

We have discussed efficiency in the horse barn and implement shed, and will take next the cow barn.

What do we find amiss there? Plenty, if we but search for it. Edmund and Mike do not know how to milk rapidly. The cows get restless and hold up their milk. There are three ways to milk: One way is to wet the teat so that your fingers will slip from the top of the teat to the bottom and thus milk is extracted, but it is not a clean way to milk for the hand and teat are invariably washed in the milk. Another way is to milk with your thumbs pressing against the teat and the fingers closing up on the other side of the teat. Thumb milkers as a rule are the fastest. The other way to milk is with your palm, fingers and thumb grasping the teat against the fingers instead of against the palm and teat. If a cow's teats are sore, or cut or they are very large, this method usually gives best results.

Stanchions of the cows are death traps sometimes. One of our cows was killed that way. During the night a mean cow started to fight her stanchion mate. The latter pulled her head out of the stanchion, which seemed a miracle, but in the morning the cow was in the corner of the barn with a broken artery. Therefore never put two unfriendly cows side by side in stanchions.

Make Head Save Heels.

The other day I watched the hired man chop wood. The chopping block was ten feet away from the pile o sawed blocks. He could not move any closer for the shed was too low for him to swing his axe. Instead of going back and forth for each block of wood, as many persons do, he went to the block pile and threw over about two dozen blocks to the chopping block. Then he split them up. After this he threw the split wood to the wood pile. I congratulated him on the amount of wood he could split in an hour. There is a right and a wrong way to do all things. His was the right way for this job.

When working with machinery, tools, horses, etc., wear gloves, not because it will cause the price of hides to go up, but for the simple reason that you can get a better grip with your gloves. Hands without gloves can be likened to a slipping belt on a threshing machine. The substitute of spitting on your hands, kills time and is not clean, to say the least.

Long or short hours? Work on Sunday or not? In some sections of the country there are farmers who work week days and Sundays alike, during the harvest season and planting, but with very few exceptions I have noticed that they are not farther advanced in work than those who observe the day of rest. Old Mother Nature sees that one does so much and no more. The one who works all the time naturally loses his pep, and after a while becomes a plodder. Besides religious reasons, it does not pay to make it a habit of working every Sunday except for chores and work that is absolutely necessary. Neither very long nor very short hours are advisable. Better to have reasonable hours.

WARSAW CROPS GOOD.

Even Unprofitable Fields of Mustard Grow Well—Crows Are Vegetarians.

WARSAW, June 28.—Warsaw cheese factory is making on an average sixteen cheeses a day. There are three trucks each making two trips for milk daily. A few patrons draw their own milk, but there are no large horse-drawn loads.

This factory is one of the few which uses a milk clarifier. The cheese is sold by contract,prices being based on the prices ruling at the Belleville Cheese Board. Payment is made for the actual amount of butter fat.

Crops Improving.

Whatever other crops may do, those of wild mustard are showing up well! but it is not profitable.

Foliage is very dense. Most farmers seem to say crops are really looking better than they had expected, but some are uneasy about feed.

Corn, potatoes, and similar stuff is practically all in now. Last year, by this time, people were cutting their sweet clover and there were heavy cuts. This year there is not so much, nor is it so early.

At least two farmers lost stock last year by feeding sweet clover ensilage.

Some seem to have much more trouble with crows tackling their corn than others. Those who harrow, rather than roll, after seeding, claim they are not troubled much. Where it is rolled the crows just follow along the rows. With due deference to those who claim crows are after worms, they can make make the corn quite scarce.

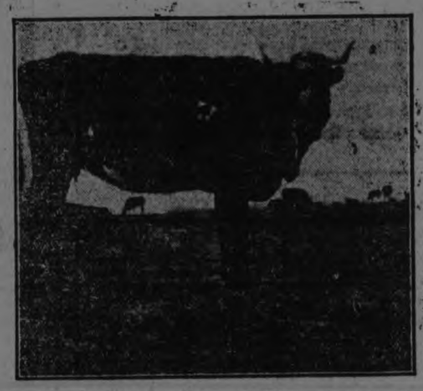
ECONOMICAL SALAD.

Any remains of cold meat can be finely chopped, and mixed with shredded lettuce or watercress or parsley and molded in a jelly or gelatine to form a delicious salad. Serve with mayonnaise or any fairly thick salad dressing.

WITH COLD MEATS

With cold meats serve thin slices of toast sprinkled with green pepper and a thin layer of mayonnaise.

RESULTS OF NEGLIGENCE SERIOUS IN DEALING WITH AWFUL DISEASE THAT KILLS HUNDREDS OF CATTLE



Top picture shows cattle in trenches killed and about to be buried. Middle picture shows hogs on premises where foot and mouth disease has been found; they are killed and buried. Bottom picture is of an infected cow, showing the typical foaming at the mouth in the early stage of the disease.

Outbreaks of foot and mouth disease have never occurred in Canada. This disease is probably the most infectious malady of animals of which we have knowledge and causes tremendous losses to the agricultural interests of any country it invades. It spreads very rapidly and extensively, and entails the entire loss of export trade in live animals and the interruption of domestic commerce. Unlike most other infectious diseases foot and mouth disease may attack the same animals repeatedly, and they are, therefore, a dangerous source of infection.

There is no permanent cure for foot and mouth disease, the majority of affected animals recover from an attack in ten to fourteen days without treatment. The greatest difficulty is the eradication of the infection and this can only be accomplished by the slaughter of all affected and exposed animals, the proper destruction of their carcasses and the thorough disinfection of all contact matter. If not controlled by these radical measures the disease spreads very rapidly throughout the whole country, affecting practically all susceptible animals with enormous economic losses.

The disease commences with a high fever, followed by inflammation of the membrances of the tongue and those lining the mouth, also of the sensitive structures in the hoof. This is quickly followed by the formation of blisters on these membranes, varying in size from that of a pea to that of a hazel nut. These blisters also appear on the udders and along the top of the hoof, also in the cleft dividing the hoof. They may be present in all these membranes in the same animal, or may appear only in the mouth, or may be limited to the hoofs.

The symptoms are very characteristic. The irritation of the membranes in the mouth results in loss of appetite, and dribbling of saliva from the mouth, which, owing to constant movement of the lips and tongue, becomes frothy, and adheres to the corners of the mouth and muzzle. The animals often make a peculiar smacking sound with their mouths.

Extreme lameness occurs when the lesions appear on the cleft and on the top of the hoof.

The fever and the difficulty in eating causes a rapid and extreme loss in flesh, and a serious lessening or cessation of the milk secretion.

The udders often become inflamed and ruined by abscess formation, and a large number of cattle so affected are rendered permanently valueless for milk production.

The inflammation of the feet frequently results in the shedding of the hoofs, causing permanent injury.

While this disease is essentially a disease of cattle, sheep, goats and swine, all ruminating animals are susceptible. Horses dogs, cats, and even poultry, have been victims of the infection, the last three classes being dangerous as carriers of infection. Man may also become infected, and children frequently suffer through drinking raw milk from infected cattle.

As all the natural discharges of affected animals are highly infective, and as some of them, particularly the saliva, are largely increased during the attack, the disease, is readily conveyed by these media. It is frequently conveyed from place to place by human agency, such as attendants, owners and interested neighbours, as also by dogs and all small animals.

Although the fatalities are quite low serious losses result from the diminution or cessation of the milk secretion and consequent interference with the business of the dairy, as well as through the extreme loss of flesh in animals. Dairy farmers are put entirely out of business for indefinite periods. Quarantine restrictions seriously interfere with the movement of live stock, their parts and products, also of hay, straw and other fodders, in addition to other farm produce. Stockyard operations and the business of slaughtering centres are seriously interfered with. Marketing, transportation, feeding and slaughtering operations are deranged and interfered with. Losses of this character may reach enormous proportions. The foreign markets are promptly closed and the export trade of an infected country is lost for long periods.

The British authorities have been endeavouring at a cost of millions of pounds to eradicate the infection of this disease in that country for over two years, and those of the United States are similarly engaged in the State of California, where it was recently introduced from foreign countries through the port of San Francisco.

The Canadian Federal Department of Agriculture, with a view to protecting our live stock interests, are enforcing the most stringent regulations which cover the species of animals and commodities that are likely to carry the infection of the disease.

If live stock owners should have reason to suspect the existence of this disease in Canada, it is of the utmost importance that they notify the nearest veterinary inspector and telegraph collect to the Veterinary Director General at Ottawa. In the meantime they should tie up their dogs and not permit anything to leave their premises. Prompt control measures and the willing and intelligent co-operation of the stockmen are essential to prevent disastrous results if the infection of this disease gains entrance to Canada. Everyone should remember, however, that prevention is better than control.

Strawberries at Hastings.

Home Grown Berries Sell at 30 Cents a Box—Good Crops Expected.

HASTINGS, June 28.—Fresh home-grown strawberries are now on the local markets. They are now retailing at thirty cents per box, and good crops are expected by the local gardeners.

Several strawberry patches are in this locality, and it is expected that the prices will be considerably lower than previous years.

Eggs are remaining at very much the same price, the highest at twenty-five cents.

Butter remains steady at thirty-five cents, and creamery butter is being brought in by the local merchants.

Much improvement is noticed in the crops during the excellent weather of the last few weeks. Showers of rain, which at present is very much needed, are falling every few days. Alfalfa hay will soon be ready for the first cutting.

The majority of the farmers around here have the root crops planted, and in some cases hoed for the first.

FIX FRASERVILLE ROADS.

Car of Coal Shipped in by Farmers' Club at $14 a Ton.

FRASERVILLE, June 28.—The car of coal which the Farmer's Club of Cavan and South Monaghan have been expecting for some little time, has arrived here. The farmers have been busy unloading this week. The price off the car was $14 a ton.

Owing to the illness of the secretary, Mr. Harold Beebe, Mr. Williard Waterman was attending to the unloading and weighing of the coal.

A number of the farmers are putting in their work on the county roads this week. The stone crusher is at work on Mr. James Sexsmith's farm. The crushed stone is being put on the 6th concession of Cavan.

The farmers of South Monaghan who did not get their wheat hauled out last winter are having it drawn out by truck to the elevator here.

EAST EMILY FARMS.

Gamut of Weather From Very Wet to Very Dry Tries the Farmer.

EAST EMILY, June 28.—The gardens are not very good through this district on account of the very dry weather. The seed is not growing very fast. The people in this district are patiently waiting for rain.

The recent rain has done a wonderful amount of good throughout this district, and we hope for a wonderful growth in the gardens as there are quite a number of people wishing for speedy growth for the garden seeds.

The butter from East Emily butter factory is being shipped to Toronto for sale now, the price for the last shipment being 31c.

MOST ON THE FARMS.

Sixty per cent of the radio receiving sets in Canada are on farms, reports the Dominion Government. The Government is using this means to encourage colonization.

OLD TIMERS IN COBOURG TALK CROP PROSPECTS

Recall Interesting Facts About the Weather of Other Years and Times.

1849 JUST LIKE 1924.

There is Not Yet Any Cause to Fear Poor Crop, the Records Show.

COBOURG, June 28.—The crop situation in the district is the main subject when farmers congregate in the town, and some of them are apt to become reminiscent and recount unfavorable seasons that they have known and their attendant results upon the crops of those years. The spring of 1849, 75 years ago, is stated to have been quite similar to the present one. The harvest showed a good crop of wheat, other spring grains fair, hay a fairly good crop and potatoes plentiful. The wet spring was followed by a dry hot summer, and forest fires were quite prevalent in some sections. In fact, they were so bad that in the Cornwall district some lives were lost, and destruction of buildings was quite general.

But of more value by far than that which is handed down by reminiscence is the verbatim reports of the few farmers who have accustomed themselves to the habit of keeping a dairy. Mr. H. A. Holdsworth, of Hamilton Township, has long kept a diary and this year naturally many queries have been made of him as to whether he ever knew a season quite as unfavorable as this one, and this is Mr. Holdsworth's reply:

"During the eighties we had a frost in June when the spring grain was several inches high that froze the ground quite hard. The grain was all covered with frost in the morning. On the first or second of June, 1889, we had floods that tore away ponds, bridges and fences and creek crossings all over this section of the county. In 1890 we had very heavy rainstorms but not so much damage. This was followed by the very dry and windy spring of 1891, in fact the whole season was very dry with the exception of a cool wet week early in July, which saved the crops. Passing two or three banner years we had a cold wet period in June, 1895, that almost ruined the pea crop all through our section, and on the heavier soils rotted the potatoes that were planted. In 1896 we had some excellent crops (and it was the first year for the Port Hope Canning Co.) and some grand crops of green corn.

"In 1897 the spring was very early, seeding largely completed in April. Everything promised well until the latter part of July, then it began to rain, and it rained until the remainder of the hay was almost destroyed, and the fall wheat was green in the shock, until it was unfit for milling purposes. Strangely enough wheat advanced in price that winter, and it was all sold and shipped away at almost present prices.

"Passing over a few years we stop at 1912. We had a spring similar to this present one, with little planting done until June. Everything was late and there was a lot of rain in the summer and fall. Tomatoes and beans almost refused to ripen, turnips were gathered with difficulty.

"Next, we have the very dry season of 1914, but with its grand crop of apples, which we were unable to sell on account of the war. Then we had the banner years and crops of 1915, 1918 and 1922."

Other Stories of Unfavorable Seasons.

Old residents tell of a fearful windstorm some 50 years ago that swept through this section. Buildings were unroofed, trees were generally blown down. It occurred on a Sunday, and at one home in Haldimand Township there was company, and the day being very warm, the visitor's team was tied under a large tree near the house, from which a large limb was wrenched by the wind and fell upon the hay that the horses were eating, but they were not injured.

Frost on June 9th.

"The year that King was hanged," I have heard it told, "there was frost on the 9th of June," that destroyed all of the tender garden stuff, and those who had gardens were obliged to plant them again. The date must have been well nigh 70 years ago. It was the first and perhaps the only event of its kind that ever took place in Cobourg, and so the year with its unusual climate became an epochal one in the memories of many people. The hanging and the unusual crop situation were subjects for conversation for many years afterward.

COTTON.

World leadership in cotton is slipping away from our country. The boll weevil's chiefly to blame.

This year Americans will grow 38,500,000 acres of cotton. Foreign countries have about 28,00,000 acres planted to cotton, an increase of 2,000,000 acres in one year. It is the most important economic shifting now taking place in the world.

TAXES.

Check-up shows that national, state and local taxes in 1922 cost the American people over 7750 million dollars.

That's over $70 a year for every man, woman and child—$350 for a man and wife with three children.

Uncle Sam gets most of the blame, though the war and its debt is his alibi. A far greater meance is reckless spending by states, counties and cities. The public thinks it needs more public improvements than it can afford. Mortgaging the future Holyman ss .. ..10 15 23 9 809 by bonds, to dodge immediate taxes, is just putting off the fearful day of reckoning.

BERRIES RIPEN AROUND OMEMEE IN SUNNY DAYS

Strawberries Give Promise of Splendid Crop—Wild Variety Ripe.

POTATO BUG BUSY.

Even Tomato Plans Stripped By This Pest in Some Gardens.

OMEMEE, June 28.—The showers this week were warmly welcomed by the residents of this district and already an improvement is shown in the growth of garden stuff, roots and grain in general.

The wild strawberries are ripe in early places and are very plentiful and the prospects for a bumper crop of tame berries are bright. The currant, raspberry and gooseberry bushes are well loaded, so that a bountiful supply of early fruit is assured.

Potato Bug Busy.

The potato bug is committing fearful ravages among the potatoes and also the tomato plants. Several complaints have been heard of the tomato plants being stripped of all the leaves before the bugs were noticed. These insects pass the winter underground and emerge from their hiding places early in May, possibly before the potatoes are planted, and thus in search of food resort to the tomato plant. A farmer in this district claims that if beans are planted with the potatoes no bugs will appear, on account of their dislike to the bean plant.

Mr. John Bent had the misfortune to lose a valuable brood mare on Monday from inflammation of the stomach.

DOWNEYVILLE HAS ACTIVE U.F.O. CLUB

Oats and Salt at 55 Cents and 90 Cents Respectively Crops Good.

DOWNEYVILLE, June 28.—The U.F.O. had a carload of oats and salt shipped in last week and a large number secured their supply; the price for oats was 55c a bushel, and salt 90c a cwt.

The weather is ideal now for the early pea crop which, if the cool weather and a few showers continue, will be a bumper crop. The fields are a mass of blossoms and for a week or so, if they fill well, it will be great encouragement to the farmers, as there are a number of acres sown in this locality this year.

The potato crop never looked more promising as at present here. They are all up and look splendid and most people treated their seed with lime and there are no bugs as yet.

Repair Roads.

The men here are busy now repairing the roads and some of them were in bad condition. A fine stretch of gravelling has been done for the two-mile road from Fox's Corners to the swamp, which was in bad shape, and will be an extra fine road next year.

Mr. Dennis C. Scully has returned home from a trip to the west where he has spent some time visiting his brothers, Bat and Tim, the latter he has not seen in over 40 years, and was glad to meet him. He reports everything looking splendid in the west, and also on his way home through Ontario says it looks like a bountiful year.

A Little Bit of Everything.

DECEIVING.

Some business men are wearing long faces because the railroads have over 300,000 idle freight cars that are in good repair and ready for use and about 180,000 other cars that are laid up for repairs.

The total is staggering, at first glance. But the importance of everything is only by comparison. The railroads own over two and a quarter million freight cars. The actual situation is that, out of every 23 cars, 18 are being used constantly and only five are idle. That's not so bad.

FARMERS.

Farmers are buying more than in 1923. From the first of the year to June 1, the two largest mail order houses—Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery-Ward—sold 154 million dollars worth of goods, compared with 146 millions in the corresponding five months of last year.

Farm buying power right now is an especially good backlog for city industries. Common sense should induce the city man to do everything possible to keep that backlog in good shape. The prosperity of the city man depends considerably on the prosperity of the farmer.

COMING.

Money isn't timid lately. That's one of the most encouraging things about the general business situation. In May 515 million dollars worth of new bonds and other securities were placed on the market. In May, last year, less than half that much. Promoters, with keen instinct, sense that the public has a strong undercurrent for confidence in the near future. Otherwise, there'd be fewer new securities issued to finance business expansion and new ventures.

WEATHER

We are creatures of the weather. Small wonder we talk about it so much. Retailers blame the late spring for the business recession. Laggard weather held back the sales of spring clothing and other seasonal commodities. That put a lot of makers out of work. The weather was like a dam, backing up dull business into many channels.

BROTHER-SISTER MARRIED COUPLE OR CRIMINALS?

Woman Who Claims to be Their Mother Says Lovers Are Her Children.

NOW IN JAIL.

Boy Adopted in Canada and Girl in United States Charged.

BY HAROLD MATSON

HAMPTON, Mass., June 28.—When Louis Rollins, of Amesbury was a little boy his foster-father, Charles Langley, told him about a little girl whom he would meet some day—"

So Louis wrote letters to the little girl, Elizabeth Dart, of Newton, and Elizabeth answered. On Christmas and birthdays the children exchanged gifts.

When Louis got to be a man, 21 years old, he met Elizabeth. She was as pretty as he had imagined her; and Elizabeth thought Louis was as handsome and strong as she had imagined him.

Last April the two were married. But news of their marriage caused a sensation in Newton.

Soon the state heard of it, and Louis and Elizabeth were put in jail.

Today the couple are charged with violating the marriage laws—and the woman who claims to be their mother is the chief witness against them.

Drama, mystery, love—a made-to-order movie plot, if the ending can be a happy one.

But the state says there cannot be a happy ending and is going ahead with plans to try the couple in August.

However, on the chance that an orphan asylum attendant 20 years ago carelessly substituted one baby for another, they could hope to prove that they are not brother and sister.

Their story, as unfolded in the preliminary hearing in their case starts when Mrs. Miranda Hascom Rollins, said to be their mother, placed her two babies in the orphan asylum at Franklin.

Refuse Separation.

It was not long before a baby girl was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dart of Newton. Soon after that Charles Langley of Canada adopted the baby boy. The state says the two babies were the Rollins children. The asylum records confirm that.

But Louis and Elizabeth promise that they can prove there was a mistake made that the little Rollins girl and Althea Hazel Frawley, another orphan waif, were mixed up in their cribs.

On the witness stand, during the preliminary hearing, Mrs. Rollins, deaf and dumb, scribbled answers to the court's questions.

"My daughter," and then she pointed toward Elizabeth.

"My son," and then toward Louis.

Louis and Elizabeth seemed little concerned, for they contend that the mother could not identify Elizabeth as her own, one way or the other, as it is admitted the two only met recently.

In the meantime, while the state has locked up the romance of the two orphans, there has been no cooling of the love between them.

Freedom on bail was offered the bride, but she refused it.

"If you cannot let Louis go with me I will stay here too," she says.

And while the state says it will break up their romance in the trial, the separated couple swear that they will be faithful to each other forever.

REAL SPORT FOR THE ANGLER

Those Anglers who love to prop their rod against a convenient stump and doze while their line dips unmolested in the placid water, will find no amusement in a vacation at Lake Nipigon or surrounding region. The waters of Lake Nipigon, Nipigon River and Orient Bay abound with large finny beauties which warm the hearts of fishermen who find no satisfaction in landing a prize without a battle.

For the canoeist, too, Nipigon promises plenty of adventure. Lakes to cruise, with constantly changing scenery. Rock strewn rivers where the craft buoyantly rides the swift currents. There are rapids to shoot, taxing the dexterity of the most expert to guide the canoe through the maddened, boiling waters without a spill.

Nipigon Lodge is a luxurious lodge of rustic design on the short of Orient Bay. Deep set amidst pine and cedar trees, it offers most comfortable quarters for a quiet pipe or game of cards before retiring.

Here it is that real sportsmen gather and discuss their chances of winning the coveted Nipigon Trophy which the Canadian National Railways award annually to the angler who catches the largest true speckled trout in the Nipigon District.

An illustrated folder and complete information is obtainable from any Canadian National Agent.

BESCO PLANT TO CLOSE PLANT FOR THREE MONTHS

SYDNEY, N.S., June 27.—(Canadian Press).—On July 19 the Besco plant here will close down flat for three months, with the exception of one blast furnace and one battery of coke ovens. The Trenton plant will also be closed.

The consumption of coal will be cut from 80,000 to 60,000 tons, thus curtailing the outputs in the Cape Breton and Pictou fields.

DIRECTION SYSTEM ELIMINATES STATIC

The directional system of broadcasting reception is one way of eliminating static interference, according to E. F. W. Alexanderson, famous radio engineer and inventor of the Alexanderson alternator, which permits of trans-oceanic wireless telephony.

"The ether is imagined to be a disturbed ocean with waves of every length rolling in from all directions," Alexanderson explains.

"These waves are of the same nature as the signal wave. Those disturbing waves which are of different wavelength from the desired signals can be shut out by the same means as is used for shutting out other signals, that is, by tuning.

"But the disturbing waves which have the same wavelength as the desired signal are in all respects of the same nature and pass through the tuning system like the signal.

"It is apparent that is some ground for discrimination can be found other than wavelength we would have a higher order of selectivity than is obtainable in the ordinary tuned receiver. Such a principle has been found and has proved to be one of the most important developments in radio communication.

"If a receiver is constructed which is sensative to waves coming from only one direction, then waves from any other direction can be shut out if they have the same wavelength. This is the principle of directive reception."

PROHIBIT GOLD EXPORT.

Notice Given That No Shipments Must be Made Until July 1, 1925.

OTTAWA, June 28.—(Canadian Press).—Export of gold coin, gold bullion and fine gold bars from the Dominion of Canada has been prohibited until July 1, 1925, except in such cases as may be approved by the Minister of Finance and under licenses issued by him. Notice of the prohibition is given in the current issue of the Canada Gazette.

DIG UP THE PAST.

MEXICO CITY, June 28.—Efforts to uncover the mystery which surrounds the history of America during a period dating back 3,000 years are being put forward by the Morley archaeological expedition, which is conducting explorations in the primeval region of Yucatan. The expedition is sponsored by the Carnegie Foundation. The party is keeping in touch with New Orleans by radio.

AVOIDS MODERN LIFE.

LIBERTY, Mo., June 28.—These are some of the things that Gus. Bishop, 70, has never done: He hasn't ridden in a train, automobile or mechanical contrivance of any kind; talked over the telephone; worn a collar or necktie; chewed gum; eaten ice cream, nor seen a motion picture.

BOBBED HAIR DIVORCE.

STOCKTON, Cal., June 28—Many men object to their wives bobbing their hair. James Saunders went farther than that. He went into court and sued for divorce. Many times, he said, he had told Mrs. Saunders not to have her locks shorn and when she did so despite his warning, they quarreled and separated.

COYOTES, GOATS MEET.

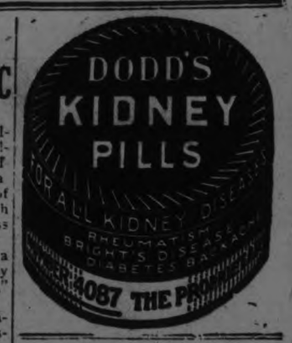
SAN ANTONIO, June 26. — Wild coyotes and tame goats mingled like good fellows on Bill Cots' ranch recently when Cots' silo sprung a leak. It was said to have been real prewar stuff, and the animals weren't overlooking any bets. The coyotes and the goats staggered away the best of freinds, according to witnesses.

ALBERTA IS RICH IN PULP.

EDMONTON, Alberta, June 27.—Enough pulpwood to supply the western part of the United States with news print paper for 50 years is available in Alberta, according to a report compiled by C. H. Morse, the chief ranger for the province. Pulpwood resources in the province total 247,800,000 cords.

JUSTICE SETS MARK.

SAN ANTONIO, June 28. — Justice of Peace Ben S. Fisk claims a world's record for marriages performed. He has officiated at 9,367 weddings since he went into office on 1st November, 1906. "And most of my marriages have held," he says.



GOES TO JAIL FARM.

Bootlegger Charged With Stealing Goods From a Freight Car.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 28.—(Canadian Press).—Cecil Smith, Windsor bootlegger, is to spend the next three and a half years as a farm hand at the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph. Counsel for Smith, who was known to the police as "King of the Bootleggers," said yesterday that, following the quashing of his application for a new trial by the Court of Appeals, it had been decided not to take the case to a higher court. Smith was convicted of stealing goods from a freight car at Windsor.

ART CENTER IN INDIAN VILLAGE

NEW YORK, June 28.—In the town of Taos, not far from Santa Fe, New Mexico, is an art center surrounded by an old Indian civilization. So famous has Taos become that every years scores of pilgrims both laymen and artists, seek out the ancient village and pay their respects to this new shrine in an old setting. But in spite of curious visitors Taos is still completely untouched by civilization; it is still primitive, aloof, unspoiled, in spite of the "not at home" signs the artists are compelled to place on their doors to prevent interruption, and in spite of the fixed minimum wage for Indian models of fifty cents an hour. The old Tas pueblo still dominates the little village, symbol of the unchanging ways of the Southwestern Indian.—The Mentor.

At 80 Years of Age Was Troubled With Shortness of Breath Palpitation of the Heart And Fainting Spells

Mrs. M. O'Connor, Whitestone, Ont., writes:—"I have been troubled, most of my life, with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart and fainting spells. I was advised by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did, and at once found relief, and I have never had a really bad spell since.

I am 80 years of age and always keep them in the house, and when I feel any symptoms of my old trouble coming on all I have to do is to take a few doses. With the help of your Pills I expect to see many years yet. I always recommend them to any one who is suffering from heart trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price, by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"Headaches, Bilious Spells, Are Now All Gone"

Mrs. John Ireland, Nobleton, Ont., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from severe headaches and bilious spells. I tried a number of remedies without obtaining any benefit until I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These completely relieved me, and made me feel like a new person. I am very grateful to Dr. Chase's Medicines for what they have done for me, and you may use my letter for the benefit of others."

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Burnbrae Tug of War Team Still on Top—Performed at Garden Party.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 28.—The Burnbrae tug-of-war team are still the champions of the district, an attempt made at the Burnbrae garden party last night having resulted in failure. Both teams were made up of Burnbrae men almost entirely, two of those who opposed the champions being residents of the English Line community. The champions were captained by their old leader, James Stewart, who has piloted them to so many victories, while George Fry managed the Lannigans, as the opposing team was called. There were only nine, instead of the usual ten men, on each team.

The Lannigans won the first trial bout. This lasted only about 33 seconds, as Rev. J. J. Black, who acted as starter and time-keeper, was unable in the darkness to see the time on his watch. In the next two pulls, in which a flashlight was provided for Mr. Black's benefit, there was no doubt of the result. The champions from the word simply walked away with their opponents, although the latter hung to the rope and were dragged helpless over the damp grass.

Baseball Game.

Three of the best players in the Campbellford baseball team, Will Hume, Barney Eagleson and Les. Shillinglaw, are residents of Burnbrae, and this trio were the star performers in a game which was held as the opening number of the programme. A team from Rylstone played a team from Burnbrae, but the former was reinforced by five players from Springbrook, the best that could be recruited from that village. Dr. George Schnell, from Springbrook, officiated on balls and strikes, and did the fair thing for the six innings which the game lasted. For the Burnbrae team Eagleson did the bulk of the pitching, Shillinglaw held down first base, and Hume worked behind the bat. All three electrified the crowd with their heavy hitting and daring baserunning.

Grant Kerr, the 14-year-old boy who pitched for Rylstone, has a future ahead of him if he cares to follow up the game.

The Rylstones as long distance throwers, where the matter of accuracy is not a factor, certainly excell. Throws from the outfield, with the home plate as their destination, according to all baseball rules, overshot the mark, and the ball came to a stop only where it struck a stump fence, a matter of two or three hundred yards behind the catcher. The field was rough so that there was no judging a grounder, and when a fly ball struck the ground it was a matter of speculation as to the direction in which it was likely to bound. But all things considered, it was a good game, the final score being 11-3 in favor of Burnbrae. The line-up was as follows:

Burnbrae—Eagleson, p and ss; Shillinglaw, 1b; Rannie, 2b and p; Hume, c; Johnston, 3b; Craighead, rf; Anderson, lf and ss; Haig, lf; Little, cf; Hay, lf.

Rylstone—Bateman, 1b; F. Barnum, rf; Burkett, c; Dunk, lf; Bailey, 3b; D. Barnum, cf; Fry, ss and p; Kerr, p and ss.

Umpires—Dr. Schnell on balls and strikes; Thomas Fry on the bases.

A Summer Social

There was a large crowd in attendence Campbellford sending a contingent as usual whenever any special fuction is held at Burnbrae. An excellent supper was served by the ladies and ice cream booths did a land office business. The musical part of the programme was furnished by the Spencer family, the five members of that Orchestra being the father, two sons and two daughters, the most of them appearing in full Highland costume. All kinds of musical implements from the bag pipes to the kettle drum are played by the members but their specialty is Scottish airs.

Rev. J. J. Black who leaves for Orillia will preach his farewell sermon to the Burnbrae and Rylestone congregation to-morrow. A social gathering will be held in the Burnbrae church Mondayevening to give the members of the congregation an opportunity to take leave of the popular young pastor who has ministered to them so acceptably for the past six years.

Strawberries on Sale

Strawberries from a local market, garden were sold in Campbellford yesterday for the first time this year the opening price being 25 cents a box. Local fruit dealers who have been getting berries from outside, at once dropped their price to 15 cents and one merchant offered the remainder of his stock at 10 cents.

Died To-day

Irvine Frederick, a commercial traveller died early this morning at his residence in Campbellford, in his 55th year. Deceased was a prominent mason and is survived by a wife and two sons.

Funeral will take place Monday at 3 p.m. at the family residence in Campbellford, proceeding to Long Garden cemetery.

Weekly Trade Report

WINNIPEG, June 28.—(Canadian Press).—The Weekly Trade Report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, Limited, says:

HALIFAX — Wholesalers report business unchanged. Retailers on account of more seasonable weather found business improving. Collections fair.

ST. JOHN—Wholesalers report business fairly good. Retail trade continues satisfactory. Collections very good.

MONTREAL, — Wholesale trade reports no material improvement. Manufacturers report fair volume of business. Retailers report slight improvement due to better weather. Collections fair to slow.

TORONTO, — Wholesale trade was imprving but postal strike has stopped orders. Retail trade somewhat improved due to better weather but postal strike having its effect. Collections until strike occurred were quite good.

WINNIPEG—Wholesale and retail trade report no change over last week. Warmer weather required to stimulate trade and improve crop conditions. Collections fair.

REGINA—Wholesale and retail trade report fair volume of business but continued cool weather having its effect. Collections fair.

SASKATOON —Wholesale and retail trade reports business fair. Weather warmer and should have good effect on trade in the near future. Collections slow.

CALGARY—Wholesale and retail trade continues satisfactory with a substantial improvement expected in near future. Collections current accounts met promptly; old accounts fair to slow.

EDMONTON — Business in all lines reported satisfactory. Crops showing good growth following recent rains. Collections good.

VANCOUVER — Wholesale and retail trade fairly good and gradual improvement continues. Collections fair. Employment situation keeping fairly good.

MANY SWIFT STYLE CHANGES.

By HEDDA HOYT.

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 28. — (United Press).—Fashions, like gossip, travel fast. Daily newspapers are largely responsible for this, for today every city and most towns have their newspapers, fashion column, devoted to styles from Paris, Vienna, London, New York and all great fashion centres.

Styles change so quickly that it is only the woman who is a constant reader who manages to keep up with them. Time was when the woman living in the small town could be distinguished from her city sister, but this isn't true today. Demand begets supply and women readers of America demand the latest styles and novelties from their shopkeepers. One can find the same gowns in Gopher Prairie as one finds on Fifth Avenue, New York. It keeps the small town shopkeeper hopping to satisfy his trade.

American women are the best dressed women in the whole world and this is undisputed. While Paris is termed the fashion centre of the world, one can travel one hour outside of Paris and find no resemblance of style. For this reason it is safe to state that America is the fashion centre of the world. Every little American village is a fashion centre which duplicates the current styles of larger American cities. There are no poorly dressed communities in America due to intelligent women reading the daily newspapers.

Styles Changes.

Sleeveless frocks which were worn for street wear last summer will be replaced by frocks with the shouldercap sleeve or the long sleeve. Women of refinement refuse to consider the sleeveless frock for other than evening wear. Even the little shouldercap sleeve, which, though comfortable, is slightly less vulgar for street wear than the sleeveless mode, is deemed in poor taste by better groomed women, except for country-wear, sports-wear and afternoon-wear under a short jacquette or capelet.

Very few women have lovely arms and the needless display of over-fleshy or over-slender arms last season has marked the doom of the sleeveless frock for street wear this year. Many of the most fashionable frocks both in silk and in cotton fabrics feature the long-sleeve which reach to the wrist. Full pleated chiffon sleeves which terminate in a band at the wrist are cool and quite as effective as the sleeveless mode.

Three-quarter length sleeves are shown on many frocks, but these are best suited to the fleshy person. The woman who prefers the short sleeves for warm weather will choose the one which comes over the shoulder, and for street wear she will have a soft scarf of matching material or of self-toned silk crepe or a small cape attachment which takes away the undressed appearance of the short-sleeved frock.

* * *

Sweaters will not be as popular this year as they have been in previous seasons, because of the vogue for the knit dress and the sports jacquette. Many younger women, however, will continue to wear the sweater sports-wear and the favorite type of the slip-on. Knit suits with the tailored blouse are popular for out-of-town wear.

* * *

There is a tendency on the part of well dressed women to get away from the colorful scarf. Plain scarfs with embroidered, fringed or beaded ends are finding favor in the better shops. Appliques of Chinese embroidery on black crepe de chene makes a lovely scarf which though colorful, is not commonplace.

* * *

Tulle, chiffon and net scarfs are being sponsored for evening wear. White net scarfs with appliqued flowers trimming the ends are very effective. Recently the Dolly sisters startled Paris by the youthfulness of their evening frocks, which were simple white net affairs trimmed about the full hemline with huge daisies appliqued to the material. Long scarfs of white net had borders of appliqued daisies. The bodices of their frocks were square cut with shoulder straps of glittering rhinestones. Rhinestones, by the way, are the favorite trimming for evening gowns this season.

Red and white is a favorite summer sports-wear combination.

NEW CALOMEL WORTH MILLIONS

Your liver is poisoning the whole system, causing a tired feeling in the morning, sick headache, bad taste in mouth, sour stomach, indigestion, constipation, kidney trouble, etc. There is only one drug known that acts directly upon the liver, and that is calomel. Because so many people object to the ordinary calomel, it is now put up in a new form, called Tanol Calomel Tablets, which act with a gentle movement of the bowels and no salts or seidlitz powders are needed to remove it from the system, as it is self-eliminating. Get a few of these Tanol Calomel Tablets from the druggist and they will make you feel 100 per cent. better. For sale at Weber's Drug Store, Charlotte street. m.s tf

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who had gone abroad. After the death, Paul comes home for the reading of the will, and to Wanda's surprise she finds she is disinherited, and that he is the heir. Paul dislikes Wanda intensely because of her behavious, and tells her she must leave the house immediately; she refuses, and, in order to stay there, pretends to be ill. One night, however, Paul goes down to the stable and discovers Wanda saddling his favorite horse in order to go for a ride. He orders her to unsaddle the horse, but she defies him. For a while they stay there, each refusing to move. Then the lamp goes out, and they are left in the darkness. Determined to conquer Wanda, Paul catches her in the darkness and kisses her. She breaks away angrily. He complains next day of her to Mrs. Garnet.

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT.

XIV—WANDA DECIDES.

"I think she must be wrong in the head," Mrs. Garnet said helplessly. "What are we to do with her?"

"I have made up my mind that if she does not get up to-day and behave like a normal young woman, I'll go up to her room and order her up," Paul said savagely.

Mrs. Garnet looked appropriately shocked.

"Oh, but you could not possibly do such a thing!" she remonstrated.

"Could I not? We shall see!"

"At least you will let me tell her what you say," she urged in distress.

"You can tell her what you like," Paul said carelessly. "But if she is not down to lunch, I shall keep my word."

Mrs. Garnet flew up to Wanda's room.

"You must get up, you must get up to lunch at all costs," she told Wanda, who was lying amongst her pillows, reading a book. "Mr. Collinge says if you do not, he will come upstairs and see that you do."

To her amazement, Wanda burst out laughing.

"Poor man! He thinks he's so masterful, and yet he's nothing but a bully."

Mrs. Garnet sat down on the side of the bed.

"Wanda, how on earth do you think this is going to end?" she asked helplessly.

Wanda turned a page of her book.

"I haven't thought about it, Clare, darling," she said sweetly.

There was a little steely gleam in Mrs. Garnet's pretty eyes.

"If he is behaving like a bully, you are most certainly behaving like a baby," she said at last, severely.

Wanda raised herself on her elbow; she looked provokingly pretty.

"I should have thought you would prefer me to stay where I am," she said innocently. "I thought you were enjoying your tete-a-tete meals with him. You seem perfectly good friends."

Mrs. Garnet blushed.

"You are talking nonsense," she murmured. "And, Wanda, is it true that you were down in the stables at eleven o'clock last night?"

"Quite true."

"You must be mad," Mrs. Garnet said again, helplessly.

Wanda laughed.

"Paul was mad when he saw me," she said; "I believe he could have wrung my neck with pleasure. He reminded me that Lion belonged to him, and practically said I was not to ride him."

"Well, doesn't Lion belong to Paul?"

"I suppose so, but I'm going to ride him all the same. I'm going to ride him this morning."

"Then you do mean to get up?"

"Yes, to suit myself. But I shall come back to bed again." She burst out laughing at Clare's puzzled face.

"Why need you worry your head?" she asked lightly. "Aren't you happy and comfortable? You looked as it you were last night when I passed the drawing-room window, but I do think you might have found something a little more up-to-date to play to him than that old thing about the Mill Stream."

Mrs. Garnet looked annoyed.

"Were you out in the garden watching us then?" she asked with exasperation.

"I'm afraid I must plead guilty."

Mrs. Garnet rose with dignity.

"I am very much annoyed with you, Wanda; very much annoyed," she said, and walked out of the room.

Wanda lay still for some moments, her dark eyes fixed on the ceiling, and her brows puckered thoughtfully, then with a little smothered exclamation she rose and began to dress.

Although she laughed at Paul and called him a bully behind his back, she was a little afraid of him in her heart, and, as usual, her method of hiding fear was open defiance.

It was a dull, dreary looking morning, and she had no real desire to ride Lion, save inasmuch as it would annoy Paul.

It was true that she had slept badly, excited and overstrung as she had been by the scene with him in the garden.

"And it was all so silly," she thought in vexation as she vigorously brushed her bobbed hair. "Quite as silly as my quarrel with his father. Oh, dear, why can't I be amiable like other girls; why can't I behave?"

Next Issue: Lion.

OLD PHOTOS

Just look through the album, that famous old album that mother and dad used to keep. You'll laugh till you cry at what catches the eye. View the pages and "read 'em and weep."

Ah, those were the days when the tin types were made and your parents were proud as could be. They stood to be snapped, rather solemn and staid, and the pictures are funny to see.

Dear Mom in a dress that was puffed at the sleeves. Old-fashioned is all you can say. But time has not changed her; she firmly believes it was better than gowns of today.

Then dad in a derby that perched on his head and a coat that was up to his waist. A haughty Beau Brummel is what people said, for in those days such things were in taste.

Together they stood; olden sweethearts, you know. The queen of the day and her king. Such tin types, it seems, after all go to show just what changes time's passing can bring.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

Four tablespoons shredded pineapple, 1 shredded wheat biscuit, 1 cup consomme, 1 cup cooked vegetable salad, 4 ounces broiled shad with lemon juice, individual mold of cucumber jelly on bed of watercress, 1 new potato with minced parsley, 2 tablespoons string beans, 2 toasted gluten muffins, 1 bran roll, 1 pint skimmed milk.

Total calories, 1081. Protein, 274; fat, 299; carbohydrate, 508. Iron, .0179 gram.

In making your vegetable salad arrange the vegetables in neat sections. The eye must be pleased in order for this salad to be a success. The salad as calculated was made of two tablespoons asparagus heads, two tablespoons diced carrots, one tablespoon new peas, one tablespoon string beans and two tablespoons diced beets on a bed of lettuce. Two tablespoons lemon juice seasoned with salt and pepper and a bit of onion juice was poured over the whole.

Cucumber Jelly.

Two medium-sized cucumbers, 1 small onion, 2 stalks celery, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine.

Pare and slice cucumbers. Cook cucumbers, onion, celery and pepper in two cups of water until the cucumbers are tender. Rub through a sieve. There should be two and one-quarter cups of puree. Add lemon juice, salt and pepper and bring to the boiling point. Pour over gelatine softened in cold water and turn into four individual molds. Let stand on ice until cold and firm. Unmold and serve.

Total calories, 203. Protein, 71; fat, 12; carbohydrate, 120. Iron, .0008 gram.

Four tablespoons shredded pineapple, 1 shredded wheat biscuit, 2 crisp pieces broiled bacon, 1 fried egg, 1 cup consomme, 1 cup cooked vegetable salad masked with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 sardines, 1 cup cream of asparagus soup, 4 ounces broiled shad with 2 tablespoons lemon butter, 3 new potatoes in cream sauce, cucumber jelly on watercress with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 2 tablespoons string beans in cream, 2 pieces toast, 1 tablespoon croutons, 2 slices rye bread, 2 dinner rolls, 1 tablespoon currant jelly, 4 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup cream, 1 pint whole milk, 1-6 lemon meringue pie, 1 strawberry cream puff.

Total calories, 4015. Protein, 422; fat, 1802; carbohydrate, 1791. Iron, .019 gram.

The sardines can be used with the rye bread as sandwiches to accompany the vegetable salad. Remove the skin and backbone before using. The fish can be worked to a smooth paste with lemon juice or the flat sardine simply sprinkled with lemon juice. The food value will be the same.

Don't forget to fry the egg "gently." Intense heat and quick cooking will make the white tough with an uncutable brown coating on the under side of the egg.

Either the pie or the cream puff can be chosen for the luncheon dessert. As fish is present in both the luncheon and dinner menus a dessert with fruit flavor is desirable.

THINGS THAT NEVER DIE

Peculiar experience of a certain fiction writer: He had a rush order from a magazine, so he went far into the Canadian woods to write the story—a novelet. Out in the woods, two days' trip from even a village, his typewriter broke down.

The fiction writer tried writing with pen and ink. Then he made the curious discovery that he couldn't get his brain functioning to write unless his fingers were touching typewriter keys. This is a not uncommon experience of all writers, including newspapermen.

The typewriter, for all practical purposes, has become a definite and indispensable part of their bodies.

Some writers sit down at the typewriter and rattle off several hundred words that go promptly into the wastebasket, just to start their brains functioning.

What would Babe Ruth be in baseball if he didn't have a bat? He is not Babe Ruth, the popular idol, until he gets his fingers wrapped around a bat. The bat has become a definite part of his physical expression of himself.

The greatest violinist is an ordinary man unless he has a violin in his hands. He cannot express himself without his violin, any more than a bricklayer can express himself without bricks or trowel and mortar.

The gold beater is a man of phenomenal skill—but the skill is absent unless he has his beaters and other instruments.

The famous creative architect, Louis H. Sullivan, once commented that all inventions are merely an extension of man's fingers. The shovel, for instance, is simply an extension or elaboration of the cupped fingers and palm. A pair of ice tongs is an extension of lifting human arms.

The body of man is a machine for expressing himself and his function or purpose in this life. So are shovels, typewriters and other inventions which man has added to assist his body.

It makes us wonder whether, when death comes, the Real Self is affected any more than when a shoveler breaks his shovel. The force that handles the shovel continues. That force is man's spirit or soul. The same force uses the physical body as its machine or tool. Death eliminates the worn out or damaged machine. The guiding force lives on.

MATERIAL FOR GOOD OR BAD

He was a young fellow, perhaps nineteen years of age. He had a brick-red, round face, tanned by sun and weather, and a perpetual grin that kept most of his teeth exposed. An old, inadequate cap covered part of his head, and his worn clothing and rough, heavy, dusty shoes bore marks of much travel. He shifted from one foot to the other as he talked. From his right elbow protruded a mass of ragged inter-lining, a portion of the torn right sleeve of his coat, and his back was bowed under the weight of a heavy gunny sack, stuffed to the limit, with the barrel of a long shot-gun sticking out of the top.

We met him on Charlotte Street, about half-past ten o'clock, one Saturday night. Halting us in a dark portion of the sidewalk, he asked unexpectedly, "Do you know where Mary White Lives?" (This wasn't the name, but it will serve the purpose of this tale). We didn't know, so we asked him where she lived, and he said, 'On Park Street.' When we pointed out that he was just coming away from Park Street, he said he had just been there, and couldn't find her. So we asked him the number of her house, and he said he had forgotten it. It was written down on a piece of paper for him, and he had lost the paper.

By the aid of a city directory, and the kindly offices of the telephone, we finally located the address of the lady, whose "man," as he expressed it, "was a sort of a gypsy," and had recently moved to the other side of the river. "Is that far?" he said, tiredly, explaining that he had walked that day from Haliburton, and if he wasn't able to locate Mary and her "man," he would take the midnight train to Havelock. We suggested that he call at the Police Station, but that evidently didn't meet with a bit of approval from him. Finally, we jotted down an address that might help him out, but he couldn't read or write, he said. With the paper to show to some passer-by, if he got lost, which was quite likely, he made off into the darkness, favoring a sort foot.

There isn't any moral to this tale, perhaps. There he was, a weary, poor creature, rough and unlettered, making his way by night to the home of people who were described by the guardians of the law as "the kind that move every month." With his gun, and his weariness, and his weak ways, he was ready material for any sort of mischief that might come along. It all depended on whoever got to him first, and evidently nobody was bothering with him. He would herd with the people who would be kind to him, another potential factor for wrong-doing in the underworld life of any city. And yet he wasn't a bad chap. He called back "thank you, very much" as he disappeared into the shadows of a dark street.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

A proposal for a national referendum on the question of United States membership in the League of Nations was approved last night by the platform committee of the Democratic National Convention, by a vote of 34 to 16.

No remedy can cure all ailments of the human body, but an immense number of people suffer from aches, pains and diseasesymptoms when their real trouble is lack of iron in the blood. It is the iron in your blood that enables you to get the nourishment out of your food. Without iron your food merely passes through you without doing you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. There is one universally known tonic that has helped thousands because it contains iron like the iron in fresh vegetables and like the iron in your blood.

is an eminent physician's best blood prescription, standardized. It is recommended for all anaemic and run-down conditions. It has helped thousands of others. It should help you. Ask for it at any drug store.

MADE THE FIRST "BANJO CLOCK."

Visitors at the United States Capitol are generally shown the Willard clock, which has been doing service in Statuary Hall for many generations. This was made by Simon Willard of Massachusetts, who is credited with being the father of the American clock industry. He died in 1794, after having gasped the words "The old clock's run down." He had spent a lifetime in making clocks, and it is said that there are a few of his old clocks still ticking away. He was an old man when he was commissioned to make the clock for the Capitol, and wn le working at that he and President Jefferson became warm friends. Willard originated what is known as the "banjo clock," which he patented by the advice of President Jefferson, who predicted what proved to be true, that this form of clock would become very popular.

1804.

Prof. Fisher says the buying power of the dollar is somewhere around 69 cents compared with its pre-war purchasing power. That's true.

And yet an American silver dollar worth $12000 was found recently in Lancaster, O. It was one of the famous issues of the year of 1804. Only seven others are known to be in existence. Its value is in its scarcity. That's about all there is to any value.

An acre of grass should yield one to two tons of hay.

NEW 'BUS STARTS LAKEFIELD TRIP

Will Likely Bring a Boom in Tourist Traffic to the Lakes.

LAKEFIELD, June 28.—Stoney Lake bus No. 2 has appeared and is similar to bus No. 1. The new bus will connect with the C.P.R. train a manner similar to the first bus, but will go north via Young's Point, Kawartha Park and Burleigh Falls. With this first-class service, and the greatly improved C.N.R. train service and the consequent advertising which is being widely done by both railways, there is likely to be a decided boon of the lakes this season. This is a decided "boost" for the lakes of the Kawartha chain, especially for the three nearest the village—Katchewanoonka, Clear, and Stoney Lakes.

Wedding Guests.

Out of town guests at the Charlton-O'Neill wedding on Tuesday included Mr. and Mrs. Picard, of Montreal; Miss Olive Northcott and Mr. Douglas Logan, of Fraserville; Mr. Hebert Maloney, of Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. Myles O'Neill, Master Terry and Miss Eileen and Mr. John O'Neill, of Bancroft; and Mrs. George Maloney and Mr. John Hynes, of Peterboro. The groom's gift to the bride was a sunburst, and to the bridesmaid a rope of pearls, and to the groomsman a gold tie-pin set with pearls. At the wedding breakfast, which was served at the home of the bride, Rev. J. J. Garvey proposed the health of the bride.

Congratulations.

The following extract was taken from the Fort William notes in the National Drug News print:—"We congratulate Miss Jessie M. McGregor of Fort William, who passed with honors in the senior examinations of the Ontario College of Pharmacy recently. Miss McGregor is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James McGregor, formerly of Slate River Valley and later of Fort William. She was a student at the local collegiate and received her public school education at Slate River. She is a sister of Mr. J. McGregor and Mrs. W. Telford, 237 Heron Street, Fort William. Another sister, Mrs. Northey, of Lakefield, is also a graduate of the Ontario College of Pharmacy. Miss McGregor finished serving her apprenticeship with Mr. Frank Spence, M.P.P., last July, and attended the next session of the College of Pharmacy."

Miss McGregor is spending the summer in the village with her sister, Mrs. E. H. Northey.

Ladies' Aid Met.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church met on Tuesday week at the home of Mrs. Murphy where a pleasant afternoon was spent. Refreshments were served.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Hearn, of Peterboro, was the guest of Mrs. John Northcott last week.

A. M. FitzGerald, of Toronto, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. FitzGerald.

Rev. and Mrs. Walter Cox are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Strickland at McCracken's Landing.

Mrs. Southworth was seized with a stroke of paralysis on Thursday and her condition is very serious. Her daughter, Mrs. Bertha Moore, arrived from Campbellford; also three sons—one from Campbellford, one from Frankford, and another from Omemee.

Roland A. Lewis, of Toronto, was in the village on business on Wednesday.

R. G. Lawler, of Norwood, is presiding over departmental examinations in the village. J. M. Simpson is in Norwood engaged at the same work.

Mr. and Mrs. George Merson and Mrs. Laurence Graham are visiting Mrs. Gordon Smith at "Shota," Stoney Lake.

Mr. Fred Brown, who has been seriously ill, was taken to the hospital in Peterboro on Tuesday.

Mrs. Chas. Crawford has returned from Peterboro where she spent a few weeks with friends.

FORD.

Henry Ford sails serenely even during a business slump. In May, when the steel industry was sagging to 50 per cent capacity and the auto industry in general was inspecting its live preservers, Ford sold 209,601 passenger cars and trucks. That's about two and a half million a year.

Many wonder at Ford's success. And yet it's all based on a very simple principle—selecting a useful device that everybody needs and wants, and then manufacturing it as a popular price. Ford isn't the only one who has cleaned up millions this way.

HOW DESERT VEGETATION SURVIVES

NEW YORK, June 28.—The common creosote or greasewood, which grows a bush from four to ten feet above the ground, has roots that go down in the sand some twenty or thirty feet and spread out in every direction. These roots have a bark that is very thick, pulpy and water holding. These are the reservoirs that gather and store water the wet season and feed it out slowly to the plant above ground in the dry season The leaves are thin and small, they have a way of hanging edgewise to the sun to prevent evaporation and they are shellacked or varnished so that not a drop of moisture can escape through them.

Strangest of all is the device of this bush to ward off browsing desert animals. The leaf holds sap. To the taste it is violently acid and astringent. The Indians use it to cauterize bullet wounds or cuts. When swallowed it proves not only emetic but cathartic. It is poison. Not an animal on the desert will touch it.

The wild gourd has a reservoir like an enormous turnip; another plant has a half-wooden bulb, looking like a hornet's nest, that is a water holder. Everyone of the growths has a bitter sap and every one of them is armed with spines, thorns, sharp points. It is impossible to touch them without being pierced. Everything on the desert has to be fortified or it will quickly perish; for of all places on earth it is one of savage conflict. The struggle for existence there is fierce, hence the development of peculiar character through conflict and the strong impulse to survive.—John C. Van Dyke in The Mentor.

The Love that never Dies

You can buy Independence

—financial independence in old age and freedom from worry in the present,—by making small payments nicely adjusted to your age and circumstances.

No good citizen would sell his independence if he knew it, but each day that he lives without providing for the future, he is truly selling—on the installment plan—his most precious possession.

Some day he will have to surrender his independence, or his family may have to make good his default when he dies.

Life Insurance is the solution of this problem,—safe, scientific, secure in every way.

Why not call in the Life Insurance Man and discuss this vital matter today?

—Life Insurance Service

ON LABOUR-SAVING DEVICES

Marriage is usually entered into on the theory that it is a partnership affair. By partnership, it is generally understood a fairly equal sharing of responsibility and labor, so far as possible.

A woman expects her husband to deliver the material results of his labors without complaint. She also feels that she has a right to such money as is necessary for herself and children. In return, she understands that she is to manage the home equally as well and without complaint.

Hardly without one knowing it, times have changed in respect to household tasks. When our grandmothers kept house, they had the help of servants. Nowadays the servant question has become so much of a problem that the average housewife has long since given up, and is doing the work all herself. This transition has taken place more or less gradually, so that the housewife in many instances, and certainly more frequently her husband, fails to realize that she is trying to cope with a situation which her grandmother would have considered hopeless. She is trying to do single-handed that which her grandmother accomplished by means of at least one servant.

It, therefore, becomes vitally important that the modern housewife make use of every labor-saving device of which she can avail herself. Long ago the man of the house surrounded himself in his office and factory with labor-saving and time-saving devices, and, irrespective of change in the labor situation, he has acquired the use of labor-saving devices as a matter of course. The fairest-minded husband would be shocked at the indifference with which he is permitting his partner—his wife— to go on day after day, year after year, coping with an almost impossible situation, with comparatively few household labor-saving devices.

A comparison of this kind serves to show the husband how wholly unfair he is, even though he is so thoughtlessly, in not realizing how unequal the partnership has become. Ultimately the wife comes to feel that possibly she is a failure. She does not seem able to hold her own end of the bargain. Her strength is not equal to the task.

The Solution.

The washing machine and the electric cleaner, the electric iron and the electric fan are fairly familiar to all housewives. Their use, however, may be greatly improved by a study of the conditions under which they are used. A small equipped laundry with convenient outlets for hot and cold water, a well-drained floor, good light and ventilation; electric sweeper so situated that it can be used at a moment's notice without carrying it up and down stairs. Many housewives now have a cleaner on each floor. Electric fans should be equally accessible. As already spoken of in another article in this paper, the electric dish washer is very rapidly coming into its own. This will save the housewife many valuable hours in the course of a year, and make her housework many per cent easier.

The electric percolator, toaster and iron are well known, but should be used to an even greater extent. The kitchen utility motor is a valuable addition, and will save the housewife much aggravation caused by dull knives. The electric whipper will be found an invaluable aid, as it does produce better and quicker results without the tiring grinding of the old-fashioned contrivance. "The Electric Susan" can be used to greater advantage in kitchen, dining-room, sewing-room or bedroom. It provides several electric outlets for various devices without the necessity of running separate cords to the wall plug.

The Suction Fan.

This highly efficient apparatus, as covered in another article, makes possible constant ventilation of the entire house without affecting the heat of the home. Kitchen odours, which would otherwise prove very objectionable, are done away with, and the housewife is assured that the room in which she spends the largest part of her time will be one of the pleasantest rooms in the house. Considering the fact that times have changed so radically as regards the servant problem, thus making the greater use of electrical devices imperative, it is quite logical to assume that some attention should be given to the placement of convenient outlets. No husband who is employed in a shop would think of running a long cord across the floor of the shop to the other side of the room to plug in for an electric drill or other piece of bench apparatus. He would consider such a procedure as but a temporary makeshift, and in no way compatible with shop efficiency.

Ponder on a few such thoughts as these, and you will see why it is that woman with her present-day lack of household help should be given, if anything, more consideration than he man in his shop.

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

But even there the Soviet creed is gaining many converts.

Amid the frantic pealing of church bells and shrieking whistles, General Eugenio Martinez rode into Vera Cruz at the head of his victorious troops.

In the Plaza were gathered thousands of the townspeople. In front of them was an auto, from which rose a staff flying a huge red flag. It bore the emblem of the sickle and the hammer—radical symbol.

Martinez passed into the Hotel Diligencias to review the passing columns. The end of the line came. The general disappeared.

Heron Proal, leader of the Vera Cruz Reds, took his place.

He spoke of the joy of the workers that once more their comrades ruled Vera Cruz. Then he invited all to a demonstration in the Plaza that night.

* * *

A band was playing in the centre of the Plaza. 'Round and 'round circled the youth of the city.

Proal mounted to a balcony. About him was a forest of red flags.

Cathedral bells rang wildly, their ropes pulled by zealous Reds. Proal's hand rose. The bells stopped, the band became silent. Proal began his speech.

He cursed capitalism and religion in terms too foul to print. He invoked every base appeal to class hatred.

Frantic cheers rose from the ranks of his followers. The chimes rang out in wild acclaim.

The Government, since then, has ordered such meetings suspended because of protests.

Yet the same scenes were witnessed following the entrance of Obregon's victorious warriors into Orizaba and Cordoba.

American intervention is bound to come.

So the better class of Mexicans believe.

Many of them desire it. So do the resident foreigners.

Both see a menace looming over the country that is more dangerous than revolution.

And it is Bolshevism.

* * *

Despite the alluring promises of agitators, the Mexicans are sick of war.

In Celaya, I asked my coach driver why there were so few volunteers in the army—why the people did not seem to take interest in the war that is supposed to be raging.

"Why should we fight any more?" he asked.

"We are tired. We are sick of fighting.

"We have seen our labor go for nothing, our fathers and brothers killed. We have endured starvation, wounds and threats of death.

"The farmer has seen his produce taken away by armed men who paid nothing. My horses were taken from me to serve the army.

"And all for what? To help some man who desired power to reach his goal.

"Once the cry of 'Liberty, Justice and Equality' stirred the people's hearts. But that day is gone forever."

MILLIONAIRE.

You can be a millionaire for a day. In the most exclusive district of Boston, a millionaire's home has been purchased by Alexander Bannwart, who has an entirely new scheme for making money.

The mansion—including all its lavish furnishings, butlers, maids and other servants—is for rent by the day or even by the hour. The rental for an afternoon of bridge is $50.

This fellow Bannwart is evidently a shrewd psychologist. Human nature is on his side. He is first in a field that will be widely developed. How easy it is to make money—if you have a new idea.

BROADWAY.

The lure of Broadway is interfering with factories at the outskirts of New York City. Workers want jobs near the Gay White Way. Some are reported to have quit the factories because they got bored during lunch hour. A different sort of job near Broadway may pay less, but it's closer to excitement and gayety.

This is human nature, and it is the thing that is preventing a general exodus of factories and mills from large cities to small towns. What percentage of the population—employers as well as employed—is more intent on a good time than old-fashioned work?

HEINIE.

The Germans are getting ready for something. Just what, isn't clear. But the government centred in Berlin is spending less than it's collecting in taxes and so on—saving as much as five million dollars a week.

This results from the 20 per cent increase in taxes.

The European situation begins to look more promising, with money piling up in Germany for reparations. Or will it be used for that?

BUGS.

German farmers are less interested in reparations and finance than in the potato bug which is marching from France to invade their fields. Quarantine is being established along the border. It's charged that the A.E.F. brought the potato bug into France. That is not improbable. It might have been by way of revenge for French cooties.

The potato crop is the mainspring of German agriculture. Quite naturally, Heinie is more worried about the potato bug than our south about the boll weevil.

COTTON.

The available supply of cotton favors the southern grower. Traders in New Orleans estimate that the cotton carry-over at the end of the season, July 31, will be between 1,600,000 and 2,000,000 bales. The carry-over on the same date in 1923 was 2,573,000 bales.

And the price end of the law of supply and demand works 24 hours a day.

WAGES.

England is working more under the labor government. She has about a million unemployed. But this is a quarter million fewer than at the beginning of the year.

What's equally important to the English dinner-pail carrier is that the cost of living over there is only 70 per cent higher than before the war. In America living costs are more than twice as high as in 1914, despite lower estimates by corporation statisticians and others.

Wages, by the way, in the basic English industries rise or fall as the cost of living goes up and down. Organized labor takes care of that, has it written into its agreements with employers.

NEWS FROM TWEED.

Recital Last Evening Was Enjoyed by Large Gathering—The Programme.

TWEED, June 28.—Music lovers enjoyed last evening listening to Miss Pratt's piano pupils. Tweed is very fortunate in having an artist of Miss Pratt's ability to train the girls and boys. Dr. Locke assisted in the programme. A solo by Mr. R. H. Elliott was well received. The pupils all did splendidly. The evening was in charge of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church.

Following is the programme:

Duet, Poet and Peasant (Suppe) —Misses L. Pratt and L. Garrett.

Valse Brilliante (Ochmler) — Norma Rowe.

Sounds from Ringing Rocks (Walters)—Harold Way.

Santa Claus' Guard March (Krogman)—Vyoyan Kindred.

Vocal solo, That's What God Made Mothers For—Mr. R. H. Elliott.

The Two Larks (Leschetizskv)—Lillian Ketcheson.

Messengers of Spring (Spindler) —Bessie Donneily.

(a) At Evening (Sartorio), (b) A Curious Story (Heller)—Edith Rowe.

Vocal solo, Last Night (Kjerulf) —Miss M. Kindred.

Duet, Hand in Hand March (Ducelle)—Ethel Kerr and Miss Pratt.

The Fawns (Chaminade)— Lois Garrett.

(a) By the Sea (Posca),, (b) Humoresque (Levine)— Margaret Nickle.

Violin solo (Selected)—Dr. A. C. Locke.

Valse in E. flat (Durand)—Eileen Hinds.

Andante and Rondo Capricciose (Meldellohn)—Madeline Kindred.

Dance of the Brownies (Kamman)—Irene Reeves.

Duet, Flying Doves (Heins) — Edith and Norma Rowe.

God Save the King.

Funeral Yesterday.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mable F. McDonald took place yesterday afternoon in the Presbyterian church. The church was filled with many friends and Rev. Dr. MacTavish spoke with such reassurance and faith of our heavenly home. His text was Rev. 4:1, "After this I looked and behold a door was opened in heaven." First he told us of the recorded openings of that door through which we hope to pass. According to Milton it opened long, long ago that Satan and his angels might be ejected. Then Satan began his nefarious work on earth tempting our first parents to sin. and filling the earth with woe. Until God gave to mankind the promise of the Messiah. So the door opened again that Christ might come to earth to live, a man among men, teaching man to overcome the devil and his works. After thirty years when Christ was baptized of John in the Jordon, the heavenly door opened that the spirit of God in the form of a dove might come down to strengthen and assure the faith of the believers. After the crucifixion it opened to receive Him home, His work on earth completed. When a shepherd wishes to take his flock to a new pasture, instead of driving them he picks up one small lamb and carrying it starts away. Its mother follows, then little by little the others. Dr. MacTavish very beautifully showed us that God had taken Christ, the Lamb, home in His arms that we might all follow. Once again the door of Heaven opened that Christ might send down the Comforter,, the Spirit of Truth. Glimpses through the door show us there is no night there, for God Himself is light and sun. Neither is there pain nor sinning. But there is an inheritance incorruptible and undefiled, that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for us.

Mr. Wight assisted Dr. MacTavish in the service.

Mrs. MacDonald grew up in Tweed so that her death comes as a personal loss to all, and her son Donald and her many relatives have the sincerest sympathy of their friends.

Dance Last Night.

A middy blouse and shirt sleeve dance was held in the Tweed opera house last night. Fay's five-piece orchestra from Rochester supplied the music and a merry evening was spent.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

MISTER BUNNY'S NEW SHOES

Nick went outside and tacked up all the wires.

"I want to buy one of those new things,' said Ringtail Coon, coming into Mister Bags' store on day and marching up to the counter.

"What new things?" laughed Nancy. "Do you suppose we sell old things in this store, Mister Coon, now do you?"

Mister Coon looked kind of sheepish as he answered, "Oh, excuse me. I know that of course. But I mean one of those extra new things where you have to tack sticks on your chimney and have a lot of boards and wires sticking up into the air."

"Oh, you mean a radio set, don't you?" said Nick.

"Why, yes," said Ringtail. "I guess that's it. There's a little wooden box full of twists and knobs and screws and enough gimcracks to start a hardware store. And you set it on a table and turn something and it sings and talks and plays music and everything like that."

"Yes, that's a radio set you are talking about," said Mister Bags. "And you came at exactly the right time, for I have a fine one I just got in today. Here it is in the showcase. It costs two dollars."

"My, my That's a lot of money," exclaimed Mister Coon. That's about my entire fortune. Couldn't you make it a little cheaper, Mister Storekeeper?"

"Well, I might let you have it for a dollar and ninety-nine cents," said Mister Bags thoughtfully.

"All right!" said Ringtail Coon. "I'll take it."

And then there was a busy time for everybody.

Nick and Nancy went home with the coon gentleman and up to the place he lived in Old Oak Apartments.

Nancy sat on the sofa and looked at Mister Coon's photograph album and Nick went outside and tacked up all the wires and queer wooden things to the tip top branches of the oak tree.

Pretty soon everything was fixed and Nick showed Misteer Coon how to run it.

"If you want to hear somebody making a speech in New York, you turn the little knob this way," he said. "And if you want to hear some music in Chicago, you turn it that way."

"Goodness!" gasped Mister Coon. "Isnt' that just wonderful! New York must be a mile away."

"It's hundreds of miles," said Nick.

"You don't say so!" exclaimed Mister Coon.

"Yes sir!" said Nick. "It is. And if you like you can hear things from away acros the sea. You can get Africa where the lions and tigers live just as easy as anything."

"I'd rather not,' 'remarked Ringtail uneasily.

"That's all right" said Nick. "You can listen to anything you like." So he turned the little knob and instantly a band started to play so loudly hat Mister Coon jumped.

"Whats' that?" he cried, running to his window and looking out. "I didn't know this was circus day.'

"It isn't," laughed Nancy. "It's all coming out of your new radio set."

"Well, I declare!" grinned Mister Ringtain Coon. "Isnt' that fine, though! I'll write some invitations and ask all my friends in to a party."

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

The most effective way to cut manufacturing and office costs is to cut labor costs.

Cutting labor costs is the most effective way of paring expenses because labor represents the largest percentage of expenditures in most all businesses. Cutting labor costs does not mean dismissing a large force of employees, necessarily. It does mean getting them to work with a little more vim and satisfaction and in such a manner turning out a better product and in larger volume—thus reducing the unit cost per article.

Such co-operation has been secured by many manufacturers through recreational activities and by giving their employees certain pride in their work because of the high quality of the product. Other manufacturers have established competition in their factories to lower their labor costs per article.

NEW REGULATIONS.

United States' Immigration Law Will Make Difficulty For Sarnia Folk.

SARNIA, Ont., June 28.—(Canadian Press).—On July 1, the new American immigration regulations come into force, which will make access to the United States for some people of this district a matter of more difficulty. The red tape has been lengthened and those of Sarnia who were born in Europe will not be able to come and go at will on the American side of the St. Clair River. Just what the new measures required by the American immigration department are, Henry W. Diederich, United States Consul here, was unable to say yesterday as detailed particulars had not been received by him. Mr. Diederich is afraid that free and easy movement across the St. Clair River for the European born will no longer exist, no matter what the length of their residence in this country. In the first place the control has been moved from the Immigration Department to the Consulate. Mr. Diederich thinks that while European born people may still be able to visit Port Huron as heretofore without special difficulty, they will have to get vises from the Consulate here if they want to go outside Port Huron, as, for instance, to Detroit.

SOME POULTRY POINTS

SELECTION AND MATING ARE BOTH OF MUCH IMPORTANCE

Does "Like Beget Like"—The Question of Selection—Inbreeding and Line Breeding—Winter Egg Production—Points on Plough Adjustment.

There are two main points to be considered in poultry breeding. First, the selection of birds that have the characters desired; and secondly, a further selection from these of birds that can produce offspring as good as or better than themselves.

Does "Like Beget Like-"

Many are of the opinion that "Like begets like." In general, that is true; but it is true for general and not for particular qualities. It is true that a male White Leghorn mated to White Leghorn females will breed chickens that are White Leghorns, or that have white plumage, yellow legs, and white earlobes. But of the offspring of these there will be no two chicks exactly alike. We find large and small Leghorns; most of them never go broody, but some do; some lay large eggs, others small eggs. And we find a great variation in the number of eggs produced by different hens.

The Question of Selection.

Selection is made on the basis that like will produce like, but experience has taught all breeders that to secure uniform superiority they must carry on the selection through generations of poultry. If we select birds that have laid better than 200 eggs in twelve consecutive months and mate these to a male of similar strain, we do not expect to get all daughters that will lay 200 or more eggs a year, but we do expect upon the average a better production than had no selection been made.

Inbreeding and Line Breeding.

Having located a successful mating, one can perpetuate easily so long as the originals are breeding, but the problem begins after the first mating ceases. Shall one breed mother and son, or brother and sister, or cousins, or what is the best procedure?

Our experience in breeding birds of very close relationship, such as mother-son, or brother-sister matings, would not warrant us recommending such a procedure. It is true that we have had some successful results, but it is likewise true that most of such matings have been very bad. If one is anxious to breed closely, our experience would suggest a trial of any relationship, so long as the birds are vigorous, but it is not wise to depend entirely upon such a mating. A good in-bred bird will likely be a valuable breeder, but such a bird is difficult to produce.

It is very doubtful if one can say what relationship will give the best results, for the average person it would appear to be good advice not to breed too closely, and to look for new blood from some source where the breeding has been similar.

Winter Egg Production.

Many people appear to believe that the secret of getting eggs, particularly in winter, is in the feeds given and the method of feeding; others believe the whole problem is in the breed or strain; while others think that the housing is the problem to solve. All these are important, but the main reason for poor results is a lack of careful work months before the eggs are wanted. While you are collecting the high-priced winter eggs you should be making careful plans to secure the crop of pullets for next season.

Where eggs in winter are wanted the early hatched pullet is, without doubt, the one to depend upon. Yearlings hens and those older are very rarely good producers during November and December. They are uncertain even in January and February, and really do not begin to lay well until March. Where the egg production falls below fifteen per cent. during the winter months, one is not making much profit. The age at which most pullets begin laying is from six to seven months; some lay at four and one-half to five months, and others not until eight or nine months of age. This means that if a fifty per cent. egg yield is wanted in November the pullets should be hatched during March or April; May hatched pullets will lay a little, but, as a rule, not forty or more per cent. daily.—W. R. Graham, O. A. College, Guelph.

Hints on Plough Adjustment.

1. Adjust the springs till the weight of the plough beams and bottoms are practically balanced.

2. Hitch plough at a point on tractor drawbar midway between horizontal centre of tractor and horizontal centre of plough.

3. Adjust vertical position of hitch so as to be substantially level in working position.

4. Set levers for first position and open first furrow.

5. Change levers to working position.

6. When ploughing is finished, set the levers in transport position and take plough and tractor to nearest shelter.

The three outstanding features of Holland's dairy industry are cleanliness, efficiency and co-operation. Cleanliness is a national trait, efficiency has been developed, and co-operation has been learned and applied through long years of marketing huge surpluses in the face of the keenest competition.

Inefficient cows are in the majority; they compete with one another, and all are unprofitable some or most of the time. They are a drag on the best cows, but the latter, despite that fact, are money-makers most of the time.

TIME

The world's first clock was in the tower of San Eustorgio in Milan, Italy. It was placed there in the year 1309. That's a long time to us who live only a few years, but a short time in the long history of humanity.

The invention of the clock was the birth of industrial slavery.

HASH BROWN POTATOES.

How Science Will Steal the Infinite Might of Vesuvius

Miss Kathryn McGee, Los Angeles High School Girl, Working on Her Intricate Model of Vesuvius, to Demonstrate How Volcanic Steam Could Be Piped Upward to Operate Power Plants.

Below: Yellowstone Park's Newest Geyser, Showing How Earth's Internal Heat Breaks Through Without Mankind's Aid.

HOW a mighty force of destruction through all the ages may soon be harnessed as man's servant for endless constructive energy is here told for the first time.

A plan to obtain fuel and power for the entire world by utilizing volcanic heat has just been made by Sir Charles Parsons, famous British engineer and inventor of the steam turbine.

The Italians in the neighborhood of Vesuvius and other volcanoes and in volcanic territory at Larderello for some years have been using volcanic steam, piped directly from underground sources, to operate power plants.

The new plan goes much further—and in a radically different direction. Sir Charles wants to use the direct heat, rather than the piped steam. He believes that inexhaustible power can be produced at practically any point on the earth, by constructing immense boilers, to be sunk thousands of feet underground, so that they will get the intense natural heat which lies everywhere, though at different depths, beneath the earth's comparatively thin, cool crust.

The steam generated by these boilers, in a steadier and more regular flow than that obtained by directly tapping the volcanic steam, would be piped upward to huge turbine engines, which in turn would operate electrical plants from which light and power could be distributed by wire—or perhaps by wireless—over many miles of territory.

The first great experiments may be made on the slopes of Mount Vesuvius, which is ideally suited for such an undertaking. This great volcano, just across the bay from Naples, is still active—but not dangerous, so far as ordinary human foresight can judge.

Map of the World's Volcanoes. Thick Black Lines Indicate Where Subterranean Heat Is Nearest the Earth's Surface. Stars Point to Active Craters, and Short Lines to the Dormant.

In order to put the new plans to a practical test near Vesuvius, it may be necessary to sink the boilers only a few hundred feet beneath the surface. In the event that the experiment is successful, similar undertakings will be essayed at greater depths in the United States and other countries.

The chief volcanic territory in the United States is the line that follows the Western Pacific coast, and at the northern end comes as far inland as the hot springs and geysers of Yellowstone Park. While the only active volcano is Lassen Peak, there are many others beneath which the geologists know lies immense heat, close to the surface.

It is estimated that in this territory it would be necessary to bore down less than a mile, and in some instances less than 1,000 feet, to tap heat enough to run all the factories and power plants in the United States.

How far down it would be necessary to go on the eastern coast of the United States to find natural heat sufficient to generate steam in these proposed immense underground boilers, is problematical. But it is believed that intense heat could be found not too far beneath the ground to prove practical in generating power.

If, however, another invention, the wireless transmission of power, is perfected, the big volcanoes of the world, like Vesuvius and Lassen, would in themselves suffice to supply heat and power to the entire globe. Since it could be transmitted anywhere—over mountains, across oceans, and even to ships at sea—the locations of the stations would be unimportant, and the plants would naturally be in the immediate vicinity of the big volcanoes, where it would be necessary to dig only a little distance to tap the inexhaustible heat.

Dr. Nikola Tesla confidently believes that the time is almost at hand when electric power in large quantities can be transmitted by radio. He is engaged in experimenting along these lines. Had it not been for the interruption of the World War, he might already have accomplished this feat. Prior to the war, he erected at Shoreham, Long Island, a huge steel tower, from which high frequency currents, generated in a power plant at its base, were to be broadcast.

He believed that electric power could not only be picked up by factories through the agency of radio, but that it could light lamps, run ships and airplanes, no matter how distant, provided only they were tuned to the proper wave-length. Unfortunately, because of the war, it was necessary to dismantle the tower before the experiments could be concluded. Only two months ago, however, at a general scientific convention in Cincinnati, there were shown small models of devices which transmitted sufficient power to light ordinary electric bulbs by wireless—so the principle, at any rate, has been demonstrated practically.

Neither the use of volcanic heat nor the transmission of power by wireless would be any more marvelous than other inventions of the past twenty years. The combination would mean that one volcano, like Vesuvius or Lassen, one spot of volcanic territory like Larderello or Yellowstone National Park, could easily furnish heat and power for an entire nation, for thousands of cities and plants, and might finally do away entirely with the use of coal and other fuel.

And now Sir Charles Parsons proposes that, instead of merely using volcanic steam, men bore big tunnels, place their boilers far beneath the surface of the earth, and utilize the volcanic heat direct.

In this connection Dr. Henry S. Washington, of the U. S. Geophysic Laboratory, is quoted as saying:

"The utilization of subterranean heat for the generating of electric power is one of the most important achievements of modern engineering. In my belief, it is only a question of time when the energy of active or partly active volcanoes will be generally harnessed for industrial purposes."

POPULAR SHOP GIRL CONTEST

Interesting Contest Announced by the Capitol Theatre.

Who is the most popular shop girl in Peterboro?

The number of young ladies employed in the various retail stores in the city exceeds one thousand. Daily they come in contact with several thousand customers of the stores they work for. Through personality, constant courtesy and politeness and willingness to serve and oblige, these young ladies win many friends.

But which shopgirl has the most friends?

A new contest announced by the management of the Capitol Theatre will give the shopgirls of Peterboro an opportunity to find out how many friends she has made in business. The contest will be known as the Capitol Popular Shopgirl contest and will open next Monday, closing Thursday night, July 17th. Ballots will be handed to patrons as they enter the theatre; the name of their favorite shopgirl will be written on these ballots, which may be dropped in a ballot box in the theatre. The girl securing the greatest number of votes will be declared winner.

A beautiful silver loving cup will be awarded to the most popular shopgirl, while the winner of the second highest number of votes will receive a season's pass to the Capitol for 1924.

While ballots will be handed out only as patrons enter the theatre, they need not be turned in the same night. Undoubtedly contestants will use every effort to secure all ballots received by friends when entering the theatre, and will ask customers in stores to save the ballots for them. The official figures will be given out in the theatre and in the newspaper.

As a special concession ballots handed out on Thursday nights will be of a distinctive color, and these will count for two of the regular ballots.

MUSSOLINI WILL NOT ATTEND THE JULY CONFERENCE

The Italian Ambassador in London Will Probably Be Italy's Representative.

LONDON, June 28. — (United Press).—Premier Mussolini of Italy will not represent at the Inter-Allied Conference on Reparations here next month, because of the disturbed international situation in Italy, following the murder of Deputy Matteotti, a Central News Rome despatch says to-day.

The Italian Ambassador in London probably will represent his country, following the lead of the United States in naming Ambassador Kellogg as the American observer.

The correspondent also forecasts that the Fascisti Militia throughout Italy will soon take an oath of allegiance to King Victor Emmanuel, who will wear the Fascisti uniform during the ceremony. This ceremony, he adds, is destined to offset reportsr that Mussolini has ambitions of the Throne.

LOCAL COUNCIL START A FUND

The Proceeds Will Go to the Many Children of Asia Who Have Been Turned Out of Their Homes.

The Local Council of Women beg to bring to the attention of the citizents of Peterboro, the terrible need of the children who are taken care of by this fund.

These are Christian children of Asia Minor who have been driven from their homes by their Turkish conquerors, and have poured into Greece, their only haven of refuge, hungry and helpless after months of agony and terror. There are 500,000 of them, and as many more women and old men.

The problem of feeding these refugees is far beyond the resources of Greece and the Save the Children Fund are organized in England to aid in feeding the children.

In the last few months, Canada has taken a share in the work through a large committee of representative people in Toronto and other cities.

The Fund is administered in Greece by Dr. W. A. Kennedy, a Canadian expert in Near East relief aided by a small British staff, — one hot meal and a ration of bread daily is being given to about 30,000 children. But what of the remainder of the half-million little ones.

25c will feed a child for one week.

$1.00 will feed a child for one month.

$5.00 will feed a child for five months or five children for one month.

Will such small sums of money do as much anywhere else?

The local campaign is endorsed by the Local Council of Women. Contributions may be sent to the Examiner, or to Mrs. W. R. Morris, 483 Homewood Ave., convenor of Committee for L.C.W.

BRITISH WORLD FLIER REACHED TAVOY SAFELY

RANGOON, June 28. — (United Press).—Major Stuart, British contestant in the race to be the first to fly around the world in an airplane, arrived safe at Tavoy, on the Bay of Bengal, yesterday afternoon, according to messages received here to-day.

MANY WILL APPEAR IN POLICE COURT

Business and Professional Men Will Be Summoned to Appear Next Thursday.

Next Thursday morning's police court docket promises to be the heaviest in the history of the city.

Clergymen, prominent business men, city officials, and many others, appear on the scroll, in all 50 offenders. This latest crime wave is in contravention to a city bylaw requiring every owner possessor or harborer of a dog in the city of Peterboro to register in the office of the Chief Constable, and obtain a license and dog tag for him before May 1st of each year, on payment of the sum of $2 for a male and $4 in the case of a female.

Summonses have been issued and those who failed to observe the by-law will receive a chance to redeem themselves next Thursday morning by paying a fine, by receiving a curt warning from the bench, or by whatever course the Magistrate chooses to deal with the law breakers.

A regular bread line is expected next Thursday when the court opens.

Y.M.C.A. PLANNING CAMP THIS SEASON

A Bigger and Better Camp Than Ever Will Be Held This Year at the Rotary Camp on Clear Lake.

Now that the school term is closed and the hot weather is upon us, people are already beginning to flee from the heat and dust of the city and escape to clear, bracing air, cool evenings and changing scenes of our lakes.

The Y.M.C.A. is planning a large camp, "better than ever," for boys over twelve, at Camp Rotary. Camp Rotary, located upon the east shore of Clear Lake, is an ideal site for a boys' camp, and the Rotary Club have installed it complete in every detail of equipment for the many needs and comfort of boys' camp life. A place where a real boy can have the time of his life.

The "Y" camp, under the experienced direction of F. G. McNeely, has been held at Camp Rotary for the past two years with complete success. The boys returned from these camps boasting a deeper tan and a fuller knowledge of camping and boating.

This year Mr. McNeely has planned a bigger programme than ever for his camp, which will extend from July 14 to 26, the first boys' camp leaving Peterboro this season. Lessons will be given in the art of handling a canoe and in swimming. A life-saving course will be followed and a series of nine talks on first aid will be given. The final day tests will be given in all these lines of camp life.

For the camp fire, the best part of a boys' camp, there will be a complete programme each evening, and the boys will get an opportunity to put on stunts for entertainment.

There will be regular long boat trips to the many beauty spots around the lakes. On these trips, the whole camp, cook and all, is put into the two "racing four" canoes and the motorboat and the "Theda" with its single cylinder goes putting off gaily.

Mr. McNeely desires to impress the fact that the boys will be under direct supervision of capable leaders during the whole time of their sojourn in camp.

Rochester Fishing Party

Will Try Kawartha Lakes—Cobourg-Rochester Ferry Service.

Mayor J. J. Turner received a communication to-day from Mr. Frank Smith, President of the Rochester Automobile Club:

"Don't be down-hearted," the letter reads. "We are all practicing cave and will get the ferry yet."

The deputation from the city council to Rochester in reference to the Cobourg-Rochester ferry was evidently broadcast to the four winds, the great fishing waters surrounding Peterboro.

The main object of the letter was to obtain information in regard to hotel accommodation, and the direction to the fishing grounds, for a party which is leaving for the Peterboro fishing waters from Rochester.

QUESTION OF AGES HAS BEEN SETTLED

The Hen Comes From the Egg and Not the Egg From the Hen.

CHICAGO, June 28 (British United Press. — A question of the ages has been settled. The hen comes from the egg and not the egg from the hen, said Professor Conrad Tharaldson, Professor of the Department of Zoology of the North-Western University, yesterday, in an address upon heredity to the Summer School students.

"I realise," the Professor continued, "that I'm setting in a rather offhand manner one of the momentous questions of all time, but my research work compels me to reiterate that the hen comes from the egg and not the other way around. The hen carries new germ cells which produce other eggs and presumably new hens, but all hark back to the original germ cell which we call the zygote. It's the same in human beings. The person dies, but the germ cell lives on in a circuit as complete as eternity."

GARDEN PARTY LAST EVENING

Musical Programme Given During the Evening—Pretty Decorations.

Although the extremely inclement weather of last evening spoiled to a certain extent the big garden party held under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Association on the handsome grounds adjoining the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Macdonald, at 300 London Street, still the affair, as long as it lasted, was one of the most successful events in the history of the Y garden parties.

The decorations were particularly attractive. A wonderful setting for a lovely outdoor affair was contrived by the colourful and artistic arrangement of overhead streamors and pennants of varied shades, arranged in long lines above the green sward. Coloured balloons and lighted Chinese lanterns were also pendant from above, and in one corner, a full-faced, cheerful moon glowed benignly on the proceedings.

The individual tables, where high tea was served from five to seven o'clock, were arranged in charming fashion with bright floral paper covers and summer flowers, and were laden with a wonderful array of good things to eat. The supper was delicious, and was served in excellent style by groups of ladies, each in charge of a particular table. Supper was served on the upper terraces.

In a grotto at the side was a treasure-trove cave, decorated with flags. Above, on the upper level, were the fortune-telling booths, where Oriental rugs and lighted lanterns made a bright spot of colour, added to by the brilliant gipsy costumes of the ladies in charge.

A lovely little arbor, where a gold-coloured umbrella with hanging festoons formed an attractive decoration, held home-made candy in the yellow baskets, alternated by bowls of fresh white daisies, and ice-cream and soft drinks were dispensed from a pretty Maypole centre, with the streamers in pastel tints of green, mauve, and pink, over the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald were wonderful hosts, and threw open every resource of their handsome home for the benefit of their guests and the Association.

During the afternoon and evening a very enjoyable musical programme was given. The orchestra in attendance was composed of Miss Margaret Widdess, Stewart Widdess, and Wilson Dunlop.

A number of graceful dances by the Y gymnasium pupils, under the direction of Miss C. Littlefield, were given on the lawn, the young performers taking part in several lovely dances, all in costume. Maytime in Holland, the Sailors' Hornpipe, Playtime, The Dance of the Leaves, and a Russian Suite, which included Petite Russia, the Russian Rhapsody, and the Russian Bridal Dance, were given, and received with much applause.

The president of the Association, Mrs. T. Cruikshank, acted as general convenor of the garden party, and the following ladies, assisted by many others, were in charge of the various committees:

Refreshments, Mrs. R. Cormack, convenor, Mrs. George Macdonald, Mrs. B. Gardiner, Mrs. Gerald Wood, Mrs. R. Denne, Mrs. N. D. Buchanan, Mrs. W. H. Hill, and Miss E. Morrow; Car Committee, Mrs. W. J. Oke, convenor, Miss Margaret Hamilton, Miss Grace Wilson; Decorations, Mrs. L. J. LeClair, convenor, Dr. Phyllis Young, Dr. Agnes Carmichael, Miss Claire Mason, and Miss Daisy Davidson; Ice-cream Booth, Mrs. W. R. Widdess, convenor, Mrs. D. Carmichael, Miss M. Needham, Millbrook; Candy Sale, Mrs. D. F. Drummond, convenor, Mrs. H. M. Yelland, Mrs. B. Gillespie, and Miss Mary Elliott; Fortune-telling, Mrs. Reg. H. Turner, convenor, Mrs. N. D. Seaton, Mrs. Russell Wood, and Misses Amy Beal, Helen Morphet, Geraldine Glover, Ethel Nicol, Gwen Hall, Janet Stapleton, and Agnes Sowden.

At the tables, Mrs. T. Barrie and Miss M. Dickson poured tea.

Those in charge of the various small tables were Mrs. H. B. Beal, Mrs. G. Copping, Mrs. Jas. MacKintosh, Mrs. A. L. Killaly, Mrs. J. W. Fraser, Mrs. W. M. Cruthers, Mrs. H. W. Young, Mrs. R. C. Blagrave, Mrs. R. H. Hunter, Mrs. R. A. Carmen, Mrs. J. D. Paterson, Mrs. B. Harkness, Mrs. D. Walker, Mrs. V. Eastwood, Jr., Mrs. H. F. Foote, Mrs. A. Moir, Miss Cora Mowry, Miss Ethel Morrison, and Miss Amy Halliday.

Mrs. G. E. Porter acted as treasurer for the occasion.

THREE ACCIDENTS TO SAULT FOLKS

One Lady Aged 34 Was Killed When She Was Run Over by C.P.R. Train.

SOO, Ont., June 28.—(Canadian Press).—Three serious accidents within the past 24 hours have resulted in the death of one man and the placing of three other Sault people in the city hospitals. Louis Luise, 34, and single, was run over by a C.P.R. train in the Viaduct at the intersection of the C.P.R. and A. C. railway and lost both legs, dying at noon yesterday.

Thelma J. Jarland and Earl Williams were injured yesterday morning at 1.15 o'clock when a car in which they were driving overturned on the People's Road, a short distance from the city.

Katherine Gilmore, aged 10 years, was run over near the intersection of George and Wellington Streets by a motor car. She was taken to the General Hospital.

HUBBY'S PROTEST

Randolph G. Page, 30, air mail pilot, flying between Chicago and Omaha, has started a "back to the hair" movement. His wife had her hair bobbed. "All right, I'll grow a beard so long I can tuck it in my overshoes," said Page. He declares he won't touch a razor until Mrs. Page decides to wear her hair long again.

ALIENISTS STILL VISIT MURDERERS

Coroner's Jury Was Re-opened Yesterday in the Franks Murder Case.

CHICAGO, June 28.—(Canadian Press).—The coroner's jury investigating the death of 13-year-old Robert Franks concurred yesterday in the action of the Grand Jury in indicting Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, millionaires' sons, for kidnapping and the murder of the boy.

Investigation of the coroner's jury was re-opened after it had been continued previous to the time that Leopold and Loeb had confessed that they had abducted the son of a neighbor and killed him.

Two alienists again visited the county jail and subjected the boys to an examination to-day in preparation for the contention of the defence that they were insane when the Franks boy was slain.

H. B. Warren Has Charge Of Southern Republic

WASHINGTON, June 28 (British United Press). — Henry Beecher Warren, American Ambassador, has been instructed by the State Department to take charge of the British interests in the Southern Republic.

This action was taken at the request of the British Embassy.

The arrangement is a temporary one, necessitated by the recent withdrawal of Herbert C. Cummins, the Britsh Agent.

In announcng that the request of the British Embassy has been complied with, the State Department said that the United States would be glad to extend its appropriate good offices in relation to British interests, and had instructed Ambassador Warren accordingly.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION RECESSED THIS MORNING

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 28. — (Canadian Press).—Responding to appeals of the party leaders to give more time for platform committee to work, on Ku Klux Klan plank, the Democratic National Convention, after a brief morning session, recessed until three o'clock this afternoon, eastern daylight saving time.

CRICKET CLUB WANTS MEMBERS

Every One Who Wishes to Learn the Game or to Join the Club is Cordially Invited.

The president and office-bearers of the Peterboro Cricket Club invite the enthusiastic co-operation and financial support of all who are interested in the grand old game of cricket. A hearty welcome has been extended to visitors at practice to take part in the game, and it is hoped that those who are not already affiliated with other clubs will join the active membership.

As the season is now well advanced, new members may be admitted for half the normal subscription. The purchase of equipment for the game has proved an expensive undertaking, and the few enthusiasts who have already contributed towards the outfit feel that further support is required.

To promote interest and keenness amongst players and prospective players, the president of the Peterboro club will offer a cricket bat for competition. This will be awarded at the close of the season to the player with the best all-round record and will be open for competition to all cricketers in the city.

Further information may be obtained from the secretary of the club, Mr. R. Morgrove Stuart, 701 Stewart Street, City. 'Phone 1997-W.

FIRE DEPARTMENT PROVED EFFICIENT

Alderman Stocker and Mayor Turner Give Fire Brigade a Test.

The efficiency of the Peterboro Fire Brigade was tested yesterday afternoon, by Mayor Turner and Alderman Stocker, Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Following the Kiwanis' luncheon, the Mayor and Ald. Stocker walked to Ackerman's shoe factory, at the corner of George and Dalhousie streets, and pulled the alarm at fire box Number 18, at 3:17 p.m.

The chief first appeared on the corner with his runabout at 3.19¼ p.m., taking him exactly 2 1-4 minutes. The next arrival was the hose truck, reaching the corner at 3.19 1-2 p.m., just 1-4 minute later than the chief. The hook and ladder truck arrived at 3.20 1-2 p.m., making good time.

The results of the test were fully better than expected, demonstrating that the department is in good working order.

The Mayor and Ald. Stocker congratulated the Brigade on the prompt response to the alarm, and on the general fine appearance of the equipment.

St. Andrew's Garden Party Huge Success

The garden party held under the auspices of Three Circles of St. Andrew's Womens' Missionary Society, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Grier, 580 Gilmour street, yesterday afternoon and evening, was well attended. Ladies in charge were convenors of the three circles: Mrs. A. G. Grier and Mrs. B. L. Barns; Mrs. R. Weir and Mrs. E. R. Shirley; Mrs. M. Kerr and Mrs. R. Lees, assisted by various members of the Circles. The lawn was prettily decorated with quantities of flags and pennants, and the little tables were centred with daisies. During the afternoon, music by the saxaphone section of the Salvation Army band, was rendered, with selections by the Children's choir of the church, a vocal duet by little Isabel Weddell and Jean McKone, and a reading by Helen Ross.

TERRIFIC ELECTRICAL STORM STRUCK LONDON

LONDON, Ont., June 28.—(Canadian Press).—London was visited by a terrific electrical storm yesterday afternoon, which resulted in a brief interruption of the Hydro and flooded basements and cellars of many of the citizens. While the centre of the city suffered the most, store basements being filled a few minutes after the rainfall began, it was in South London that the greatest general inconvenience was caused.

Lighting at 2 o'clock struck the flag staff and cupola of Ealsing School, on Hamilton Road, at the eastern limits, and caused slight damage. Only the janitor was in the school at the time, the scholars having been dismissed for the summer holidays yesterday morning.

ASK SUSPENSION PETERBORO CLUB

P.A.A.A. Charges Irregularities Detrimental to Amateur Sport in Peterboro.

AFFIDAVIT MADE.

Secretary Charles Martis of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, has written to the Amateur Athletic Union, Toronto, enclosing affidavits in which allegations are made of irregularities in the conduct of the Peterborough Baseball Club. It is said that these irregularities are detrimental to amateur sport in the city.

It is requested that the Peterboro Baseball Club, managing the Central Ontario League team, be suspended until such time as it is proven to the satisfaction of the Amateur Athletic Union that it is not guilty of the matters complained of.

It is believed that other proceedings against the club are pending.

FISHING AT BAILIEBORO.

Many Turned Away by Livery Men When Weather is Fine.

BAILIEBORO, June 28.—Many from both far and near are daily enjoying a day's fishing at Rice Lake. When the weather is at all fine, the men who run the boat liveries have to turn many away, as they have not boats enough to supply the wants of the people.

The fishing for pickerel has been exceptionally good this summer, although there are very few maskinonge and black bass being caught so far.

The pickerel is fast becoming the most prominent fish in the lake, and the majority of people state that they would sooner eat the pickerel than either maskinonge or bass.

FLINT SIX TO BE "MADE IN CANADA."

Durant Motors Adds Another Car to Their String.

Mr. R. H. Mulch, general manager of the Durant Motors of Canada, Limited, on his return to-day from Flint, Michigan, made the interesting announcement that he is perfecting arrangements for the commencement of construction of the Flint Six in a few weeks at the Leaside plant of Durant Motors of Canada, Limited.

Mr. Mulch reports that the plant of the Flint Motor Company is turning out over 100 cars a day for seven days a week, in an endeavour to catch up with orders. This is a pronounced contrast to the general situation in the automobile industry.

It gives an indication of the buying tendencies of the motor car purchasers, who, apparently, appreciate the value of new engineering features introduced in certain new cars which have recently been put on the market by established manufacturers who are not hampered by large material commitments and obsolete equipment.

ODDS OF FIVE TO ONE AGAINST W. C. McADOO

NEW YORK, June 28.—(Canadian Press).—The odds against William C. McAdoo continued to lengthen yesterday in the betting on the Democratic Presidential nominees. Wall Street firms reported plenty of money to wager against the Californian's chances at 5 to 1 and 5½ to 1, but found few takers. Smith money was plentiful, at odds of 1 to 2½. Senator Ralston continued to hold second place to Governor Smith in the betting at 1 to 3½. Other odds quoted were: Senator Underwood and John W. Davis, 5 to 1; Glass, 5 to 1; Governor Ritchie, Senator Robinson and Banter, 6 to 1; Cox, Houston and Governor Bryan, 8 to 8; And. Ferris, Governor Brown, Governor Davis and Senator Saulsbury, 10 to 11; Senator Copeland, 8 to 1.

GREAT BILL FOR THE BALL FANS ON THE HOLIDAY

Oshawa Play First Game of Second Section in the Morning.

STROLLERS COMING.

Fast Toronto Team Clash With Petes on Dominion Day Afternoon.

There is a great Dominion Day bill for Peterboro ball fans with morning and afternoon games at Riverside Park.

The after breakfast attraction is the opening game of the second series in the Central Ontario League and the Petes having been eliminated from the first section after having been in the lead two weeks ago are determined to grab off the second half honors. Oshawa will provide the opposition in the Dominion Day morning game and with the colorful "Duke" Dainty on the mound the visitors expect to start the next dash right by beating the Petes here. The game is called for 10.15 o'clock and should be one of the best exhibitions of the year.

In the afternoon the fast Strollers of the Riverdale League, Toronto will clash with the Petes, the afternoon fixture scheduled to start at 3 o'clock. Strollers have been playing good ball in their own circuit and are confident of being able to win the verdict from the Central Leaguers. It should make an ideal holiday afternoon attraction.

GOOD PLAY FOR TORONTO ENDED LOSING STREAK

Maisel Somersaulted Into the Limelight in Spectacular Catch of the Game.

SCORE WAS 8 TO 3.

Leafs Played Better Ball and Gave Thomas Good Support in Infield.

TORONTO, June 28.—(Canadian Press).—The Leafs played much bet ter ball yesterday than in the first two games of the series and defeated Rochester 8 to 3. Brilliant fielding by the Leafs' infield prevented the Trib- doing much damage to Thomas though they nicked him for 13 hits. Maisel's catch on Lunte was the fielding feature. He turned a complete somersault after gathering in the ball but held on to it. The score:

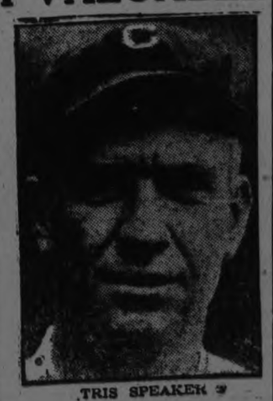
INTRODUCING FOUR OLD FRIENDS AND LEAVING IT TO YOU TO SAY WHO OF THEM IS MOST VALUABLE

BABE RUTH



TRIS SPEAKER

Is Babe Ruth more valuable to New York than Walter Johnson is to Washington, Ty Cobb to Detroit, or Tris Speaker to Cleveland?

Here are the four stars, look them over. In the upper left is the Babe; upper right, Tris Speaker; lower left, Ty Cobb and lower right, Johnson.

The question as to the most valuable man was put to me recently, Billy Evans says, by a fan well versed in the great pastime.

He is an ardent admirer of Walter Johnson, regards him as the greatest player in the game.

It seems in a fanfest he had taken issue with the generally accepted belief that Ruth is the most valuable player in the American League.

This, despite the fact that eight leading baseball experts so decided for the season of 1923.

In all probability no more difficult question could be asked than to make a choice between Ruth, Cobb, Johnson and Speaker.

Each player is a star of the first magnitude. Each has his outstanding features. There is little in common between the four, so that it is rather hard to draw comparisons.

Since each of the four players have hundreds of admirers who rate them as the greatest ever, I simply refuse to court their enmity by drawing a comparison that must of necessiy draw a line of distinction between their relative merits.

It is my intention to simply point out the strong points of the four stars. Some of my opinions may possibly enable the reader to draw his own conclusions.

Walter Johnson, if not the greatest, is one of the five greatest pitchers of all time I have never seen a better pitcher in my time. Rather than stir up the animosity of some of the old timers, I am going to leave his rating open, rather than place him first.

The star pitcher to give his best efforts can only be asked to work about once every four days. If he win his game he has accomplished all that can be expected of him.

The star infielder, outfielder or catcher works regularly, is in there every day, unless injury incapacitates him. It is always possible for such a player to win every game he takes part in.

Viewed from the angle of possibilities, the ration is four to one in favor of the players other than the pitcher.

To draw comparison between a player who works only every fourth day and the fellow in there every day is therefore, a rather tough proposition. The great Sisler and the mighty Ruth were pitching stars when converted into regulars, in order to make use of their many qualities.

Dropping Johnson from the discussion, because of the above facts, let us take up the case of Ruth, Cobb and Speaker.

Ruth's greatest asset is his batting ability, although he shows to advantage in other departments of the game.

While Cobb and Speaker may not drive out as many extra base hits, it is very possible that their hitting will be as timely if not more so than Ruth's.

But here again is a drawback to a comparison between the trio, Cobb and Speaker are managers. They must shoulder many other responsibilities aside from the mere playing.

Rating the four stars is flirting with fire. Each has outstanding qualities. On only one point am I positively certain. Ruth is easily the greatest drawing card, baseball's biggest attraction. From the financial angle he is certainly the most valuable.

GOLF CHAMPION COMES BACK TO WIN BY A SHOT

Hagen Recaptured the British Title After a Slump Last Year.

WHITCOMBE LOST.

Britisher Led Until Mid-day When the American Drew Ahead One.

HOYLAKE, England, June 28.—(Canadian Press).—For the second time in three years, Walter Hagen of New York, is British open golf champion.

Hagen recaptured the title yesterday afternoon when he turned in a score of 301 for the 72 hole struggle that began on Thursday morning with eighty six golfers competing.

Thus, for the third time in four years the trophy, emblematic of the British championship, will be carried to the United States. Jock Hutchison of Chicago won it at St. Andrew's in 1921, and Hagen at Sandwich in 1922.

Just as he lost the championship by one stroke at Troon last year to Arthur Havers, Hagen regained it yesterday by that same slender margin. E. R. Whitcombe, a sterling British player, finished second to him with a card of 302.

Third place in the tournament is divided between Frank Ball, an Englishman, and MacDonald Smith of California, both of them having turned in cards of 304.

J. H. Taylor, the veteran British golfer, who threatened for two rounds and part of the third round to walk off with the championship, broke under the strain at mid-day. Limping with lumbago, Taylor nevertheless finished with his head up and still going strong, taking fifth place with 307. Next came George Duncan with 308, one stroke in front of Jim Barnes, who has been trying to win the British open ever since the war ended and who says he intends to keep on trying year after year.

Sarazen Failed

Gil. Nicholls, the former New England professional, (who is well advanced in years, put up a good fight and scored 310. The youthful Gene Sarazen, United States champion, who failed to qualify for last year's open, failed miserably after he did qualify for this contest. He ended up low down in the list with a score of 323.

The story of this thrilling day over the long, hard course of the Royal Liverpool Golf Club, is the story of a battle between Hagen and Whitcombe. As soon as Taylor slumped, everyone of the thousands who had forgotten about their offices and homes in order to watch the championship come to a close, knew that the fight lay between Whitcombe and Hagen.

Whitcombe led Hagen on Thursday night by three strokes, but when the third round ended at midday Hagen had drawn level with him. Both had scores of 224.

Sterling Second

Walter Hagen, known as the "pinch-hitter" of the links, some time ago established his reputation as one of the most spectacular performers in the game. He topped his many triumphs in 1922 when he won the British open championship.

Following the success in Great Britain, Hagen started in to shoot a string of victories in the United States. In 1923 he won the North and South open championships in which a majority of the leading professionals of the couhtry participated. Afterward, with his Australian touring partner, Joe Kirkwood, the British titleholder literally "cleaning up" the major events from coast to coast. During the Summer one of his most sensational feats was the phenomenal round of 62 at Belhaire Forest, in the Florida title event. At that time he had a grand average of approximately 70 for twenty tournaments.

Hagen has won every major golf title both here and abroad. He was twice United States open champion, several times winner of both the United States western and metropolitan open championships, was the United States Professional Golfers' Association champion, besides capturing both the British and French open title events. Last year he lost his British title to Arthur G. Havers and was also defeated by Gene Sarazen for the United States professional title.

DUKE DAINTY'S GANG DEFEATED BY BELLEVILLE

Belleville Crew Were in Great Shape and Handed Oshawa Real Trimming.

SCORE WAS 4 TO 2.

Oulette Pitched Nice Ball—Dainty Was Hit Hard, But Stirling Work of Outfield Held the Trunks.

BELLEVILLE, June 28. — Playing the same brand of ball which meant defeat for Peterboro here earlier in the week, Grand Trunks to-day proved much superior to Duke Dainty and his capable fighting machine, and easily defeated them by 4-2 in one of the snappiest games of the season.

After allowing for several minutes lost time, while Oulettt's finger split by a smashing drive which he stopped with his pitching hand, and Tyson's injured finger, were bandaged, the game took but one hour and thirty minutes.

Oshawa put up a game fight. The work of their fielders, especially Rod dick at left, was of the big league brand. The Trunks hit Dainty hard and had it not been for the super work of his fieldtrs, the Moguls would have had 16 hits instead of six. The Trunks played almost errorless ball, also, Outfielder Casey playing just as snappy as any of the Oshawa outfielders for hard catches. The infielders were mechanical in their precision, their throws being deadly, and Oulette, who had much to do, pitched and played his position as if his life depended upon it. With Mills' peg it was futlie to attempt to go down, as the visitors found.

The Trunks sent two over in the first. Weir, who beat a scratch hit, with a dazzling sprint, was sacrificed down by Ross, who laid a lovely bunt to Murray; V. Mills lifted to left for a double, scoring Weir; H. Mills rolled out but Hagerman was passed and Morrison's error on Williams' grounder sent Bill Mills home, Meagher grounding out. Then in the fifth, with two down, Weir lifted to left for a double and Ross nearly lost the ball in centre garden for a home run .In the second, when the Trunks faltered momentarily Oshawa got number one, when Tyson walked, went to second after H. Mills grabbed a wide foul by Roddick went to third on H. Mills' low throw, and home when Hagerman's recovery throw to the plate went ten feet over Mills' head. Mills stopped the ball by throwing the decker up at it. The 8th, Wilson's two bagger and and R. Fair's sacrifice and Dainty's single, with Rowden's clout scored a run.

MLLE. LENGLEN LEADS TENNIS

Easily Defeated the Captain of United States' Team Yesterday

AT WIMBLEDON.

WIMBLEDON, June 28. — Lenglen triumphantly continued her progress through the women's singles of the British tennis classic yesterday, easily defeating the Captain of the United States women's team, 6-0, 6-0. Mrs. George Wightman of Boston was the victim.

Helen Wills, champion of the United States, defeated Mrs. Edgington of England 6-2, 6-2, but played an unsteady game.

The exciting event of the men's tennis was the fight put up by D. M. Craig of the Royal Air Force, against Vincent Richards. Greig took the second set from the young American star and hung on tenaciously, finally losing out 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5.

The Lenglen-Wightman match was the big event of the day's play. Crowds deserted the other courts, deserted even their tea tables, to gather around the centre court enclosure. Among the 15,000 spectators were such followers of the game as Lord Balfour and Lord Desborough, while United States Ambassador Kellogg occupied the chair where King Georg sat on Thursday, and saw his countrywoman go down to swift defeat.

The crowds applauded Mlle. Lenglen's brilliancy. The play of Mrs. Wightman was never fast, and when ever she succeeded in returning one of the French girl's seemingly impossible volleys she got prolonged applause for her efforts, At one time the umpire stopped the match and asked the spectators to refrain from demonstrations during rallies.

With all her fighting the Boston woman was only able to take one game to deuce.

FIRPO-WILLS FIGHT.

Preliminary Contract Signed —Firpo to Get $100,000 For Battle.

BUENOS AIRES June 28.—(Canadian Press).—Luis Firpo, the Argentine heavy-weight fighter, and Juan Homs, representative of Tex Rickard, yesterday afternoon signed the preliminary contract for a fight between Firpo and Harry Wills, the negro boxer. The bout will take place in New York or New Jersey some time around August 30.

Under the contract Firpo is guaranteed $100,000, with an option of thirty seven and a half per cent. of the gate receipts. There has already been deposited in Buenos Aires for Firpo $25,000, and the remainder is to be deposited here ten days before the fight is to take place.

Firpo will sail for the United States not later than July 5.

FOUR IN COMPETITION.

Fencing Foils Competition Likely to Go to France, Experts Think.

PARIS, June 28. — (Canadian Press).—The United States, Argentina, Hungary and France remain in the running after the first day's Olympic fencing foils competition, while Spain and Holland have been eliminated Both the United States and Argentina defeated Holland, while Spain lost to both France and Hungary. The United States won by 10 matches to 6.

The experts were believe that all the victorious teams yesterday have a chance to win the tournament but a majority are of the opinion that France's victory over Spain—12 matches to 4—was more impressive than any of the fencing exhibited by the teams of Argentina, the United States and Hungary.

MACKEY'S TEAM WON A FIXTURE

George Street Church Crew Beaten 5 to 2 in East Peterboro League.

A BAD SET BACK.

Bob Mackey and his breadmakers spilled the dope last evening when they took the nifty George Street crew into camp by a clean cut 5 to 2 victory in an East Peterboro fixture played on the Exhibition Park diamond. The Methodists were well up in the front of the race for league honors, but their loss to Mackey's was a bad set-back and will place them down a couple of places. The race is close, with keen competition in this league, and the loss of one game changes the standing a great deal, and means a great deal to any team.

Lady Luck was a close friend to Bob's doughboys, for they got all the breaks that were going and then some. Everything they did seemed to be the right thing at the right time. George Street, on the other hand, ran bases like lunatics, and didn't seem to realize that the Mackey basemen were put out there to tag, if possible, everyone who passed. This bonehead base-running cost George Street two runs directly and wrecked a golden opportunity to get a brace of runs in the second.

Neither team were strong with the willow. George Street collected seven hits from "Shiner" Clarke's twisters, and "Scotty" Maudsley held Mackey's to four scattered clouts. Perhaps the fact that the game was played throughout in semi-darkness had something to do with the poor hitting. However, both pitchers had steady control and plenty of stuff.

BETHANY WON A GAME.

BETHANY, June 28.—The garden party held on Thursday evening under the auspices of St. Poul's and St. Mary's Churches was a decided success. While the weather was anything but promising, the committee in charge went right ahead and everything was in perfect order. The ladies of the combined churches certainly demonstrated the fact that they are well up in the cooking profession. The tables were loaded with pies, salads, cakes, in fact everything that would appeal to the appetite, and after everyone had partaken of the feast, they adjourned to the athletic grounds, where they were treated to one of the best games of ball held here this year between Mackey's of Peterboro and the home team, Bethany winning, the score being 8 to 6.

Powell of Mackey's pitched a good game, but was given very poor support by his infield. The shortstop, thrid baseman and second baseman all made fumbles of infield grounders which should have been easy outs. Staples of Bethany pitched his usual steady game, keeping hits well scattered, and vacated the rubber at the end of the fourth inning on his own request to Ryley. Ryley had the batters eating out of his hand for the last four frames, swinging at his wide ones, and never seeing the fast ones. He struck out 8 batters, a very good performance. The teams:

At the conclusion of the ball game and after the players had satisfied their hunger, the programme started. A platform was constructed on the grounds, and a play entitled "Uncle's Niece," was staged by talent from St. John's Church. The play was very humorous and the crowd enjoyed it very much, as evidenced by the hearty laughing. The play was given in three acts, and on account of the hour being very late when the play was over, it was decided to cut the balance of the programme out. Miss Irene Wright of Peterboro gave several recitations in her usual good form. The proceeds of the evening amounted to over $150.

THE OLD PHILLIES SHOWED NO MERCY

Maybe baseball players don't love their base hits. Maybe they don't believe in getting 'em when the getting is easy. Read the answer in the box score of the Philadelphia-Indianapolis game at Indianapolis in the National League on June 28, 1887. Bases on balls scored as base hits in that year and the Quakers received 11 gifts. In addition, however, they slammed out 21 regular safeties and humiliated the Hoosiers 24 to 0. Indianapolis had a pitcher in centre field and he ruined four of his six fielding chances. Also it had an outfielder on third base and he missed three of his five chances. The score

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

BY BILLY EVANS.

QUESTIONS

1. There is a runner on third base. Pitcher is standing on rubber with the ball in his possession, getting the signal from the catcher. Runner on third starts for home. Pitcher, while standing on the rubber and making no preliminary motion, shot the ball to the catcher. Batsman standing in his box, struck at the ball, making a single, runner from third scoring. Is such a play legal?—H. B. O.

2. Pop fly about 15 feet high strikes ground about 20 feet in front of home plate. High wind caused it to fall untouched by any players in the field. Striking some foreign substance it Englished over the foul line, about half way between first and home. Is it a fair or four ball? —J. H. R.

3. Why was "Reb" Russell, former White Sox player, released by the Pittsburgh Nationals?— M. L.

ANSWERS

1. If pitcher delivers ball while standing on the rubber to his catcher, it is a legal pitch and as such the batsman has a right to strike at it. The play was legal. In order to make a play on the runner stealing home, the pitcher must get off rubber before throwing ball to the catcher.

2. It is a foul ball, provided no player in the field touches it.

3. Russell came to the Pittsburg club with a great reputation as a batter. He made good his first year, but later slumped badly in hit hitting. No doubt it was for that reason he was again sent back to the minors.

TIMELY TIPS TO AMATEURS

SAYS ROSS YOUNG

Outfielder, New York Nationals

Ability to throw far and accurately, once a vital feature of outfield play, no longer is given the consideration that it deserves.

The lively ball seems to have created the impression among outfielders that they are no longer expected to throw men out at the different bases.

That is an unfortunate mistake.

I take great pride in my throwing, always have, and still believe there is a big opportunity for the outfielder who can throw accurately and with judgment.

I am in accord with Hughey Jennings, who says more ball games are lost by outfielders throwing the ball to the wrong place than on dropped fly balls.

Don't get into a rut.

TUNNEY COMES INTO THE OPEN IN NEXT BOUT

Nobody Knows Yet Whether He is a First Class Fighter or Not.

CAREFULLY NURSED.

When He Meets Carpentier Next Month He Will Have To Do His Best.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

NEW YORK, June 28.—The strange and perplexing case of Mr. James Josephy Tunney, known professionally as Gene, is to be wheeled back into the operating room for further clinical experiments.

Mr. Tunney, professing to the light heavyweight championship of America, has signed to exchange punches, as the saying goes, with Georges Carpentier, celebrated French foot racer, here next month.

Nobody seems to be able to state with any degree of positiveness whether Mr. Tunney, a fistic product of the A.E.F., is a first-class fighting unit or not.

We discussed his case with Martin Burke, champion heavyweight of the south, some days ago. Burke was brief and to the point.

"I think he's an awful tomato," he said.

Nursed Along With Caution.

Burke, however, may have been mildly prejudiced, since the remarks were made several hours after a fight in which he had taken a severe walloping from Tunney.

Tommy Gibbons is another fighting gentleman who can hardly keep a straight face when Tunney's name is mentioned.

"I'll say this for him, though, he uses beautiful English."

Gibbons too, may be moderately prejudiced. The St. Paul shamrock has been trying, unsuccessfully, for several seasons to get a shot at Tunney.

Much of the skepticism regarding Tunney's ability grew out of the extreme caution with which his manager, the shrewd, Billy Gibson, engineered his matches. If the boys looked too tough, Mr. Tunney was kept far away from them.

With the exception of the two Greb bouts, Tunney hasn't faced a really high grade battler. In the first Greb bout, Tunney was beaten, in the second he was victorious. In neither did he look the part of a sensation.

Gibson, his manager, tell you Tunney is a greatly improved fighter and predicts he will beat Carpentier worse than Gibbons did at Michigan City.

Will Beat Carpentier.

"I brought Tunney along slowly," says Gibson, "just as I brought Benny Leonard along by easy stages. Tunney didn't look any worse in his fledging days than Benny did. Finally Benny reached his real form and won the world's lightweight championship. Tunney won the American light heavyweight title before reaching his top-most ability. Today he is really a great fighter."

Mr. Gibson is, of course, not unlike the common run of fight managers, and one should not take his enthusiasm too seriously.

Tunney is a pretty fair fighter, but no world beater. He is fast and clever and these qualities ought to win for him over the decrepit Carpentier.

Tunney, however, has never been a great aggressive fighter. Taking chances is not his specialty. Carpentier can still fling a fairly hard straight right. Tunney may decide that discretion is eminently the better part of valor, and go into a shell.

If he does it will be a terrible fight to watch, for the Frenchman proved in his marathon with Gibbons that he can retreat with the worst of them.

MANY ENTRIES AMATEUR GOLF

C. K. Ackerman and P. C. Tidy Lead Off on Monday Heading 108.

G. S. LYON THERE.

TORONTO, Ont., June 28.—(Canadian Press).—Six former winners and four United States aspirants are included in the list of 108 entries for the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship tournament, to be played over the course of the Rosedale Golf Club at Toronto, commencing Monday, June 30, the draw for which was made late yesterday evening. On account of the delayed mails, due to the trike of the postal employees, post entries will be received up to 9 o'clock on Monday morning.

P. C. Tidy and C. K. Ackerman, who are at the head of the draw, will tee off at 8 o'clock, the remaining pairs at five-minute intervals until 12:20. In order to avoid congestion post entries will, start at the tenth hole at eight o'clock in the order in which they are received.

G. S. Lyon, the "grand old man of golfdom," is paired with J. K. Cronyn, and will tee off at 10.50. Mr. Lyon has won the Canadian amateur title on eight occasions and that he retains his old-time skill is evidenced by his clever performance against Willie Freeman in the Ontario Open Golf Championship tourney this week.

Former winners and runners-up who will take part in this tourney include W. McLuckie, Montreal, who won the title in 1919; C. W. Grier, Montreal, winner in 1920; Frank Thompson, Toronto, winner in 1921; C. C. Fraser, Montreal, title holder for 1922; W. J. Thompson, Toronto, champion of 1923; N. N. Scott Hamilton, runner-up in 1923. Redvers, McKenzie, who was runner up last year, will be absent as he has turned professional. O. S. Lyon, Toronto, won the title in 1898, 1900, 1903, 1905-07, 1912 and 1914.

The United States entries so far received are: G. Haines Wilson, Detroit; J. T. Schiapacasse, Detroit; R. M. Nelson, New York and Carroll Stuart, Chicago.

American Captured British Golf Title

HOYLAKE, England, June 27 (Canadian Press). — Walter Hagen, star professional from the United States, won the British open golf championship here to-day.

Hagen captured the title by a single stroke with an aggregate of 301 for 72 holes of the medal play against 302 made by E. R. Whitcombe, the brilliant British professional performer.

Umpire Holmes Hit Again.

St. Louis Fans Follow Saturday Attack by Socking Arbiter in Eye.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 28.—Hostile feeling among followers of the St. Louis Americans against Howard E. ("Ducky") Holmes, umpire, culminated Tuesday night, when the arbiter was struck in the eye by an irate fan as he was sitting in a machine after the double-header with Detroit, it became known yesterday. Paul Farina, 29, and his brother Paschal, 27, were arrested following the attack.

Holmes during his brief stay here has been subjected to severe condemnation because he has ruled adversely against the home team in several close decisions. His action Saturday in banishing Manager George Sisler, Catcher Pat Collins and Coach Jimmy Austin from the game for protesting a decision incited a near riot. The three subsequently were suspended.

Holmes attributed the attack upon him to a conspiracy on "the part of gamblers."

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

WHY THEY ALWAYS USE THE REAL THING IN THE MOVIES

Why do the movies use the "real thing" rather than imitations?

Why is it the case that on motion picture sets depicting homes of wealth, for instance, producers find it necessary to use the actual and expensive furnishings which are part and parcel of the atmosphere depicted?

The fact that the camera lens is more inclusive than the human eye is not a sufficient explanation as imitations are now being made to deceive all but experts.

The truth goes deeper, believes Cecil B. De Mille, who is patricularly noted for the realistic manner of his screen presentations.

"The feel of the nap of a rich Oriental rug may give to the player just the right psychological twist to make an interpretation of unusual and gripping entertainment values," says Mr. De Mille, whose most recent Paramount production, "Triumph," opens on Monday at the Capitol Theatre.

"There are times when the use of an imitation would lose more in interpretative strength than could be repaid by many times the rental of the expensive property.

"I am vitally interested in keeping the costs of my pictures as low as possible. Every possible means to further efficiency is utilized. But at the same time we must spare no expenditure if the money will bring us a return to justify the spending.

"Imagine yourself a player doing the character of a rich man whose money has brought arrogance, such a character as William Silver in my new production, 'Triumph.' Imagine the instant reaction of such a player to the feel of a deep rug in the set representing the study of his magnificent mansion. Imagine the same player walking over the less resilient surface of an imitation. I need hardly say any more."

Leatrice Joy and Rod La Rocque are featured in the principal roles of the production. Other featured players include Victor Varconi, Charles Ogle, Julia Faye, Theodore Kosloff, Robert Edeson, Zasu Pitts, George Fawcett and Raymond Hatton.

JACKIE COOGAN COMING IN "A BOY OF FLANDERS"

Jackie Coogan, in his newest Metro picture, "A Boy of Flanders," is coming to the Capitol Theatre for three days, beginning next Thursday. The story is taken from the Ouida classic, "A Dog of Flanders," which concerns the hardships of a Flemish boy and a dog—their trials and final happiness after an unjust accusation of having set fire to a barn. The picture is said to be the most appealing yet made by the little star.

In the supporting cast are included Nell Craig, Jean Carpenter, Lionel Belmore, Josef Swickard, Nigel De Brulier, Lydia Yeamans, Titus and many others. The dog of the story is portrayed by Teddy, the Great Dane, a familiar figure on the screen. Victor Victor Schertzinger directed the production, which was personally supervised by Jack Coogan, Sr.

PLASTIGRAMS, SCREEN MARVEL OF THE AGE, BOOKED CAPITOL NEXT WEEK

The "Third Dimension"—depth—is on the screen at last, and Capitol patrons will have the opportunity of viewing this might marvel of the age at the Capitol next Thursday, Friday and Saturday when "Plastigrams," the stereoscopic movie, will be presented.

The latest and most startling invention of the movies is found in "Plastigrams," the illusion of perfect perspective which makes the actors and objects on the screen, "stand out" from the screen in a perfect and lifelike and startling manner. Fortunes have been spent in trying to adapt the old stereoscope that graced the parlors of our childhood days for use in connection with moving pictures, to give the illusion of depth, but until the making of "lastigrams" the results obtained were unfitted for use in a theatre. Capitol patrons are promised the surprise of their lives when they view "Plastigrams." Objects on the screen are remarkably life-like, and are made to seemingly approach within an arm's length of the spectator. Patrons will be provided with a special stereo lens with which to view the marvels of "Plastigrams." On the same bill with "Plastigrams" at the Capitol next Thursday, Friday and Saturday is Jackie Coogan in "A Boy of Flanders."

SPECIAL HOLIDAY MATINEE AT CAPITOL TUESDAY (DOMINION DAY)

A special holiday matinee will be held at the Capitol Theatre next Tuesday, (Dominion Day). Beatrice Joy and Rod Rocque in Cecil De Mille's gorgeous drama, "Triumph" will be the feature.

AT THE ROYAL

The year's film novelty at the Royal on Monday, Glen Hunter, in Puritan Passions.

There is a destiny with pictures. The same as with men. Some are bound to succeed. Such a picture is "Puritan Passions." Everybody who has seen it says so—critical critics, experienced exhibitors. The premiere in a small New England town where $3.00 a seat was charged, and the thearte was packed to the doors, demonstrated its remarkable drawing powers.

Some of the reasons for this are plainly evident.

The Star—Glenn Hunter, the best known, best liked, and by long odds highest gifted young actor on the American stage to-day. Witness his "Merton of the Movies."

The Story—Based upon Perry Mackaye's brilliant stage play "The Scarecrow." A whimsical wondrous tale of love, with intrigue, sin, adventure and witches as a back ground, in a quaint old Salem town.

The Scenes—All placed where the forefathers of this land of ours had their trials and triumphs, and there are no more engrossing pages in history than those which tell of the days of the Puritans.

The Situations—Unlike any ever shown on the screen before. Each one entirely unexpected. You sit entranced, not daring to move, as every interesting situation is followed by another even more interesting

The Suspense—It starts with the very first flash on the screen, and grows greater and greater until the end of the story. There is not one single moment when the suspense lags or disappears.

HELD AN EXCURSION.

The Stern Star L.O.B.A. No. 525, ran a very successful moonlight excursion last evening. Despite the very unfavorable weather the public turned out in large numbers and the boat was well filled, while everybody enjoyed the splendid music rendered by the "B"Hap"E"4 Orchestra.

A RECITAL.

Notwithstanding the bad weather last evening, there was a very good attendance in the hall of the Conservatory of Music for the recital by the senior piano and vocal pupils of Mrs. W. A. Greenslade. The different members of the two classes acquitted themselves admirably, and received an enthusiastic response from their audience. An attendant at the recital last evening was Mr. Peter Kennedy, examiner for the Canadian Academy of Music, Toronto, who spoke very highly to Mrs. Greenslade regarding the excellent work of her pupils. The solo 'cello numbers by Martin Chenhall, Jr., pupil of Boris Hambourg, Toronto, were a very attractive adjunct to the programme, which was as follows;

"Les Papillons Roses," by Thome, played by Helen Turner, a clever young pupil, in excellent fashion; "Piper of Love," by Carew, sung by Miss Violet Buckham in sweet, clear soprano voice; "Resignation," by Cara Roma, sung by Miss Hilda Broom, who has a rich, attractive mezzo-soprano; "The Two Larks," by Leschetizky, played by Mrs. Jas. Ellis, with a splendid display of careful technique; "Bells of the Sea" by Solman, a much-enjoyed bass solo by Hubert Lowes, in full, rotund tones; 'Snowflakes," by Cowen, sung by Miss Mary Wood, possessor of a pleasing contralto voice; "Rondo Brillianta," by Weber, played by Miss Florence Saunders, a pupil whose work shows much promise, and whose clear, elastic touch and brilliant delivery made her rendition very attractive; "Thank God for a Garden,' by Teresa del Riego, sung by Miss Marion Clark, in firm, true soprano tones; "Kamenoi Ostrow," by Rubenstein, played in excellent style by Miss Mary Wood; "I'll Sing Thee Songs of Araby," by Clary, sung by Harold Snelgrove, whose warm, clear tenor tones were much appreciated; "Be Still, Blackbird," by Sanderson, sung by Miss Florence Saunders, in sweet soprano voice; "Song of the Robin," by Case, sung by Miss Greta LeBarr, in her usual charming, effective style. Miss LeBarr's sweet, clear soprano voice was also heard to much advantage in a second number, 'My Prayer," by Squire ,with a very pretty 'cello obligato, played by Martin Chenhall.

A concerto, difficult, but played with ease and skill, followed, in the third movement from Mendelssohn's Concerto in G minor, Miss Florence Saunders playing the solo, with accompaniment by Miss Mary Wood and a final vocal number, the "Magnetic Waltz Song" by Arditi, sung by Mrs. Mendell Braund, in a clear, sweet, powerful voice.

A much enjoyed and heartily appreciated interlude in the piano and vocal numbers was the 'cello playing of Martin Chenhall, Junior, whose careful interpretations and smooth, round tone, was effectively displayed in two fine selections; "La Vision de ma Mere," and "My Heart a Thy Sweet Voice," the latter number from the opera 'Samson and Delilah.'

Kiwanis Midgets Beat J. Primeau's Rotarians

In a Midget fixture at the Exhibition Grounds last night between the Kiwanis and the Rotary, the former won by the score of 5 to 4. The game went seven innings, and was one of the closest and most exciting Midget games played this year. Roy Lewis, on the mound for the Kiwanis, pitched sterling ball, and had a long string of strike-outs, while Guirey, for the Rotarians, also turned in a nice game. Both pitchers pitched steady ball and had plenty of speed. The game was very close throughout, and both teams were running neck and neck until the seventh inning, when two of the Kiwanis players crossed the plate. Kiwanis scored one for to start with, but the Rotarians came back and evened up the count. The Kiwanis then added another one to their list, but the Rotary came back with two, putting them one in front of the Kiwanis. The Kiwanis evened it up again, but the Rotary advanced one in front in the next inning, and held their small lead until the seventh and last innings, when the Kiwanis finished up strong by manufacturing two tallies in a row.

The teams lined up as follows:

Rotary—Guirey p, Carl C. Creary 1b, Goodfellow 2b, LeBarr ss, Archambault 3b, Gillespie lf, Graham cf, Koster rf.

Kiwanis—Westbrooke cf, Jennings 3b, Lewis p, Martin lf, Neville rf, Wolfe 2b, Spencer c, Marshall 1b, Nixon ss.

Bill Jackson umpired.

CROWD BUYERS LOCL MARKET

Variety of Offerings From From Diamond Stick Pins to Ice Cream Cones.

There was a fairly large crowd of buyers on the farmers' market this morning, with some new produce on view, in small quantities. Local strawberries were selling at 25 cents a box, and early cabbage was 15 cents a head. New potatoes were selling at 65 cents a peck. The old variety were 45 cents a peck, and ranged in price per bag all the way from $2.25 to $2.50. New beets were 3 bunches for 25, and radishes 3 for a dime.

Cabbage plants, from Denmark seeds, were 25 cents, and pepper plants were two for 35 cents. The vendors who had flowers were sold right out at an early hour, by purchasers seeking Decoration Day bouquets, which had a price of 25 and 75 cents a bunch.

A single load of hay was $17, and a vendor of wood had a soft 12" load at $7.

One of the upstair vendors had a basket of cool green gooseberries, at 10 cents a pint.

Little pigs were scarce and far between. What there were sold for $7 a pair, and small collie pups were a dollar apiece.

The crowd on the open section had various centers of interest. Two auctioneers were near neighbors, dispensing various articles. There was a glib-tongued gentleman, expatiating on the merits of a certain type of razor strop and two others, one with a silk hat of ancient vintage each had a small audience, ready to part with the sum of two bits, for prize packages which contained a real Montana diamond stick pin, with a stone of two and a quarter carats, a pair of silvered wire arm bands, an adjustable collar-button, a soft collar pin and a pair of cuff links. A variation to this concerted offering was a package containing three articles, X-ray, a compass, and a useful affair called "a look back", enabling the purchaser to so adjust his visage as to be able to see his immediate followers in the rear.

An innovation this morning was a young girl vendor of ice cream cones, selling her wares out of a motor-car at the curb.

In the basket section, eggs and butter were plentiful, the latter packed with the ice that the weather demands. Butter ranged in price from 30 to 33 cents per pound, and eggs were 25 to 27 cents per dozen. Cream was 25 and 30 cents a pint.

There was plenty of fowl, hens selling at 23 cents a pound, delicate spring chickens in bright yellow and white, at 40 and 50 cents a pound, a big turkey at 25 cents, and a duck weighing 3 pounds and 10 ounces at $1.00.

Eight Were Killed In Severe Tornado

PEORIA, Ill., June 28. — Eight persons were killed and scores injured in a tornado which broke over Peoria and the surrounding territory early this morning, according to the available reports. The bodies of a woman and her baby were found in a field far from their home at Cloverdale, and at Morton two are reported killed and many injured.

Rotary-Annes Inspect The Rotary Boys' Camp

On Friday a party of Rotarians and Rotary Annes, 27 in number, went to the Rotary Boys' Camp at Clear Lake, to allow the ladies to inspect the camp before its official opening. Two cars motored the entire distance, the majority of the party driving to South Beach, thence by launch to the camp, where inspection was made of the new articles donated by the ladies, including a quantity of flat table ware, and blue and white granite dishes. A jolly tea concluded the unofficial house warming of the camp for this year.

BUSH FIRES ARE GETTING WORSE

Fire Rangers at Algonquin Park Now Have Seven Pumps and an Airplane at Their Disposal.

TORONTO, June 28.—(Canadian Press).—The bush fire situation throughout the Province is a fairly average one, and is not as bad as yet as last year, stated an official at the Parliament Buildings this morning when asked regarding the seriousness reported in Northern Ontario.

At one of the largest of the fires in the Booth limits at Algonquin Park the fire rangers now have seven pumps and an airplane at their disposal. Latest reports reaching the Forestry Department here were to the effect that the fire was still raging, despite the efforts of over three hundred men to get it under control. In the Parry Sound and Muskoka district it is very dry, there having been no rain, except a few slight showers, for six weeks. High winds are prevailing to-day, but the fires in the McConkey and Himsworth Townships are under control, while other fires are reported from Blair, Harrison and Wilson Townships.

Conditions are good around Cochrane, and no fires are reported from there. Some small fires, all under control, are reported in the Sudbury district. In the western end of the Province, Rainy River and the northern part of the Nipigon and Kenora districts, no fires have been reported, but in the southern district there are fires at Dog Lake and Black Sturgeon Lake. These are under control. The weather has been warm during the past week, with some rain in all districts. In Northern Soo district the weather is cool and showery, and no danger is reported, but in the southern district, Sault Ste. Marie and Blind Rivers territory, everything is drying out and fire hazard rising. Four pumps and a crew of men have the fire at Mongoose, on the Algoma Central Railway, under control, while several smaller ones are also under control.

In the Trent district, Central Ontario, several small fires, all under control, are reported.

CLOSE DEBATE CHURCH UNION

Bill Is Practically Settled So Far as the House is Concerned.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., told The Examiner this morning that the Church Union Bill was practically settled, so far as the House of Commons was concerned.

All the enacting clauses had passed, according to Mr. Gordon, except Section 10, which provided for the votes of the congregations as to whether they would decline to come into the union or not, and an amendment had been offered providing that the vote may be taken also by ballot if any congregation so decided.

Mr. Gordon said that there was hardly any question but what the Senate would ratify the action of the House of Commons, and he expected that in another two weeks the Bill would become law.

The Deputy-Speaker stated that it was one of the most splendid debates he had ever heard, and the speeches of the Prime Minister and the Right Honourable Arthur Meighen were of a very high order.

According to the Federal member, the vote on the Government side was 39 to 41, and the Conservative Opposition also broke about even, while the Progressive group were practically unanimous, with the result that he vote on the Bill carried practically two to one.

Mr. Gordon said he thought the session would end about the middle of July.

DEMOCRATS MISS OPEN FIGHT BY NARROW MARGIN

Ku Klux Klan Issue Almost Too Much for Hysterical Delegates.

VOTED DOWN

Tex Rickard Declares the Fight Was the Best Draw He Ever Saw.

NEW YORK, June 30. Canadian Press. — Emerging wearily from a titantic struggle over its platform, the Democratic National Convention prepared yesterday to plunge into another over candidates.

Balloting for a nominee for the presidency will begin to-day. A deadlock is in prospect, and last night the supporters of a dozen candidates renewed their predictions of victory.

The platform was perfected at two o'clock yesterday when amid scenes of confusion seldom paralleled in party history, a plank condemning the Ku Klux Klan by name was pronounced rejected by the narrow margin of a single vote.

Another serious contest had been decided previously by the adoption of a plank reaffirming in general terms only the party's faith in the League of Nations.

The convention's action on the all-absorbing question of the Klan apparently had no effect on the relative standing of the candidates except as it provided a further argument for use by those who are predicting that neither McAdoo nor Smith can be nominated.

The out-and-out Anti-Klan plank, according to permanent chairman Walsh's announcement, received 541 votes, with the active supporters of Governor Smith and many others friendly to him voting for it, while 542 votes were announced as against it, largely from the States that are giving their support to Mr. McAdoo. The Smith people declared the total recorded for the proposal showed the inability of McAdoo to muster the two-thirds necessary for a nomination and the McAdoo men said the votes cast on the other side meant the elimination of Smith.

The managers for the other candidates agreed with both of them.

As a result, the only discernible trend of opinion among the leaders as they weighed the outcome of the session and laid their plans for the battle that begins to-day, was a further sifting over of availables to which the party can turn if the two men now at the top of the list are both eliminated.

Almost as a unit the Anti-Klan elements of the party expressed their willingness last night to remain content with their defeat in the platform control, despite the narrow margin by which it was attained.

There was one suggestion that a resolution might be offered interpreting the religious liberty plank adopted as in effect a condemnation of the Klan, but the move had no indication of widespread support.

The convention's floor fight over the League issue had been accompanied by an unusual display of passion, but it became colorless and almost uninteresting in contrast to the battle waged over the Klan plank through the midnight hours and into the early hours of the Sabbath.

Bordered on Hysteria.

In two hours of intensive debate several of the outstanding figures of the democracy, past and present, played upon the emotions of the vast assemblage until delegates and spec-

Italian Premier Recasts His Ministry to Give Majority Satisfaction.

READY ON TUESDAY

LONDON, June 30.—(Canadian Press).—An Exchange Telegraph despatch from Rome says that the Italian Cabinet Ministers and Under-Secretaries have handed in their resignations so as to permit Premier Mussolini to re-cast the ministry.

READY ON TUESDAY.

ROME, June 30. — (Canadian Press).—Interest in the Italian political world is now centered on the next move of Premier Mussolini, who has promised to reorganise his cabinet with new stronger elemen.s giving satisfaction to the different shades of political opinions represented in the majority.

As usual, Mussolini has declined to give any hint as to how the new governemnt will be made up, and while newspapers are filled with reports of all kinds these are said to be merely unwarranted suppositions. It is known, however, that Mussolini has been in consultation with the leading political leaders.

Deputy Teruzzi, a member of the Executive Board of the Fascisti Party, is declared to have gained the impression in an interview with the Premier that there would be only three or four new ministers and that the Administration would be ready on Tuesday, when the newly appointed ministers are to take the oath before the king.

NEXT WEEK IS NOW NAMED AS END OF SESSION

It Has Been "Next Week" for Several Weeks, But Feeling is Strong.

CHURCH UNION YET

Members Sift Bills to Decide What Measures May be Left Over.

OTTAWA, June 30. —(Canadian Press).—Prorogation is now in the offing and the air is full of speculations as to the exact date. The latter part or end of next week is now once more the favorite in the batting, the end of this week having pretty well dropped out of the possibilities, but there is no certainty one way or the other. Leaders of all parties are now directing their attention to what measures can be saved and what can be left over to another session. The redistribution bill is still the great stumbling block to an early prorogation. It is generally accepted at present that a measure on this subject must be put through this year, unless some new circumstances arise to make postponement inevitable. Its companion bill however, the alternative vote in single member constituencies, is one of the list of measures the dropping of which is being considered.

The Church Union Bill is scheduled to come up again in the House this afternoon. It is in the committee stage and there are only one section and the preamble left for discussion. The issue at stake in the section is the method of taking the vote, either by ballot distributed to church members or at a meeting. The bill provides for vote at a meeting and it is generally expected that this will be adopted by the House. There is likely to be an amendment to the preamble to strike out of it the reference to doubts of the powers of the General Assembly and of Parliament which were the foundation for the Duff amendment for reference to the courts. The enacting section on this subject having been deleted, the corresponding part of the preamble will naturally be excised. The discussion over these points is not expected to be long, and it is regarded as probable that the third reading of the measure will be reached the same day. At this stage it is reported that amendments may be moved by opponents favorable to put the members on record. The vote taken in committee was informal and there is no record of how the members voted It is now generally taken for granted that the bill will leave the Commons in the form desired by the Church Unionists, and the Senate is reported to be unlikely to make changes in it.

Taxation Enquiry

The inquiry into the taxation collecting departments before the Public Accounts Committee is now put down to open on Tuesday. An effort was made to get a beginning on Thursday but it was the morning after the vote on the Murdock charges and no quorum could be obtained. With the end of the session so near it is not anticipated that this investigation, which was ordered on a motion by W. C. Good, Progressive, Brant, will make very much progress, especially as it has been stated by the Government that the officers of the various tax offices are not permitted by law to give information on particular cases.

Three-quarters or more of the Canadian National Branch Lines, have already received approval by the Senate Railway Committee. Three have been recommended for delay till next year, and two more are still to come up. The two which remain to be considered this week are the Sunnybrae line in Nova Scotia and the Kelowna branch in British Columbia. The Kelvington and Melfort lines in Saskatchewan and the Rousseau line in Quebec are listed to be laid over till next year. In all 21 out of 26 lines have already been approved by the Senate Committee.

Crow's Nest Agreement

A new feature has been pitchforked into the Parliamentary situation within a couple of weeks of expected prorogation. This is the demand of the railways for the abrogation of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement. Under this agreement, made in 1897, specially low rates were guaranteed by the Canadian Pacific Railway on grain and flour eastbound and on a number of commodities westbound. The agreement was suspended during the latter part of the war to allow the railways to raise their rates for revenue purposes, but two years ago the grain and flour rates were allowed to come into effect. Unless Parliament acts in the meantime the rest of the agreement comes into force on July 7 next and the railways are asking the Government to abrogate the agreement entirely with an alternative proposition for further suspension, if abrogaion is impracticable, British Columbia is supporting the request of the railways, but the prairie provinces are opposing it. The application of the railways was heard by the Cabinet at the end of the week.

HERRIOT GETS VOTE SUPPORT

Determined That Ruhr Occupation Must Proceed—Vote Was 456 to 26.

NO EASY TIME

PARIS, June 30. — (Canadian Press).—Premier Herriot is determined that the Ruhr must continue to be operated and that funds to cover the expense of the occupation must be provided, even though he should be defeated by his insistence on this point. He made his stand clear in the Chamber of Deputies on Saturday, declaring that to leave the Ruhr, would be tantamount to abandonment of the rights of France, and when he asked for a vote of confidence on the question it was given him, 456 to 26.

The Communists alone voted in the negative, while 94 Socialists refrained from voting.

Clearly the Premier staked the life of his newly-born Cabinet on the vote for the 205,000,000 francs appropriation. He caused a split in his majority, but his opponents, when it came to a vote, thought it best to permit him to continue, rather than go back on an occupation policy they had espoused throughout M. Poincare's tenure of office.

The difficulty encountered by the Government in putting through its first measure is looked upon as presaging a not too easy time for the future.

GANDHI PROVES HIS DIPLOMACY

Forces Swarajists to Retire From Meeting and Then Argues for Them

URGES BOYCOTT

ALLAHABAD, India, June 30 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters). —At the meeting here on Saturday of the All-India Congress Committee, which controls the organisation of the Congress, to determine the position of the Swarajists or Indian Home Rulers, Mahatma Gandhi proved that he is still a dominant force in the Indian Nationalist movement.

Gandhi submitted a resolution laying down that membership in the committee should be confined to those actively engaged in promoting Indian home industry by spinning at least half an hour daily and practising the five-fold boycott, including the boycott of the provincial councils and the law courts.

Repeated efforts to arrange a compromise regarding Gandhi's resolution, which was strongly opposed by Motilal Nehru, president of the Indian National Congress, and his followers were unsuccessful, and they, with other Swarajists, finally walked out of the meeting.

After the withdrawal of Swarajists the committee adopted Gandhi's motion by a vote of 67 to 37. Gandhi then urged that the clause in the resolution stipulating that officials of the Congress not engaged in spinning at least half an hour each day must vacate office, should be rescinded on the ground that it was carried by a small majority, and would have been defeated had the Swarajists voted.

The committee agreed to this proposal.

BIG BARN RAISING.

Sixty Bethel Men Helped George Patterson in Good Style.

BETHEL, June 30. — About sixty men gathered at George Patterson's on Wednesday to assist in the raising of the new barn. Alex. Keitle & Sons were the carpenters, and much credit is due them for the way in which everything was handled. The barn-raising went without a hitch, and all was up at five o'clock. Afterwards, all partook of a bountiful supper, tastefully laid out on the lawn. Mrs. Patterson was assisted in this act by some of the neighbour ladies.

TIMBER SAVED BY HEAVY RAIN WHEN MEN FAIL

Fire That Was Eating Up Valuable Lumber Checked on Saturday.

ON BOOTH LIMITS

Devastation Spreads Over 15 Square Miles and Forty Million Feet of Timber.

MADEWASKA, Ont., June 30.—(Canadian Press.)—Nature substituting for the apparently puny efforts of more than 200 men equipped with modern forest fire-fighting appliances and working desperately for the past week has saved the situation on the J. R. Booth timber limits in the south-eastern part of Algonquin Park. A steady drizzle which set in about one o'clock Saturday afternoon and developed into a downpour during the night definitely checked the hitherto untramelled onrush of one of the most destructive fires in the history of the Madawaska limits. The situation was so well in hand yesterday morning that the Booth employees and the provincial fire rangers were able to take their first breathing spell since the outbreak near Farm Lake, Preston township, on June 21. The rain kept on falling intermittently yesterday and the general expectation here is that there will be no recurrence of a dangerous fire among the smouldering trees and stumps unless another dry spell sets in with wind to fan the dormant embers. The fire rangers and the Booth concern will patrol the whole rim of the burnt area to prevent the possibility of the fire spreading.

As the result of the high wind sweeping over the district the fire assumed vast proportions by Thursday and was then considered beyond control. The situation was still desperate on Friday but the intensity of the fire lessened somewhat that night when the wind subsided. The rain which came Saturday, although falling lightly at first, brought an immediate improvement.

Splendid Timber Lost.

The devastation is extensive. Some of the finest timber grows on the Booth 400 square mile limit including white and red pine, hemlock and spruce and balsam pulp fell a prey to the flames. Officials of the J. R. Booth Limited stated yesterday that no definite computation of the amount of timber standing in the ravaged area would be available until cruisers went over the district. Even an approximate estimate of the fire loss would be guess work at this stage as the amount of salvage that could be done was unknown. "I am confident," Archibald McAdam, local superintendent stated, "that when the cruisers make a thorough survey the situation will be found to be not half as bad as it is represented. The cruisers will start out Monday morning."

J. H. McDonald, provincial district forester for South Nipissing and North Renfrew, estimates the burnt area at between 15 and 20 square miles of territory. Approximately eight square miles of this area was heavily timbered. In Mr. McDonald's opinion the probable stand of timber would be around forty million feet of pine and hemlock.

THE WEATHER.

The rainfall on Saturday evening amounted to .83 of an inch. This brought the total for the month up to about two inches. High winds and cool weather followed, the temperature dropping to below 50 degrees In another column there is an account of a tornado, or perhaps more correctly, a cyclone, which spread destruction and death in its path. This occurred south of Lake Erie. While these manifestations of nature's wrath are seldom witnessed in Ontario, they are occasionally seen. Many years ago a cyclone swept through the township of Manvers, to the west of this place. Where the cyclone went through the woods it left a clearance 50 or 60 feet wide as sharp and distinct as if it had been cut out by the woodman's axe. That we live where these outbursts are so uncommon, is a matter that we should be grateful for.—W. P.

Fond Mothers Line Up Matrimonial Prospects On Rumor About Prince

LONDON, June 30.—(Canadian Press).—Rumors that the Prince of Wales informed the members of the royal family that, having passed his 30th birthday, he will begin looking about for a bride, have already caused a hurried arrangement of an unusual number of social affairs to which the Prince has been invited.

With the arrival of his birthday, the newspapers reiterated their anxiety because the royal heir has not yet given the country a princess. Those supposed to be well informed say that the Prince personally has little desire to try matrimony and has already defeated the attempts of many of his relatives and friends to introduce him to the "right girl."

OLD HOME WEEK OPENS LINDSAY

Blaze of Light on Saturday Night Set Big Affair in Motion.

TWENTY-FOOT KEY

LINDSAY, Ont., June 30.—(Canadian Press).—Lindsay's Old Home Week opened Saturday night when an illuminating blaze from myriads of colored arches proclaimed a hearty welcome back to the Old Town. The town never before presented such an array of beautiful decorations. Incoming trains were met by the reception committee and a parade, headed by the Lindsay Band and the Temple Band of Toronto, headed for Victoria Park, where Mayor W. G. Graham officially welcomed the visitors and handed over the 20-foot gold key to Mr. J. J. Crofton, of Dallas, Texas, he having come the longest way home.

Decoration Day yesterday afternoon witnessed the usual parade of a thousand Oddfellows and Knights of Columbus, walking side by side to their respective cemeteries. Mr. Kylie and Mr. C. E. Weeks delivered addresses at the War Memorial, and Rev. Canon Marsh, Rev. Dr. Shorey of Picton, Mr. W. W. Staples and Dr. J. A. White delivered addresses at the cemetery.

Old boys and girls observed "Go to Church Sunday" yesterday, occupying the pulpits and the choirs. Hundreds of visitors and others are already here, and thousands are expected throughout the coming week.

LAKEFIELD CROP REPORT.

Warm, Showery Weather Has Helped Field and Garden Growth.

LAKEFIELD, June 30. — The farm and garden crops are in good condition. The warm, showery weather has produced remarkably quick growth, and grain and vegetables, also the noxious weeds, are forging ahead. Present prospects are for a bumper crop of strawberries, and the prospects are splendid also for all the other small fruits.

Hay will be a much better crop than was expected. The farmer is a very busy man, and very much more optimistic than he was a week ago.

USE OF FLOUNCES.

Flounces are used most interestingly on the latest French importations. They rarely go all the way around and are most irregular in their ways.

SCORES PERISH WHEN TORNADO WRECKED TOWN

Funnel-Shaped Clouds Swept Erie Shore and Destroyed Quarter of Lorain.

KNOWN DEAD 100

Probably $50,000,000 Damage Done to Property in Afflicted Area.

CLEVELAND, O., June 30. — (Canadian Press).—The loss of life in Saturday's tornado, which wrecked a large proportion of Lorain and parts of Sandusky and other Ohio cities, was not as great as first reports indicated, but re-checking of casualties last night showed that probably 100 persons lost their lives in this storm and almost simultaneous disturbances at Pittsburgh and in the upper Mississippi Valley.

The greatest loss of life was at Lorain, where the latest count showed 59 dead and 116 injured, a score of them suffering from severe hurts. The property loss was upwards of $30,000,000, one hundred and twenty-five city blocks having been demolished.

At Sandusky it was found that only six persons were killed, although a hundred were injured and property valued at $2,000,000 was destroyed.

There were seven fatalities in Cleveland, although the property damage was small. Pittsburgh reported five persons killed, while Nantua, Ohio, reported three dead, and Akron one. The death total in Iowa and Illinois was 12, making a death list of 93. The total property damage when reports from the rural regions are complete, will probably aggregate $50,000,000.

Despite the devastation at Lorain, where the tornado tore down a quarter of the city, organized rescue work went forward smoothly and State troops kept order among the inhabitants, hundreds of whom were thrown out of their homes and had to be sheltered in tents and with friends.

The greatest loss of life at Lorain occurred in the State Theatre, a four-storey building, which partly collapsed and crushed many of the spectators at a motion picture show. As soon as rescue work was organized on Saturday night, a survey of the situation led to the deduction that many scores had been killed, for buildings had been whipped down over the heads of several fairly large assemblages.

Due to the confusion and darkness after the storm Saturday night many wild rumors were current as to the number of dead and injured. As near as could be checked, the above figures are authentic at this time. The Red Cross and Coroner's Office, however, said it would be several days before any accurate count of the dead and injured can be made. Work is still being carried on in the outlying residential districts, and the total may change most any time.

AUCTION SALE OF LOTS ON SATURDAY

Eight Lots Sold Before the Rain Started—Good Crowd Present.

The auction sale of fifty-two lots, bordering Douglas Avenue, on Saturday afternoon, brought slightly aver a hundred to the scene of the affair, despite the unsettled appearance of the sky, which finally culminated in rain about half-past three.

Of those present, the great majority were employees of the General Electric Co. Most of these, no doubt, are now paying rent, and have aspirations of owning homes of their own. Others present were land speculators, who would buy if the property were sacrificed. A local bank manager was amongst the bidders, two real estate men, and a few women were also noticed. Probably seventy-five would be included in those mentioned, the other twenty-five were there out of curiosity.

Douglas Avenue is just one street south of Chamberlain Street, running east and west. The new street runs east from Monaghan Road almost in direct line with Brown Street.

The property auctioned for sale on Saturday comprised about six acres, the last of a parcel of 30 acres of land granted to the late William Lundy from the Crown, sixty-five years ago. The De Laval is built on part of the property. Since the grant from the crown, the land has never departed from the ownership of the Lundy estate, until Saturday.

Mr. D. J. Lundy, son of the late William Lundy, stated that at one time, as the older residents may remember, one could not walk through the property, as it was all swamp-land. About fifty years ago the late William Hamilton and other pioneer citizens, who had built along the drain road (now called Park Street) changed the whole nature of the territory by draining it. Later the Grand Trunk Railway Company bought a right of way through the property.

Now, the land is loamy and dry, and flourishing gardens can be seen in the back yards of residents whose homes face Chamberlain Street.

Auctioneer John F. Thornton, gathering the crowd around him, read the building restrictions, remarking that the terms of payment would permit of any person to purchase a lot, 40 feet by 79 feet, situate din the centre of a progressive building area.

According to the terms of sale, no purchaser could build within 15 feet of the street line or 10 feet from the west side of each lot, thus allowing plenty of room between houses for sunlight and a driveway ,and also restricting any purchaser from marring the beauty of this future avenue by erecting a structure fronting the sidewalk.

At the request of some present, a building restriction was inserted, disallowing any purchaser from building a house under the value of $1,500 on any lot sold.

The terms of payment required a deposit of $25.00 down and the balance, at terms to suit the purchaser, over a period of five years, with interest at the rate of 5 1-2 per cent. per annum.

Lot 28, a corner lot, facing south on Douglas Avenue, and bordering Monaghan Road, was the first put up for sale.

Mr. L. D. Letellier started the bidding at $80.00, followed by Mr. James Brown at $120.00.

The auctioneer could get no one to raise $120.00, so without knocking the lot down to Mr. Brown, he moved to Lot 24, the fifth lot from Monaghan Road on the north side of Douglas Avenue.

It was here that the Wall Street spirit entered the gathering. Starting at $120, the bidding raised quickly to $180.00, finally selling to Mr. G. A. Brenton for $200.00.

Next came No. 23. Mr. J. T. Braund bid $175.00 for this lot, but the auctioneer, failing to obtain a better offer, refused to let it go.

Altogehter eight lots were sold.

The sale was satisfactory, considering the brief period in which the sale progressed before rain fell.

The buying spirit came and went as the sale progressed. The bidding would be brisk at one moment, and on the very next lot the auctioneer would find no response to his efforts.

Made in Canada By Canadian Labor

The centre of window display attraction on George Street to-day is found in the local firemen's new uniforms which dominate the big show window of Grafton & Co., by whom they were made. Of good heavy, all-wool serge, admirably tailored and excellently finished and trimmed, these uniforms, 22 in number, including that for the Chief, it is gratifying to note, were made in Canada by Canadian workmen and from Canadian goods. Outstanding features of these clothes are their search seams (exclusive to Grafton & Co.) and their substantial bartell pockets. This order was placed by the city authorities through the local branch of Grafton & Co., and its execution emphasizes the tailoring art of skilled workmen, backed by dependable material and produced at reasonable cost to the consumer. These qualities, which have assured the phenomenal business growth of Grafton & Co., are also reflected in their ready-to-wear output. And the commendable slogan, "Buy made in Canada goods," can at all times be implemented at any of this firm's stores.

A LAND OF ENCHANTMENT.

Picture luxuriant forest land, 2721 square miles in area, patterned with hundreds of cool, placid lakes which faithfully reflect the fleecy white clouds that go scudding across a marine blue sky. Picture thousands of portentious little rock-dotted rivers marked here and there with ambitious waterfalls; or myriads of fern bordered, gurgling brooks on the banks of which is occasionally seen the white smoke from a camper's fire languidly ascending through pine-scented air to the leaves canopied over head. Such is Algonquin Park—the Mecca of the health-seeker, the paradise of the vacationist.

It is a land of unimaginable beauty where the canoeist can travel for weeks encountering no particular difficulties, where the angler finds brook trout, salmon trout, gray trout and black bass in profusion.

And in this land of enchantment, there is excellent accommodation for those who prefer not to "rough it." Highland Inn nestling in the midst of nature's bounties, offers all the comforts that good service and social life can bring. There are also log cabins close by for those who wish to compromise.

"Minnesing" and "Nominigan" camps both consist of a large central lodge, circled by private and cosy log cabins chinked with cement and moss, colorfully harmonizing with the surroundings.

Make Algonquin Park the scene of your vacation this year. Ask any Canadian National Railways Agent for illustrated folder.

Mrs. Holmberg Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Viking, Alta.—"From the time I was 15 years old I would get such sick feelings in the lower part of my abdomen, followed by cramps and vomiting. This kept me from my work (I help my parents on the farm) as I usually had to go to bed for the rest of the day. Or at times I would have to walk the floor. I suffered in this way until a friend induced me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had very satisfactory results so far and am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends. I surely am glad I tried it for I feel like a different person now that I don't have these troubles." — ODELIA HOLMBERG, Box 93, Viking, Alberta.

Letters like this establish the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking it.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills in this country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials prove this fact.

If you doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for Mrs. Pinkham's private text-book and learn more about it. c

ALBERT E. DIXON DIED ON SUNDAY

Well Known Local Barrister Was Ill But a Short Time.

The death of A. E. Dixon, a long-established member of the Bar in the city of Peterborough, occurred on Sunday morning, following a brief illness.

He was an esteemed member of his profession and a man whose kindly disposition made him many friends.

The deceased was a member of Peterborough Lodge, I.O.O.F. A Liberal in politics and a prominent Methodist, he was for many years active in Sunday School work in George Street Methodist Church.

The late Mr. Dixon was born in this city and entered his profession as a partner with the late Judge Edminson, in the legal firm of Edmison & Dixon.

The deceased is survived by his wife and two sons, Roy and Reginald, both of Peterborough. Another son Herbert was killed in action on 15th September, 1918. Two brothers, Joseph of Maple Creek, Saskatchewan, and Jonathan of Reno, Nevada, also survive.

ST. THOMAS GIRL WAS HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

ST. THOMAS, June 30. — Bernice Allen, the ten year old daughter of Harry Allen, the gravel road, was knocked down and terribly injured by an automobile yesterday afternoon.

The little girl was running on the sidewalk on Queen street, and when only a few yards from Talbot street she turned out on the road to make a short cut just as a car turned the corner, and ran directly in front of it.

The front wheel passed over her body, breaking several ribs and causing internal injuries.

The victim was rushed to the hospital. The physicians are doubtful as to her recovery.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Golden Rule Lodge Paraded to St. Andrew's Church Yesterday.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 30.—The members of Golden Rule Lodge A.F. and A.M. paraded to St. Andrew's Church last night for their annual religious service and listened to an inspiring discourse by Rev. C. F. McIntosh, who is a member of the Order. The portion of Scripture upon which the address was based was taken from Ecclesiastes, in which it is stated that all secret things should be brought to judgment whether they be good or evil. In the name of the congregation and of the session, Mr. McIntosh welcomed the visitors to the church.

A special musical programme had been prepared by F. Wigglesworth, the organist and choir leader. Besides the usual anthem, there was a selection, "Christian Heralds," by a male quartette, and during the offertory Mr. Wigglesworth rendered the organ voluntary, 'The Storm," by Lemmens.

Orangemen at Service.

The two Orange lodges, the True Blues and the Ladies' Lodge, attended services at the Salvation Army Citadel yesterday afternoon, John Ivey acting as marshal of the parade, which was headed by a fife and drum band. The speaker was Ensign Frowd, who with Capt. Hurst is leaving this week for a new field of labor. During the service Charles Long, a veteran member of the Army and of the Orange Order, rendered a solo, the brethren taking part in the chorus.

This is the first time that these societies have ever paraded to the Citadel, and all were pleased with the cordial reception that was given them.

Home From Detroit.

Clarence Rowe, who has been working in Detroit for the past year, is home on a holiday, and is now visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rowe, of Stanwood. He says that there are 250,000 men out of work in the big Michigan city, about one-fourth of the entire population, and that there are no signs of an early revival in industry.

Here From the West.

Rev. A. Rannie, of Calgary, is spending his vacation at his old home in the Burnbrae district. He is accompanied by Mrs. Rannie (nee Jennie Crosby), a native of Campbellford, and a teacher here and at the Burnbrae School for a number of years.

Mr. Rannie preached in St. Andrew's Church yesterday morning, among his hearers being a number of his old class mates when he was preparing himself in the Campbellford High School for a course in the University.

Personals.

Miss Ina Sayles spent the week-end with friends in Toronto.

Miss Mildred O'Keefe, of Tweed, is spending this week with her cousin, Miss Gertrude Callaghan.

AT THE REGENT.

The programme for this week at the Regent Theatre is as follows:

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday —"Singer Jim McKee." For this picture the price of admission will be reduced—15 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday— "The Lone Bandit," and another episode of the serial, "Speed." There will be the usual comedy features every evening. 1d-154-2613

2,200 VOLTS TOOK LIFE THREE YEAR OLD BOY

ST. THOMAS, June 30.—(Canadian Press.)—Jack Thompson, the three-year old son of Emerson Thompson, of Aylmer, 12 miles east of this city, was electrocuted at that place yesterday afternoon when he came in contact with a high tension wire.

During the thunder storm on Saturday, one of the Hydro power wires on St. George street, worked loose, and it is supposed the high winds blowing yesterday caused it to fall to the ground. The child, who was playing nearby, walked out and tried to pick it up, 2,200 volts passing through his body and killing him instantly.

TRENT RIVER NEWS.

TRENT RIVER, June 28.— Mr. Fred Fisher and son returned to Toronto yesterday, having been guests at the Cook cottage for a few days. While Mr. Fisher was here he landed an eleven pound pickerel, besides numerous lunge and bass.

Mrs. George Dickson, Miss Margaret and Mrs. (Dr.) Fred Free, of Campbellford, spent a day at Mrs. Dickson's sottage.

Mrs. Cuthbertson of Toronto, arrived to open "Sans Souce" for the summer.

Social Events in the Village —School Report— Personals.

HASTINGS, June 30. — The Women's Catholic League held a very successful sale of home made cooking in a vacant store of the Spellman block on Saturday afternoon. Tea was served by the ladies. Abundance of good things were put up for sale, and a nice sum realized for the society treasury.

Special Services.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian church services on Sunday were well attended, as the special anniversary services were held. Rev. James W. Gordon, M.A., B.D., of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Peterboro, was the speaker for the day. The Methodist church did not hold any service in the evening, which enabled both congregations to unite for the special services.

NEW YORK TO INSPECT QUEBEC'S LIQUOR LAW

NEW YORK, June 30—(Canadian Press).—To inspect the workings of the Quebec liquor law and results of Government control of liquor traffic in western provinces, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, has left New York with a party of friends for Montreal.

President Butler recently created furore by public address in which he criticized the workings of the Volstead Act.

GLENNA COLLETT WON

Last Year's Tennis Titleholder Retains Championship Honors.

BUFFALO, June 30.—(Canadian Press).—Edith Cummings of Chicago, national women's golf champion, went down to decisive defeat on Saturday afternoon before Glenna Collett of Providence, R.I., former champion, in the final round of the Buffalo Country Club Women's Invitation Tournament. The score was 6 up and 5 to play.

The national champion fought gamely throughout, but she was utterly unable to cope with Miss Collett's unvarying precision in approach shots and putts.

By this victory Miss Collett retains the tournament title which she won last year after stiff competition with Ada MacKenzie of Toronto.

AN ORLAND DOG MANGLED A CHILD

Animal Was Shot and Its Head Sent to Toronto For Examination.

ORLAND, June 30.—Mrs. Harry Herrington who lives about two miles south of this place, went to the farm that they lived on some months ago to attend to some berry plants taking her little girl along, who was some three years old. After finishing the work they went to visit a neighbor, Mrs. H. Hutton and when missing the little tot from her side, stepped to the corner of the house and was horrified to find the neighbor's dog, holding the child down and mangling its head, tearing the scalp badly.

The parents rushed the child to a doctor who advised taking her to Toronto, but on the arrival home a little later of the family doctor, he advised sending the dog's head up for examination.

Mr. Mutton shot his dog at once and Messrs. Herrington and Waller took the animal's head to Toronto to be examined.

The report of the doctors there was that there were no traces of rabbies. The child at the time of writing is doing well and Dr. H. Clarke of Brighton, the attending physician, says there is no immediate danger.

GERMANY ACCEPTS MILITARY CONTROL

Several Notes Have Passed Between Germany and the Allies on This Subject.

PARIS, June 30. — (Canadian Press.)— Germany has replied to the Ambassadors note accepting the resumption of military control with three reservations. These are: First, a month's delay before such a resumption in order to let the public opinion calm down; second, work to begin with the inspection of factories and third ,that proposed general investigation be limited to five points mentioned in the Ambassadors note of March 5, and that a general inventory of Germany's armaments which Ambassadors suggested should precede this limitation be carried out only at the latest possible moment. Several notes have passed between Germany and the Allies on the subject of military control and Germany was given until June 30 to make a frank reply.,

Germany's reply to the Allied note on the resumption of military control of Germany's armaments declares that the German people repudiate even the mere idea of war. All shades of opinion are unanimous in repudiating secret arming as impossible, useless and dangerous, it asserts.

The German government, the note adds, has proceeded in a thorough manner for disarmament of certain political organizations and there is no longer any question that they are armed to any serious extent.

DEMOCRATS MISS

tators had reached a pitch of nervous excitement rendering futile all further attempts at orderly procedure. Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state under Wilson, challenged his party in a fighting speech to openly condemn the Klan, and William Jennings Bryan closed the argument for the opposition with an old time show of dash and fire that was met alternately with jeers and applause from floor and gallery.

Then for two hours and a half the convention sought in a confusion bordering on hysteria, to determine its own mind. Time and again the roll call was interrupted by delegates who sought to challenge the accuracy of the vote of their states as cast by their delegation chairman. Back and forth swung the advantage as the voting aproached its conclusion and leaders of the opposing forces tried desperately to win over the handful of votes they knew would determine the verdict.

As the roll was ended an angry growl of disputation swept over the convention hall in rising volume, chairs were overturned, two or three state standards were wrecked, and there were several personal encounters on the floor and the speaker's platform.

The balance turned finally when, at the end of the roll call, two delegates from Georgia, the home state of the Klan, changed their votes and asked that they be recorded against the plank naming the Klan. They were Pleasant A. Stovall, the Savannah publisher, and Miss Marion Colley, of Washington, Ga. Rising in her place after other members of the delegation had gathered about her in earnest discussion, Miss Colley tearfully, and in a faint and quaking voice, announced her final decision, and attempted, in vain, amid the din of the convention hall, to explain why she could not vote to criticize the Klan.

Earlier in the session the Georgia group had been the target for a long and bitter demonstration against the Klan, after one of the dissenters among them, Andrew C. Erwin, of Athens, had taken the Speaker's stand and pleaded with the convention to take an open stand against the Invisible Empire. A score of anti-Klan delegations assembled their standards in a scornful, taunting ring about the Georgians, and Erwin was lifted to the shoulders of the demonstrators and carried twice around the hall at the head of a howling procession of delegates.

Police Intervened.

In the final moments before the result was announced, Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to Woodrow Wilson, while he was in the White House, led a determined campaign on the convention floor to swing over the few votes that would write the anti-Klan plank into the party platform. The effort introduced several new elements of confusion and led to at least one encounter in which the police intervened. Acting with Tumulty, T. T. Ansberry, of Washington, D.C., who held credentials as an alternate from the Philippines, and Lawrence F. Quigley, Mayor of Chelsea, Mass., twice challenged the accuracy of the Philippine vote and forced a poll of the delegation. Later Quigley sought to question the vote of Georgia and then from his place in the Massachusetts delegation demanded a poll of the delegation from New Hampshire.

The drive of the anti-Klan cohorts did not end after the vote had been announced, and the adjournment found Quigley on his feet seeking amid the confusion to challenge the ballot of the entire convention. He was shouted down by those about him, however, and the anti-Klan leaders later declared there would be no attempt to set aside the action of the convention as illegal.

Like those who wanted to name the Klan specifically in the platform, the leaders who preferred instead the general religious liberty plank that was adopted seemed apparently satisfied after a Sunday's reflection. Both sides declared the sore spots left by the fight soon would disappear, and insisted that no party split would result from the public airing that had been given the religious disagreements of the delegates.

Everywhere last night the outward disposition was to leave well enough alone and to let the close vote by which the party escaped an open condemnation of the Klan speak for itself. There were many echoes among party leaders of a sentiment expressed by Tex Rickard, lesee of Madison Square Garden, and famous prize fight promotor, who remarked as the weary and bedraggled delegates filed out into the night:

"Of all the fights I ever pulled off in the old Garden, that was the best draw I ever saw."

Bad For Party.

According to many impartial observers, the nomination is not worth a penny now as a result of Saturday's public quarrel of the party leaders.

"They elected Coolidge Saturday night," is a statement heard on all sides.

storey. Frame buildings, filling stations and other small structures were demolished.

The 85 miles an hour wind hurled street cars from their tracks; turned over and hurled automobiles to the curb, bent and twisted around telegraph poles like wire; snapped off wooden poles at the ground and hurled them across the street and onto building roofs.

Some idea of the havoc wrought by the storm was apparently expressed by a local contractor, who said: "The best thing for us to do is to take everything away from the wrecked sections and build from the ground up again. What is left is really beyond repair."

Thousands of trees are down through the residential district visited by the tornado, and the tangled wires form a spider's web over the stricken area.

Fortunately the power plant ceased to function almost with the arrival of the storm, and the fallen wirest could not injure the panic-stricken men, women and children as they rushed pell-mell from their homes, or as they were blown and tossed about by the angry winds.

The storm first struck Sandusky, about 25 miles west, at exactly 4.35 on Saturday afternoon. It swept Sandusky's waterfront, killed six people, and injured 70, of whom 23 are seriously hurt. It put the waterworks and electric light plant out of commission, thus shutting off the water supply and plunging the city in darkness. The 200-foot building housing the Cedar Point Pier was lifted and hurled nearly fifty feet into Sandusky Bay. The Yacht Club was torn and twisted into a mass of wreckage, seriously injuring City Manager Sadler.

A Cedar Point automobile ferry was just leaving its pier when the storm struck. The gas boat Columbus, towing the barge, was blown against the pier, where it sank. Passengers aboard were thrown into the heavy seas, but by the heroic efforts of those ashore, were rescued and sent to the Good Samaritan Hospital, where they were later discharged.

Property damage was estimated between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000.

Witnesses who saw the storm approaching said it was a funnel, or double funnel shaped black whirling cloud.

From Sandusky the tornado, belching torrents of rain, dipped about ten miles south-east and then came north again, striking Lorain almost exactly at the west corporation line of the city.

FUNERAL AT BETHEL.

The Late Lila Wood Laid to Rest in Fife's Cemetery.

BETHEL, June 28. — Mrs. D. McAdams spent Saturady in Peterborough shopping.

A number from around here went to Peterborough on Tuesday evening to hear Mr. Foster and Mr. Drury.

The funeral of the late Miss Leta Wood was held to Fife's cemetery on Thursday afternoon. It was very largely attended. Leta was only twenty-three years of age, and had attended the agricultural school at Keene all winter, where she was a general favorite. Her death came as a great shock to the community. Leta was the daughter of Mr. Edgar Wood ,who moved from this vicinity to Keene over a year ago.

WASTING TIME.

The readiness with which the House of Commons will waste time was never better illustrated than by the debate on the report of the committee which investigated the charges laid by E. Gus. Porter, M.P., against Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labour.

The House spent a day in discussing the report.

Nothing was gained by this long-drawn-out discussion.

On the other hand, there was much said by speakers on different sides that might much better have been left unsaid.

The tone of the debate was far from being in accordance with the best traditions of Parliament.

The language of many of the speakers was intemperate, partizan and bitter; it was more fitting for an election campaign than to be delivered from the floor of the House.

And what was the net result of all this tornado of partizan billingsgate?

A division that adopted the finding of the committee, which was exactly the result that would have been effected had the vote been taken in fifteen minutes instead of at the end of a day's debate.

When it comes to throwing away time, the Canadian Parliament holds a unique place—its record must stand alone and unchallenged.

CANADA'S BIRTHDAY.

To-morrow is Dominion Day, the anniversary of Confederation, and therefore Canada's natal day.

As a holiday at a most enjoyable season of the year, with all out doors calling to people to seek the open spaces and enjoy themselves, Dominion Day is a gigantic success; but as a celebration of the founding of the Dominion it must be classed as a complete failure.

In fact Canada's birthday is very much like the birthday of every human being: the older people get the less attention is paid to the anniversary of their entrance into the world.

Somehow or other more emphasis should be placed on the significance of Dominion Day, and in every community some effort should be made to remind people of the development of this country into its present status and of the event that is commemorated every First of July.

There are thousands of new citizens in Canada to whom Dominion Day means nothing — and it is not likely to mean much more than a day off from work unless there is a genuine effort to make the occasion memorable by some public function or other that will drive home the importance of the anniversary.

We are too given in this country to regard anniversaries of this nature as nothing more than holidays, with no historical or national significance.

No wonder then there is a large percentage of the population that would be puzzled if asked to explain why July 1st is observed in this country as a general holiday.

THE VETERANS' REQUEST.

Representatives of the returned soldiers of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba are to appear before the Parliamentary committee dealing with returned soldiers' legislation this week.

The delegation will ask for a re-organization of the pension staff at Ottawa, for some action for the relief of soldier settlers which is a Western question of some importance, and for a permanent pension, instead of the present bonus system.

As to this latter request, The Examiner can only hope that it will be speedily granted.

If the report of the special committee does not recommend that the bonus now being paid be made a permanent addition to the present pension of disabled veterans and of the wives and dependents of the men who did not come back, there will be the keenest disappointment generally among returned soldiers and their friends.

The total of the present bonus and pension, if made permanent, would not be large, and the change asked for would give ease of mind to the recipients, who resent the bonus method because there is no certainty as to how long it will last.

Let the Government combine the two and announce the total as a permanent pension, and there would be little further trouble in dealing with those who suffered the most in the great war.

It should be done—and done quickly.

CAMP ROTARY.

Just what the splendidly equipped camp of the Rotary Club at Clear Lake means to the boys of Peterboro is shown by the schedule of different organizations which are to have the advantage of the camp plant during the summer.

At present Mr. Herbert Mowat, who will later on have charge of the Rotarian Camp for under-privileged boys, has a school of boy leaders at Clear Lake, the services of some of whom will be called on during the summer.

The Y.M.C.A. boys go into camp next week, and after their two weeks the Rotary boys have their outing, followed by the boys of the Holy Name Society, and finally for the last two weeks of August it is expected that the Boy Scouts will have the use of the camp.

That means that there will be five different camp parties during the summer, and as there is ample accommodation for some fifty-five boys at one time, the way is open for a most enjoyable holiday for in the neighborhood of 275 youngsters.

Many of these boys could not possibly have the benefit of a two weeks' vacation under ideal conditions were it not for the complete establishment provided by the Peterboro Rotary Club.

The Rotarians and the Rotary-annes, who have taken a big part in the furnishing of the camp equipment, have done a fine thing for young Peterboro in the establishment of this most complete camp, and in making it possible for scores of boys hitherto shut off from such experiences to enjoy two weeks in the open air and the beautiful scenery of the Kawarthas.

The boys who are to be guests there this year should return better citizens as a result of their sojourn at Camp Rotary.

THAT DRIFT AWAY FROM DEMOCRACY.

Much has been written lately on the apparent reaction against democracy, or, more strictly, against parliamentary government and equal suffrage, says the Chicago Daily News. According to some thinkers, popular sovereignty is a fiction or a lamentable failure, and good government is impossible except under frank minority rule—the rule of the wise and the competent who are sincerely devoted to the common good.

That view is superficial. As a contributor to the Atlantic Monthly recently pointed out, a deeper diagnosis of the present ills of republican and representative government reveals that the trouble comes from the intolerance of minorities and the unwillingness of self-styled progressives and champions of the people to acquiesce in decisions reached according to sound and workable democratic principles.

Dictatorships have been resorted to or threatened in Europe because orderly popular rule had broken down. Willful individuals, would-be bosses and small cliques have refused to abide by the will of the majority, have obstructed and filibustered, have caused prolonged deadlocks, and have even talked of physical violence. Many parliamentary sessions have been riotously noisy and some have ended in disgraceful fist fights.

Even in the United States or in the British House of Commons such scenes have not been unknown. Just now in Rhode Island a six months' legislative deadlock has led to the use of offensive chemicals and collisions between two sets of public officials.

The remedy for the ills of democracy is more genuine respect for and adherence to constitutional methods of action. Within certain limits the majority is entitled to rule. That doctrine presupposes intelligent procedure, adequate discussion and, finally, a vote on the issue. Bloc rebellion, individual filibusters, defiant disregard of rules essential to deliberate but effective action, brute force and similar weapons argue conscious or unconscious dislike of and opposition to democratic government. Where there is a marked drift away from popular institutions the responsibility for the reaction rests largely upon unruly minorities and selfish or arrogant cliques.

DELUSIONS OF CHARITY.

May it be submitted in all charity that charity is making some of us so good that we are in danger of becoming good for nothing? asks Barron's. We are so anxious to save people from the unpleasantnesses of life, to say nothing of its toil and burden, that we are taking the stamina out of them. Unemployment insurance in Great Britain would be a case in point. Its result has been to make unemployment permanent. There is a fringe, and a broad fringe, of labor employable only in times of great industrial activity which regards the verge of staravation as something preferable to hard work. We have no right to make a moral umbrella of our English friends. We carry labor-saving ideas to such an extreme that we try to save the child the labor of learning its lessons. Man does not live by bread alone, and when the child grows up he should be equipped to provide himself with something more than mere bed and board. Part of the invaluable lesson of life is in those other contingencies which must be met out of what a man earns, like sickness and accident and babies.

We cannot eliminate these things by giving people something for nothing. What we so give is apt to be worth nothing. There are those we must care for, and heaven forbid that we should try to stem the current of private and unobtrusive benevolence. But we are asking a relatively diminishing body of taxpayers to provide out of their strained resources things which men should be educated to win for themselves as part of the discipline of life. Doubtless old methods of education were cumbrous and, in what actually remained in the memory, showed an inadequate return for arduous effort. But now, as ever, the reward is in the race we run, not in the prize.

What our fathers got from their education, including a knowledge of the classics, was the discipline of learning. It was the best of all foundations for life, and we think we are charitable when we deprive our children of that discipline because it was dull and occasionally painful. We see the fine product in a horribly notorious case in Chicago. Was not an occasional sound thrashing omitted from the education of those two young men? Did they ever have the discipline boys inflict upon each other, with an instinct which is essentially right, in a wholesome boys' school, unfeminized? Would they not have had a better conception of the relation of pain to the general scheme of things? Was not their education so good that it was good for nothing, because it was all rank growth without root?

GRAIN STOCKS

FORT WILLIAM, June 30.—(Canadian Press).—Another increase took place last week in stocks at the head of the lakes, not so large as that of last week but totalling 1,712,772 bushels of all grains, stocks now standing at 25 1-2 million bushels. The principal increase was in oats which increased by more than one million bushels, stock of wheat being about 700,000 bushels higher while slight lowering of stocks occurred in barley and flax, and a small increase in rye. Receipts of all grain for the week were half a million greater than last week, but shipments were heavier by almost two million bushels. At this time last year stocks were being steadily lowered but in spite of the very low lake rates it seems difficult for boats to secure cargoes of grain.

Following are the figures of stocks, receipts and shipments at the head of the lakes for the week:

In store: Wheat 16,971,451 bushels; oats 6,287,867; barley 547,276; flax 371,261; rye 1,532,619.

Receipts: Wheat 5,210,834 bushels; oats 3,134,817; barley 107,505; flax, 31,676; rye, 201,601.

Shipments—Wheat 4,527,468 bushels; oats, 2,001,476; barley, 239,818; flax 87,250; rye 98,640.

RADIO NEWS

By GEORGE BRITT

CHICAGO, June 30—Have you been troubled of late by a strange, buzz-saw sort of static?

Well, don't unwind your variometer on that account or broadcast curses at the atmosphere. The cause may be one of the new radio-therms, a boon to surgeons and a balm to the sick, which makes the science not only a commercial and entertainment marvel but a promise of almost magic healing.

Dr. Louis B. Schmidt here is one of the first surgeons to put the device into practice. It has been pronounced a success.

The radiotherm is simply an electric knife. The patient lies upon a metal pad which connects with the source of electricity in the instrument.

"Incision" Burnt

The knife is merely a contact point, attached by wire to the same instrument. When it is touched to the patient's flesh, a circuit for the current is completed, heat is created by the resistance of the body and the incision is made by burning.

Radio enters in the development of the current. Originally the electricity is drawn from an ordinary lam socket. That current, however, is not of sufficient frequency to develop the required heat.

Between the intake socket and the knife point there are placed two tubes, similar in appearance and function to the vacuum tubes of a broadcasting station. The current here is stepped up to a frequency of nearly 2,000,000 oscillations a second. For broadcasting purposes, the frequency is only about 40,000.

Boon and Pest

The great merit of the new radio knife is that it makes virtually a bloodless cut. The heat seals the capillaries. Also no pressure is required as with a knife, and healing is just as rapid as after any other known incision.

But while one of the new devices is in operation, there's a fearful disturbance in the atmosphere. The tubes sending out to the knifepoint a current of nearly 2,000,000 oscillations a second have no regard for jazz band concerts, news bulletins and bedtime stories.

That's the cause of the new "static" you may be hearing.

Ensure getting the repeat orders!

To wide-awake Wholesalers:—

One conservative manufacturer who formerly depended on his travellers for sales has just notified all his customers:—

"When you want goods in a hurry, telephone 'Springville 6284!' We accept the charges."

He writes us that it is making a decided difference in his orders. The use of this effective method of securing repeat orders is rapidly spreading through many industries.

No one is buying big stocks. Someone gets the repeat orders. If you haven't tried this method the results will probably surprise you.

RELATES VISIT TO FOX RANCH

A Peaceful Habitation Away From Human Interference.

EXCELLENT LOCATION.

Just four-tenths of a mile from Chemong road, in an enclosure comprising three acres, within the borders of a 13 foot fence, in the midst of a dense poplar grove is the home of 195 bright-eyed, cunning little beasts, carrying long, bushy silver-tipped tails.

All view from without is excluded and because of the tall bordering fence, the surrounding woodland and the natural situation, no sound from without can be heard. None except the keeper, entered the confines of this enclosure, from December 26th, last, until Jan. 22nd of this year.

Free from human intervention, these frolicsome black creatures run and play like kittens. Without the bounds of civilization, yet within the bounds of civilization, forty-four small pens, surrounded by forty-four wire enclosures, all within the confines of the high green fence, provide the homes for forty-one families of pure bred silver black foxes.

Of these 195 foxes, 100 are this season's breeding, ranging from tiny pups weighing slightly more than a pound to three months' old litters. One proud old pair boast of seven young folk just five weeks old, and the largest family on the place.

As a visitor walks down the feeding aisles some of the young will immediately disappear into holes that have been burrowed in the ground by their parents. Others, more friendly will stalk about, fastening their bright eyes upon the stranger, surveying him from head to foot. Still others will come forward, with ears pricked up, displaying a more amicable disposition, ready to eat from the hand a bit of biscuit or some other food, detected by the sharp, piercing eyes, in the hand of a visitorf.

The ranch is situated on well-drained loamy land, in the very centre of a valley. Tall birch and poplar trees, trimmed high, afford a complete shade in every pen. Within the sphere of the fox farm the spirit of peace prevails.

Just outside the green enclosure, is situated a beautiful cottage painted green and bordered with white. Here Louis Jack, an experienced fox specialist from Summerside, Prince Edward Island, lives with his family.

As the writer entered the feed room, Mr. Jack was boiling some beef for the many black creatures within his charge, in a 75 gallon boiler, furnished with a steamer. Mr. Jack related that he was just preparing the morning porridge.

"Porridge?" he was asked.

"Yes; every morning I feed them 21 gallons of porridge, consisting of boiled beef, corn meal, boiled rice, and linseed meal," he replied.

"In the evening, about 6 p.m., I feed them biscuit, and that is all they get.

Mr. Jack remarked that last winter in four months, the foxes consumed twenty head of cattle, and twelve horses, ading that "those two ill-fated cows you saw as you drove in are going to the block in a day or two to be disposed off like their twenty unfortunate sisters."

A refrigerator plant has been installed on the farm, and meat can be kept fresh in large quantities. A gasoline engine duns a meat chopper, a bone crusher and pumps water.

Space will not permit a complete description of the many interesting features of the fox ranch. A prettier spot could not have been chosen in the county. The scenery is picturesque, and no expense has been spared by Messrs. Patte & Wolff in making the place beautiful.

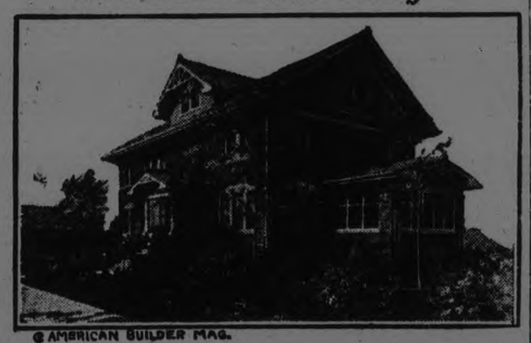
A clearance from the farm to the road has been made, dividing about half way between the road and the ranch, the southern branch affording a means of egress and the northern branch a means of ingress. The road has been gravelled and graded and prominent signs direct the traffic.

The large sign reading "Patte Wolfe Foxes Ltd." about one-half mile south of Chemong Park on the Chemong road, marks the place of entrance to the fox farm.

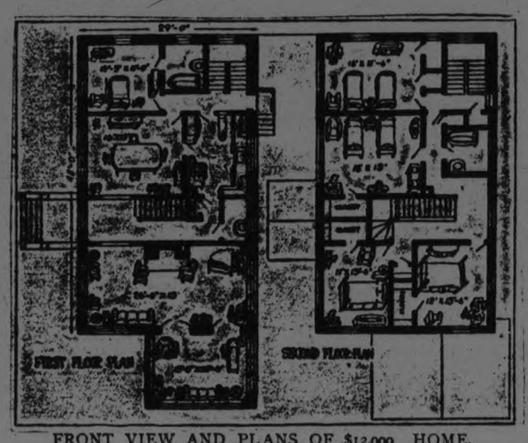
The breeding of foxes as a commercial enterprise is a rarity in this part of the country. Much more so is the sight of a fox farm.

There are so many things to see on a fox farm, that an afternoon would pass rapidly and a more enjoyable afternoon could not be spent than in a visit to Patte Wolfe Foxes Ltd.

Brick and Stucco Home Insures Durability



© AMERICAN BUILDER MAG.



FRONT VIEW AND PLANS OF $12,000 HOME.

The permanency of brick, its availability in nearly all parts of the county, the ease with which it is combined with other materials and ruggedness of brick construction combine to make it a favorite material.

This combination of brick with stucco in the gables and a tile roof is particularly pleasing and is a construction which should insure durability. The covered entry porch and the variations in the windows are largely responsible for the pleasing exterior.

Entrance to the commodious interior is effected through the reception hall, containing the stairs. This divides the long living room with the adjoining sun porch from the rear of the first floor, arranged for the most efficient operation of the dining-room and kitchen and providing for a maid's room and bath and a rear stairway. Four bedrooms of adequate size, all with roomy closets, are provided on the second floor.

The approximate cost for this home is $12,000, although this figure is subject to a wide variation. The cost of materials is regulated in each locality by the freight rates from the source of supply, each community has a different wage scale for workmen and the individual demands of the home owner for various features in finishing the home may make the cost price vary thousands of dollars.

Cream of Spinach Soup

(An unusually good soup. This recipe can be used as a base for any other "cream of vegetable" soup)

4 tablespoonfuls flour
3 tablespoonfuls Crisco
1 pint milk
1 cupful spinach pressed through colander
2 cupfuls spinach water
salt and pepper
1 cupful whipped cream

Heat the milk, blend Crisco and flour; add to the milk and cook until it thickens. Add strained spinach with the water; seasoning. Bring to a boil. Just before serving stir in the whipped cream.

Is speculation a necessity or an evil? Why?

Answered by
BARNET NOVAR
Lecturer and Writer on Practical Economics.

The men who grow cotton, corn and wheat have to plan for a future market.

They have no way of telling whether there will be an oversupply or an undersupply or what price their commodities will bring six or eight months later.

Here is where the speculator steps in. He is willing to take a chance on the future demand and supply and offer a price both to those who would buy and those who would sell. He stands to gain if his deductions are correct. In the meantime he assumes the risk.

Both the producer and the consumer now know how prices will stand on products that will not be sold for some months. If the price is low the consumer can lay in a good stock. If it is high the producer can increase his production.

The speculator thus acts as an equalizer between supply and demand and serves a useful purpose.

WHITE FELT HATS.

Clean white felt hats by rubbing with a mixture made by combining a quart of cornmeal with a cupful each of salt and flour. Let the mixture stand on the hat over night and brush off the next day.

WARMED OVER MEAT.

A few cloves added to your warmed-over meats will give a little added interest to the flavour.

FLOOR CLOTHS.

The upper parts of discarded stockings make excellent dusters and floor cloths.

"BOCK" HIMSELF WANTS BEER

Remember the Bock beer signs—the one with the ram's head? Well, old Bock himself has butted in on the Democratic Convention as a mascot of the beer and light wine brigade. Bock is here shown trying to get a "ihgh one' 'from Dick O'B rien, his owner.

A very stunning frock of sand-colored silk has wide sleeves of eyelet embroidery on sand-colored batiste, gathered into a narrow cuff at the wrist.

PIONEER DIED AT LAKEFIELD

Mrs. Margaret Southworth Passed Away on Saturday, Aged 75 Years.

FUNERAL TODAY

LAKEFIELD, June 30. — The death occurred on Saturday of Margaret Thompson, relict of the late Alexander Southworth at her late residence on Katherine street.

She was born 75 years ago at Kennebeck Road in the province of Quebec, the only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson. In her sixth year she moved with her parents to Upper Canada, settling near Hastings; later moving to Cheddar, Cardiff township, Haliburton county. At that time the country around there was virgin forest with scattered lumber camps, so that the family endured many of the hardships of the pioneers. She was married to Alexander Southworth of Belmont, who predeceased her nine years ago. Since that time she has been in frail health and on Thursday morning she took a stroke of paralysis from which she never rallied.

She was a woman of earnest christian character and during her residence in Lakefield made many warm friends.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Bertha Moore, Mrs. (Rev.) Grant and Miss Maude Southworth, all of Lakefield and three sons, Stanley of Campbellford, Leonard of Omemee and Arthur of Frankford, and two brothers, Alexander Thompson of Lakehurst and Robert Thompson of Haliburton. William Thompson of Mount Julian is a cousin.

The funeral service was held on Monday morning from her late residence, Rev. P. L. Jull and Rev. C. S. Reddick officiating.

The body was taken to the C.N.R. station to be entrained for Wilberforce, where interment will take place. Her brothers, sons and daughters and grandaughters, Misses Lillian and Gladys Moore, accompanied the body to its last resting place.

STRUCK BY TRAIN

Section Man Riding Velocipede Failed to Clear the Track and Died.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., June 30.—(Canadian Press).—Out on an inspection trip on his beat on the C.P.R. between Innerkip and Woodstock on Saturday morning, Sparling Knight, riding a railway velocipede, was struck by the engine of a passenger train and received such severe injuries that he died two hours later in the Woodstock Hospital.

Knight, who had been employed on the section for many years, was riding West and had reached a point about five miles east of the city when he was struck. The engine crew were the only eye-witnesses of the accident and it is not yet known just why the unfortunate man was unable to clear the track in time to prevent the accident. Knight was badly injured about the limbs and body, one leg was broken, a shoulder dislocated and many severe cuts and bruises were sustained about the head and body.

Knight has been a resident of Innerkip district for many years.

An inquest was opened last night and adjourned in order to secure witnesses.

INDIAN INJURED

Wandered on Railway Tracks and Had Leg Nearly Severed.

CHATHAM, Ont., June 30.—(Canadian Press.)—Moses King, 26 an Indian whose home is at Perry Island, was seriously injured on the Pere Marquette tracks near Merlin at an early hour yesterday morning and is now laying in St. Joseph's Hospital in a critical condition. It is not believed he will recover.

King was found lying in a ditch near the tracks at three o'clock yesterday morning with one of his legs nearly severed. It is believed that he had been drinking, had wandered on the tracks and was hit by a train.

A WATER PICNIC BY KNOX BROTHERHOOD

The "Bereans" Organized a Trip to Rice Lake and Back.

(By Frank Russell.)

Last Saturday afternoon did not present the most promising outlook for an end of June water picnic. It was then dull and rather gloomy, albeit at times glimpses of sunshine were to be had.

Shortly after one o'clock, however, folks, young, old, and middle aged, male and female, began to assemble on the George street wharf, alongside of which lay the Steamer Stoney Lake, with steam up, ready to welcome her passengers aboard. These grew and multiplied until somewhere around a couple of hundred had found their seats on board.

The outing had been planned by the Berean Brotherhood of Knox Presbyterian church of which the Rev. M. C. Mackinnon is the officiating minister. But they were not only Presbyterians who made up the party. There were many of other denominations who were among the crowd, doubtless having recollections of pleasant trips arranged in past years by this aggregation.

At 1:45 p.m., we left the George street wharf, and it was then fine, yet cloudy. As we proceeded down the Otonabee River to Rice Lake, the foliage looked very pleasant—one might say picturesque—having been freshened up largely by the rain of the previous night. Later on, we were caught in a shower, for a while, which proved to be intermittent during the greater part of the trip. However, we steamed down to Rice Lake, entering that body of water by one mouth of the river and returning by the other. Then we steamed back to Wallace's Point—now a favourite spot for picnicking. But only a short stay was made there, owing to it being so wet. It had been intended to land and picnic in the grounds had it been fine, but under the circumstances supper was eaten on board.

But the rain did not appear to have a dispiriting effect on any one. Everybody seemed happy, cheerful, joyful. Dancing attracted a number of votaries, while at intervals there was community singing, some of the selections being sacred, other secular, including a number of those lovely old southern negro melodies, Scotch song, and present, but fortunately not lasting, effusions, such as "Barney Google," "Yes! We have no Bananas," etc. A gentleman present played some of those charming Henry the Eight dances, which were very acceptable, these being real tuneful compositions.

The committee of management comprised: Messrs. W. G. Bartley, (President), M. M. Clarke (Teacher) J. W .Buyers, (Treasurer); H. Anderson (Secretary), W. Carter, J. Chambers, H. J. MacCannon, A. Armstrong, J. Trussler; Mesdames J. Chambers, J. Gerrard and T. Foster.

Total on First Ballot For McAdoo Was 431½

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 30 (Canadian Press). — The democratic National Convention found no candidate on its first ballot to-day. On the unofficial figures, McAdoo's total on the first ballot ran up to 431 1-2 and Smith's total on the first ballot ran up to 385 1-2. How far those figures represented maximum or minimum strength, no one could determine.

The remainder of the voting was scattered among the other candidates over a hundred to the scene of the in the entered field of sixteen, with two added starters, Houston Thompson of Colorado and Senator Kendrick of Wyoming.

C.N.R. Director Stewart Resigned Last Saturday

OTTAWA, June 30 (Canadian Press). — The resignation of James Stewart of Winnipeg from the board of directors of the Canadian National Railways, was received on Saturday. It is understood that his resignation was due to the fact that his large private interests in the Maple Leaf Milling Company and other concerns has made it impossible for him to give attention to the work of the Canadian National Railways that its importance warrants.

WORK OF A LOCAL ARTIST ON VIEW

Oil Painting by Miss Mamie McCarthy in Turnbull's Window.

"Waiting for the King's Favorite" is the title of the large oil painting which will be exhibited during this week n the windows of the J. C. Turnbull Company's establishment. It is the work of a local artist, Miss Mamie L. McCarthy, of 379 Park Street, and is an exceptionally good piece of oil painting. A group of jealous courtiers is depicted in the act of waiting for the king's favorite, just about to enter from the closed door at the left. The treatment and colouring of the drapery and furnishings, the excellent quality of perspective which gives the impression of looking into a large room, and the tense attitudes of the watchful men and the muzzled dog, are attributes that make this a very interesting picture.

FIVE WERE KILLED IN ILLINOIS TRAIN WRECK

GATESBURG, Ill., June 30.—(Canadian Press).—Four passengers and a locomotive fireman on mail train No. 8 were killed and fourteen passengers were injured when the mail train ran into the rear coach of eastbound passenger train No. 2 on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad at Buda, Ill., early to-day. The passenger train had stopped at the coal chutes.

ENNISMORE MAN'S HORSES RUN AWAY

Gerald Cavanagh Was Badly Cut About the Face This Morning.

About 10.30 this morning Gerald Cavanagh, Ennismore, was badly cut about the hands and face when he was thrown from his wagon onto the road. He was driving to town with a load of grain, when just this side of Chemong Park, on the Chemong Road, his horses took fright and bolted down the road, throwing him headlong onto the road. He was not seriously hurt, but he was badly bleeding from the face when he was picked up by Wilfred Jacobs, of the Indian Village. Jacobs was driving along the road when he saw Cavanagh running after his horses, who were making good headway towards a car which was going down the road. The wagon was swaying from side to side, but before Jacobs and Cavan caught up to the frightened horses they had been caught by some American tourists, who stopped their car and then succeeded in catching the horses. Had the horses got past the tourists, who got out of their car, they would have likely charged into the automobile and caused some serious damage to the car.

Knox Choir Presented Miss Allen With Gift

At the conclusion of the regular service at Knox Presbyterian Church last evening, a presentation by the choir was made to Miss Ina Allen, who is taking a position in Toronto. The gift of a handsome volume of the works of Charles Gounod was made by Mr. John Anderson, president of the choir, who spoke a few words of appreciation of Miss Allen's faithful service as soloist during the past six months. His remarks were seconded by Mr. Chas. Peaker, the organist, and the gift was acknowledged with thanks by Miss Allen.

ELMIRA GIRL WAS BRUTALLY KILLED

She Was Found Dead in Her Home This Morning, Mangled With an Axe.

ELMIRA, June 30. — (Canadian Press).—Twenty three year old Mrs. Lorne Bowman was found brutally murdered, apparently with an axe in her home here shortly before ten o'clock this morning and her husband, Lorne Bowman, was arrested fifteen minutes after the discovery of her body, in connection with the crime. Indications are that Mrs. Bowman was attending to her sixteen months old baby in an upstairs room of her home when she was attacked and brutally beaten to death. The attenton of Mrs. Bowman's mother attracted to the crime when she saw the blood covered baby rolling down stairs to a room below. The fact that the baby was covered with blood would indicate that Mrs. Bowman had clung to the child to the end.

Mrs. Bowman had just returned from a requiem mass for deceased members of church sodality at St. Theresas Roman Catholic Church Her head was almost hacked from her body and she died within a few minutes after being attacked.

BANK CLEARINGS.

The bank clearings for the month of June show a decrease when compared with the same month a year ago and last month. Last month they totalled $3,496,086, while this month they amounted to $3,203,453. For the month of June, 1923, they amounted to $3,296,027.

DECORATION DAY OBSERVED BY I.O.O.F.

Beautiful Ceremony—Several New Graves Were Decorated.

Yesterday the members of Peterborough Lodge 111 and Otonabee Lodge 113, of the I.O.O.F., observed their annual decoration services.

Visitors were present from Campbellford, Stirling, Warkworth, Norwood, Warsaw, Lakefield, and other centres. Assembling at the Oddfellows' Hall, George Street, slightly over 200 joined in the march to the Little Lake Cemetery, carrying bouquets.

Arriving at the cemetery, the Oddfellows congregated in front of the Chapel, where a beautiful ceremony was held, conducted by District Deputy Richard Ford, assisted by Robert Martin, Marshall, and Charles E. Wiley, acting Noble Grand for the occasion.

No band was in attendance, and no speeches were delivered. It was a quiet, solemn service, and at the conclusion of the ceremony the Oddfellows, with bared heads, decorated the graves of their deceased brethren.

The purpose of this annual event is indeed a worthy one; an expression of a noble sentiment created by a desire to keep fresh the memory of those who have been called to rest. Every year brings additions to the number of graves decorated, and yesterday some who a few weeks ago were active in worldly affairs and who participated in last year's decoration services were amongst the deceased brethren, whose graves were decorated for the first time.

The section leaders in charge of the decorations were Messrs. F. Wise, P.G., George Gillespie, P.G., R. Ford, P.G., George Hillier, P.G., R. J. Martin, P.G., H. Campbell, and C. H. Mowry.

The new names appearing on the roll of deceased brethren this year were:

Bro. T. L. Anderson, Bro. Wm. P. Adamson, Bro. R. E. Harding, Bro. I. Jamieson, Bro. Wm. Lyons, Bro. John Noyes, Bro. Thos. Rehill, Bro. W. E. Simms, Bro. T. H. Williamson, Bro. J. H. Wolstenholme, and Bro. Arthur Vass.

Collegiate Cadets Made Good Showing

C. E. Jamieson, of the staff of the Peterboro Collegiate Institute, has just received notification of the standing of the various Collegiate Cadets who took part in the tests in the winter series conducted by the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association. In a total of eighty-eight entries, including groups from many larger centres than Peterboro, the local boys reached eleventh place, with a standing of 94.33 per cent. The highest point attained was 98.17, and the lowest 37.1 per cent. The standing of the local boys is a credit to themselves and to their energetic instructors.

POSTMEN HAVE NOW REURNED

Postmen at Border Cities Resumed Work This Morning at an Early Hour—Mail Plentiful.

TORONTO, June 30.— (Canadian Press.)—City wide delivery of mail, the first for twelve days, began this morning, following a settlement of the strike of the postal employees last night. The letter carriers this morning started on their rounds with heavily laden satchels and the announcement was made by Postmaster Lemon that operation of the general postal service would be normal by to-morrow.

Following the settlement last night hundreds of employees immediately commenced work and sorting of the great accumulation of letters was proceeded with rapidly.

Hon. James Murdock, Miinster of Labor, with whom final negotiations were conducted here yesterday, left for Ottawa last night, where final readjustments in connection with settlements will be made and it is expected that an official statement will be issued by the Dominion government to-day, setting out the actual terms of the settlement.

Several hundred substitute workers were employed during the strike and up to the present the government's intentions with regard to their future employment have not been made known.

WINDSOR, June 30. — Postal employees in the border cities were back at their work to-day(busily engaged in sorting and delivering immense quantities of mail which piled up here since Wednesday, June 18 when practically every one of the letter carriers, postal clerks, porters and helpers, walked out in a strike for better wages.

A telegram from G. N. Jackson, President of the Postal Federation, brought the men back.

This was received here at three o'clock, an hour before the walkout officially terminated, and at strike headquarters where the news was received the men hurriedly assembled and marched back to the post office headed by their leaders and accompanied by Mayor F. J. Mitchell of Windsor, whose efforts for the last few days have been directed towards settlement.

Immediatley 12 experienced clerks threw off their coats and commenced work. The strike settlement terms were not divulged in President Jackson's telegram.

ROTARY CAMP IS UNDER WAY

Rotary Carnival Being Planned—Boston Baritone at To-day's Rotary Luncheon.

At to-day's Rotary luncheon, the approaching Rotary Carnival at Exhibition Park and the Boys' Camp at Clear Lake provided the main features of discussion.

Miss Muriel Bridge was a guest today, and Rotarian Harold Young eulogised the literary excellence displayed in the Rotary bulletins issued by Miss Bridge.

Rotarian Claude Rogers, in a brief address, outlined the origin and development of the Rotary Camp, located on Clear Lake.

The Rotary-Annes at a house warming last Thursday presented the Club with dishes and cooking utensils. The camp has five separate buildings, sufficient to accommodate 600 boys, and a dining capacity for over a hundred.

The equipment and camp, with the exception of a few blankets, are the property of thet Rotary Club, and Rotarian Claude Rogers intimated that he expected the camp to be self-sustaining this summer.

The first camp opens to-day, and will last to 12th July. The Y.M.C.A. will use the camp from 12th to 26th July, and the Rotary Club will occupy its own premises from 28th July to 9th August. The Holy Name Society and a Boy Scout group from East City will also use the camp during August.

The Rotary boys' camp was created as a result of the insufficiency of the boys' camps in this community, and altogether outside of the private subscription from citizens and Rotarians, the club has donated $2,000 to this enterprise.

The speaker announced that a charge of $8.00 would cover every expense for a boy attending the Rotary camp for a period of two weeks.

President Reid Wren issued few econiums to-day He emphasized the necessity for attending all Rotary functions and being active in Rotary enterprises. The President remarked that he was surprised at the small number of Rotarians in attendance at the Rotary-Annes' house warming last Thursday. An enjoyable evening was spent last Thursday and our friendship is always strengthened as a result of these gatherings, opined Rotarian Reid Wren.

The President urged the members to facilitate the sale of tickets for the carnival by encouraging their own sons to join in the competition for the bicycle offered the boy or girl selling the greatest number of tickets. "The success of this carnival can be assured by the advance sale of tickets," he concluded.

Mr. E. Naftzzer of Boston, rendered two vocal solos which were greatly appreciated. He was accompanied by Miss Muriel Bridge and the selections rendered were "Friends of Yesterday" and "Captain Mac." Mr. Naftgzer has a rich baritone voice and his presence at to-day's luncheon greatly enlivened the gathering.

The following guests were present: Rev. Dr. Rose, Mr. Naftzger of Boston, Mr. Jones, field secretary of Boy Scouts of Ontario, Dr. Fred Rutherford, Messrs. Dartnell and Tyre.

FREE SERVICE ON BATTERIES

Evil That Started With the Early Electrical Development is Continued.

WORTH PAYMENT.

Example is better than precept, therefore:

The motorist drove his car into the battery service station which had faithfully looked after the mysterious black box under the floorboards for six months, a service for which the battery service station had received no recompense and only a very small portion of genuine appreciation. On this occasion, as he brought his car to a stop in the service station, the motorist's attention was arrested by a large sign which read as follows:

SERVICING BATTERIES

Will include time and labor on the following items:
Test for Specific Gravity.
High Discharge Test.
Cleaning Top of Battery.
Cleaning, Greasing and Tightening Battery Terminals and Hold-downs.
And the cost for any item of this work will be

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Bill, who had always looked after this motorist's battery, approached the car, and the motorist leaned out and inquired, somewhat belligerently:

"What's the big idea?"

"Idea?" queried Bill.

"Yes," said the motorist, "what's the idea of charging for this service that you should give free?"

"Well," answered Bill, "it's this way. There is a lot of regular work has to be done here which takes all our time, and requires expert knowledge. Now, this service work takes time, but doesn't require expert knowledge. Yet, if we hire some one to look after it, and if we keep it up, we'll have to get some more men on the staff; we have to pay them for their time and expert knowledge, but we don't get anything for it. So we thought that when a man doesn't want to do these little jobs himself we would be justified in charging a small sum for it. But if you want to do these little odd jobs for your battery yourself I'll tell you how. You can do it quite easily.

It's So Easy.

"Every second Sunday put on a suit of old clothes. Be sure they're clothes you don't care about, because you might get some acid on them, and that would burn a hole. Better wear old shoes, too, because the acid would burn the leather. Well, once you're dressed for the job it's easy. You take out the floorboard, see! Sometimes it sticks like this. You've got to get a good purchase on it. There she comes. Now you work it out by your steering post. There! Sometimes you jam a finger or thumb, but that can't be helped. Now, There's the battery. Buy yourself a hydrometer. You can get one for a dollar and a half, and if you care for it properly it will last a lifetime. Now. By the way, you'd better get a pair of rubber gloves. This acid plays hades with your hands. Look at mine! Take out the plugs. See? Test the solution.

"If the hydrometer reads less than 1.225, but more than 1.150, it indicates that your battery is less than half charged. If your car is equipped with an electric starter, use the lamps and starter sparingly until the reading becomes more than 1.250.

"If the reading, however, is less than 1.150, that means that your battery is completely discharged, and you will have to bring it in here to let us give it a bench charge.

"Then, if you notice that the acid is below the top of the plates, you should add a small amount of pure distilled water. Never add more acid, and never add anything but pure, distilled water.

"Now, if any of the terminals are dirty you can clean them this way, see?"

The motorist interrupted. "Say," he said, "that's worth a quarter."

Bill had sold a good business idea. He had unsold the motorist on the idea which is the curse of the battery business today—free service.

No Service is "Free."

Canadian battery service men today are finding themselves in a position which some of them may consider unenviable, but which will inevitably result to the general good of the trade. The manufacturers of some of the better known batteries have decided no longer to carry the burden of free services as they have carried it in the past. They have decided that a business practice (rather an unbusinesslike practice) which is as obsolete as a 1920 automobile, must go into the scrap heap.

In the first place, there should be no misunderstanding about this term "free battery service." It was never free, and in many instances it was not service. It cannot better be exemplified than by the witty Irish bull employed by one prominent Canadian battery manufacturer in conversation on this topic some time ago. He then said:

"Free service is something you pay for before you get it."

That is precisely what "free battery service" has been.

To understand the situation, a brief review of the development of the battery business will be in order.

How It Started.

When electrical equipment first became standard on the passenger automobile, the various battery makers competing for the manufacturer's business strengthened their sales appeal to the manufacturer by assuming responsibility for battery maintenance. There was no more reason why they should have done this, from a strictly sane business point of view, than why the manufacturer who made the radiator used on a given make of a car should have to open up service stations and give "free radiator" service. However, it was done, and the outcome has been principally grief.

But the "free service" evil developed from another angle, too. With the numerous battery makers who were getting equipment business from the car manufacturers opening up service stations here, there and everywhere, or rather finding men to open up service stations in return for a battery agency, it soon became apparent that batteries were a little too good to be profitable—that is to say, there wasn't enough replacement business to keep all these retail battery stations going. Accordingly each manufacturer began to teach his dealers new tricks to get business. It will be unnecessary to go into those tricks. They were just plain, ordinary, trade abuses, further ramifications of the free service evil.

Who ays?

Well, somebody had to pay the shot. Nothing is free except the air. Here were all these battery men giving away "free service." Who was going to pay for the free service? Who pays for everything? The ultimate consumer. The car owner had to pay for this free service. How were you going to collect? If you said it's free, you couldn't make him come across, could you? That is just where the application of the Irish bull already referred to comes in. The fellow who was going to get this free service had to pay for it before getting it. How were you going to make him do that? By raising the price on batteries. The price was raised. What becomes of the money? Figures showed the battery dealer or service man a big fat margin of profit. What becomes of it? It was dissipated in "free service." When paying the high list the consumer was paying in advance for the "free service." He got his money back afterward.

He didn't exactly get his money back, either. Some consumers got their money back and some didn't. It all depended upon how much "free service" who used a little intelligence in the maintenance of his battery didn't get anything back. The fellow who abused and neglected his battery got a whole lot more back than he ever paid out. It was a fundamentally unfair, unpracticable, undesirable, unprofitable and preposterous policy.

Eliminate the Evil.

Now that fact has been realized. Some of the manufacturers have decided to put the service end of the business on a businesslike basis. They have decided to lop off some of that extravagant trade discount so that their dealers will charge for service, have an opportunity to merchandise their service and to cash in, to make profits, on their service. So it is now up to the trade to sell the idea of service upon a proper business basis.

This won't be hard to do if sound, every-day, common-sense methods are employed.

The first and most striking argument which the battery service men can make for a "charge-for-service" policy is that hereafter every battery-user is going to be put on an equitable basis. If he wants to care for his battery he will reap the reward. If he wants to abuse it, he'll pay the shot. He won't be assessed something like $10 in advance, when he is buying a battery, as his contribution to the "free service fraud." This plea can be strengthened by calling to the attention of the customer how the "free service" proposition came to develop. If he is in any way a reasonable man, he'll see the logic of the argument.

Again, the "free service" idea can be combated very effectively just in the manner employed by Bill, the battery service man, in the opening of this article.

Show a man that the service is worth something and he won't grudge paying for it. No wonder he didn't want to pay before. Everyone was telling him the service was worth nothing.

Individual advertising on the part to put the idea of "charge for service" across. The whole story can be told in newspaper display, and the general public likes nothing better than to find out something about business practices. The story of how the free service" idea grew, and of why it is impracticable and undesirable, will make a hit with the newspaper-reading public.

Group Advertising Helpful.

Concerted advertising by all the battery service men in a given locality will be even more effective. A sample of effective copy that helped educate many car-owners to reasonable battery service practices is reproduced herewith.

Properly selling the battery in the first place will eliminate a great deal of the "free service" abuses. The battery is right when sold, but, like all things of its nature, requires attention. Let the owner attend to it, or let him pay so some one to attend to it. It is too good and important a thing to leave at the mercy of such a fraud as "free service."—Pembroke Standard.

BUY YOUR OWN HOME

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., June 30.- Home ownership should come before automobile ownership, yet only half those driving motor cars today can be said to live in their own homes!

With this significant statement, Roger W. Babson, noted economist and statistician, opened a broadside against the unbalanced expansion of the automobile business in relation with the other basic industries.

"The time to buy an automobile comes when a person has a house paid for, or he at least has a fair equity in it," explains Babson. "Or he should have the equivalent of this in securities.

"We have been 300 years in this country building houses. The first automobile was sold 20 years ago. In four more years at the present rate of production there will be more automobiles than houses."

Lack of Balance.

There is trouble ahead, he warns, when such a situation vaunts itself. "People used to buy a machine only when they could afford it. Now they cut down on clothing, household furnishings, mental advancement, for the sake of the car. The automobile is gradually lowering the standard of living, and this is dangerous."

Automobile manufacturers have been killing the goose that lays the golden eggs, he adds, by this abnormal stimulation of their business.

"We meet business troubles in this country," he explains, "when one industry gets out of line with the others. Remember, I believe in the automobile industry, and I think the country owes a great deal to it as a permanent basic industry. But the best thing in the world can be overdone. The soundest prosperity consists in keeping a balance among all basic industries."

Half Luxuries.

Despite the contention of auto manufacturers that the automobile is a necessity, Babson estimates half of the cars on the streets today may be considered luxuries. His idea when a motor car becomes a luxury is this:

"When an automobile increases a man's efficiency it's a necessity. But when it does not do so, or when the money for a car, if invested in something else, would increase the man's efficiency more than the machine, then it becomes a luxury.

"When a workman goes to his factory in a Ford, leaves it outside for the day and thinks he's saving car fare, when the depreciation alone on the car is 30 cents a day, then that car certainly is a luxury."

CHICAGO, June 30—(United Press) An entire family of five, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Edere and three small boys were found beaten to death in their suburban home near here early to-day. The heads of the victims had been battered with some heavy instrument. Immediately after finding of the bodies by neighbors, Search was started for a weak minded man who had been living with the Edere family. The man's name is not known. He has not been seen since Friday. The victims had apparently been dead more than a day.

COURTS REFUSE RELIEF

Sentenced to Imprisonment, Natanson Was Put at Hard Labor.

REGINA, Sask., June 30.—(Canadian Press).—The Court of Appeal on Saturday refused the application of Z. Natanson to quash the conviction of three months imposed by Mr. Justice Taylor for a breach of the Saskatchewan Temperance Act after Natanson had appealed against a fine of $800.

On Friday it was revealed that the committal had been made out on a form which prescribed "hard labor" whereas the sentence was for imprisonment only.

The court held that it could do nothing to right the obvious injustice of this mistake as to part of the sentence already served and that Natanson must serve the remainder of the three months, but without hard labor. His application for bail was also refuesd.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarreled, and who had gone abroad. After the death, Paul comes home for the reading of the will, and to Wanda's surprise she finds she is disinherited, and that he is the heir. Paul dislikes Wanda intensely because of her behavior, and tells her she must leave the house immediately; she refuses and, in order to stay there, pretends to be ill. One night, however, Paul goes down to the stable and discovers Wanda saddling his favorite horse in order to go for a ride. He orders her to unsaddle the horse, but she defies him. For a while they stay there, each refusing to move. Then the lamp goes out, and they are left in the darkness. Determined to conquer Wanda, Paul catches her in the darkness and kisses her. She breaks away angrily. He complains next day of her to Mrs. Garnet. Paul forbids her to ride his father's horse, Lion, for which reason she decides to do so.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

XV—LION.

When she was dressed, she slipped down the back staircase without meeting anyone, and out into the garden.

Paul would be out somewhere on the estate, she knew, but she reached the stables without meeting him.

One of the grooms was already saddling Lion when she opened the door.

Wanda spoke to him in her old domineering tone.

"I am riding Lion myself this morning, Terrie."

The man looked up, his face flushing.

"Beg pardon, miss, but Mr. Collinge said—"

Wanda waved her hand.

"I know, but he's changed his mind. He said I could have him."

The man hesitated.

"Very good, miss," he said uncomfortably, after a moment, and a few minutes after Wanda was riding out of the yard.

She rode astride in the modern approved fashion, and very handsome she looked, with her slim, willowy figure and little boyish air of careless defiance.

Lion was a little fresh, and pranced and curveted coquettishly for some distance down the road, only consenting to break into a smooth trot after coaxing and many soothing pats on his satiny neck.

A mile away there was a stretch of open common, and Wanda had reached it when she heard the thud of hoofs on the road behind her, and glancing back over her shoulder saw Paul galloping after her on the powerful gray horse which had always carried his father.

Her heart gave a little throb of fear; she hesitated, then touching Lion lightly with the whip she urged him into a gallop.

That Paul would soon overtake her she had little doubt, but she meant to have a run first, and she laughed aloud with excitement as she bent over the horse's neck, coaxing him on by every means in her power.

Paul thought Lion too dangerous for a woman to ride, did he? Well, she would show him.

Once she thought she heard him shout to her, and glancing back she saw that he was gaining on her appreciably.

She dragged at the bridle with nervous hands, bringing Lion round in a swift swerve, meaning to take him off the common to the road again, where she would have a better chance of outriding Paul.

"Wanda!" She heard her name unmistakably now in Paul's voice, and she called back a defiant challenge.

"Catch me if you can."

She was out on the road in another second, and would have got back to Grey Chumley easily enough, but for the fact that a steam rolled suddenly out of a blind corner.

Lion, excited and nervous as he already was, shied violently at the encounter, and wrenched round and attempted to clear the hedge which bordered the road.

In the ordinary course of events he could have taken the jump easily, but as it was he jumped low, and a moment later he and Wanda had crashed heavily to earth on the other side.

There was a moment of shock and confusion, then the girl was on her feet again.

But after a convulsively movement Lion lay where he had fallen.

"Lion!" She dropped on her knees beside him. "Lion! Lion!"

And then Paul cleared the hedge after her, and flinging himself from the gray horse came running forward.

"Wanda—my God, are you hurt?"

She shook her head, and she saw his face change as dumbly she pointed to the fallen horse.

"He's hurt. . . . He hasn't moved."

But she knew before Paul told her that Lion was dead.

Tomorrow—Remorse.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

THE FINISHING OF AN OAK FLOOR

The finishing of an oak floor is a most important feature, involving cost, color and finish desired. Personal taste and artistic or decorative effects wished are the guides for the floor finisher.

First—Treat the floor with a paste filler of desired tone, to fill up the pores and crevices. To thin the filler for application, one has a choice of using turpentine, benzine, wood alcohol or gasoline to get the right consistency. Never use a liquid filler. When the gloss has left the filler rub off with excelsior or cloth, rubbing against the grain of the wood. This will make a perfectly smooth and level surface. It keeps out dirt and forms a good foundation, which is the keynote of successful floors. Allow the filler twelve hours to set or dry. Then apply two coats of white shellac before applying the wax treatment. When varnish is to be used, give one coat of filler and one or two coats of varnish.

Either a wax or varnish finish may be used. The wax finish is preferred by many, due to economy and ease of renewing places that show wear. The renewing may be easily applied by housekeeper or servant.

Wax Finish—The best method of applying the wax is to take cheesecloth and double it to get added thickness; then fold into a sort of bag. Put a handful of floor wax inside and go over the surface thoroughly. It will be found that the wax works through the meshes of the cheesecloth and gives an even coating over the floor.

Varnish Finish—This is usually more expensive than the wax finish, but it gives a very hard surface, which at the same time is elastic. One or two coats should be applied after the application of the paste filler. Any of the standard hardwood flooring varnishes will give good results.

To a lover of woods nothing could be more beautiful than an oak floor. It satisfies all the demands as regards permanency, wearing qualities and beauty. It lends a sense of pattern to the bare floor and makes of the floor itself a distinct element in the decorative scheme of the house.

A wood of less noticeable grain tends in some cases to become monotonous owing to its absence of pattern and variation in tone.

By following the suggestion as outlined above, one is assured of very gratifying results.

CLEAN SURFACE

A white oilcloth glued smoothly to one side of the molding board makes a nice clean surface for molding candies or pastries.

USE SKINS

Instead of using the whole mushroom for soup, you can use the skins and stems only, and have the rest for a meat sauce.

POSTAL STRIKE IN TORONTO IS IN LAST STAGE

Over Fourteen Hundred of Toronto's Strikers Registered Last Night For Work.

ALL BACK ON JOBS.

Service in Toronto To-day Will Be Restored to Normal.

TORONTO, June 30.— (Canadian Press).—With the return to work of all employees last night, eleven day postal strike has been ended in all centres affected. Within 24 hours, according to both officials and men, postal service will be completely restored to normal throughout Canada.

Termination of strike was brought about yesterday through personal negotiations between Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, and officials of the Canadian Federation of Postal employees. Men have returned to work unconditionally, relying upon the assurances given them at yesterday's conference by the Minister. The terms accepted in Toronto apply to the striking employees in all other cities, all of whom have returned to work, on instruction from the Federation here.

According to the men, their unconditional return is technicality since, having been discharged from the civil service, it is impossible for them to return except from the bottom—that is, as postal helpers, they state however, that each man is returning to his former position, and that they have assurance of Mr. Murdock that all differences is made by this committee officials of the employees Federation will be allowed to state their case fully.

Concessions made by the government include the acceptance of the return of men in body, while from strikers standpoint they have agreed to an "unconditional return."

Although the conference between Mr. Murdock and officials of strikers held in office of Postmaster Lemon ended shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, not until 6 o'clock was formal acceptance of terms given, by an unanimous decision of mass meeting at Labor Temple. Immediately afterward strikers paraded in body to postal station "A" where they registered and received cards. Over fourteen hundred men were enrolled and received instructions with in two hours. At 8 o'clock postal terminal was very nearly completely staffed, and to-day's service in Toronto will be carried on as usual. Letter carriers who worked last night sorting mail will start upon their usual deliveries this morning, while every branch of the service will be manned.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

The choice between the two sites is probably the choice between success and failure in the location of a grocery store.

By LAWRENCE A. ADAMS
Assistant Marketing Specialist U.S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

On Site A a popular moving picture house would be a neighbor and on the other side would be a busy repartment store. Across the street on Site B a meat store would be on one side and a bakery on the other. The rent is the same and both stores are attractive in appearance.

Site B is adapted to a grocery store, although location on Site A would probably be a losing proposition. This is explained by the buying habits of the public. Groceries are not purchased on the way to or from a theatre nor are they purchased at the same time dry goods are. Stores selling food products should be grouped together for the customer who is buying bread or meat will want groceries at the same time and he does not want to walk far for them.

Most Urgent Wants

There's a world of interest in the Want Ads. They reflect the urgent desires of various businesses, households and individuals.

The Wants tell what is most needed. If the cook has left, if a worker is needed in the office or factory, if an article of value is lost or found, if there is urgent necessity to sell a piece of property, secure tenants, roomers or boarders—all such conditions are expressed and met in the Want Columns.

The Wants are close to the heart interests of hte people. It is interesting to watch them carefully.

WAR VETERANS STREW GRAVES WITH FLOWERS

Decoration Day Under the Auspices of the G.W.V. A. Was Largely Attended.

COUNCIL ATTEND.

Cenotaph Service Was Followed by Mass Gathering at the Veterans' Plot.

In a service at the cenotaph at the Great War Veterans' Hall, and later in a gathering on the plot of ground in Little Lake Cemetery set aside for the burial of ex-service men, the war veterans of Peterboro yesterday remembered the soldier dead. After the ceremony in the cemetery they garlanded the graves with bright flowers and placed at the head of each the miniature Union Jack that will wave there until anewed tribute.

other decoration day brings its re-

Yesterday's service was unique in its having as speakers the leaders among Peterboro's citizens. Following the G. W. V. A. colors in the parade were His Worship Mayor Turner and members of the City Council, including Aldermen Nagle Phelan, M. McIntyre, Walter Stocker and M. J. Maher. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons; W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P.; T. D. Johnston, M.P.P.; and Rev. Dr. C. W. Rose, of Murray Street Baptist Church, were among the speakers, and Major N. H. Sutton, M.D., president of the G.W.V.A., addressed the comrades of that organization.

Hundreds of people crowded the aisles of the beautiful cemetery, and for this day at least there was scarce a grave that had not its burden of bloom. The sombre khaki of the soldiers was relieved by the medals that twinkled in the sun, ensigna of the service that entitled them to muster there and criteria of their kinship with the men who returned from overseas to be buried in these plots. The flowers they carried showed that they had not forgotten.

Carry On!

Dr. Sutton's message was one of inspiration to carry on the task left unfinished by the dead comrades. There are duties, he said, that must be carried out the year round to prove faithful to the acts of remembrance done on decoration day, and it especially devolves upon ex-service men to see to it that the dependents of their departed comrades are not left in need.

His Worship Mayor Turner recalled the sacrifices made by the men who went overseas, and spoke of the debt of remembrance due the immortal dead. He compared God's way of remembrance with man's and urged the citizens of Peterboro to think of the men who died overseas and those who returned to pass away at home, that deeds of kindness and help to their survivors might be a true medium of remembrance.

G. N. Gordon declared the people of Canada have not forgotten those who have fallen, and the gathering round their graves yesterday indicated that the people of Peterboro remembered them, and paid tribute to the living who had gone through the same trials with them. Decoration day means much to those who have lost their nearest and dearest. All the bonds of friendship and the ties of family were not sufficient when duty appealed to keep these men at home, but they crossed the sea to carry out the sacred duty they felt was theirs. "We have 45,000 maimed, injured and ailing Canadian boys returned from overseas, and there are 25,000 families from whom the breadwinner has been taken. We can well criticize those who fail to appreciate the great deeds of the Canadian men. They have earned the right to expect the fullest sharing up by the Canadian people in order that their dependents shall never be forgotten or suffer. This is a sacred day on which we are privileged to bend above the grave and lay a wreath to show that we will keep their memory green within our hearts."

W. H. Bradburn pointed out the necessity of assisting and providing for the families of the men who had died in the service of their country and of helping them to carry the burdens of life. It is a duty owed to those who gave up their loved ones and to those who gave up their lives that the people of Canada might live in freedom and peace.

Recognize Obligations.

Dr. Rose said the day reminds the people of their duty to recognize their obligation to God for the victory he gave through the men of the Empire. In distress the people cried to God for help and He delivered them. "But for His over-ruling and ——ating the purposes of our enemies we would be wearing the galling yoke of servitude. We are gathered here to honor those who honored themselves, their homes and their country. We have in mind the long marches, the bloody sweat and the Gethsemane anguish through which they passed. While nations are right in celebrating their natal days and their victories we who have gained such a deliverance through our God must never forget these men who lifted up a highway for nations yet unborn to walk on. We expect that our children, and our children's children, will still weave garlands for those who furnished this precious liberty when our actions are forever stilled."

Rev. Mr. Rose pointed out that their memories can be honored by obedience to the will of God which they followed, and by support of the League of Nations which is the medium of the peace for which they fought.

There is consolation for the bereaved, he said, in the assurance that "Though we die, yet shall we live."

The wailing notes of Lord Lovat's Lament, played by the Caledonian Pipe Band, merged into the plaintive sounding of the Last Post by trumpeters that in turn gave place to the rousing reveille, and the khaki-clad figures moved off as they had from the shallow graves of their comrades in France to take up again the common things of life.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

MISTER COON'S PARTY

"Why, I thought maybe you'd help me with that."

Mister Ringtail Coon came into the little store in the woods and walked up to the counter and said: "I would like to buy some party invitations, please, with pink edges and a picture on top."

"Here's the very thing, Mister Coon," said Nancy. "What are you giving—a birthday party or a dinner party?"

"Neither," answered Mister Coon. "I'm giving a radio party. I'm going to ask all my friends in to hear my new radio machine that I bought."

"That will be fine," said Nancy. "What are you going to say on your invitations?"

"Why, I thought maybe you'd help me with that," said Mister Coon. "You see, I am no great hand at writing. I sort of thought I'd begin this way: 'I take my pen in hand to ask you to——'"

"That's too old-fashioned," said Nancy. "Suppose you say: 'Mister R. Coon requests the pleasure of your company on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. R. S. V. P.'"

"Sounds pretty elegant," said Mister Coon. "But what does the R. S. V. P. mean? Refreshments Served Very Promptly, I suppose."

"Oh, no!" said Nancy. It's French. It means to please send an answer right away.

And so it was arranged.

Nancy wrote all the invitations to Mister Coon's radio party, and Nick took them round.

When all the neighbours received invitations with pink edges and a picture on top and such fine words, there was a great flurry and commotion.

"I haven't a thing to wear!" called Mrs. Cracknuts out of her front window to Mrs. Bunny.

"Me either," said Mrs. Bunny. "I've worn my brown alpaca with the white spots to every mortal thing that's ever gone on. And the moths got into Ben's best rousers, and I don't know what he's ever going to do."

"Oh, well," called Mrs. Squirrel, "I'm going to wear the same old gray I've worn for ages. So what's the difference. I got some new white lace for curtains, and I'll use it for ruffles instead. Ruffles are very fashionable, Mrs. Bunny."

That's the way people were talking everywhere in the Green Woods about Mister Coon's party. For Mister Coon was quite a dude, and when people went to his house they liked to look their best.

Mister Coon's parlor was on the ground floor, for many of his guests, like the Bunnies and the Ground Hogs and the Mud Turtles, never could have climbed his steep stairs.

Mister Coon was all dressed up in his best bib and tucker with a new striped necktie which exactly matched his tail.

He stood at the door and shook hands with all of his guests as they arrived. Nancy and Nick and Mister Bags, the fairyman, being the very last.

"Now we'll begin," said Mister Coon. "We will first hear some singing from New York and then a bedtime story from Chicago and then a band concert from San Francisco."

"Do tell!" exclaimed all the Green Woods people, settling themselves for a good time. "We're so glad you asked us, Mister Coon."

I'll tell you the rest about the party to-morrow.

IN THE GARDEN

It seem just about impossible to make a garden or lawn ugly and yet some people are able to manage it. The particular specimen of bad taste that distresses most of us is the placing of a large urn exactly in the centre of a small bare lawn. And some way this urn is always filled with brick red geraniums and cerise petunias, the two unhappy types of plants usually allowed to die a lingering and straggly death, through lack of water.

If one likes urns, and they are always so attractive in the right setting, why not place a pair of them at the fout of the steps? That is a somewhat usual arrangement but at least is always good. There, they may appropriately hold either plants or small trees.

CHIEF NEWHALL GETS A HOLIDAY

At Meeting of Commission on Saturday He Was Granted Leave to Attend Two Conventions.

The Police Commissioners held a regular meeting on Saturday afternoon, and in the absence of His Honor Judge Huycke, Magistrate Langley presided.

Chief Newhall was granted leave to attend the Convention of Chief Constables at Ottawa on July 10, 11 and 12, and the International Convention of Chief Constables at Montreal, on July 14 and 15.

The Chief stated that everything was going on fine in the Department but intimated that he would soon require an extra man on account of the approaching holiday season.

One member of the commission declared that a barking dog had been bothernig the neighbors in the vicinity of Water and Charlotte streets, during the night, and that he had had complaints to that effect.

Chief Newhall was directed to look into the matter, consult the Crown Attorney, and to take such action as advised by him.

The police department have had considerable trouble with the motorcycle this spring, and the Chief remarked that it is now being repaired, estimated that it would cost in the neighborhood of $100 to put it in shape.

"I am surprised at the amount," stated Mayor Turner, "but you will have to get it fixed."

This item brought the query from the Mayor "How do we stand?"

A consultation with the City Treasurer revealed the fact that to the end of May the total expenditure amounted to $9,900.

At Saturday's meeting payment of accounts amounting to $235.73 was authorized, bringing the expenditures to $10,135.73.

The Police Commission is keeping well within their estimates, and Mayor Turner suggested to the Chief that although everything is satisfactory, it would be well to do without an extra man as long as possible in case unforseen expense was in incurred through a break down of the police car, or something of that kind.

No communications or reports came before the meeting and payment of the following accounts was authorized.

Happy thrift

HAPPY thrift doesn't mean doing without what you want. It means doing without what you thought was what you wanted—and found wasn't. It means doing without such mistakes before you mistake them.

The only insurance against buying wares you don't want is knowing wares advertised. You can depend upon home furnishings, clothes, foods you see pictured and described everywhere. They are what other folks want, buy and are thrifty about. Wide enjoyment lowers their prices. Thrift again! And they serve to the very limit of their claims.

When you keep an eye on advertisements you save right. You buy what you think you buy.

Advertisements remove the blindfold from buying—read them carefully

KINGSTON WON FIRST HALF OF LEAGUE HONORS

Gallagher in Form and Petes Lose Fifth Straight Game.

SERTH IN THE BOX.

Turned in a Good Game in Spite of the Rain That Fell Continuously.

Kingtson won the first section of the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball League on Saturday at Riverside Park by defeating the tail-end Peterborough team in the last game of the first half of the schedule.

It was the sixth straight win for the Ponies ,who have been sweeping all opposition before them the last half of the section, after faltering badly during the first half-dozen games.

Gallagher was on the rubber for the winners, and was never seriously threatened. He allowed only six scattered hits, and did not walk a batter, and would not have been scored on but for errors by Daley, and Rice, the other member of the Kingston's home-brew battery.

Manager Solomon selected Charlie Serth to stop the Easterners' winning streak, and the Petes' left-hander turned in a good game. His curve ball was working nicely, and his control was good, only one batter getting free transportation to first, thus making only one base on balls issued during the game, a remarkable performance considering the rain, which fell almost continuously throughout the game. Serth pitched steadily apart from the fifth inning, when the winners bunched a double, a triple, and two singles, along with a wild throw and a passed ball by Swanston for three runs. Their other runs were scored in the earlier innings, mostly through errors. From the fifth until the ninth the visitors were kept off the bases, when Gallagher led off with a single, only to have the game called when the rain became too heavy to continue.

Serth also provided the fielding feature when he grabbed Gallagher's torrid drive in the fourth with his gloved hand and doubled Rice at first. Collins also made a sensational diving catch of Nickle's hard drive in the sixth, while Legon went far out in centre field to grab Batstone's long fly in the third.

For Kingston, Compeau continued his clever fielding, the youthful shortstop again demonstrating the fact that he is one of the finds of the C. O. A. B. League season. Purvis, the other youngster on the line-up, handled fourteen chances at first, and had a double and a single at the bat.

Kingston were not dangerous in the first. Nickle grounded to Collins and Compeau was thrown out by Holyman. Batstone got a lucky hit when he topped the ball in front of the plate and went to second when Swanston threw badly to first. Somerville ended the inning by flying out to Heckman. For the locals Legon was thrown out by Compeau, who also collared Johnston's fly . Swanston singled past third, but Daley was under Heckman's long fly to left.

The Ponies scored two unearned runs in the second. Collins threw out Cherry, but Daley singled between third and short. Purvis doubled to right, Heckman falling when going after the ball. Johnston's relay throw was high, and Daley scored, Purvis going to third on the throw. Rice walked, and when Collins missed Gallagher's easy tap, Purvis scored and Rice reached third and Gallagher second. Nickle flew out to Johnston and the same player threw out Compeau.

In the Petes' half Harrison led off with a single over second. Holyman popped to Purvis. Shag forced Harrison at second, Gallagher to Somerville, and Collins' foul fly was grabbed by Purvis.

Kingston added another run in the third. Batstone was out when Legon went far out for his long fly. Somerville singled to right. Cherry forced Somerville at second, Collins to Johnston, but Shaughnessy failed to get his hands on Daley's hard drive which went for a double, Cherry scoring. Purvis then flew out to Shag.

The Petes were easy in their half. Serth grounded to Compeau, and the Shortstop was also under Legon's pop fly, while Johnston missed three.

Rice, started the fourth with a single through the box, but Serth grabbed Gallagher's hard drive and doubled Rice at first, Harrison making a nice play on Serth's low throw. Nickle ended the inning by fanning.

The locals were again retired in order in their half, Swanston and Heckman on rollers to Gallagher, and Harrison was thrown out by Somerville.

The fifth was the big inning for Kingston. Compeau led off with a double to right centre, and Batstone scored him with a long triple over Heckman's head. Somerville singled scoring Batstone. Cherry forced Somerville, Holyman to Johnston. Cherry stole second and went to third on Swanston's high throw, scoring a moment later on a passed ball. Daley fanned. Purvis got a hit through the box and Rice flew out to Heckman.

The Petes broke in the scoring column in this inning. Holyman fanned to start, but Shag got a hit over second and went to second on Collins' sacrifice. Serth singled off Compeau, and Shag reached third, and scored on Rice's bad throw to second to catch Serth stealing. Serth reached third, but Legon ended the inning by flying out to Compeau.

Kingston went out in order for the first time during the game in the sixth. Gallagher flew out to Holyman, Collins made a circus catch of Nickle's hard drive over third and Compeau fanned. Peterborough lost a chance to score in this inning. Johnston hit to right field, but was thrown out by Nickle, who was playing in for him. Swanston rolled to Gallagher. Heckman lost a three base hit to centre when he was called out for not touching second, his long drive only going for a single.

The Ponies were easy again in the seventh. Batstone popped to Holyman. Legon was under Somerville's fly and Cherry fanned. The Petes scored the final run of the game in their half. Harrison grounded to Purvis, Holyman beat out a bunt in front of the plate and reached second on Rice's bad throw to first. Compeau threw out Shag, Holyman reaching third from where he scored when Daley dropped Collins' fly. Serth forced Collins at second, Compeau to Somerville.

Kingston were again retired in order in the eighth. Daley grounded to Serth. Purvis flew out to Shag and Johnston threw out Rice. Legon laid down a bunt to start the homesters' half, but Batstone was playing in for him and threw the fleet outfielder out. Johnston flew out to Daley and Swanston was thrown out by Somerville.

Gallagher opened the ninth with a short single to left, but at this stage the rain increased in volume and the game was called.

OSHAWA PUSHED DOWN ONE RUNG BY BELLEVILLE

Motor Crew Now in Third Place, With Belleville in Second.

END FIRST ROUND

Dainty Was Saved in Preparation for Tuesday's Game Here.

OSHAWA, June 30.—(Special to the Examiner.)—The first section of the double schedule of the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball League came to an end here on Saturday afternoon and Belleville shoved the local motor town crew down into third place in the league standing by handing them a 5-3 defeat. In the first round on the first section the locals took both ends of home and home games from the Quinte city, but the Railroaders, by a strong finish, reversed the tables and nosed Oshawa out of second place. In Saturday's game, with the locals out of first section honors, Webster, the right hand second string pitcher, was used, saving Dainty for Peterborough on Dominion Day morning. The following box score will tell the story of Belleville's victory here:

KINGSTON SITS ATOP THE PILE

Eight Wins and Four Losses Give Daley Crew First Half Honors.

PETERBORO OUT

OSHAWA, June 30 (Special to The Examiner). — With the first half of the double schedule of the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball League finishing on Saturday, two features are worthy of mention.

Kingston, under Joe Daley, after being considered out of the running in the early part of the season, came through with six straight victories to win first place honours.

Belleville, in order to finish its games on the date set by the League, played four games in six days, and turned in consecutive wins.

Jack Oulette, the Belleville speed artiste, worked on th slab in all four games, and a crowning effort for the right-hander was his first victory over Oshawa since coming to the Central Ontario League in 1921, and for good measure he made a double killing by repeating his performance by going to Oshawa on Saturday, and repeating, and Jack has earned the title of "crown man" through the League.

The official standing of the teams in the League as handed out by Secretary Knott on Saturday night, is as follows:

Team.	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Kingston	8	4	.667
Belleville	7	5	.584
Oshawa	5	7	.417
Peterborough	4	8	.334

The second section games in the League's double schedule open on the holiday on Tuesday with Oshawa playing a morning game in Peterborough, where Chuck Allen of Port Hope and Stan. Nurse of Belleville will be the umpires; while in the afternoon Kingston will visit Belleville, with Frank Hallinan and Billy Benson of Toronto officiating.

RAIN STOPPED GAME

Rain stopped the C.G.E.-C.N.R. play-off at Cobourg on Saturday afternoon in the middle of the second innings. The Electricians had just got their batting eye on Punch Derry's benders and were leading 1 to 0 when the game was called.

PACKERS TIED NORTH DUMMER

Junior League Soccer Played in the Rain on Saturday Ended 3 to 3.

UNDER DIFFICULTY

The C.P.C. Juniors journeyed to North Dummer on Saturday afternoon to play a league game, and after one of the best and stiffest struggles of the season the game ended in a draw, 3 goals each.

The Packers arrived late, having had trouble with one of their cars. Both teams were at full strength.

The Packers won the toss and played with the wind in their favour. Darling made a great effort in the first minute, Bradley turning his shot over the bar. Darling took the kick, Curtis relieving. The Packers' forwards went down in a line. Mitchell sent well into the goal, A. Jory coming to the rescue. Munro got well placed, and in turn gave to Bell. Bradley again saved by giving a corner. R. Payne placed the ball into the goal. Halliday headed out to Soutar, and after a nice run down the left he sent well into goal. H. Jory, unfortunately, sent the ball through his own goal, and opened the scoring for the Packers.

From the centre kick the Township men made great efforts to score. Curtis was in his happiest mood, and gave the best display of the season. His huge drives were of great advantage to the Packers. The rain started ,and the ball was getting heavy. Halliday sent in a terrific shot, which Bryan had no chance with, and the Packers were two goals ahead. The Township men were urged to play up, and they responded. The forwards, led by Bell and backed by three good half-backs, gave the Packers' defence plenty to do . H. Munro received a beautiful pass from Darling, sent in a daisy-cutter, which went well out of the reach of Bradley. The game was fast and the ball heavy, but it made no difference to the Township men. Just at this period they were having the best of the exchanges, and Bradley was frequently called upon, saving in fine style. Curtis sent well down the field. Strudley took the ball at full speed and sent it straight at Bryan. He caught the ball. It being greasy and the speed behind it, he left it fall over the line, and added to the Packers' score. The Township men, by a combined movement, came within an ace of scoring from a beautiful shot from Bell. Bradley just tipped over the bar. Half time was called, with the score standing 3 to 1 in favour of the Packers.

The Second Half.

With the wind and the slope in their favour, the Township men brought great pressure to bear upon the Packers' goal. Curtis gave a corner when Payne was well placed. The ball was sent well into goal, and Carmichael sent out to James, who in turn gave to Mitchell, who eluded the attention of G. Little ,and sent in a great shot, which Bryan dealt with in masterly style. The Township men would not be denied. Darling and Munro made a great left wing. Darling placed the ball at the foot of Munro, and the sharp-shooter did the rest with the best goal of the game. The rain came down in torrents, but the players stayed with it. Bradley and his backs were luck to save a centre from R. Payne, which nearly brought the equaliser, but the danger was averted by Carmichael kicking out. Darling took the kick, and sent behind. Curtis sent well up the field. H. Jory stopped Strudley, and gave to Bell, who made an individual run and finished by sending the globe well out of reach of the watchful Bradley, and thus made the game even. The pace was now very fast, and each goalkeeper had his work cut out. Downer, who played very well with Curtis, sent the ball up the field. The sphere was very greasy and very difficult to shoot accurately. The forwards tried their shot passing tactics, but the Township defence was safe, and the game continued to the end, fast and even.

The Packers remained still undefeated.

The score — Packers 3, North Dummer 3.

Refreshments were provided for the visitors.

The Teams.

North Dummer — Bryan; W. Garveth, A. Jory; G. Little, H. Jory, W. Taylor; R. Payne, F. Bell, H. Darling, H. Munro, W. Bell.

U. S. WON POLO

Defeated French Team at Olympics—Won Revolver Shooting.

PARIS, June 30. — (Canadian Press).—Points for the United States have been chalked up on the Olympic scoreboard through the victory of the United States polo players over the French team in the opening match of the competition at St. Cloud on Saturday and the hard-earned victory of Gunnery Sergeant H. M. Bailey of the United States Marine Corps, in the individual revolver shooting contest at Chalons.

The fencers from the United States were eliminated from the fencing tournament by reason of their defeat by the superior teams representing Denmark and France.

LENGLEN TAKES ALL IN SIGHT

Nothing Gets Past Tennis Star Who Has Won 36 Games.

FINALS NEAR

WIMBLEDON, England, June 30.—(Canadian Press.)—The outstanding Britishers who remain in the Wimbledon singles as a result of matches Saturday are Major Kingscote of England and Raymond of South Africa. La Coste and Borotra of France, and the Belgian, Washer, also are in the running. The invading stars from the United States will have a strong contingent, including Vincent Richards, R. Norris Williams and Watson M. Washburn.

Overshadowing the men's play for the coming week is the apparently unbeatable work of the famous Lenglen, five times winner of the Wimbledon championships for women. Experts opine that never before has Mlle. Lenglen played as she is playing this year. She has won a straight thirty-six games, rarely permitting her opponent to carry her to deuce.

If Miss Helen Wills can win today when Lenglen will meet Miss McKane, English phenomenon, the champion of the United Sttaes may face the French girl in the finals. There is little doube about the issue, although Miss Wills, who says she has been learning an entirely new game on the English courts, has been rapidly improving during the tournament.

Besides Miss Wills, the other invading survivors in the women's play are:

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, now resident in England, and Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup.

The British have still Mrs. Satterthwaite, Miss Kathleen McKane, Mrs. Barron and Mrs. Colgate.

WASHINGTON WON

QUAKERS WERE UNFORTUNATE IN PECK CUP TIE

Vets Were Minus Some Regular Players — Rained Throughout Game.

TWO GOALS EACH

Willshaw Headed Through His Own Goal With Three Minutes To Go.

The Vets equalized in the last three minutes against the Quaker Oats in the first round of the Peck Cup at Nicholls Oval before a good attendance of spectators who faced the elements, under trees and cars, while the twenty-two players and referee, along with linesmen Richmond and McGregor getting soaked with rain that continued to pour throughout the whole twenty minutes. The Quakers dominated the play throughout the whole game but unfortunately Willshaw headed through his own goal, after putting in an excellent exhibition on the defense.

Started Shorthanded.

With only eight players, the Vets kicked off. In the first few minutes Frick saved from Wilson whose parting shot lacked sting. Then again Williams tested the Vets goalie with low ground shot. Wasson relieved the pressure to let Dyer go down the wing but he was intercepted by Honor at the critical moment of shooting. Mann, Blowers and Gash now made up the eleven which helped to do away with the offside tactics used against the Quakers forwards at every opportunity.

Quaker's Erratic Shooting.

When the outside men of the Quakers forwards crossed the centre it was regrettable to witness the ball hover around the Vets goal awaiting the gentle touch through. Then on other occasions offsides robbed them when a goal was positive, in fact, Frick never hesitated to fist or kick clear when dangerous attacks loomed in view.

Claimed Goal But Did Not Get It.

It was a battle between the Vets defense and the Quakers forwards. Logan and Mayette worked havoc around the Vets goal. The outside right passed across to G. Logan who compelled Frick to kick clear a few yards. Craig tried to carry the sphere through the Vets players. He was blocked and got the little shoulder in his endeavor to get the ball through the goal. Wasson kicked it against G. Logan and went into a vacant goal, until a Vets foot cleared. The Quakers claimed a goal but the referee ruled otherwise. They peppered Frick from every angle to find him very safe between the sticks. It was only on a few break-aways that the Vets came into prominence when Honor and Willshaw would send their forwards back down against the Vets defense. Walker trapped nicely in midfield, passed across to T. Williams and Wilson on the left, where they baffled the Vets defense pair. Mann checked quickly against Williams to give Frick a fright when the ball passed th upright by inches.

Both Scored in Five Minutes.

Blowers robbed Mayette in the corner, travelled up the field punted along the wing to Gash who crossed on the run. Dyer met the ball to deceive Pellow with a fast drive which Quakers claimed offsides against Dyer. No sooner was the ball centred, than Mayette left Blowers standing while he claimed offsides. The outside right sent across a rocket drive that Frick had no chance to stop until T. Williams tapped it past him for the equalizer. There was nothing of importance until half when both teams were battling away for the deciding goal.

Half-Time.

Within the first minute, on resuming, the Quakers five went down in combination play. Craig tested Frick who made a faulty clearance as G. Logan returned the ball to hit the upright amid excitement. Then Wilson tested Frick with a dropping shot. They were rewarded later through an accurate cross to centre by Mayette as Williams put his team ahead with a beautiful goal.

Two Players Ordered Off

Play was very fast at this period as each team made desperate attacks on the respective goal that demonstrated that goal-keepers count in the game as they bobbed up when everybody was expecting a tally. On mid-field play, the Quakers gained the verdict with clean open play over the kick and rush style of the Vets.. All of a sudden something unusual happened in mid-field that resulted in two players being sent to the pavilion by the "knight of the whistle."

Vets Lucky—Mayette Not.

Throughout the whole game the Mayette-Logan wing was always dangerous. Nice individual play by Joe Mayette in dribbling through three opponents and lobbing the ball over into goal had the Vets goalie beat all the way as his parting shot landed on the cross-bar at the far end of the goal out of Frick's reach to go past.

Willshaw Scored Through His Own Goal.

The rain continued to come down as play progressed with the very slippy ball that was hard to control. With three minutes to go, the Vets made raid after raid upon the Quaker's goal while the Quakers seemed to be contented with one goal lead that was converted into a 2-2 draw from a wide shot for goal by Gash that Willshaw tried to head clear but went through his own goal. The Quakers revived after this sudden set-back in the last minutes that remained, only to have another game at a latter date to decide the winner.

Goal scorers—Vets Dyer 1, and Willshaw through his own goal; Quakers, Williams 2.

G.W.V.A.—Frick goal; Crow and Wasson, backs; Bestard, Mann and Blowers, half-backs; F. Wade, Burrows, Dyer, Griffin and Gash, forwards.

Quakers—Pellow, goal; Honor and Willshaw, backs; Logan, Walker and Butler, half-backs; Mayette, G. Logan, Craig, Wilson and T. Williams, forwards.

Referee—A. Mitchell.

Won in Tenth

BROOKLYN, June 30.—(Canadian Press).—Philadelphia got a three run lead in the tenth inning yesterday, but Brooklyn came back with four hits and two passes to score four runs and win by 5 to 4. Score:

Philadelphia	010 000 000 3—4 10 1
Brooklyn	000 100 000 4—5 11 3

Ring and Wilson; Grimes and Taylor.

Rally Failed

ST. LOUIS, June 30.— (Canadian Press). — A ninth-inning rally in which Blades drove out a home run scoring Hornsby and Mueller, failed to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates in the first game of the series yesterday and St. Louis lost their fifth straight game 6 to 5. Score:

Pittsburgh	100 300 020—6 7 0
St. Louis	020 000 003—5 6 3

Meadows, Morrison and Gooch; Dickerman, Bell and Gonzales.

Cubs Broke Streak

CINCINNATI, O., June 30.—(Canadian Press) — The Cubs broke their losing streak by winning from the Reds yesterday, 6 to 2. Kaufmann pitched well and his support was perfect. Benton was unsteady and lasted less than six innings: A one-hand catch by Walker of Grantham's long fly in the first inning was a feature.

STROLLERS AND OSHAWA FIGURE IN HOLIDAY BILL

Oshawa Here Tomorrow Morning for League Game With the Petes.

DAINTY WILL PITCH

Clare Hoose's Strollers Will be Along in the Afternoon Fixture.

Everything is set for two good games at Riverside Park tomorrow when the Petes tie into Oshawa in the first game of the second series of the Central Ontario League in the morning at 10.15, and clash with the Strollers of Toronto in an exhibition game in the afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Petes lost the first half after being well up in the race until the last two weeks, but the gang are going into the second series full of confidence. They lost three games by one run and two by two runs during the first half and got a lot of tough breaks, but they are determined to be right in the hunt in the new series and to make the right start by trimming Oshawa here tomorrow.

It is likely that Al. Heckman will be on the firing line in the morning game against Oshawa, and it is hoped that his arm will respond to the treatment given it in Toronto. If it comes round all right the motor town crew will have their work cut out for them tomorrow. "Duke" Dainty will, of course, do the gunning for the Oshawa crew, and it should be a real tidy tussle.

By the same token, so should the afternoon clash. The Strollers will have "Chuck" Glover, one of Toronto's best pitchers, on the firing line for them, and Clare Hoose, the former Leaside catcher, will likely do the receiving. The Riverdale Leaguers have a smart ball club, and they would learly love to take a fall out of the Central Leaguers. The afternoon game will be called at 3 o'clock.

The two games furnish a big day's fun for the ball fans of the city.

MILLBROOK TEAM GETTING BETTER

Held Peterborough Down to Four Runs in Game Last Night.

MILLBROOK, June 30. — On Friday evening the Curlers journeyed to Millbrook and came home with the big end of a 4 to 0 score. The Millbrook team is greatly improved from the last game ,and showed real class in the game on Friday. They only got one hit, but men got on by errors and the good pegging of Baker past second. Baker caught three men going to the middle station, his rival catcher being the victim twice. The Curlers got one run in the second, one in the third, and two in the seventh innings.

In the sixth MacDonald, first man up, tripled to deep right, but was stranded at third when Baker and Wood struck out, and Hall flied to the catcher, a nice catch by Gilmour.

In the seventh Hilliard and Baird scored. Baird singled neatly, stole second and third, and then stole home. After this Vincent struck out for the final out. Then Wood proceeded to strike out the last three batters, and the game was over.

The Curlers were without the services of Shortstop J. Baird and Third Baseman E. Barrie.

JUNIOR FIXTURE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Ferg Sheehy Will Likely be on the Slab for the South End Crew.

In a junior league fixture at Riverside Park on Wednesday afternoon, at 6 o'clock sharp, the Lakeviews and the Crescents, will hook up in a league game that is expected to be one of the fastest games this season.

The Lakeviews dropped two games at the first of the season but succeeded in winning the last two games and tieing up the round. The Crescents are determined to break up the Lakeviews winning streak on Wednesday evening.

Ferg Sheehy, who has been hurling remarkably good ball in Toronto, has returned home, and will likely do the heaving for the Crescents on Wednesday night. If he does, the game is sure to be a thriller, as he will make Frank Whitehouse, on the mound for the Lakeviews, go the limit to come through with a win. In the Crescents' last two games they have lacked steady pitching, but with Sheehy on the mound in Wednesday's fixture they should give Lou LeBarr's boys an awful battle, as the whole Crecent team have their heart and soul in copping the Junior championship. Frank Whitehouse is at present in the pink of condition, while his receiver, Lambert Collins, who has been laid up with a sore hand will be out there full of pep in their next game.

DOUBLE HEADER AT EXHIBITION PARK

Raybestos and Dye Works Clash at 2 O'clock, While the C.G.E. and the C.N. R. Meet at 4 p.m.

There will be two fast games in the Midland League at the exhibition grounds to-morrow afternoon. At 2.00 p.m,. Raybestos and Cobourg Dyeworks will resume their battle of the first half. These two teams finished at the bottom of the first schedule but are determined to have something to say about the standing of the second section. At 4 p.m., the C.N.R. and the C.GE.. will clash.

These two teams are playing in Cobourg in the morning to decide the leadership of the first half, and the afternoon encounter will be a hard-fought battle to get the lead of the second schedule.

Rain Spoiled Tennis Fixtures on Saturday

Rain spoiled the tennis match on Saturday afternoon just when everything was set for a classy display.

Two matches were played under very trying conditions, Peterboro winning both. Mrs. Dewart gave a great exhibition of steadiness and pluck when she defeated Miss McGillvray of Oshawa in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4. Good tennis was quite impossible as the ground was slippery and the balls heavy, and most rallies ended with one player or other unable to get to the ball at all.

Bowness and Jackson were too strong for Walker and Kenny, winning the first set very handily at 6-1. The visitors challenged in the second set when the increasing rain fogged Jackson's spectacles, but aggressive playing by Bowness pulled the match out at 6-4.

Mrs. Cruthers, who had charge of the tea, threw open her beautiful home to the club, and when further tennis was impossible, the visitors and members partook of tea and danced till dark. Mrs. Maybee poured tea, and several of the younger members assisted.

LEAGUE SCHEDULE FOR WEEK ENDING JULY 5

The schedule of local games in the Juvenile and Midget Divisions of the City League, and the East Peterborough League, for this week is as follows:

Juvenile Series.

Monday — Millbrook at Maple Leafs.
Wednesday — Curlers at Classics.

Midget Series.

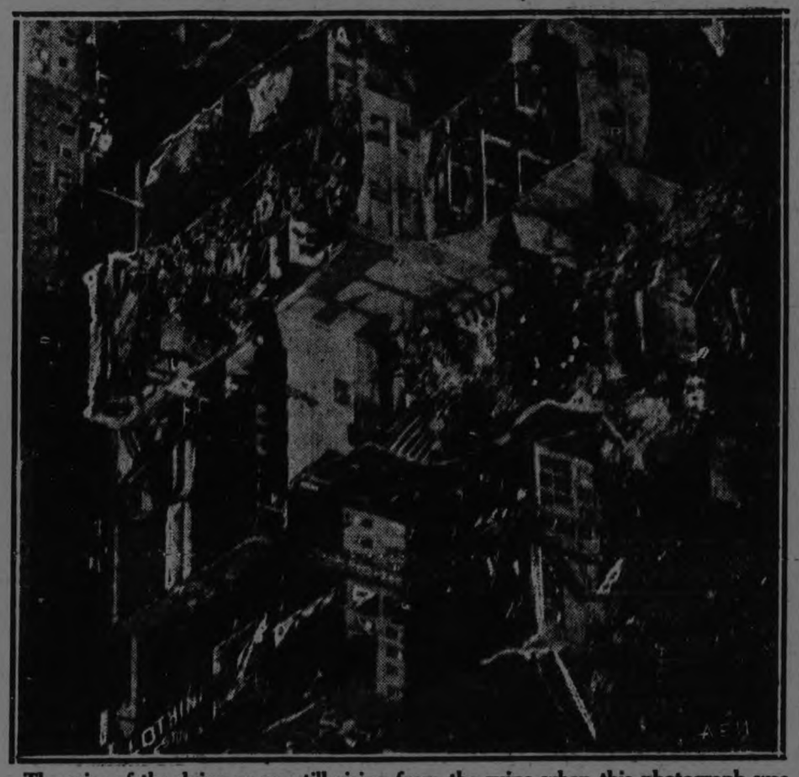
Monday—Sacred Heart at South Centrals.
Wednesday — Kiwanis at Beavers.
Friday—Rotary at Curlers.

East Peterborough League.

Wednesday — Cognawaga at Mackey's.

The Curlers-Classics game will be played at Nichols Oval. The Kiwanis-Beavers Midget game originally scheduled for Nicholls Oval will be played at Exhibition Park.

AIR VIEW OF BUILDINGS, WHERE SCORES DIED



The cries of the dying w ere still rising from the ruins when this photograph was taken from an airplane at dawn Sunday at Lorain, Ohio. The white structure in the centre is the State Moving Pcture Theatre, where some 150 women and children were trapped beneath falling walls. About 100 dead and injured were believed to be in adjoining ruins when this photograph was taken.

THE ENGINEERS HAD AN OUTING

About Fifty-four Motored to South Beach, Inspecting C. G.E. Plant at Nassau and New Bridge.

RACES RUN OFF.

On Saturday afternoon the members of the Peterboro Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, together with a few friends, held their annual outing. The party, numbering fifty-four, motored to South Beach, calling en route at the C.G.E. plant at Nassau, the new bridge at Lakefield, and the new dam at Young's Point for brief visits of inspection. Through the courtesy of Mr. McNab, the contractor for the Lakefield bridge, who very kindly drove up with the party, the visitors were not only given every opportunity to look over the work done so far on the bridge, but also to inspect the blue prints and thus were enabled to obtain a comprehensive idea of the untimate appearance of the structure.

A full programme of sports had been arranged for on arrival at South Beach, but, unfortunately, the weather man did not favour the party very well; however, the engineers did their best under the circumstances, and at least tried everything once.

The first event was a nail-driving relay race, in which four teams competed, composed respectively of members, associate members, affiliates, and students and juniors in the first heat, and the associate members defeated the members. The final was a hotly contested race between the affiliates, captained by H. A. Fife, and the associate members, led by A. B. Gates, and would no doubt have gone to the latter team but for a moment of mental aberration on the part of Paul Manning, who pauded in mid flight to jubilate over his skill in driving a six-inch spike home, during which time the last man of the affiliates' team, attending strictly to business, completed the driving of his spike and sprinted home.

The star attraction of the afternoon was to have been a softball game between teams captained by Chairman E. R. Shirley and Vice-Chairman A. L. Killaly, but Jupiter Pluvius stetled down to serious business before the game had been long in progress and drove everyone to shelter. Even so, some classy ball was staged during the short display. Ross Dobbin strongly resembles Babe Ruth in action, that is, he has the same number of arms and legs, even if his style is slightly more erratic. The acrobatic stunts of J M. McHardy in his many trips over, under and through the boundary fence also evoked applause, while G. R. Langley's pitching to Bruce Munro was rapidly getting more deadly when the weatherman called the game.

A few of the more hardy visitors braved the elements, and disported thmselves in the lake, b t most on the party contented themselves with the shelter of the hotel, surrounding the piano and defying the weatherman and at the same time heartening themselves with that recent classic, "It aint gonna rain no mo'."

At six o'clock to the minute, Host Brooks called his guests to the dining-room and lived right up to his reputation as a caterer. After the substantial and well-served repast, the chairman, E. R. Shirley, M.E.I.C., briefly addressed the members, and then called on Mr. F. H. Dobbin to present the prizes. Mr. Dobbin, in a witty and neat little speech, complimented the contestants in the nail-driving and the softball, and ceremoniously presented H. A. Fife, the leader of the winning nail-driving team with a valuable trophy in the shape of a claw hammer. It is confidently expected that the winner will now, happy in the possession of his new hammer, go around searching for new fields to conquer and more nails to drive. Mr. W. A. Logan was to have presented the softball prize, but no decision having been reached as to which team was entitled to it, the prize was withdrawn for the time-being. However, Mr. Logan was so moved by the wonderful skill of the various players that for their benefit he recited a little poem detailing the adventures of one O'Honlihan, who took part in a ball game. This was well rendered and received with applause, as was the musical number of R. B. Rogers, given to his own accompaniment. After supper, and after some discussion, it was decided to settle the question of softball supremacy by staging a relay race for the two teams, the winning team to be presumed to have won the ball game. This novel method of deciding a ball game would no doubt have been effective, but unfortunately after some wonderful bursts of speed, it was discovered that one of the Chairman's team was a non-starter, and Alan Munro was trotting around the hotel in solitary state competing with himself. This left nothing for it but to play off two innings of ball, which was forthwith done, and resulted in the much disputed prize going to the Chairman's team, E. R. Shirley receiving a very nifty vari-coloured cap as the trophy.

The last event was a tug-of-war between a team composed of electrical engineers, captained by P. L. Allison, and a team of allcomers, captained by R. L. Dobbin. In the first haul the electrical men easily showed that they had more pull than any other branch of the profession, but in the second, which proved to be a hard-fought battle, they had to fight hard to every inch, eventually winning by sheer doggedness and thereby winning for their skipper a large and gaudy rattle.

The singing of Auld Lang Syne completed the proceedings, and the party faced a muddy trip home without a worry. The committee in charge of the arrangements were H. A. Fife (Affiliate), P. Manning, A.M.E.I.C., and W. E. Ross, A.M.E.I.C. It was generally conceded that the committee had arranged everything very well, except the weather, which was pretty dismal, but which failed to damp the spirits of the crowd.

The party included:—P. L. Allison, H. J. Acton, J. H. Burtt, B. L. Barns, J. Barnes, B. I. Burgess, R. G. Barbour, S. Butcher, Geo. Coutts, H. Clegg, J. M. Cockburn, D. V. Canning, C. H. Crowe, F. H. Dobbin, R. L. Dobbin, G. W. Dartnell, H. A. Fife, R. C. Flitton, M. Fox, A. M. Fowler, V. S. Foster, A. B. Gates, G. H. Giroux, W. G. Henderson, St. C. Hayes, J. H. Johnston, A. L. Killaly, G. R. Langley, M. C. Lowe, W. A. Logan, G. R. McLennan, R. I. Mackenzie, J. M. McHardy, A. J. McLeish, A. H. Munro, P. B. Munro, B. Ottewell, P. F. Peele, W. H. Pretty, R. B. Rogers, W. E. Ross, E. Rigby, N. D. Seaton, E. R. Shirley, P. H. Smedmor, F. M. Somerville, H. R. Sills, G. W. Stock, J. G. Stephenson, H. M. Shockley, P. P. Westbye and V. R. Young, all of Peterboro, and A. E. Caddy, of Campbellford.

CRICKET.

All members of the De Laval Cricket Club are requested to turn out for practice to-night at the Exhibition Grounds. Match to-morrow in Campbellford, and on Wednesday evening against a team from The Examiner—return match.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL

The year's film novelty, at the Royal to-day, Glen Hunter, in Puritan Passions.

There is a destiny with pictures.

The same as with men. Some are bound to succeed. Such a picture is "Puritan Passions." Everybody who has seen it says so—critical critics, experienced exhibitors. The premiere is a small New England town where $3.00 a seat was charged, and the theatre was packed to the doors, demonstrated its remarkable drawing powers.

Some of the reasons for this are plainly evident.

The Star—Glenn Hunter, the best known, best liked, and by long odds highest gifted young actor on the American stage to-day. Witness his "Merton of the Movies."

The Story—Based upon Perry Mackaye's brilliant stage play, "The Scarecrow." A whimsical wondrous tale of love, with intrigue, sin, adventure and witches as a background, in a quaint old Salem town.

The Scenes—All placed where the forefathers of this land of ours had their trials and triumphs, and there are no more engrossing pages in history than those which tell of the days of the Puritans.

The Situations—Unlike any ever shown on the screen before. Each one entirely unexpected, You sit entranced, not daring to move, as every interesting situation is followed by another even more interesting.

The Suspense—It starts with the very first flash on the screen, and grows greater and greater until the end of the story. There is not one single moment when the suspense lags or disappears.

AT THE CAPITOL

"TRIUMPH" IS BIG TRIUMPH FOR LEATRICE JOY AND CECIL DE MILLE

In "Triumph," which opens at the Capitol Theatre to-night, Cecil De-Mille returns from the ancient spectacle of his "Ten Commandments" to the type of ultra-modern society love drama in which he scored his most sensational successes and of which "Male and Female" and "Manslaughter" were such notable examples.

Here is the typical DeMille production, with its gorgeous settings, luxurious backgrounds, beautiful women, flashing gowns and an array of featured players that looks more like a copy of the roster of the Paramount studios than a cast. Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque and Victor Varconi have the principal roles. Then there's Charles Ogle, Julia Faye, Theodore Kosloff, Robert Edeson, ZaSu Pitts, George Fawcett and Raymond Hatton, all featured. Quite a line-up, you'll agree.

"Triumph" is the story of a strong man ruined by money and a weak man regenerated through the loss of it, and through a wonderful girl. It takes one man from the haunts of the rich and tosses him into the gutter. It takes another from poverty to wealth and high position. It shows you a factory girl in a whirl and thunder of ponderous machinery. It shows the same girl at the pinnacle of what she calls "Triumph," with wealth, jewels, applause.

Like "Manslaughter," "Triumph" is a strictly modern love story adapted from a popular Saturday Evening Post serial. May Edington is the author, and Clara Beranger wrote the sc reen play.

PLASTIGRAMS IS NEW SCREEN MARVEL; THIRD DIMENSION MOVIE COMES TO CAPITOL NEXT THURSDAY ALONG WITH COOGAN.

Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday will see a big show at the Capitol when Jackie Coogan in his newest production, "A Boy of Flanders," will be the feature. On the same bill will be the third-dimension movie, "Plastigrams," which gives the illusion of depth to the pictures, making the characters and objects of the screen stand-out in a startling manner. "Plastigrams" are viewed through a special pair of stereoscopic lenses and every patrons attending will be presented with a pair of lenses through which to view the marvels of this new screen discovery.

HOLIDAY MATINEE TO-MORROW AT CAPITOL

A special holiday matinee will be offered at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow to commemorate Dominion Day. The feature, "Triumph," featuring Leatrice Joy and Rod La Rocque, is a Cecil DeMille production, and ranks as one of this great producer's finest pictures. The matinee will start at 2.30 sharp.

AT THE REGENT

WORK IS WHAT COUNTS.

(By Doris Keane.)

(Doris Keane, America's greatest emotional actress, who is bringing to the screen, through United Artists the greatest love story ever written, "Romance," is a keen lover of her sex. She has consented to write a series of articles to women, which we are presenting daily).

I have often heard of women not liking women; about the catty things they say and the unkind things they do to hurt each other—which seems so strange; yet I have never seen a woman who worked, who isn't keen and eager in her appreciation of what every other woman who works, has tried to do. This type of woman is universally willing to help.

It has yet to come to attention, the jealousy that is supposed to be inevitable everywhere. Indeed I have met only friendliness and appreciation and affection.

Many of these women have succeeded and their success makes them appreciative all the more, of the sacrifices one has to make to get anywhere in what one undertakes. Theirs may have been disappointment, but their own unrealized ambitions have made them no less big in their feeling for a fellow-worker who has met success, where they face failure.

It is all a game and since work is the only thing that counts, and sacrifice and whole-hearted devotion to one's art, any big woman takes her failures as she does her successes—and profits by these experiences.

But as for any woman having a catty feeling one hears the professional woman has for another woman headed toward the same goal, I have never come in contact with it.

That is the reason I like women—working women.

Work is the only thing in the world that helps one to understand.

Work and love are the two great formative factors in the development of a woman's career.

No woman who is seriously working at anything, just as no woman who really loves, can give place in her heart to anything less than the highest ideals and appreciation of what every other woman is doing.

Note.—Miss Keane in her first motion picture, "Romance," a United Artists' production, will appear at the Regent Theatre to-day.

RAIN SPOILED PICNIC.

The rain on Saturday afternoon spoiled to a certain extent the projected picnic of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E., making the attendance at the annual event much smaller than would otherwise have been the case. However, a number of the members braved the elements and spent a jolly afternoon between showers in swimming and playing bridge at the cottage of Mrs. F. C. Weber, the Regent, where supper was also served. Miss Maida Conner was the convenor in charge of arrangements.

Opening of Summer School at the Mount

At. St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday, His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, announced the opening on Wednesday, July 2nd, of a Summer School for the teaching of Gregorian Chant and the Ward method of voice culture, to be held at Mount St. Joseph during the next six weeks.

The impetus given in recent years to the use of the Gregorian, or Plain Chant in Catholic Church music, by the endeavor of the Supreme Pontiff to have it re-introduced, has resulted in the sending of several Sisters from Mount St. Joseph every summer to schools in New York and Buffalo. This year it has been decided to hold a six weeks' summer school here, when the Gregorian Chant and the Ward method of voice culture will be taught by an experienced instructor, Miss McGrath from the Pius Tenth School of Gregorian Chant in New York. Although intended primarily for teachers, anyone wishing to avail themselves of the opportunity may do so.

WEDDING BELLS.

STABLER—MILLER.

A quiet wedding took place in the George Street Methodist Parsonage on June 25th, when Frederick Ray Stabler and Lillian Elizabeth Miller were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Young.

THOMPSON-HANES

Miss Merle Hanes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hanes of Madoc, Ont., and Lorne Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson, 475 Parnell street, Peterboro, Ont., were united in marriage by Rev. C. E. Hill, at 1222 Stocker avenue, Flint, at 1 p.m., on Wednesday, June 25.

The bride wore a gown of orchid georgette combined with cream lace, white slippers and stockings, and a pearl head band and necklace. A corsage bouquet of sweetheart roses and peonies completed the costumes. Miss May Hanes, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid, and wore a gown of pale yellow georgette, combined with cream lace, with a pale yellow lace hat, sand slippers and pale yellow stockings.

Mr. Chris. Anderson of Flint, acted as best man.

Following the ceremony, a luncheon was served in the dining room.

The bride received many useful gifts from her friends and relatives, who motored from Detroit and Washington, Mich. After a short honeymoon in Detroit and other points west the happy couple will reside at their new home 1222 Stocker avenue, Curunna Heights.

CRAFT—HAMLIN.

A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnised in the Mark Street Methodist Parsonage at high noon, on Wednesday, 25th June, when Emma Rubyna Fern, second younger daughter of Mr. J. E. and the late Mrs. Hamlin, Munroe Avenue, became the bride of Mr. Victor Ralph Craft, son of Mr. Robert Craft, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. R. A. Bamforth. The bride was becomingly attired in a navy tricotine suit, with grey blouse, grey shoes and stockings, and hat to match, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and lily of the valley.

The bridesmaid, Lillian V. Hamlin, wore a frock of black silk velvet, with grey trimmings, and a small black hat, while Everrett R. Harrison acted as best man.

After the wedding a dainty luncheon was served at the home of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Craft left on a motor trip and will reside in Otonabee.

ANTI-UNIONIST WOULD CHANGE CHURCH TITLE

Move to Amend Name to "In Canada" Failed in House.

FIRST VOTE

"United Church of Canada" Sounds Like National Institution, Say Members.

OTTAWA, July 2.—(By Canadian Press).—Amid applause and with the galleries again crowded, the House last night registered its first recorded vote on the Church Union Bill. The division came on a motion by William Duff of Lunenburg—who has been active in opposition to the bill—so to amend the title that the united church would be known as the United Church in Canada rather that the United Church of Canada, as it appears in the bill.

The Duff amendment was defeated on this vote:

Against 90

For 58

Majority against 32.

It was a division which saw leaders of all three parties voting in the negative but cut across their followers. On either side in the vote were members of the cabinet.

For the amendment were Hon. H. S. Beland, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Hon. J. E. Sinclair and Hon. J. P. Cardin.

Premier King, Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Hon. E. J. MacMurray, Hon. T. A. Low and Hon. James Murdock opposed the amendment.

Two members of the Government—Messrs. Motherwell and Sinclair—voted for the amendment by mistake. They rose, as the vote was announced to record their error. The House laughed and laughed again as Speaker Lemieux, quoting rules, informed them that a vote once recorded could not be changed.

It was expected that the Buff amendment being defeated, the House would at once proceed to the third reading of the bill. But, here arose a difficulty. Under the rules the House has only the first hour on Tuesday evenings for private bills and the hour was already exhausted. On this ground Mr. Duff objected to the House proceeding further with the bill last night. The Speaker held that only by unanimous consent could the third reading be taken. And, as unanimous consent was not forthcoming the third reading perforce went over till Friday night when the first hour is again devoted to private bills.

During the discussion, Donald Sutherland of South Oxford observed that the Disunited church would be a more appropriate name, and Mr. Martell of Hants thought that the title proposed in the bill was insulting to the other churches.

Would Refer Back.

Mr. Duff moved that the bill be referred back to the committee of the whole House in order to make his amendment. He did not believe that the change in title interfered in any way with the principle of the bill. Four legislatures had not yet passed the bill and the five which had already disposed of the bill could alter the title without difficulty.

J. L. Brown, (Progressive, Lisgar) took exception to the amendment. The proposal might have been acceptable when the bill was first under consideration. The title as before the House was already adopted by several provinces and legal difficulties might arise with any alteration.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie (Conservative, South Wellington) thought it unfortunate that the bill should come to Parliament after five Legislatures had passed it because whenever an amendment was desirable the promoters of the bill claimed it was too late. Ontario and Quebec had not yet passed it and the promoters of the bill should not object to amendments on the ground of provincial legislation.

Robert Forke, Progressive leader said there was no attempt on the part of Union supporters to press for undue favors. The proposal might have come before the committee during the weeks of consideration of the bill. No Parliament in Canada would attempt to create a national church. It was not in the interests of the bill to change the title.

C. H. Boivin (Liberal, Shefford) said he had been a strong supporter of the bill throughout, but could not approve of the title. Financial institutions had been refused the use of the phrase "Of Canada." The name might convey to the world the impression that there was an established church in this country. It was misleading and should be changed.

CLOSE SHAVE!

Three occupants of this automobile jumped to safety as the machine crashed through the guard rail of a Los Angeles bridge to hang precariously suspended 40 feet above the ground. Rena Williams, the fourth passenger, fell the entire distance, but escaped with only minor injuries. A broken steering knuckle was blamed for the accident.

FLAME VICTIMS 60 FEET AWAY

Watching Blaze in Supply House Across Street Explosion Comes.

AUTO TOP BURNED.

NEW YORK, July 2.—A burst of flame suddenly shot from the side of the building of the Film Supply Company at South and Dawson streets, Newark, yesterday, reached acrossed the sixty-foot street, burned the top from an automobile standing in front of a garage and seared eight persons. Four of the burned had to be removed to St. James' Hospital.

Nine million feet of motion picture film went up with a terrific explosion. Leo Singer, owner of the business, in the building at the time, was uninjured.

Cannot Explain Escape.

He cannot explain how the film was set off or how he escaped. The fire which followed spread to two adjoining buildings and gutted them.

Those injured were all on the opposite side of the street when the blast came.

Taylor was repairing a car in front of his garage at the time. The top of it was burned off, but he was on the further side and he escaped with slight burns.

Mr. and Mrs. Rospoli, their daughter, Antoinette, and Palumbo were taken to the hospital for treatment.

OLDEST ORANGEMAN DIED

Maxwell Stevenson, Cousin of Sir Edward Carson, Passed Away.

CHILLIWECK, B.C., July 2.—(Canadian Press)—Maxwell Stevenson, aged 94, said to be Canada's oldest Orangeman, died at his home here Sunday. He was born in Ireland. He lived in Lucknow, Bruce county, Ontario, before coming to British Columbia in 1887. Mr. Stevenson was a second cousin of Sir Edward Carson and joined the Orange Order in 1842 when 12 years of age.

TRAPPED IN MINE

Five Men Believed Entombed by Explosion at Springhill.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 2.—(Canadian Press).—Five men are believed to be entrapped by an explosion in Allan shaft at the Springhill Collieries of the Dominion Coal Company, according to advices reaching here on Mnday. There were about seventy-five men in the shaft and seevnty were removed with the assistance of the Draeger apparatus.

Hog cholera will celebrate its 91st birthday in America this year.

ROBB ASKS FOR $300,000,000 TO MEET LOANS

Has Open Mind as to Where the Money Should be Raised.

NEW YORK FAVORED

Many Suggestions Made for Betterment of System of Meeting Obligations.

OTTAWA, July 2 (Canadian Press). — Hon. James A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, moved in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon for authority for the raising of a loan "not to exceed in the whole the sum of $300,000,000 for paying maturing loans and obligations of Canada."

The Minister gave a list of maturing obligations on and up to 1st December, 1927, as totalling $382,184,933. Obligations falling due this year total $199,950,000, of which $107,955,000 consists of Victory Bonds due in November, the remainder being treasury bills.

David Spence (Conservative, of Parkdale) asked where the Minister proposed to float this loan.

"In the best market possible," was Mr. Robb's reply.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, the Conservative leader, said that the question of whether the loans should be floated in Canada or in an outside money market was a matter of policy and the Minister should be ready to give the House his opinion upon it.

Mr. Robb repled that some authorities urged the advantages of a loan being floated within Canada, while others believed the advantage lay in the use of an external market. Personally he had an open mind.

Mr. Spence favoured raising the loan in New York. Money was going begging there at three and three and a half per cent.

Herbert Marler (Liberal, Montreal) said that to raise the loan in Canada would reduce the amount of money available for other purposes. The Government should borrow outside, if money could be obtained outside on approximately as good terms as in Canada.

W .C. Good (Progressive, Brant) said that under all the discussion there had been a tacit assumption that the supply of money was limited. This was true only in part. It did not apply to bank credits. The banks at will, increased or decreased, by arrangement with their customers, the amount of money in the country. He suggested that the Government should look deeper into the question to see if some better method of meeting the present situation could be obtained.

W. F. MacLean (Conservative, of South York) believed that the time had arrived for the House to create a standing committee to deal with the questions arising out of the national debt. There should also be a consolidation of the national debt.

MAIL CLERK SENTENCED

Pleaded Guilty to Theft of Registered Letters—Gets Three Years.

SOUTHAMPTON, Ont. July 2.—(Canadian Press).—Samuel Hawkins, of Southampton, mail clerk on the Palmerston-Southampton branch line of the Canadian National Railways who pleaded guilty to the charge of taking registered letters from the mail on the train, following his arrest Friday night was on Monday sentenced to three years in Kingston penitentiary. The sentence was imposed by Magistrate McNab before whom the accused elected to be tried.

MACREADY'S LEAP FOR LIFE

This is the artist's conception of the parachute jump of Lieut. John A. Macready, near Dayton, O. The ace was forced to make the leap when his engine "died" while he was returning from a flight to Columbus, O. He cut loose while 1500 feet above ground. Farmers found him dangling from a limb of a tree and cut him down. The lower picture shows all that was left of his plane.

URGE CELL AS DIVORCE CURE

Send Guilty One to Prison For Five Years, Advises Pastor.

NOT TOO HARSH.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., July 2. — A five-year term in State prison for the guilty party in every divorce suit.

That's the sure cure for divorce advocated by the Rev. James B. Knappenberger, pastor of Wesleyan Methodist church.

Dr. Knappenberger is not opposed to divorce itself.

The decree should be granted where there is cause, he holds, with the guilty one going to prison and the innocent one set free.

"A law without an accompanying penalty is nothing more than advice," said Dr. Knappenberger today. "That's what our present divorce law is—advice to two people who are at odds with each other. What is the result? The guilty party pays a few dollars in alimony and looks about for another party.

"In ancient times the one who failed to keep his or her marriage vows was put to death. I am hardly in favor of such a punishment in this age, but a five year stay in jail is none too harsh—not a bit. That would check the disgraceful increase in American divocres."

Mrs. Lieber Whittic, widely known clubwoman and leader of the national Women's party in Onondaga County, opposes the Knappenberger plan.

"If you can't have a happy home, wreck it at once before any children are born," said Mrs. Whittics.

"The increase in divorce is nothing to be alarmed about. It is simply natural and lawfully regulated rearrangement of men and women who have been mismated.

"Why force a man and woman to live together in unhappiness and perhaps even hatred? To do so is inhuman and criminal. Offspring from such a union will never develop into superior types. They are bound to be subnormal and unfit to take their place in life."

In Mrs. Whittic's opinion Saint Paul placed rather a restraining hand upon women who meekly submitted to his regulations all down through the ages.

WANTED TO STAY IN JAIL.

YUMA, Ariz., July 2.—(Associated Press).—An Indian known here as "The Ace of Spades" became so attached to the county jail that when his sentence recently expired he had to be ejected forcibly. At the end of a ten-day term he indicated his intention of remaining indefinitely, and it required three deputy sheriffs to propel him through the back door.

WEST MAY BUY BAY RAILROAD

On-to-the-Bay Association Favors Taking Over Uncompleted Line.

EXECUTIVE ACTION

WINNIPEG, July 2.—(Canadian Press).—If Parliament at the present session does not make provision for the early completion of the Hudson Bay Railway the "On-to-the-Bay" association is in favor of the suggestion of Sir Henry Drayton that the uncompleted line be handed over ta the prairie provinces "upon equitable terms." A resolution to this effect was passed at a meeting of the executive of the association.

The federal government is urged to make an offer to the prairie governments "or any of them" which will include "all of the physical assets of the uncompelter line, plus the unexpended balance of monies collected under land sales contracts pledged by the government of Sir Wilfried Laurier for the completion of the Hudson Bay railways.

CUSTOMS DECREASE

June Showed $6,549,624 Less Collections Than Same Month Last Year.

OTTAWA, July 2.— (Canadian Press).—Decrease in the collection of customs and excise duties is shown in returns for the month. In June 1924, there was a decrease of $6,549,642 from previous June. The figures are: June, 1924 $19,705,916; une, 1923, $26,255,540.

In the three months ended today customs and excise collections totalled $57,169,152. In the corresponding period last year collections were $73,273,080, a decline of $16,103,928.

Collections this month also show a decrease from the collections for May, 1924, when the figures were $22,995,683.

In June, 1924, customs import duties totalled $9,582,304, a decrease of more than two millions as against June, 1923. Excise taxes were $6,618,744., a decrease of $4,082,460; excise duties were $3,347,840 a reduction of $190,029. Sundry collections showed an increase of $65,623.

LAW TO RELENT AND SAVE MUIR

Canadian Minister Promises Aid to Lad Condemned in Bar Room Murder.

MOTHER OVERJOYED.

MONTREAL, July 2.

Across the bars of a cell in Bordeaux Prison, Montreal, for many months the dread shadow of the gallows has fallen.

A lad yof twenty-two, in whose eyes there should have been the happy light of youth, has sat there condemned to be hanged.

Now, with renewed hope, he looks from his cell window upon "that little tent of blue" and prays that the news he has just heard may be true.

Prominent people have tried hard to save Walter Muir from death. Ever since the bar room quarrel in Quebec last September, in which he shot Henri Laviolette in a dispute, efforts have been made to have his sentence commuted.

There were various stories of the shooting. Some said he shot to defend a cripple whom Laviolette had struck. Some said he shot at the floor to frighten him, and that the bullets ricochetted. But British law is stern.

Duchesse Enlists Aid.

The Duchesse de Richelieu interested herself in his case. At the last minute it was through her influehce that two of Canada's most eminent attorneys, Eugene Lafleur, K.C., and N. K. Laflamme, noted criminal lawyers were engaged for him. The Duchesse also appealed to Howard Carter Dickinson, lawyer-nephew of Secretary of State Hughes. Mr. Dickinson is acting for the boy in New York.

Telegrams were sent to the Canadian Minister of Justice and others who might be influential in securing the grant of a new trial. Appeals also were made to the State Department at Washington and to the American Consul General in Canada. A reprieve was granted, but nothing else. The Court of Appeals a few weeks ago refused to grant a new trial. Their decision was unanimous. On July 11 Muir was to be hanged.

Last Tuesday Mr. Dickinson went to Ottawa to confer with Ernest Lapointe, the Canadian Minister of Justice, and Muir's two Canadian attorneys.

He returned with the word that the Minister of Justice would do all in his power to have the boy's sentence commuted. This practically means that the sentence will be commuted, as the Minister of Justice is the one upon whom such decisions rest.

Life Of Hobo Appealed To Girl Until Arrested

PORT ARTHUR, July 2.—(Canadian Press).—The "Mysterious Alice X," who baffled the authorities as to her identity for nearly six weeks, has been deported to the United States in care of the Salvation Army, following her declaration to the immigration authdrities as to her home and name. The authorities refuse to divulge her name, but intimate that the impersonation of a "hobo" was purely a girlish prank and the reason she did not give her name was that she did not want her father or mother to know she had been "inside a jail."

The girl was arrested at White River as a hobo and brought to the Port Arthur jail where it was discovered she was a girl twenty years of age.

TAUGHT SCHOOL THIRTY YEARS

Miss Annie Young of Alnwick Township Has Unique Record of Public Service.

MAY RETIRE

ROSENEATH, July 2. — Miss Annie Young, who has been engaged as teacher in School Section No. 3, Alnwick Township, for the past two years, has resigned her position, intending to take a period of rest. She has not decided definitely whether she will give up teaching permanently or not.

Miss Young has taught school for over thirty years in the provinces of Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, anl Alberta, having a life certificate in each of the foregoing provinces. She spent the greater part of her Western teaching in Brandon and Miami, Manitoba.

She was born near Havelock, receiving her public school education in that place, after which she attended Norwood High School, passing successfully tnrough the different forms. She then taught two years at Normad, Ontario, before taking her Normal training at Ottawa, where she received her diploma in 1886. She has taught continuously since that time, with the exception of some six or seven years, a record to be proud of, although Miss Young is very modest about her work, and does not regard it in that manner. She is very fond of her vocation, and takes a great interest in the training of the young children, being very much attached to the pupils of her school.

Miss Young is a sister of the late Mrs. (Dr.) Smith, missionary at Tushun, China, who died in 1922 while she and her husband were home on furlough. She also has a sister living in Cobourg on the corner of King and Division Streets, with whom she makes her home during the holidays, and the terms she is not engaged in teaching.

RADIO SPREADS IN PHILIPPINES

MANILA, July 2.—(Associated Press).—The Philippine Government now has a total of 28 radio stations in the archipelago, reaching from Basco, Batanes Islands, on the north, to Jolo on the south. In a number of instances the Government has abandoned cable lines connecting various islands on account of the expense of maintenance, and has substituted radio stations.

RACE GOING COSTLY IN IRELAND

DUBLIN, July 2.—Irish racing is experiencing a slump, and a conference is to be held in Dublin to examine into the causes and find a remedy.

The officials of the Irish National Hunt Club and of the Turf Club have been invited to attend. The three chief causes of the slump are described as too many officials, the increase in the number of weight-for-age races, and the heavy expenses of race-goers.

CABINET SHIFT BY MUSSOLINI TO KEEP PEACE

Four New Ministers Named, None a Fascist, For Important Portfolios.

EXECRATES MURDER.

King Tells Parliamentary Commitee That Nation Must Be United.

ROME, July 2.—(By Associated Press.) — Four portfolios in the Mussolini Cabinet have been turned over by the Premier to new ministers, it was officially announced on Monday.

The changes were made in accordance with Mussolini's promise to re-organize his cabinet with new and stronger elements.

Senator Sasati succeeds Signor Entile as Minister of Education, Deputy Gino Sarrocchi succeeds Signor Gabrilleo Carnazza as Minister of Public Works; Senator Sesare Nava replaces Signor Laio Orso Corbino as Minister of National Economy, and Deputy Prince Lanza di Scala takes the portfolio of the colonies which Signor Mussolini has been holding temporarily.

Three Leave Cabinet.

The three ministers who have been replaced leave the cabinet, while all the other ministers retain their portfolios.

A reference to the Matteotti affair was made by King Victor Emmanuel in an address to the representatives of the Senate and Chamber who went to the Quirinal Palace to reply to the speech from the throne. The King said:

"It is the unanimous aspiration of the conscience of the people, that all of the Italians in Parliament above all work together for the greatness and prosperity of the country.

All Execrate Crime.

"To-day, since a horrible crime has provoked my execration, that of my government, that of the two branches of Parliament and of the country at large, it is more than ever necessary that the Chambers should give to the nation an example of wisdom and conciliation."

The portfolio of the colonies which is to be occupied by Prince Lanza di Scalea has been held by Luigi Federzoni, who becomes Minister of the Interior.

None is Fascisti.

None of the new Ministers is a member of the Fascisti militia, although all of them are strongly pro-Fascists. All belong to the Liberal Constitutional Party except Senator Nava who is a member of the Catholic Party and a personal friend of Pope Pius.

A few days ago he went with Monsignor Charles A. O'Hern, Rector of the American College in Rome, to visit the Villa Garrielli to report to the Pope on the advisability of purchasing it for the American College.

GERMAN STEVEDORES NEED SPEED

BREMERHAVEN, July 2.—(Associated Press).—The stevedores of New York have an enviable reputation for efficiency. For instance, they can load a liner in New York in 26 hours, but when the vessel gets here it takes the German dockmen 72 hours to get this same cargo ashore.

Efforts are being made to get better service in Bremerhaven, because every hour alongside a dock is wasteful, from the standpoint of the owners, as compared to sea travel with cargo and tourists paying transportation rates.

St. Anne De Beaupre Cured St. Paul Woman

QUEBEC, July 2 (Canadian Press). — Mrs. Siegfried and William McNab, members of a party from St. Paul, Minn., claim to have been cured at the shrine at St. Anne de Beaupre, the former of partial paralysis and the latter of chronic headache.

Mrs. Siegfried left her crutches at the shrine.

Following their custom, the Redemptorist Fathers refuse to make an official statement until they have proof of the miracles.

JOHN W. DAVIS IS OUTSTANDING MAN

Many of His Friends Are Making an Effort to Have Him Nominated at Democratic Convention.

NEW YORK, July 2 (Canadian Press). — As the Democratic National Convention convened to resume balloting for the presidential nomination ,report was in circulation that an organised move had developed to kill off John W. Davis before he attained any greater strength.

Davis, former Ambassador to Great Britain, and in many respects conceded to be an outstanding figure in the Democratic Party, is not personalyl an active candidate for nomination, though many of his friends, including a number of influential leaders of the Party, are making an effort to put him across.

So far he has had no great boom in balloting, but has developed strength steadily. Beginning with 31 votes in the first ballot—sixteen of his native state, West Virginia, and scattered fifteen from various other States—he mounted steadily to 126 1-2 on the thirtieth, the last ballot taken last night.

As his votes rolled up genuine spontaneous applause which came from various sections of the galleries and the obvious interest of hundreds of those on the floor appeared to indicate the general feeling that he would make a strong compromice candidate.

BELLEVILLE BEAT PONIES YESTERDAY

Trunks Nose Kingston Out in Free Hitting Affair.

Belleville got away to a good start in the second half of the Central Ontario League race by beating Kingston in Belleville yesterday in a free hitting game by 10 runs to 9.

It was the fifth win in eight days for the Trunks, and incidentally for Oulette, who is surely earning the title of iron man. Kelly started the game for Kingston and was relieved by Gallagher.

The loss broke the Ponies' winning streak after Kingston had captured six games in a row.

The Ponies play in Peterborough on Saturday, while Belleville and Oshawa clash.

SALE OF TIMBER

Tenders will be received by the undersigned up to and including the 29th of July, 1924, for the right to cut the timber on a limit in the Township of Nightingale, in Algonquin National Park, area 43 square miles, more or less.

Further particulars may be obtained upon application to the undersigned, or to Mr. P. J. Whelan, Acting Crown Timber Agent, Renfrew.

INDUCTION OF NEW RECTOR IN MADOC CHURCH

Bishop of Ontario Conducted Solemn Occasion.

ALREADY POPULAR

Rev. A. Strother Has Made Many Friends During His Short Residence.

MADOC July 2. — On Sunday evening a very solemn service was held at the Church of St. John the Baptist the occasion being the visit of the Bishop of Ontario and the induction of the new rector, Rev. A. Strother.

Rev. Mr. Strother, who succeeded Rev. Mr. Hall in this parish about three months ago, has already made many friends, and a large congregation of members and visitors was present at his formal induction and institution..

No one attending this service could fail to be impressed by the beauty and sacredness of the office. This feeling was deepened by the earest, thoughtful address of Bishop Bidwell.

His Lordship preached from the General Epistle of Jude, part of the third verse: "Ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints."

Reviewing briefly the early history of Christianity the speaker reminded the congregation of the difficulties under which the first Christians laboured, and the suffering and martyrdom which was often their portion. Yet despite the fact that in those days, as in the present day, there were people even in the midst of the Church who doubted some of the tenets of the faith Christianity has grown and spread throughout the world. The necessity of believing and realising the truth of the Christian creed was pointed out and the people exhorted to remain true in word and deed to the great facts of the life and divinity of the Saviour.

Worthy Work.

In referring to the Form of Institution just completed, the Bishop spoke of the worthy work Mr. Strother has done in his former parishes, never sparing any effort in his endeavour to save a soul for Christ, and of his ready sympathy and help for all who need. Such earnestness and assistance will, no doubt, be continued in this, his new field of labour. But ,the speaker continued, he himself felt more and more that a great responsibility rested upon the people as well as upon the rector. They in their turn must do their share in the maintenance of the church, and their readiness to give of their substance and labour in furthering the interests of God's work. He was pleased that this congregation, though small, had always been loyal and faithful in the performance of their duties.

Following the address. an anthem was sung by the choir, the beautiful setting bringing out the thought and meaning of that simple yet wonderful hymn, "Now the day is over."

A great deal of credit is due to Mrs. Strother, who has been of inestimable benefit in training the choir, and has accomplished a great deal in a short time.

It was fitting that so important a service should be marked by the first appearance of a surpliced choir in St. John's Church. Congratulations should be offered to the choir and the ladies of the congregation, through whose efforts the robing has been effected.

The parishioners were pleased to welcome Rev. A. E. Smart of Tweed, a former rector, who took part in the service.

Thanks are due to Mrs. Gray for the beautiful flowers which adorned the church.

Personal Mention.

Dr. and Mrs. P. J. Alexander have returned from a motor trip to Toronto and St. Catharines.

Dr. M. E. Wilson, of the Government Geological Survey, with two assistants, is in camp at Moira Lake. Mrs. Wilson is at the camp for a few days before proceeding to Kingsville, where she will she will spend the summer with her sisters in their cottage on Lake Erie.

A great quantity of wild orchids have been brought in from the north country. These are magnificent specimens, both as to size and colour, being of both the pink and yellow varieties.

Miss Baker, of the Public School staff, has resigned to accept a more advantageous position in Timmins.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner and son and Mr. and Mrs. Dewart, of Peterborough, spent Sunday the guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. W. Ballard.

A great number of strawberries were brought into town and sold for ten cents a box. This surely ought to mean plenty of jam for man's comfort "when the wintry winds do blow."

Miss Lenore Vandervoort, of Bowmanville, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. G. F. Maybee.

PICNIC AT TWEED

Gander Race Provided a Lot of Amusement—Among Those Present.

TWEED, July 2.—The picnic held yesterday at Trudeau's Grove by St. Edmund's parish under the supervision of Rev. Father Cullinane was a great success. Dinner was served at 12 o'clock and the sports followed. Races of various descriptions were held, but the one which made the most fun was a gander race. A gander was taken out in a boat to quite a distance from the shore, and the boys swam to see who could catch him. In deep water the gander could outstrip the boys, but in shallow water the boys could run faster than he could swim, and so he was finally caught and a prize of two dollars given the victor.

After the sports Mr. Marshall, Minister of Agriculture, from Alberta, addressed the crowd. He told them that farming was the finest occupation on earth, and the one which required the best brains. He urged the farmers to improve their stock, steadily, year by year, until finally they would have only pure-bred animals on their farms. That is the sure road to ultimate success, and the men who farm and who farm well are the men who are helping Canada to-day,

Pies, cakes, etc., that were left were auctioned off.

A dancing platform had been erected, and with a five-piece orchestra from Rochester to supply the music, dancing started soon after the supper. There were over a thousand at the picnic during the day, and many more came for the dancing. The lake was a picture with the canoes and skiffs coming across just as the sun was setting.

Among those noticed at the picnic were the lately ordained young priests of Tweed and the surrounding country: Rev. Fathers Feeney, Kinlin, Le Sage, Burns, Shannon, Callaghan and the Rev. Father O'Reilly, of Erinsville, Rev. Fathers Rior[illegible]nd O'Re[illegible] and Rev. Father Hanle, of [illegible]

Rev. Father Cullinane is to be congratulated on the success of his picnic.

CLASS CONFIRMED

TWEED, July 2.—Confirmation services were held in St. James' Anglican Church on Sunday morning. Bishop Bidwell, of the Kingston Diocese, was present and confirmed twenty-seven candidates. The text for his address to the candidates was from Acts ii., 47: "And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved."

The church was filled with relatives and friends of the candidates and the special music was very appropriate.

I.O.O.F. Church Parade.

Dr. MacTavish addressed the members of the I.O.O.F. and the Rebecca Lodge on Sunday afternoon in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. After the church service the lodges proceeded to the cemetery, where after an impressive ceremony, they decorated the graves of their departed brothers and sisters.

Musical examinations were held at Miss Pratt's studio. Mr. Donald Harold, of Toronto Conservatory of Music, was the examiner.

KINGSTON MAN WAS DROWNED IN RIDEAU

KINGSTON, Ont., July 2.—(Canadian Press).—Richard Van Alstine, an employee of the Weber Piano Company, was accidentally drowned yesterday afternoon on the Rideau, near Kingston Mills, at a spot known as "The High Banks."

There was no person with him at the time. A farmer passing a nearby field was attracted to the scene by the cries of the unfortunate man just as he went down.

Deceased owned a cottage nearby, and is thought to have been spending the holiday on a lone fishing trip.

GRASS STAINS

Grass stains may be removed from white goods by sponging with ammonia water. For silk, alcohol or chloroform is better.

ORANGE LODGE CHURCH PARADE

Springbrook L. O. L. 442 Attended Service at Marmora Methodist Church.

VISITORS PRESENT

MARMORA, July 2.—The annual church parade of Springbrook L.O. L. 442 took place on Sunday afternoon last. Including a sprinkling of visiting brethren, about 50 paraded to the Methodist church for divine worship at 2.30 p.m. Appropriate hymns and Bible readings were features of the service.

None the less appropriate was the inspiring sermon preached by the pastor, Bro. D. R. Clare. Upon adjourning to the lodge room at the conclusion of the service uplifting addresses were given by various brethren.

Garden Parties.

This is the season for picnics and garden parties. On Thursday Springbrook held a lawn social on the church lawn. Music for the evening was given by the Ketcheson orchestra.

On Friday evening Zion church held their annual lawn social. The evening's programme was begun by a baseball game between a Deloro team and Malone. The game had to be stopped before it reached its termination on account of the darkness, but the score at that time was 10-10.

A splendid programme was provided during the evening and the social was altogether a splendid success.

Miss Estelle Peever spent the week end with her aunt, Mrs. Wesley Grant.

The three lower rooms of the Public school closed last week and the teachers left on Monday for their respective homes. Mr. Prentice continued the attendance of his Entrance class till Monday.

Wedding Bells.

The marriage ceremony of Miss Margaret O'Connor, daughter of the late Michael and Mrs. O'Connor to Mr. E. J. Keating of Toronto, was solemnized in Sacred Heart church on Monday, June 30.

GIRL KILLED BY A FIRE CRACKER

Boy Playfully Dropped Fire Cracker Down Seven Year Old Girl's Neck.

TORONTO, July 2.—(Canadian [illegible] the neck [illegible] dress[illegible] Ma[illegible] brought death yesterday afternoon at the Hospital f[illegible]ick Children to Ada, 7-year-old daughter of Reginald C. Morris, 19 Saulter Street. Death was due to burns. For six weeks the hospital nurses and doctors worked to save the little girl's life. A blood transfusion operation was performed in the last attempt to save the child. Most of the period during which she was in the hospital her mother was down with a serious attack of diphtheria, and is still virtually in a state of collapse, due to after effects of the illness and shock of the death of her daughter.

At the home of the family last night the parents gave their version of how the girl received her fatal burns. The girl was pushing a baby carriage down Saulter Street, when a neighbor's boy, it is alleged, dropped a fire cracker down the back of her dress. With her underclothing burning, the girl ran home and her mother wrapped a coat about her and smothered the flames. Dr. E. R. Hastings was called in, and he had her taken to the Hospital for Sick Children.

Coroner G. W. Clendenan will conduct an inquest Thursday night.

FABLES ON HEALTH

SWAT THAT FLY!

With the arrival of summer days, Anytown began to organize its annual fly swatting campaign—largely because flies became bothersome, but with little thought for the fundamental reason for such drives.

The part played by flies as disease carriers is emphasized each season.

Flies carry germs from the streets, from sick rooms, from garets and cellars and swamps, and almost everywhere. They can carry these germs directly to a baby's lips, to the food or milk, or water.

Typhoid and other epidemics have been almost directly traced to flies.

Thus also mosquitoes. It is little known that mosquitoes have provided in their bodies a place for malaria germs to grow—that the mosquito does not mechanically carry malaria, but breeds the fever germs in its body.

Help your city in the campaigns to fight these pests and improve the civic hygiene!

HASTINGS WON HOLIDAY GAME

Defeated Havelock in Junior Lacrosse Fixture Yesterday.

HASTINGS, July 2. — Before one of the largest crowds of spectators seen on the athletic grounds here this year the Junior lacrosse team defeated Havelock by the score of 8-4.

The visitors played good lacrosse and put up a good fight and were well supported by their fans.

The game which was called for 5:30, started on time.

The first period started out fast, the ball going from one end of the field to the other.

The checking was close and strenuous and the combination was good. [illegible] bal[illegible] play for 11 minutes Scotty Clapper broke through the Havelock defense and by taking a pass from Cruickshanks scored the only goal in the first period.

Second: In the last of the second, the Hastings boys woke up to the fact that they had to play lacrosse to win and bombarded the Havelock goal with shot after shot, and only the good work of the Havelock goalie kept them from running up a much larger score. They had to work in close to beat the goalie, and on a nice piece of combination from close in Joe Gould scored. The ball was faced off and on another nice pass K. Cruicksank scored, and from the face off again from a nice close shot Cruickshank shot in another, making the score 4-0 in favor of Hastings.

At end of the second Way being hurt was replaced by McGee. Although McGee had never been out to practice, in the first game he ever played he made a good impression, and with a little more practice will make a valuable defense man.

In the third period Havelock scored three goals in succession, Jacks getting two and Kitchen one.

In the fourth period the home lads lightened up and finished strong, scoring four goals, C. Baker getting two and C. Way two.

The locals had the visitors played off their feet, and Manager Bell says with a little more practice he will step into Havelock and trim them in their own backyard.

Pat Walsh played a good game, and the Clapper brothers played their usual brand .Cruickshanks and Baker were very effective and Joe Gould was as usual after everything and played good clean lacrosse.

Jack Nesbitt acted as referee and gave satisfaction, as also did C. Holmes as judge of play.

The line-ups were:

[illegible]kett, P. Greenly, L. Plunkett, L. Jacks, H. Laing, H. Kitchen, E. Campney, C. Brennan H. Sexsmith, J. Brady and C. Neil, sub goal-tender.

Hastings: B. Scriver, goal, Pat Dodd, point, Dit Clapper, cover point; Lou Lambert, 1st defence; Pat Walsh, second defence; Scotty Clapper, centre; Jack Way, second home; Joe Gould, first home; K. Cruickshank, outside home; Clif. Baker, inside home; Scott and McGee spares.

The penalties were, For Havelock, Brennan, 2 minutes; Greenly and Plunkett, each one minute.

Hastings: Walsh, Clapper, Dit Clapper, each one minute.

Goals scored: First period, Scotty Clapper one; second period, Joe Gould, one; Cruickshank two; third period, Havelock, Jacks 2 each; Kitchen two. Fourth: Havelock 1 by Jacks; and Hastings four, two by Way and two by Baker.

The standing of the teams now are:

Hastings has played 4, lost 1, and won 3.

Havelock has played 3, lost 1, won 1, tied 1, and 1 to play.

Campbellford has played 3, lost 2, tied one, and one to play.

Campbellford goes to Havelock, and plays on Friday, which completes the first half of the schedule.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

What grounds are there for the statement that "It takes a financial genius to make a real success in the investment business?

Answered by
A. W. WARNER
Veteran Financial Writer and Newspaper Man.

Anyone can find when a certain train will pull into a particular station by looking at the time table. If an accident occurs an expert must be consulted to find out whether or not the train will be on time.

Almost any man with average intelligence can find out whether or not a bond is entitled to a good rating. As in the case of the train, however, accidents are likely to change the rating, so he needs the services of a good bank or bond house to protect himself.

The successful investment manager burrows much deeper into conditions than the average man does. He must not only be able to gauge the effect of accidents or changing business conditions on his securities, but he must anticipate them so as to avoid future losses. That faculty requires excellent foresight and is well termed "financial genius."

BUSINESS HUMS AT LAKEFIELD

Building Has Started on the Site of the New Brass Factory.

VISITORS ARR[illegible]

LAKEFIELD, July 2nd.—The site of the Brass Factory is at present a hive of industry. The contractor W. J. Webster, has a large gang at work digging the foundation and making cement blocks of which the building will be constructed. A well digger is at work and the "Clack, clack" of his machinery adds to the stir. The steadily growing piles of cement blocks create a strong impression of prosperity in the building industry in the minds of the numerous tourists who by train, bus or motor car pass the scene of activity.

Bait Sellers Busy.

The troop of bait boys who apparently do a thriving busniess at the Lakefield dock has grown considerably since last season but competition appears to be just as friendly as of old. The lads learn a good deal about business methods and experience, (that peerless teacher) teaches them many useful lessons. The observers learns what becomes of empty cigar boxes as they are much in evidence but no longer empty or filled with fragrant Havanas but with layers of grass and dew worms which are tempting bait for the wily denizens of the lakes. It is no uncommon sight to see the small boy with lantern or flash light hunting his prey, or rather his stock in trade. As nearly all the lads are well dressed and possess bicycles, one is forced to the conclusion that business is good.

Summer Homes.

The upper island in the Otonabee river, opposite the dock has been cleared this season to some extent and is much improved, a little shack, the slummer home of Messrs Janett and Alford, lends a "homey" 'aspect to the scene. These islands are extremely picturesque, covered as they are with luxuriant growth and possessing some extremely fine trees.

Hogue's Point has now two summer shacks built upon it, a new one built of logs has appeared this season and is unusually substantial. The first one, built last year by Rev. C. Grant King and J. A. Creasor is still standing, having proved to be very comfortable and warm even when the icy nor' westers blew across the point late last autumn.

No Celebration.

As there was no celebration of Dominion Day in the village except the fact of its being a holiday, a number of citizens attended celebrations in Lindsay or Port Hope or at Curve [illegible] [illegible] deal of popularity and a number of picnics were held.

Special Devotions.

Forty Hour Devotions were held last week in St. Pauls' Church and were well attended, a large number coming in from Young's Point and other places.

GOOD NEWS FOR HOME BANK MEN

Depositors Have Moral Claim in Equity For Compensation by Country.

OTTAWA, July 2.—Good news for Home Bank depositors was contained in the report of the committee on banking and commerce submitted to the House of Commons yesterday afternoon and which recommended that the depositors, while having no legal claim, have a moral claim in equity for compensation by the country on account of any loss they may suffer by reason of failure of the Home Bank. This report was presented to the House by H. M. Marler, Montreal, Liberal member acting for Thomas Vien, chairman, and when asked by Mr. Meighen if the report was unanimous, Mr. Marler said it was a majority report. Although the Press were excluded yesterday morning from the sitting of the committee on banking and commerce when the report of the sub-committee was being discussed, it is understood that the report was adopted by a large majority, about 3 to 1. Opponents it is understood were confined to Liberals and Conservatives. According to present outlook the bill for reimbursement of depositors would have no difficulty in passing the House. Whether the Senate would reject it, as that body did reject the bill in the Farmers' Bank case, remains to be disclosed.

KILLED

Nearly 2500 American coal miners were killed in 1923, final check-up shows. This means that one miner gave up his life for every 237,000 tons of coal brought to the surface.

Fortunately, the death rate among miners is gradually dropping. It was reduced almost a tenth last year. Protective laws, won after long and intense campaigns by newspapers and other agencits, are bringing results.

More than half of accidental deaths in and around mines are due to falls off roofs and coal.

RICHES

The national wealth of our country now is about 320 billion dollars, according to the way Uncle Sam figures it, including money, real estate, autos, homes, farm animals, mines, oil under the earth, railroads, etc.

If all this were divided evenly, there'd only be about $3000 for every man, woman and child. How much does your combined family average below or above this figure? An error in the government estimate is that is doesn't include the greatest form of national wealth—man power. Without human labor, all other forms of wealth are worthless. Labor is the beginning and the end, Alpha and Omega.

U. S. Oil Resources Soon to be Exhausted

LONDON, July 2. — (Canadian Press):—Sir Richard Redmayne, noted British Mining expert, told the International Power Conference at yesterday's session of that body that oil resources of the United States would be exhausted in a generation and coal supply within two thousand years. The coal of the British Empire could be gone within a few centuries he declared and attention should be directed to utilizing potential energy in fuel to best effect so as to conserve worlds supply. Low temperature of carbonization in coal would be important step in this direction. Arthur Surveyor of Canada and F. A. Gaby of the Ontario Hydro Power Commission, speaking on water power productions gave exhaustive review of Canada's resources and growth and future possibilities of Hydro Electric operations.

IMPERILED

A crop worth over two billion dollars a year is imperiled by the "borer" insect now advancing westward into the corn belt.

If a foreign nation started fighting us to make us pay that much indemnity a year, every one would rally against it.

Why do we submit tamely, almost indifferently, to insect enemies while similar onslaughts from rival nations would start us enthusiastically on the warpath? One reason is that professional patriots, war bankers, munitions makers and propagandists can't make large and sudden fortunes rousing the mob against insects.

CANADA'S FUTURE.

Though the rate and course of national growth baffle prophecy, there can be no doubt that Canada has yet realized but a small measure of her potential stature in industry and commerce, says the London Free Press. With liberal resources of the field, the forest, mine and waterfall and the sea, with extensive systems of rail and water transportation, commanding gateways for the commerce of the Atlantic and the Pacific, a geographical situation favorable to trade with the populous markets of Western Europe and the Orient, a friendly nation of more than one hundred millions, alike in language and customs, as neighbor to the south, with sound institutions of government, strong racial ties and with free but far-reaching political associations, the Dominion faces a career in which the period of economic youth and growth has still a long and promising course to run.

SAVING TIME.

Examiner readers will doubtless be interested in hearing of the experiment made by a large American taxi-cab company which has recently been investigating the question of how much time was saved by speeding through crowded streets.

The result may be somewhat surprising to the drivers who imagine that it is necessary in order to make time to shatter the speed limit.

The company has found that speeding under such conditions is not only highly dangerous, but it rarely saves time.

In this particular instance it was shown that of 1,000 test trips, the 500 which were conducted at an attempted reckless speed with the drivers taking advantage of every trick known to the craft effected only an insignificant saving of time over the 500 trips made at a rate of less than twenty miles an hour in which every traffic regulation and driving courtesy were carefully observed.

That was a real test, made often enough to be convincing, and the experience of this taxi-cab company should be sufficient to prove to motorists in general the folly of fast driving in city streets.

It is dangerous and it does not save time.

So what is the use?

WHY NOT SEPTEMBER?

A contemporary points out a fact that has often impressed the Examiner and that is that the summer resort season in Ontario so far as its length is concerned is governed by the period of school vacations more than by every other factor.

As soon as the schools close people flock to the summer cottages and the resorts; as the time for re-opening draws near the rush back to town is in order.

The Examiner believes that a mistake is made by summer hotel proprietors and others interested in the tourist traffic to give way entirely to this school holiday tradition.

The summer resort season could be extended by at least a month if an intelligent and co-operative effort were made by the people most concerned to show the public that September is very often the choicest period of the year to enjoy a holiday on lake or river.

The weather is at its best, the fishing is good, mosquitoes and black flies are absent, the nights are cool and the days beautifully warm and bright.

Under such conditions why should summer hotels be empty of guests simply because people with children have to get home in time for school?

There are thousands of other people who could spend September at a summer resort if a real effort were made to sell that month to the public instead of a general throwing up of hands at the end of August.

WORTH A DOLLAR A MINUTE.

How would you like to earn $1 a minute? It would give you an income of about $150,000 a year. A great many people make that much and more. The system that permits them to pile up so much wealth is countenanced by the public because every one figures that, as long as the system exists, there is always a chance for him to get into the $150,000-a-year class.

We are all millionaires at heart.

The millionaire merely represents the common goal.

Here's an interesting experiment in psychology. Take almost any man with an income of $1 a minute. Let him by accident drop $1 through a sidewalk grating.

What will he do? You know. He'll stop, no matter how rushed he is, and try to recover the lost $1.

He'll spend at least $10 worth of time trying to get back that tantalizing $1 that has slipped away from him.

Many millionaires attend directors' meetings just to get the $5 goldpiece that is paid for attendance.

We smile at the man who wastes $10 of time trying to recover a lost $1. And yet we all do the same thing in principle.

We continue to use worn-out devices long after they become more expensive than new devices. For instance, many a farmer—rather than buy a new faucet for his oil barrel—uses the leaking old faucet. He collects the drippings in a tin can—but by evaporation loses every few weeks more than the cost of a new faucet.

Supposed economy ofttimes is extravagance.

No matter how much or how little money we have, our greatest wealth is time. Nature gives us just so many minutes to spend between birth and death.

The precious minutes are ticking away fast. But how many squander their most valuable minutes? It's foolish to overwork. Man needs to spend minutes as well as dollars for recreation to keep him balanced and efficient mentally and physically. Few of us, though, spend our spare time as shrewdly as we spend our spare money.

Money fortune depends on not being a spendthrift with time, quite as much as on saving money.

TROUBLE MAKERS.

The attempt of the striking Toronto postal employees to persuade the Hamilton men who have returned to work to join them in their losing fight has, from all indications, failed, says the Hamilton Spectator. It is all pretense to say that the Government is merely indulging in "propaganda," and that its hands can be forced by united action. The strike has been a mistake and miscalculation. It has come at a most inopportune time for the men, when there is an abundance of surplus labor available for service. Both sides have been at fault. The Government acted in the first place in a dilatory manner; its plea that it had no authority to overrule the decision of the Civil Service Commission is an untenable position to adopt. The settlement rests with Parliament, and the responsibility cannot be evaded. But there is no doubt now that the Government is accepting its full responsibility in the matter. Its ultimatums are not mere empty threads, as the Toronto faction asserts, but mean what they say. There will be no surrender.

The Hamilton workers went back, believing that their grievances would be given a further hearing. The promise has been given that further negotiations will take place, and that no reductions from the previous schedule of wages will be suffered by any employee in the meantime. It would be the rankest folly to jeopardize this position by hurling fresh defiance at Government authority.

By doing so the strikers are flying in the face of public opinion. They have had the sympathy and support of the nation in their efforts to obtain justice by legitimate means, but that sympathy is imperilled by the wanton and ill-advised action of those who are seeking to paralyze the postal service of the country in a vain effort to dictate their own terms. Civil servants are in a special class; the violent methods advocated by the strikers are not calculated to promote their interests. The part of wisdom has been taken by the Hamilton men, who returned to their employment after explanations had been made. They are not to be stampeded from that wise course. Neither threats nor ridicule nor abuse will serve any useful purpose at this juncture.

THE PRICE OF THE SUDAN.

The pessimists who prophesied the immediate disruption of the Empire and the betrayal of dearly won rights with the advent to power of a Labor Government will revise their judgments on reading the speech made by the Colonial Secretary in the House of Commons on Imperial affairs.

Mr. Thomas has shown himself zealous in preservation of British purposes and ideals and the maintenance of the best British colonial traditions, and he is not to be brow-beaten by the noisy vaporings of the Clydeside group, nor to be cajoled from his course by the whisperings of molly-coddle pacifists.

The latest demand for secession from the British flag and the setting up of a republic comes from the Egyptians, who, not content with the enjoyment of the broadest measure of home rule that any country enjoys of those which a few years ago were under the tutelage or suzerainty of Great Britain, are now demanding that Britain should withdraw altogether from the Sudan and leave the control of the affairs of that vas tregion which stretches from Uganda and the Belgian Congo to the lower boundary of Egypt to the tender mercies of the Egyptians. Mr. Thomas has spoken in no uncertain tone on this subject and has held out no hopes to the republicans that Britain will abandon her responsibilities and her heritage.

The Sudan is occupied by a people ethnologically different as they are different in temperament and habits of life from the Egyptians. It was not until the beginning of the nineteenth century, when Ismail Pasha saw that the trade routes which had made Cairo prosperous were being diverted, that it occurred to him to send out an expedition of conquest into the Sudan. Then although the disorganized Rrab tribesmen fled before the advance of the Egyptian army and the last vestige of power of the Mamelukes was destroyed, Egypt can scarcely be said to have conquered the Sudan. Certainly but for the heroic efforts of such men as Hicks Pasha, of Baker and of Chinese Gordon, Egypt would never have been able to maintain the slightest vestige of authority over the vast territory without which Egypt could not exist as a prosperous nation. The Sudan and the Upper Nile country is the key to Egypt and none know this better than the Egyptians who are now pressing for abandonment of that area by the British.

What would happen to the Sudan if the British were to withdraw their authority and remove their protecting arm would be much the same as what happened to it when Charles Gordon left it and the responsibility for controlling that region fell upon the shoulders of that blundering and cowardly weakling, Raouf Pasha. If Great Britain had not maintained control of the Sudan, or if another European power had secured such control the history of that part of the world and an important chapter in the history of the Great War would have been written very differently. The Marchand expedition from the Congo to Fashoda showed how real and how serious was France's efforts in that region.

Now England is to forget Hicks Pasha and her two conquests of the Sudan, to forget the men who paid the toll of the Mahdi's madness in 1881 to 1884, to forget the sacrifice of Charles Gordon and the final triumph of Kitchener at Khartum and to scuttle out of the Sudan at the behest of the country which British valor protected and which British sagacity and statesmanship brought from the demoralization of ineptitude and bankruptcy to the pinnacle of a self-respecting and practically autonomous state.

This is not the British way and Mr. Thomas has earned the thanks of Britishers all over the world for his firmness and his courage in repelling the subtle attacks and underground opposition of his enemies.—Montreal Star.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, July 2. — (Canadian Press). — Cattle, receipts yesterday 11,000; beef steers steady to 15c lower; too matured steers 10.75; bulk fed steers and yearlings 8.50-10.00 yearlings scarce; spots higher; better grade fat cows and yearlings strong to 15c higher; others stead yto weak; choice yearling heifers 9.50; vealers 25c higher; stockers and feeders very scarce.

Hogs, receipts 42,000; uneven; mostly 10c lower than yesterday's average; bulk good and choice 250 to 325 pound butchers 7.15 to 7.30; top 7.35; bulk desirable 180 to 225 pound weight 7.00 to 7.15; better 140 to 170 pound average largely 6.25 to 6.90; bulk packing sows, 6.20 to 6.50; light lights and killing pigs weak to 25c lower; bulk good and choice strong weights, 5.75 to 6.00; estimated holdover 17,000.

Sheep, receips 17,000; killing lambs 25c to 40c higher; sheep fully steady; bulk range lambs 14.00 to 14.75; top 14.75; desirable natives 13.00 to 13.50; bulk yearling wethers 10.00 to 11.85; good to choice feeding lambs 11.75.

CHICAGO, July 2. — (Canadian Press). — With the new corn crop unofficially estimated yesterday as ranking only 75.6 per cent. of normal the lowest condition ever recorded for this time of year, all deliveries of corn jumped to new high prices for the season, but then quickly declined as a result of profit-taking. Corn closing prices were easy, 1-8 to 3-4c net lower, July 96, and September 94 1-8 to 94 1-4c. Wheat finished unsettled at 3-8 to 1-2c off to an equal advance, July $1.15 34 and September $1.16 3-8 to 1-2 to $1.16 1-2, with oats 3-8c to 7-8 to 1c down, and provisions showing 2c to 7c loss.

Highest prices in the corn market came with a rush of buying right at the outset. On the other hand, the day's low point was reached just before business ended. Estimates issued by various experts put the 1924 probable yield of corn at 2,529,000,000 bushels to 2,730,000,000 bushels, against a harvest of 3,048000000 bushels in 1923. The fact that weather conditions were a little more favorable and that cultivating was being resumed had some bearish effect.

In the wheat market, adverse crop reports from Canada were more or less offset by increasing receipts of new wheat southwest and by auspicious crop news. Meanwhile world's available supply of wheat showed 4,900,000 bushels decrease for the week.

Oats reflected bearish effects of oat crop reports during June. Provisions were governed chiefly by the action of corn.

WINNIPEG LIVE STOCK.

WINNIPEG, July 2.— (Canadian Press).—Arrivals on Monday —1,281 cattle and calves; 1,534 hogs and 131 sheep and lambs.

Trading on the cattle market was generally inactive. Medium and half fat grassy kinds moved slow and indications are that prices will work lower. Stockers and feeders were in poor demand although a few good feeders went from $4 to $4.25.

The hog market opened unsettled but prospects are that thick smooths will sell at $7.20 and select bacons $7.97 1-2.

The sheep and lamb market was dull and draggy with a few good spring lambs going at $13. Sheep were weighed up at around $8 with yearling around $10

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, July 2. —(Canadian Press).—The cash grain market was quiet on Monday. There was nothing new in flour. The condition of the mill feed market was unchanged. A fair business is passing in hay. There is a steady demand for eggs. A moderate trade is passing in potatoes. Butter prices were off 3-8c per lb. Trade in cheese was quiet.

SOUTH MONAGHAN S. S. NO. 5 CLOSED

Parents and Friends Gathered at the School House on Friday For the Closing Exercises.

BAILIEBORO, June 30—On Friday afternoon, June 27th, a number of the parents and friends gathered at the school-house to be present at the closing of the school and to show their appreciation to Miss Olive Northcott, who has been the faithful teacher there for the past three years.

The Rev. A. H. McConnachie in a few words, spoke of the good work Miss Northcott has done as teacher in the community, and expressed the thought that in coming together on the last day of school, the section was simply giving honour to whom honour is due.

The special feature of the afternoon was the presentation to the teacher of a handsome clock and tray of French Ivory. The gifts were presented to Miss Northcott by Muriel Whittington while Bessie Wood read the following address:

Dear Miss Northcott:

Seeing we are losing you as our teacher, we scholars and parents have come together to tell you how much we have valued your good work during the last three years.

You have been faithful as a teacher and we scholars have learned to love you more and more as the years have come and gone.

We are sorry to lose you but we wish you all success in your new school in Lakefield.

We will get a new teacher, but we will not soon forget the one who stayed with us for three years and did all in her power to help us.

As a token of our affection and of the respect of the whole school section we ask you to accept these gifts with our very best wishes.

Signed on behalf of the Shool,
Bessie Wood.
Arthur McConnachie.

Miss Northcott replied briefly thanking the parents for their thoughtfulness.

Mr. Ernie Anderson, representing the school Board, also spoke briefly adding his sincere regret that Miss Northcott was leaving the section, but concluded "that what was their loss was another's gain."

The ladies had provided a dainty lunch of cake, sandwich, lemonade and ice-cream, which was thoroughly enjoyed on the school grounds.

Miss Northcott is taking a position on the staff of her home school in Lakefield and the best wishes of her friends here will follow her in her new sphere of work.

PAULINE HOLLAND SMART OIL MAGNET

She Not Only Brought Fortune to Herself, But to Greenwood County Likewise.

WICHITA, Kas., July 2.—Pauline L. Holland outsmarted the smartest oil operators in the mid-west and brought fortune to herself and Greenwood County.

Six years ago the oil fraternity moved derricks out of Greenwood. After a succession of dry holes, the big companies packed their equipment and marked Greenwood County to be avoided.

But there was one woman who believed in Greenwood.

Educated, refined and energetic, she has blocked more acreage and got more tests drilled than any man in the field.

Miss Holland has assembled 14 blocks and got a test drilled on all but one. Every test was drilled to the contract depth without a squabble, and every farmer who joined in the block was satisfied.

Not every test proved a producer, but a majority of them found oil and made money for the operators and the farmers who joined in the block.

Her latest feat was in assembling a block in Russell County, after some of the best lease hounds playing the game had failed. She not only blocked the acreage, but has a drilling contract which assures the sinking of a test on the acreage to a depth of 3,500 feet. The structure on this block was examined by a number of leading geologists in the mid-continent field and pronounced good.

Her greatest feat as an oil woman, however, happened when the big companies left Greenwood County and not a test was drilling in the entire territory.

She assembled a block of acreage, and interested John Grieves. The well came in as an edge well with a big showing. It created a small sensation. The big companies, on the strength of this showing, sent geologists to Greenwood County, and in less than a year and a half a dozen other tests had come in for producers.

The tide turned back to Greenwood and today the county has run ahead of Butler, for years the banner county of Kansas in oil production.

Miss Holland is a gratuate mining engineer. For several years she was with the Anaconda Copper Co. of Montana. She came to Kansas seven years ago to buy production for a Colorado company. The price of prodution, she thought, was too high, so she started drilling in the shallow fields of Montgomery, Elk and Chautauqua Counties.

She drilled in 88 tests in these fields and never got a duster. Later she entered the blocking game and has made a biggest success in the way of completing blocks and getting tests of any person playing the entire field.

"I have been whipped in the game just the same as men," she says, "but I keep everlastingly at it and this is why I have been able to continue blocking acreage and getting tests put down."

I. T. FREDERICK BURIED MONDAY

Funeral Was Largely Attended by Business Men of Campbellford.

WIDELY MOURNED

CAMPBELLFORD, July 2.—The funeral of the late Irvine T. Frederick was held on Monday afternoon from his late residence on Grand Road, a long line of autos following the remans to the grave. All the leading business men of the town were in the procession and a large number of friends and relatives from out of town were present. The deceased by reason of his business connection had a large circle of acquaintances throughout the district and in his home town he was held in the highest esteem.

His Pastor's Tribute.

Rev. Wesley Elliot conducted religious services at the home, assisted by Rev. D. A. Thomson of Hastings and Rev. J. E. Glover of the Seymour circuit. Mr. Thomson who led in prayer also made a brief address. Thirty-two years ago he married Mr. and Mrs. Frederick in Hastings, the latter, who before her marriage was Lillian Peters, being a member of Mr. Thomson's church.

Mr. Elliot chose as his text, the words of the Psalmist, "Precious in the Sight of the Lord in the death of His Saints." Such deaths, the preacher said, were precious in the Lord's sight because death is the Saint's honorable discharge from the warfare of life. This life is a struggle against sin, and sickness and suffering but death is a release for the battle in done. Death is God's discharge from the ranks of the struggling Saint to those who have been victorious. Death is the Saints transition to a glorified and a satisfied state, it is the Saints home coming to the Father's house.

"The deceased was well and favorably known," concluded the speaker. My words of tribute seems superfluous. He was a member of the Methodist church for many years and also a member of the Quarterly Board. He was regular in his attendance at church and much interested in all its affairs, while sick he spoke to his family about going to church when Sunday came. He spoke to his son of religion so that these things were on his mind in his last days. He has crossed the divide and we hope to meet him when we, too, have been called home."

The Floral Offerings.

The casket was covered by wreaths of flowers sent in by friends and relatives, one auto being filled when the procession started for Mount Pleasant Cemetery. These included a pillow from the family and wreaths from the staff of the Universal Gear Works of Detroit where the son Douglas is employed and one from the Ford Motor Company of Canada Ltd., sent by the co-workers of the other son Charles. The J. and T. Bell Company, of Montreal, sent a wreath as did the travellers for that firm. Another handsome floral piece was from the Queen's Hotel in Montreal.

Wreaths were sent by the choir of the Methodist church, by the Ladies Aid, by the officials and members of the congregation and by the merchants of Campbellford. In addition to these there were a large number of floral tributes from individual friends and neighbours.

Those from Out-of-Town.

The following relatives from Toronto attended the funeral: H. M. Frederick, a brother; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. R. Dryden (the latter a sister) and their daughter Verna; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. MacPherson, Fred D. Peters and Miss Minnie Peters.

Bryon Frederick, and Mr. and Mrs S. Muse from Hastings.

B. M. Frederick, Mrs. Stinson and Mrs. McMaster from Peterboro and E. Peters from Hastings.

A. A. Bradley came from Montreal, representing the J. and T. Bell Company of that city, the firm with which the late Mr. Frederick has been associated as a travelling salesman for over 20 years.

Others from a distance were C. E. Tice of Toronto, C. Smith, H. Foote and D. Downs of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bennett of Belleville, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Mooden and H. Holmes, James McCarthy of Hastings, H. Buck and Ed. Puckenham of Norwood.

The pall-bearers were: Charles Benor, Dr. E. J. Free, G. A. Kingston, G. A. Payne, F. W. Wood and J. A. Irwin.

BISHOP SWEENY PAID VISIT TO CAMPBELLFORD

Confirmed a Large Class in Christ Church on Monday Evening.

SPECIAL SERVICE

Memorial Cross Unveiled in Memory of the Late Mrs. Colville.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 2.—Right Reverend J. F. Sweeney, Lord Bishop of Toronto, confirmed a large class at a special service held in Christ Church Monday evening, with impressive ceremony.

Early in the service a beautiful brass memorial, in the form of a cross, in memory of one of the most esteemed members of the parish, the late Mrs. Colville, was unveiled and dedicated by the Bishop. The memorial bears the following inscription:

"To the Glory of God and in loving memory of Mary Frances May Colville, widow of the late Arthur Lyndhurst Colville, Esquire, and a devoted worshipper in this church for nearly half a century.

Born August 1st, 1852; Died March 22nd, 1923."

The tablet was put up by the family of the deceased.

Urged to Attend Church.

In his address to the class of new communicants, Bishop Sweeney spoke from the New Testament story of those who, when bidden to a feast made excuse. One man had invested in land, another had bought a yoke of oxen, while a third had married, all offering these facts as a reason for declining the invitation.

No such excuse, the Bishop said, were valid in the sight of God. He impressed upon his hearers their duty to attend church regularly and to close with all the offers of grace. Social or business engagements should not be allowed to interfere with these duties. If the church people became careless or apathetic they would receive the sentence pronounced upon the foolish virgins and the men in the parable, "Depart from me for I never knew you."

Confirmation, the speaker said, was innoculation against the poison of sin, just as the human body is treated to guard it from a contagious disease.

A special musical programme was furnished by the choir.

Windsor Hotel Sold.

A real estate transaction, one of the largest deals ever made in Campbellford in that line, and which has been hanging fire for over a year, has been finally consummated. The Linton Brothers are now the owners of the Windsor Hotel, and James Blute, late manager, has been given a three-year lease of the premises. The building was owned by the estate of the late Thomas Blute, and the transfer of the property was delayed owing to the difficulty of arranging the details of an affair in which so many heirs were interested.

Built in 1878.

The Windsor Hotel was built in 1878 by the late Hugh Gibbs, the contractor being James Gannon. At that time it was regarded as one of the best hotel buildings in Central Ontario, and still enjoys that reputation. A large brick barn was part of the equipment. The small frame house on which Mr. Gibbs resided, and which was removed from the site to the rear to make room for the new building, is still standing.

The late Thomas Blute, father of the present tenant, was the first landlord of the Windsor, taking possession in 1878. He had been for three years in the old Phoenix Hotel. Thomas Blute purchased the property in 1892, and made extensive additions to the rear. Later he leased it, one of his tenants being George German, who occupied the place for 5 years, and another, James Spellman, who was in it for eight years.

Thomas Blute died in 1905, and the hotel has been operated by the heirs since that time. James Blute was born in the hotel of which he is now the tenant.

Part of the building, with a frontage of 35 feet on Front Street, was sold some years ago to the Standard Bank, which still occupies it.

The Linton Brothers, who have acquired one of the most desirable properties in town, are making alterations in the interior of the building, and no pains will be spared to provide for the comfort of the travelling public.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Diamond and Mrs. Neil Morrison have returned from a motor trip to Windsor, Sarnia and Detroit. Among the points of interest visited were the Jack Miner bird farm near Chatham and the famous farm on the shores of Lake Erie, on the Canadian side, where 1,400 acres of onions, entirely free from weeds, are growing.

James McElroy, of Lindsay, has been permanently appointed conductor on the mail train on the Belleville-Peterboro branch of the C.N.R., succeeding Charles Hanford, transferred to a Toronto branch.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jorgan, of Willoughby, Ohio, are visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. James Alexander, of Garry Street. Mr. and Mrs. Jorgan travelled by auto, making the trip from their home to Toronto, a distance of 350 miles, in 12 hours. While in Toronto they visited a sister of Mrs. Alexander's.

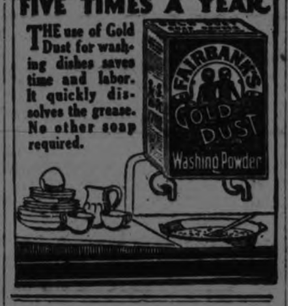
THE use of Gold Dust for washing dishes saves time and labor. It quickly dissolves the grease. No other soap required.



Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can not possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

MISS M. ACKERMAN WON FIRST PRIZE

Campbellford Girl Took Honors in Entrance Examination— I.O.D.E. Award.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 2.—Margery Ackerman won the first and Cherrie Turner the second cash prize offered by the I.O.D.E. a year ago for the pupils taking the highest stand at the Entrance examination. This year they have maintained the same relative positions in the Lower School Departmental results, Margery Ackerman standing highest and Cherrie Turner second in the test for the Board of Education scholarship, the winner leading by only one mark. Margery is 14 years old and in the High school is making as brilliant a record as she did before passing the Entrance examination.

Work on New Service.

Ground was broken yesterday for the sewer which will be built from the east wall of the Trent canal along Canrobert street to form an outlet for the sewers that will be built on Sebastapol and Inkerman streets. The excavation at the case wall, where the work was started, will be over 20 feet deep. The work is being done by day labor with Street Superintendent Fox in charge.

Stone Crusher Started.

The new stone crusher recently purchased by the Seymour Township Council was started Monday at A. L. Reindeau's pit about two miles from town. The crushed stone required on the highways in former years was furnished by contract. Road Superinteindent Wallace is looking after the new outfit, but will be given an assistant, as it is impossible for him to devote all his time to the machine.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Bullen and daughter Dorothy motored to Peterborough Sunday to visit friends. Little Helen Curtis returned with them to spend a holiday with her cousin Dorothy.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. R. Dryden, of Toronto, were here Monday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Dryden's brother, the late Irvine T. Frederick. Mr. Dryden was formerly in the newspaper here and in Peterborough.

Capt. Hurst of the Salvation Army, who has been stationed here for the past year, will go to Uxbridge. Ensign Frowd does not yet know to what field she will be sent. Capt. Alfred Fisher, of Bowmanville, will come to Campbellford and his assistant will be a young soldier from the training school in Toronto.

Rev. Wesley and Mrs. Elliott left Tuesday for a month's vacation, one week of which they will spend at Galt and the remainder at Ceasarea, on the shores of Lake Scugog. During Mr. Elliott's absence the Presbyterian and Methodist congregations will hold union services in the Presbyterian church in the morning and in the Methodist church in the evening, Rev. C. F. McIntosh to be the preacher. During August this order of service will be reversed and Mr. Elliott will preach while Mr. McIntosh takes his vacation.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul with whom he had quarreled, and who had gone abroad. After the death, Paul comes home for the reading of the will, and to Wanda's surprise she finds she is disinherited, and that he is the heir. Paul dislikes Wanda intensely because of her beheavior, and tells her mher she must leave the house immediately; she refuses and, in order to stay there, pretends to be ill. They are always quarreling. Then one day Wanda expressly disobeys Paul, and rides his horse, Lion. He follows her. Lion take fright at a steam engine, tries to take a hedge, and falls. Wanda is unhurt, but Lion is killed.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

XVI—REMORSE.

Wanda walked back to Grey Chumley beside Paul, the tears running down her face.

Paul made no reply, and when they reached the house he left her without a glance.

Wanda sought out Clare Garnet.

"I've done it now," she said defiantly. "I've killed Lion."

"Killed Lion!" Mrs. Garnet started up, dropping a book she was reading. "Killed him! What do you mean, Wanda?"

"We jumped a hedge, and he fell. He broke his back." She tried hard to control her tears. "Paul's furious, of course. Anyone would think I'd done it on purpose, or for fun. I was more fond of Lion than he was. I've ridden him for years."

"It's a merciful thing you're not hurt." Clare said, her hand over her heart. "I always was afraid of horses. As a child nobody could ever persuade me to ride."

Wanda laughed. "Paul would have been glad if my back had been broken instead of Lion's," she said bitterly. "He hates me. I can see it in his eyes whenever he looks at me."

"Dear Wanda, you do exaggerate so!"

"Do I?" Wanda wiped her tears away with a fierce hand. "I don't, and you know it. Paul hates me—well!" she threw herself into a chair, "I hate him, too, so we're quits."

Mrs. Garnet looked distressed, but she was a woman who never had the power of adjusting a difficult situation, so she murmured something about seeing if lunch was ready, and walked out of the room.

Wanda sat staring before her with hard eyes.

She loved all animals, and she had been particularly fond of Lion. She wondered if she would ever forget that tragic moment when he fell, and the last convulsive little movement he made before he died.

His coat had shone like satin in the sunlight. Oh, poor Lion!

She hid her face in her hands and sobbed.

She heard Paul's step in the hall, but before she could control herself or escape he was in the room.

He shut the door behind him with a determined little slam as she rose to her fete.

"This has finished it," he began uncompromisingly. "I shall be glad if you will make arrangements to leave this house tomorrow. I've had enough."

Wanda brushed her tears away angrily; she hated Paul to see her crying.

"If you think I let Lion down on purpose," she began, but he cut her short.

"It's useless to argue. I forbade you to ride him for your own sake. He was always a nasty-tempered horse, not fit for a woman to ride. Well, you've killed him, if it's any satisfaction to you, and you're lucky not to have broken your own neck as well."

"I suppose you wish I had," she said, passionately.

"I dare say you will some day if you're given enough opportunity," he answered brutally. "I've been speaking to Mrs. Garnet. She will go with you, wherever you decide to go, and your allowance will be paid regularly."

"I will not take a shilling from you."

His face seemed to tighten into grim lines. "Then how do you propose to live, may I ask?"

"I can work."

"Work!" He laughed scornfully. "What sort of work? Breaking in horses?"

"If you think that is funny, or gentlemanly—"

"I don't. And I've nothing more to say. Mrs. Garnet has very kindly promised to take you to her home for the present, until some other arrangement can be made."

"Anyone would think I was a child, or a lunatic," she stormed.

"The descriptions are your own," he answered.

Tomorrow—Paul Arranges.

Bon Ami

is made in both Cake and Powder Form

Made in Canada

Do you know that Bon Ami comes in two forms—cake and powder? Both are made from the same ingredients—both have the same wonderful gift of cleaning and polishing without scratching.

For some purposes you'll want the Bon Ami powder in its handy, sifter-top tin—it's so easy to shake out on a damp cloth. For other uses you'll prefer the solid Bon Ami cake that you can rub on the cloth like soap.

Most housewives keep both the cake and powder always on hand. These two "Partners in Cleanliness" are unequalled for cleaning and polishing many things about the home.

RACIAL EQUALITY SOUGHT BY JAPAN

Two American Delegations Opposed Japanese Resolution and Violent Debate Took Place.

LYONS, July 2.—(United Press). —American restriction of the Japanese emigration precipitated a violent debate during the session of the Federation of the League of Nations Societies when two American delegations opposed a Japanese resolution for racial equality.

The Japanese delegation had introduced a resolution establishing the principal of equality, equitable, commercial and professional, treatment for all races in all countries. G. A. Duniway of Colorado Springs and the Rev. Horace Bridges of Chicago declared that the adoption of this resolution would further prejudice the United States against the League.

The Japanese delegation maintained that their position was just. After a heated argument the French intervened and induced the American and Japanese delegations to meet and endeavor to agree upon the date of a compromise resolution. If such a resolution is drawn up it will be discussed at a later session.

NEW YORK GUESTS ARE NOW MISSING

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knapp Who Were Visiting at the Booth Camp Near North Bay, Have Been Missing Since Sunday.

OTTAWA, July . — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knapp of New York, guests at the J. R. Booth, Jr., camp, on the Booth timber limits, near North Bay, have been missing since Sunday afternoon, following a violent windstorm, according to advices received here yesterday.

They were out canoeing on Cedar Lake in the early afternoon, and the only trace of the couple is the waterfilled canoe and a floating paddle found by the search parties on Monday.

It is thought that they took refuge on one of the many islands of the lake when the storm threatened, and that their canoe drifted away.

Roland Leutz of New York, a partner of Mr. Knapp with radio experiment information service of New York, is directing the search.

France Asks For Damages Suffered

PARIS, July 2.—(Canadian Press). —Premier Herriot has sent a telegram to the congress of the League of Nation's Society in session at Lyons in which he says: "France, cruelly wounded in the course of recent years, asks only just reparation for damages she has suffered, but once that result has been obtained she will be faithful to her democratic traditons and have no greater pre-occupation than to contribute with all her force to organizaton of sincere and lasting peace between the nations.

LOCAL INDUSTRY IS FLOURISHING

Growing Demand For Popular Products Calls For Plant Expansion.

Situated right in the heart of this city—on Queen Street, to be precise —is the Peterboro Bottling Works (late Knox Soda Water Works), an industry whose operations are showing phenomenal growth. This concern was purchased last April by J. W. Boorman, whose business vigor, indomitable enterprise, and efficient public service, have instilled the factory with new and potential life, pulsating with the spirit of modern expansion.

The result is an entire new plant installed three weeks ago to meet an ever-growing call for Mr. Boorman's products. This new outfit, including a Shield's Bottling Machine, Shield's Carbonator and a Shield's Washer, has modernized the plant on a plane unexcelled anywhere. These three machines alone cost $7,000. They are of the latest type and speed up and improve the quality of this factory's products. The capacity of the bottler for bottling and sealing is from 300 to 400 cases per day, while the movements of Carbonator and Washer constitute a startling revelation to the novice. Space at The Examiner's disposal will not permit of detailing the many intricacies of these automatic servants in this local soft drink manufactory, but one cannot help stressing that the whole process is thoroughly sanitary, and then sanitary again. For instance, in cleansing the bottles — washing, rinsing and sterilizing — 40 operations are resorted to. Can you imagine anything contagious—animate or inanimate—surviving such a searching process.

Mr. Boorman has not only installed new machinery which increases his output many times in a more sanitary and modern manner, but he has also added a new Reo speed waggon for handling his rapidly expanding business. For the new drinks, "Whistle," "Whiz," "Green-River Kel-Ola," together with the factory's old reliable Ginger Ale, Cream Soda, Lemon Sour, Hire's Root Beer and others are experiencing a wonderful demand.

Made of the purest ingredients, each of these thirst-quelchers, is one of the most delightful and delectably refreshing beverages one ever tasted. With such super-qualities combined in these made in Peterboro soft drinks, the slogan, "Patronize Home Industry" should be increasingly responded to by a consistent public.

Four Injured When Auto Struck a Pig

WALLACEBURG, July 2.—(Canadian Press).—Four men were badly hurt yesterday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding struck a pig which jumped suddenly up from the grass by the roadside and waddled in front of the car. The automobile turned completely around and over into a deep ditch by the roadside.

Earl Milligan, driver, sustained severe cuts, Stanley Bowles is suffering from a broken hip, and Fred. and Harold Johnston were badly cut and bruised. Two sisters of Stanley Bowles escaped with a severe shaking up.

The pig was found lying dead by the roadside.

A RECITAL.

Murray Street Baptist Church was well filled on Monday night for the concert given by Ernest W. Naftzger, of Boston. Mr. Naftzger, who was the only entertainer of the evening, had the difficult task of amusing several hundred people for a couple of hours, and filled his role to perfection. He interspersed his songs with a number of humorous anecdotes that tickled his audience immensely, and proved his powers as an entertainer to be equally as good as his vocal efforts, which were of the highest order. He has a pleasing platform manner that makes his funny stories very effective, and his voice is one of those highly-trained rich baritones that appears to be under the perfect control of its possessor. Mr. Naftzger gave a varied programme of ballads, Irish songs, negro spirituals and sea songs that brought out every attribute of his splendid tones. An outstanding quality in his work is its intellectual atmosphere. The clear, resonant voice, with its almost tenor-like clarity of tone, was used with intelligence at all times, and there was a degree of dramatic fervor in the rendition of several of the selections that made them particularly effective.

Mr. Naftzger was introduced by Rev. Dr. Rose, and gave, as an opening song, in honor of Empire Day, Elgar's "Land of Hope and Glory," an evident favorite with many recent visiting singers. This, as well as several of the songs which followed, was given by special request, and was sung in splendid voice. Two charming ballads, "Morning," and "Homing," came next, to be greeted with the same measure of enthusiastic applause that greeted every effort of the versatile singer.

One of the most interesting sections of the evening's programme was that devoted to negro songs. "Steal Away," "Goin' to Shout" and "Exhortation" were given, the first two examples of the negro spirituals so popular just now. "Steal Away" was a lovely, expressive selection, followed by the humming intervals of the second spiritual, and the whimsical, dramatic emphasis of the old negro pastor in "Exhortation." A group of negro stories followed, in dialect.

The songs of the sea included the tender, expressive sweetness of Ella Wheeler Wilcox's "My Ships," and the rollicking stanzas of "Captain Mac," and were followed by a traditional old English ditty, "Dumble Dum Day," that brought as an interlude some delightful contrasts of humor of various lands, with examples given in inimitable style. Mr. Naftzger had his hearers in excellent humor with his well-told stories.

Samples of his versatility in vocalism followed, in two little Irish songs, "Kathleen," roguishly tender, and "Ould Mr. Maginn," the latter a robust, accented selection, in strong contrast to the soft, poignant sweetness of Kreisler's "The Old Refrain," that brought renewed applause for its expressive rendition. A lovely song, a song of mother and home," with vibrant feeling in its plaintive cadences, it preluded another old English ballad, by Squire, 'When You Come Home,' in which the sustained, rich, smoothness of the singer's splendid voice was heard to perfection. As a final encore, to insistent applause, Mr. Naftzger gave the pretty selection, "I Love a Little Cottage," the volume and power of his fine voice ringing through the church.

Miss Muriel Bridge, who, as Mr. Naftzger announced, had had only one practice with the vocalist, made an excellent accompanist for an exacting programme.

Rev. Dr. Rose announced that Mr. Naftzger, who is staying in the city for a few days, will be present at the mid-week service this evening, and will give a number of Gospel songs. Mr. Naftzger himself said that he preferred the singing of Gospel songs to those of a secular nature, so that visitors at the service at Murray Street Church this evening are assured of a real vocal treat.

The Chinese Cabinet Has Resigned Office

PEKING, July 2. — (Canadian Press). — The Chinese Cabinet resigned to-day. Premier Sun Pao Chi, who tendered the resignation on the cabinet to the President, alleged that owing to age and illness, he was unable to cope with the situation in China.

PHENOMENAL RUSH AT SALE OPENING

Oak Hall Selling Out Sale Attracts Crowds — Store Capacity Strained to the Limit.

The big staff of salesmen and salesladies at Oak Hall are just catching their first breath since the rush opening of their closing-out sale. The selling certainly started with a bang, and some lines were quickly cleaned up. On Friday and Saturday of this week the feature selling will be in Men's and Boys' Suits, and prices will be more like giving away the goods than selling them. There are hundreds of bargains waiting for father and son, in everything they wear.

Oak Hall quality, which has been before the people for over 30 years, has never before been procurable at anything like present sale prices, but the management says everything must be sold and that's the reason for the big price cuts.

As far as the rush will allow, the old time Oak Hall courtesy and dependable service is here for every customer.

A LOCAL POLICEMAN HAD BICYCLE STOLEN

Taken From Verandah of Sergeant Jack Deanneard Monday Night.

A bicycle was stolen from the verandah of Sergeant Jack Deanard, 161 Lake street, last Monday night.

No clue of the offender has yet been found, but a vigilant search is being made. The theft appears to be the work of young boys. It was a bold attempt to venture upon a constable's premsies to remove a bicycle.

Stealing baseball gloves and bats at ball games, and bicycles, and other articles, from verandahs, is the kind of petty thieving that marks the beginning of a criminal career.

Peterboro has been comparatively free from this evil, and in this case it is hoped that the offender will be brought to justice.

The bicycle is the property of Sergeant Deannard's son, and had only been purchased a short time ago for the sum of $65.00.

Returned Soldier To Help Other Comrades

BRIDGEBURG, Ont., July 2.—(Canadian Press).—A former soldier in the C.M.R., Alfred H. Lewis, 27 years old, butler, employed in Buffalo, has surrendered a $500 gratuity and pension he received five years old to Rev. Canon Dr. Russell Smith, rector of St. Paul's Church, Forterie, to be used for the relief of any of his comrades and other persons in distress. Mr. Lewis, a butler, and drawing but a moderate stipend, put the money in the bank when he had recovered from a war wound and returned to duty.

In giving it over to the rector of St. Paul's' he said: "Money was given me to help me back to civilian life, but it was easy for me, for I came right back to my old job. I have had no need for it, and my conscience would not allow me to keep it any longer. I want it used for the purpose it was intended."

INDIANS DEFEAT GEORGE STREET

Yesterday Was a Day at Curve Lake—Large Crowd of Cottagers Present.

Aquatic baseball was introduced to the sporting world in the fixture between Curve Lake and George St. on the former's diamond yesterday afternoon.

Rain fell in torrents for an hour before the game commenced, and the players took the field during a temporary lull, but it rained at intervals throughout the game.

A large puddle marked the position of the home plate, but a load of sawdust cradicated this obstacle. what moisture the sawdust didn't absorb the players absorbed later on in sliding home.

The Indians turned out en masse to see their warriors trounce the Peterboro team, the result being 17 to 7. Americans from Oak Orchard, Burleigh and the surrounding district, were present to see the game.

It was a big day at the village. The band was in attendance, and the victory was celebrated by holding a dance at the Curve Lake hall in the evening. Dan Whetung and his followers were very hospitable to the opposing team.

Beaver for Curve Lake, pitched steady ball and was well supported.

The Indians are playing good ball, and the improvement since their initial appearance this season is quite remarkable and they promise to stand high in the East Peterborough League.

Armstrong held the Curve Lake gang for three innings, but was hit hard in the next two. Grant Miller took the mound in the sixth but he couldn't stop the Indians' march to victory.

Tom Shields made a nice three base hit in the fifth on a beautiful drive to left field.

George street fielded badly, and the rough diamond, with a sloping, pitching alley, handicapped the players. The Indians never played better and were the recipients of many breaks. Good baseball was impossible but on yesterday's play the Indians would have won if the game had been staged in the Yankee stadium.

Mackey's can expect a fine lacing when they visit Curve Lake, after the manner in which the Indians trounced the nifty George street crew.

GOOD GAMES AT THE LOCAL BOWLING CLUB

T. Curvin's Rink Win First Prize and G. F. Cairns' Rink Get Second.

A game that was full of thrills and had its share of good shots was played in yesterday's tournament, when a regular rink defeated a rink that included three skips, 13 to 7. The rinks were:

H. Niven	W. R. Morris
C. Sedgewick	C. Seymour
G. Gimblett	Herb. Martin
W. J. Oke	Jack Mayneord,
Skip 13	Skip 7

The last three on on Mayneord's rink are skips.

Skip Oke's team was downed by George Cairns' rink in the evening by two shots.

Visiting rinks from Campbellford in the tournament were skipped by Glover, Meyers and Wiggins. Peterborough rinks in the tournament were skipped by Mayneord, Sedgewick, Curvin, Cairns, Allen, Oke and Chenhall.

The winning rinks for the day were skipped by T. Curvin and G. F. Cairns, sherbet glasses going to each man on Curvin's rink as first prize and marmalade jars to each man on Cairns' rink as second prize. Folowing is the personnel of the winning rinks:

—. Emmett	G. J. Johnson
J. Howden	G. Boucher
W. Dayman	J. Bacon
T. Curvin	G. F. Cairns

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

Jackie Coogan Back in Rags for a regular Coogan picture at the Capitol.

Jackie Coogan's first production of the new year, and the second on his sensational Metro contract, "A Boy of Flanders" is an adaptation of Ouida's immortal little child classic, "A Dog of Flanders," read and loved by millions of children the world over, comes to the Capitol to-morrow, Friday and Saturday.

From the outset of Jackie's career Jack Coogan, Sr., saw in Ouida's tale a vehicle for his son. He saw comedy, drama, beauty and simplicity and although simplicity sometimes costs more than the most fanciful of extravagances, was determined to present Jackie at some stage of his career in this production. And now the time has come.

"A Boy of Flanders" is easily the best that Jackie Coogan has ever offered to the public. It's a typical Jackie Coogan feature, with Jackie restored to his enduring rags in the sweetest story ever told. It's the picture that everyone's been longing for; producers, exhibitors and fans. They'll pack every theatre that shows it, and join in the unanimous verdict, "It's Jackie Coogan's best." And that means that it is one of the greatest audience pictures in the history of photoplys.

"PLASTIGRAMS," LATEST MARVEL OF THE SCREEN, AT CAPITOL TO-MORROW.

Everybody knows that the motion picture is an optical illusion and that it is not a steady picture that appears on the screen, but a succession of rapidly changing images which follow each other so quickly that the eye is not conscious of the change. Up to now also there have been only two dimensions apparent on the screen, that of height and breadth. Depth, the elusive third dimension has been regarded as impossible to obtain, because depth is only perceptible to the vision because the object looked at is seen simultaneously from two different angles, one by each eye, and with the ordinary straight picture it is impossible to get these angles.

At the Capitol Theatre to-morrow however, there will be shown a picture entitled "Plastigrams, which, with the aid of special spectacles that will be provided every patron, will enable them to get this third dimension, in a manner that will create an entirely new sensation for picture patrons.

Through the Ives-Leventhal process based on known methods of stereoscopic reproduction, and the use of red and blue colours on the screen and in the glasses, pictures taken simultaneously by two cameras of the same object from angles corresponding exactly to the angles at which the human eyes view any object, will be combined into one picture, and the onlookers will apparently see the characters move out of the screen towards them until they feel they can stretch out their hands and touch them. A wild automobile ride is so realistic that the audience will experience all its sensations, while a monkey on a trapeze will seemingly swing right out into the theatre, and other striking effects will be shown, but which will only be a blurr of colours unless the glasses are used.

Such a novelty in connection with motion pictures has never been seen in Peterborough before—its realism is so great that the public need to be prepared for the phenomenal.

A gorgeous Cecil B. DeMille production, with the typical DeMille backgrounds of luxury and beautiful settings, with, however, an effective contrast in the scenes which depict the inner workings of a canned-fish factory, is "Triumph," the feature picture at the Capitol Theatre just now. It is a distinctly modern affair, one of those far-fetched, almost unreal stories that the art of the producer turns into a screen reality, and makes interesting and attractive for movie lovers' delectation. Filmed from a story that ran some time ago in the Saturday Evening Post as a serial, "Triumph" relates the rise and the downfall of two men, one the son of a rich magnate, thrust down to poverty by the will of his own father, who sees the only regeneration for his wild son in making him labour for his bread, the other man his brother, on the left hand, raised by the whim of the same dead father to a position of power and affluence. To one comes the triumph of making his way against adverse conditions, to the other the peril of easy money, squandered in headstrong fashion.

The story, as written, has been more or less faithfully adhered to, although the character of Anna Land is perhaps not as strong on the screen, in the hands of Leatrice Joy, who injects a certain quality of lightness into it, absent from the somewhat stern heroine of the tale. However, Anna is a beautiful girl, making her first and last appearances in the canning factory, first in the role of the dignified forewoman, last as a helper, destined, however, for a later domestic life with King Garnet, the son who has risen by his own efforts to a commanding position after being disinherited by his father. Sandwiched in between is Anna's brief period of glory, when she reigns supreme as a Parisian queen of song. An interesting picture, slightly long drawn-out, it tells one of those stories that appeal to the romantic-minded theatre-goer as improbable, yet decidedly entertaining. The screen has the happy faculty of skipping all the sordid moments of life and illustrating only the high spots. Whether it could really happen or not, it is a decided change from humdrum life to watch the unfolding drama in the life of Anna Land, the canning factory forewoman, as she progresses in stately fashion over men's hearts to a stage triumph, then comes back to marry the man she loves, waiting patiently through the years. There is a splendid cast with this picture with Leatrice Joy as the heroine Rod LaRocque in the role of the hero, King Garnet, and Victor Varconi as William Silver, the anarchist in the making who loses his Communistic tendencies when he inherits a fortune. Charles Ogle is a familiar figure, with Julia Faye and Theodore Kosloff ,Robert Edeson, ZaSu Pitts, George Fawcett, and Raymond Hatton.

Some interesting short reels prelude the feature. The preliminary wind-up and end of the Gibbons-Carpentier fight are pictured, and the comedy aroused gales of laughter with its decidedly funny delineation of the house-cleaning woes and trials of Mr. and Mrs. Tewksbury Spat, in a picture entitled "Help One Another," in which Mr. and Mrs. Spat and Mrs. Spats brother hate some wonderful advetnures with the spring-cleaning.

FRENCH TURN TO NATIONS LEAGUE

France Intends to Experiment Wth Geneva Organizations.

By J. W. T. MASON

NEW YORK, July 2.—(United Press).—France's new ally under the left radical bloc government will be the League of Nations. Instead of continuing to base France's defenses upon the French army and a circle of small and weak nations about Germany, France intends to experiment with the Geneva organization. The late Millerand-Poincare policy was based on French military superiority and distrust of the League. The left bloc will be able to save money on army expenses and reduce the eighteen months' conscription term by accepting the inevitable fact that France and her little ententes cannot master continental Europe.

This change in policy will lead to the most far reaching consequences in the settlement of Europe's problems. Henceforth, France will not direct her international war relations by the theory that a war of revenge by Germany is inevitable and that there can be no permanent settlement until the war is fought and mastery of France or Germany determined. The French government will assume that a new war can be avoided and that it is essentially the work of the League of Nations to see that another conflict doesn't come.

No other attitude can bring about permanent European peace. Any first class European power which bases its policy of the nuchanging assumption that a new war is inevitable will make war certain. But, by assuming that peace can be made inevitable, it is more than an even chance that peace will be maintained.

France, however, cannot afford to take the risk of professional pacifism by barring herself to Germany and calling upon Germans to pay up and be brothers. There is not the slightest doubt that Germany would spring at Frances' throat is such an opportunity were offered. No such fatal policy will ever be adopted at Paris. But, the League of Nations offers an alternative to this. France can allow the League to act as her adviser and in that way place Germany in such a position that evasions or belligerency would have to be directed not primarily against France but against the League.

The Millerand-Poincare method was to ignore the advice of the League and then to complain that the allies were automatically to endorse them. But, so impossible a situation is no longer to be given attention. It was leading to the isolation of France and the development of sympathy for Germany, who is entitled to no sympathy.

Under the new policy, it skillfully developed, France can recover all the world's sympathy that Millerand and Poincare lost for her; and the Germans can be backed into a position where they, instead of France, are isolated. This diplomatic strategy is the only one that will lead to international peace. Germany will not attack France in the future without a prospect of success; and it is for France to make German success impossible by gathering her friends about her. Man to man, thirty-five million Frenchmen cannot withstand sixty-five million Germans. France must have friends.

The League of Nations policy of France, therefore, will be no more than the natural return to allied unity. But, this means abandonment by France of former efforts to rank French ambition as France's sole and exclusive interest. The new French government will have to recognize the rights of other and to cooperate with others for mutual benefits. Only by giving to other nations and interest in cooperation can joint handling of Germany through the League of Nations be brought about. The French electorate has shown that it wants this to be done, and the new French government is going to try do it.

SEAL CATCH IS LIGHT.

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, July 2.—(Associated Press).—Sealing operations of Indians in southeastern Alaska this year were the lightest in the history of the Sitka division and netted only eight seal skins, according to Fisheries Warden M. J. O'Connor on his return from the division where he was in charge of the seal patrol maintained annually by the Bureau of Fisheries. Stormy weather prevailing during the early months of the year and low prices offered for seal skins caused the lightness of the operations.

BIRD DUEL ENDS IN TWO DEATHS

A Mocking Bird and a Parrot Expired After 48 Hours of Wrangling.

HOLLYWOOD, July 2.—(United Press).—A duel of speaks and squawks, fought out in a two-day battle, has claimed both participants as victims. A mocking bird and a parrot have expired here after 48 hours of continuous wrangling, in which no weapon was used except the taunts of the feathered enemies.

It started when William Z. Gilwhite became exasperated at a mocking bird's repertoire of shrill cackles and sharp outbursts of song. Night after night of sleeplessness led to reprisal in the acquisition of a parrot, an impudent, garrulous, insulting parrot.

The harsh-voiced parrot was hung, in its cage, at the very window near which the mocking bird was wont to take up its nightly chatterings.

During the night Mr. Gilwhite, aroused as usual by the mocking bird's outcries, arose to see how the parrot was responding. It was silent, but wide awake, it head cocked—listening.

The next night the mocking bird began its carols, shrieks and trills. Immediately the parrot responded. It parodied the mocking bird's musical efforts in most insulting fashion.

The duet of song continued throughout the night, it lasted during the day, and as evening fell, it was still in progress. Hatred, venom, insult initated each frenzied outburst. Through the night the battle raged, and at daybreak, mocking bird was occupying a tree-limb a few feet from the cage, leaning forward and hurling forth defy after defy. The parrot was clawing the sides of its cage in rage and returning each shrill-voiced attack.

That evening, when Gilwhite returned home, he found the mocking bird dead. The parrot lay exhausted and expired a few moments later with a final squawk.

MURDOCK DENIES REPORT

Minister of Labor Says He Did Not Make New Postal Offer.

OTTAWA, July 2.— (Canadian Press.)—Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor declared in the House of Commons yesterday afternon that in his experience of thirty years he had never seen the press of any city make such misrepresentations as were made in the newspapers regarding his last conference in Toronto with representatives of the postal strikers. On Sunday last he had discussed no question with the strike leaders save the question of whether all or only one thousand of the strikers would be allowed to come back to work. This was the only matter under discussion and no new offer had been made.

Mr. Murdock's statement was made in answer to a question by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, opposition leader, who asked in regard to the truth of a report in the newspapers that further assurances had been given by the Government to the strikers.

The message said that Mrs. Byers and the family of the missionary, together with all other persons connected with the mission and hospital at Kucheck were safe.

MEN AND HORSES

How closely related is man to the more intelligent of the animals is seen in many of the ailments to which both are prone and the remedies to which they answer.

Doctors and veterinarians are oftentimes surprised to learn of the similarity of their methods of handling the ailments of man and beast.

Sprains, burns, scalds, scratches and many other minor injuries, many everyday ailments, too in men and animals take the same course, and both answer immediately to the same treatment—Absorbine Jr.

Absorbine was first discovered by a very close student of the horse, W. F. Young, and by him, devoted to its cause. Its very exceptional benefits, however, were promptly seized upon for the human race and, in a milder form, the preparation is sold all over the continent today as Absorbine Jr. It is used for men, women and children everywhere as a positive germicide—a germ killer—and a prompt and certain healer of all hurts. It is useful not only for all the purposes served by ordinary liniments and embrocations, but as a mouth-wash and for anything else where a germicide is needed. Don't wait until you need it. Get it in the house today. $1.25 at your druggist's.

AN ATTEMPT TO EXPLAIN VOLCANOS

Lava Underneath Surface Generates Gas Which Explodes.

HILO, Island of Hawaii, July 2. —(Associated Press).—Science and superatition vie with each other in explaining the present unusual activity at the Halemaumau firepit of the Kilauea volcano.

Science, in the person of Roy Finch, temporarily in charge of the volcano observatory at Kilauea, advances the theory that tons of rock, avalanched down from the sides of the crater, have choked the vent through which Mother Nature usually eases the pressure on the earth by pouring forth surplus lava into the great pit, raising the lava lake in the crater and withdrawing the fiery substance from the crater when pressuro has been more than relieved. The lava underneath the surface, unable to find its way into the open, generates gas which blasts its path out of the vent, carrying with it tons of rocks and dust. The explosions and earthquakes shake down further avalanches from the crater sides which again may block the vent, in an unending circle, according to the theory.

But the Hawaiians have returned to history and tradition, to the act of the brave Kapiolani, the Christian princess who dared the wrath of Pele, the fire goddess, exactly 100 years ago. They say that Pele waited a century to become "huhu," or angry, with the people of the princess and to vent her wrath for Kapiolani's impious act.

In December, 1824, the tale runs, the Princess Kapiolani, converted to Christianity by the first missionaries who came in 1820, forsook the worship of her people. She journeyed from Hilo to Kilauea and spent the night in a hut on the brink of Halemaumau. She ate of the "tabu," or forbidden berries, which were consecrated to Pele, an act of insult to the goddess. She stood on the brink of the crater, with its ever-active lava lake below, and cried to Pele: "Jehovah is most powerful. Jehovah is my God. I defy thee, Pele."

Hawaiians stood in awe while she spoke. Pele, they said, would surely rise in her wrath, make the earth tremble and cast forth the seething lava of her lake, as she did in 1790 when the army of the high chief Keoua was annihilated. But nothing happened.

Kapiolani had won a great moral victory, but today the Hawaiians shake their heads, some of them saying that Pele merely waited 100 years to open her campaign of vengeance.

News Trent River and the District

TRENT RIVER, June 30.—A picnic from Smithfield spent a day fishing in these waters.

The following made up the party: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Potts of Smithfield; Mrs. Hatton and son of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Henry and son from Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. Siedle of Toronto, guests at Cedar Isle landed a (17½) seventeen and a half pound lunge while trolling up the river Thursday, with Tom Wight as guide.

Mrs. Jack Christie and children of Toronto arrived this week for the holidays.

Mrs. M. Greenly and Douglas of Hastings are at their home, Havelock Road, looking after their strawberries. There is an abundant crop. The price asked this week was 25 and 30 cents per box.

WHERE BIG FISH PLAY.

For followers of rod and reel there is no place within easy reach of Toronto which offers better fishing facilities than Rideau Lakes.

Those who are acquainted with the sport to be had revisit these lakes year after year. Big Rideau, the largest lake of the chain, abounds with grey trout and black bass—large beauties which are not landed without an interesting battle.

The other lakes comprising the chain, Opinicon, Indian, Benson and Clear Lake, are plentfully inhabited with small-mouth black bass.

Excellent hotel accommodation may be had at various points in the district.

Illustrated literature and full particulars may be obtained from any Canadian National Railways agent.

SIX KILLED IN WRECK

Mail Train Crashed Into Passenger Train West of Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 2.— (Canadian Press).—Six persons were killed on Monday and seventeen others were injured, some of them seriously, when a fast mail train of the Chicago Burlington and Quincy Railroad plunged into the rear of the Burlington's Denver to Chicago passenger train, Number Two, near Buda, Ills., about 115 miles west of Chicago.

Railroad officials here declared that the accident was due to failure of the mail train to observe an automatic signal which operated when the passenger train stopped at a coal chute.

The passenger train was forty minutes late and the mail was speeding to make up eight minutes. The coaches were knocked from the track and one of them landed partly across another track aver which another train was about to pass. The train was stopped, however.

SAILORS MAKE A HIT

H. M. Ships Hood and Repulse in Vancouver Harbor With Australian Ship.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 2.—(Canadian Press)—Thirteen hundred air men from His Majesty's ships, Hood and Repulse, and His Majesty's Australian ship, Adelaide, presented a fine display when, led by the band of the Hood, they paraded through the downtown streets of the city on Monday. Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field and His staff took the salute. Thousands of citizens lined the route of march.

After the parade thousands of children gathered there and closed in on the reviewing stand with the result that Admiral Field was surrounded and captured by the kiddies. He spent his time in captivity shaking hands with the boys and girls until finally he was released and a way made through the crowd for his automobile.

Oshawa 1, Petes 0 -- C.G.E. Lost First Half But Won Opener in the Second

ONE RUN LEAD ENOUGH TO LET DAINTY TRIUMPH

Oshawa Southpaw Blanks Petes 1-0 in Best Game of the Season.

HECK'S GOOD WORK

Right-hander Turns in Great Performance, But Petes Lack Punch.

In the fastest and best played game of the season Oshawa won the opening fixture of the Central Ontario League second half from the Petes at Riverside Park yesterday morning by 1 run to 0, after a pitching duel between Dainty and Heckman in which the motor town southpaw had a shade the better of the argument. It was a memorable battle without an extra base hit on either side while the tightness of the struggle is shown by the fact that Oshawa got only two men as far as far as second and one to third while the Petes pushed three to the keystone station and one to the red light corner. Oshawa's third base pioneer scored and the Petes died there and that was the difference in the final score.

Dainty allowed only four scattered singles and gave one base on balls and the Petes could do nothing when a hit would have sent a score home. Heckman was touched for eight singles, several of them scratchy but the Oshawa hits were widely distributed and three fast double plays helped a lot. It was Heck's best performance of the season and a very tough game for him to lose.

The Petes did some great fielding with Holyman and Johnston in the limelight all the way. Holyman knocked down a screaming liner from Walter Fairs' bat in the sixth for a sensational catch while Johnston's bare-handed stop of Rowden's hard roller in the first was a feature. Oshawa's outfielders made some nice catches and Murray and Morrison fielded smartly in the infield.

It was a snappy fixture and was all over in an hour and twenty-eight minutes.

With Rowden out of the way in the first W. Fair singled through Johnston only to be eliminated on Murray's liner to Holyman who doubled Fair off first.

Tyson opened the second with a single through short but Dainty hit to Heckman and a fast double play with Holyman as the pivot followed. Roddick singled but was stranded when Wilson flied to Johnston.

In the third, R. Fair walked, but was doubled up with Morrison on the latter's roller to Heckman. Johnston did the work at second on this one. Rowden flied to Legon, a nice catch by the lef fielder.

The only run of the game came over in the fourth. Walter Fair got a scratch hit on a slow rolled just out of Heckman's reach and was sacrificed to second by Murray. Johnston took Tyson's roller back of second for the secnd out, Fair going down to third. He scored on Dainty's hard single to centre which Collins nearly grabbed. Dainty was out at second trying to stretch it into a double.

That was the only Oshawa player to reach third duirng the game but the damage had been done.

Roddick opened the fifth with a single but the next three, Wilson, R. Fair and Morrison fanned. The visitors did not reach first in the sixth or seventh but in the eighth R. Fair scratched a single to third, only to be picked off first by Swanston. In the ninth Rowden singled to left to start with and was sacrificed along by W. Fair. He was the second visitor to get to the keystone station and did not linger long, Holyman stealing over and taking a throw from Heckman, catching him cold off the bag.

The first homester to reach the runways was Heckman who opened the second with a single. Holyman, however, fanned, Harrison flied to W. Fair and Shaughnessy forced Heck at second.

Shaughnessy got a life in the second when R. Fair dropped his liner to second but Helson fanned and Collins flied to Morrison.

Swanston singled with two out in the sixth, only to have Heckman's roller to Dainty retire the side.

The Petes best chance came in the eighth. After Helson had flied to Roddick Collins reached second on Rowden's wide throw to first. Legon struck out but Johnston drew a walk. Swanston's bid for a hit nestled in Roddick's hands for the third out.

Tht ninth opened auspiciously, Heckman leading off with a single to third and Holyman sacrificed him to second. Harrison's infield out advanced the Petes' pitcher to third but the ball game was over when Morrison ran back into left field and grabbed Shaughnessy's fly.

YOUNG COPS REARIN'

All Ready to Go in the Bantam League Battle—Select Team Tonight.

The young cops, who have been parading under Sergeant John Deannard every night for some weeks will have an inspection tonight and a team will be picked from about forty prospects. As the schedule opens next week the selecting of the team cannot be any longer deferred, although every practice night brings new material. The manager will have his hands full, for there is a surprising amount of talent represented among the under-fifteen-year-old boys of the south end. The team will be heard from in the city bantam league.

STROLLERS WIN THE AFTERNOON FIXTURE 9 TO 5

One Big Inning Enough to Give Toronto Gang Win Over Petes.

SEVEN IN A PUNCH

Bunting Attack in the Sixth Wins Decision for Riverdale Crew.

The story of yesterday afternoon's exhibition game between the Strollers of the Riverdale League and the Peterboro Central Leaguers, which the Toronto gang won 9 to 5, is the story of 6th inning when the visitors bunched four hits and two sacrifices with a base on balls and three errors to net seven runs. Outside of that frame Serth had little trouble in holding the Strollers but what they did in that session was aplenty. The Riverdale representatives had been held to three singles up to the sixth but they switched to a bunting attack which Serth's slow fielding turned into a rout, with the assistance of boots by Collins and Moore.

The Petes had a patched up line up in action with a number of the regulars absent. Johnston went to right field to let Moore try his hand a second, Heckman played first, Jack Turner made his debut in centre field while Al Tyson the Oshawa catcher was behind the bat. "Ty" was a tower of strength, catching a bang-up game and hammering out three hits, driving in two of the Petes runs.

Morris, a pocket size southpaw did the heaving for the Strollers and he had nothing very deceptive to offer. the Petes collecting twelve hits off his delivery but the big sixth inning pulled the game out of the fire for him. Strollers had a familiar look with Dillon, Hoose, Lennan and Breckenbridge of the old Leaside team in uniform.

The Petes scored in the first on a pass to Legon, Johnston's sacrifice and Tyson's long double to left, Ty reaching third on Yeoman's bad throw.

Strollers evened it up in the second. Hoose was hit and went to second on Yeoman's tap to Serth. Reeves hit to Serth and Hoose was trapped between second and third. Mulcahey's double to centre scored Reeves.

Legon opened the third with a double that nearly took the leg of Hoose. Johnston sacrificed him to third and Tyson singled to send the run in after which Heckman hit into a double play started by Hoose.

There was no more scoring until the sixth—and then there was too much. Collins started the trouble by losing Burns' roller. Mitchell bunted for a sacrifice but it turned into a hit when the runner beat Serth's throw. Dillon bunted and this time Serth failed to field the tap at all. That meant another hit and the bases full. Hoose fanned but Yeomans cut one through short for a single, scoring Burns and Mitchell. The Strollers went back to bunting again and when Serth made a bad throw on Reeves' bunt, Dillon scored from second. Mulcahey walked, filling the bases again and with the infield in Lennan crashed one through scoring Yeomans and Reevs. Morris bunted and was thrown out by Serth but Burns hit one to Moore who let it roll through adn Mulcahey and Lennan carried the sixth and seventh runs of the inning over. Dillon's grass cutter to Moore ended a disastrous inning.

The Petes got one back in the eighth. Tyson singled through short and Heckman passed second. Holyman forced Tyson. Collins struck out but Moore singled to left centre to score Heckman and Holyman. Serth fanned for the third out.

Each scored one in the ninth. With one gone Hoose was safe on Holyman's fumble and Yeomans singled through short, Mitchell running for Hoose reaching third. Reeves' safe bunt down the first base line scored the run and the next two batters were easy.

For the Petes Turner singled through the box and Legon to left, Turner reaching third and Legon second on a bad throw in. Johnston hit to Burns and Turner was out at the plate. Tyson fouled to Burns and then Legon scored on a passed ball. Heckman flied out to centre.

ENGLAND'S TEA-SHOP GIRL WHO JOLTED HELEN WILLS

KATHERINE McKANE

America's youthful tennis champion, Helen Wills, fared disastrously in her debut in England, dropping two matches on successive days to players the experts figured she would beat handily.

Her first defeat was suffered at the hands of Mrs. Phyllis Covell, and her second at the racquet of Katherine McKane, the tea-shop girl.

Miss McKane, if you haven't already heard, is a tradeswoman and conducts a smart tea room in that dear old London.

MILLBROOK WON IN EXHIBITION

Failed to Muster a Team for League Fixture on Monday Night.

BEAT MAPLE LEAFS

Millbrook failed to muster a team for their league game with Maple Leafs on Monday evening and when an exhibition contest was played the visitors won by 10 to 9. Millbrook used "Casey" Masterson, Lebarr and Holmes from local Midget teams, and the Leafs had Donnelly on the firing line.

Arrangements will be made to play the league fixture here next Saturday.

CLEVELAND WON DOUBLE-HEADER

Babe Ruth Slammed Out Twentieth Home Run For Yankees.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

CLEVELAND, O., July 2.—(Canadian Press). — Cleveland climbed into the first division yesterday with a double victory over St. Louis. The Browns made 13 hits in the first game but could not bunch them and Cleveland won 6 to 4. Coveleskie held Sisler's team to seven hits in the second game, while his mates pounded out an 8 to 2 victory from the offerings of three St. Louis pitchers. Scores:

KINGSTON TEAM HERE SATURDAY

Winners of the First Half Will Be Week-End Attraction at Riverside.

THE PETES MUST WIN

Although the Petes lost the opening game of the second half by the narrowest possible margin the return to form of Al Heckman who pitched his best game of the year and the fine defensive work of the homesters gives plenty of ground for hoping for a real battle for the second half honors. The home gang have been having a lot of tough luck in recent games but with Heckman back in old time condition and Serth steadily improving the pitching that was lacking during the first section campaign is in sight and the squad should hit their stride again. On Saturday the Kingston Ponies, winners of the first half will be back at Riverside and the Petes will have to register a win in this engagement to get into the second half race. The Ponies are out after the second section honors and will take some stopping but the local gang are confident of turning the trick Saturday.

Duke Dainty has held the Petes scoreless for nineteen innings, two full games and the last inning of Oshawa's second last appearance here.

It looked like a Leaside re-union yesterday afternoon with Hoose, Dillon, Lennan and Breckenbridge in Stroller uniforms and Micky Murray on the Petes' bench.

The work of Holyman and Johnston around the keystone station yesterday morning was as clean cut as has been seen here this season.

Two hits that might easily have been outs gave Oshawa their million dollar run. Fair's slow roller which Heckman failed to reach was a scratchy single and Collins had he judged Dainty's curving line better might have saved the day by spearing the single that sent in the one counter of the day.

Oshawa got nine men to first, one of whom scored, two were left on bases and the other six were caught on the runways, three of them doubled out, two picked off bases and one nipped trying to stretch a single into a double.

Yesterday's morning fixture established a league record by reason of the fact that only two players got as far as third base during the nine innings. It is doubtful too whether there has been a game in which only five players on both sides reached second.

Holyman's play on W. Fair's liner in the sixth inning of the morning game was big league. He jumped into the air to stop the ball with his gloved hand and caught the Spalding with his bare hand.

French Tennis Champ Defeated Californian

WIMBLEDON, June 30.—(Canadian Press).—Mlle Suzanne Lenglen, world's woman tennis champion, defeated Miss Elizabeth Ryan, former California champion, in the women's singles of the Wimbledon tournament to-day, only after one of the hardest battles in her career on the courts, Miss Ryan taking the second set and relinquishing the third only after a stiff resistance.

The French girl won by the score of 6-2, 6-8, 6-4.

U.S. POLO TEAM WON.

ST. CLOUD, France, July 2.—(Canadian Press). — The United States Olympic Polo Team, showing much better form than it did in its first match yesterday defeated the strong Spanish team, rolling up 15 points to Spain's two points.

C. G. E. DROPPED FIRST HALF TO COBOURG C. N. R.

A Hard Fought Battle With Several Close Decisions Ended the Round.

SCORE WAS 7 TO 6

Railway Crew Gathered in Five Runs in One Inning at Cobourg.

The Cobourg C.N.R. team were announced winners of first half of the Midland League series after a hard fought game with the C.G.E. at Horse Show Park, Cobourg, yesterday morning. The game was fast and exciting throughout, but the breaks were all against the Generals, who got the worst of seven close decisions.

The score at the end of the nine innings was 7 to 6 in favour of the C.N.R outfit, but the losers maintain that had Umpire Henderson of Port Hope, on the bases, been calling them properly, the C.G.E. would have won by the score of 6 to 5 at least, as on two occasions he cost the C.G.E. runs over his decisions.

The Electricians were leading 4 to 0 until the fourth innings, when the Cobourg gang came through with one lone tally.

The Generals added another one to their list in the fifth, but in Cobourg's half of the fifth they walloped "Bun' Frost on the mount for the C.G.E. for a total of five runs and five hits, including a double and a home run. With two men on, Rollings connected with one in the groove and sent it for four bases, scoring three runs.

It was Frost's only bad innings, but it was bad enough to give the C.N.R crew a good getaway. They took their golden opportunity, and in the sixth they came through with another counter, while the C.G.E. went scoreless in the sixth, seventh, and eighth.

The score stood 7 to 5 until the ninth innings, when Frost started what looked like a rally that would snatch the first half honours from the hands of the Lake Shore crew.

Frost landed the pill square on the nose, and she rode far into right field for three bases. Wolfe the next man to face Derry drove a high fly to right field and Frost beat the peg to the plate.

McCarney rolled to the pitcher for the second out, but things brightened a little when Ross drove out a clean double. Abby Rose, who had come through with a home run in the third and a single in the fifth, was expected to save the day for the Generals, but he drove a hot one right into the shortstop's mitt for the third out.

The C.G.E. were beaten, but nevertheless they put up a great battle, and Bun Frost had the satisfaction of blanking them in the last two frames.

Derry, who did the twirling for Cobourg, turned in a nice game, but was touched for ten hits, including a home run ,a triple, and a double.

Scotty McPherson, at third base, for the Generals, accepted four hard chances without a slip.

TORONTO TOOK TWO IN A ROW

Syracuse Beaten by Fast Toronto Aggregation, 5 to 3 and 6 to 5.

INTERNATIONALS.

TORONTO, July 2. — (Canadian Press).—Toronto took both ends of the holiday double-header with Syracuse yesterday, taking the first game 5 to 3, due to the effective pitching of Thomas and timely hitting of Joe Kelly. Reinhart's wildness in the fourth inning of the second game allowed the Leafs to score five runs and gave them victory in the closer. Scores:

1st game—

Syracuse	200000010—3	8	2
Toronto	30001010x—5	12	0

Toronto	00150—6	11	0

Reinhart and McKee; Glaser, Judd and Stanage.

Rochester Won.

BUFFALO, July 2. — (Canadian Press).—Rochester won the second game of the series with Buffalo yesterday, 9 to 1. Merkle slugged out his 17th home run. Jenkins also gathered a homer. Score:

Rochester	021400122—9	14	2
Buffalo	000001000—1	2	1

Karpp and Lake; Lepard and Hill.

Baltimore Bunched 'Em.

JERSEY CITY, July 2.—(Canadian Press). — Barnhardt pitched superbly until the 15th inning yesterday, when Baltimore bunched hits by Connelly and Jacobson, with two sacrifices and two walks, for a 3 to 0 victory over Jersey City. Score:

Baltimore	000000000000003—3	7	0
Jersey City	000000000000000—0	6	0

Thomas and Cobb; Barnhardt and Freitag.

Won From Newark.

NEWARK, N. J., July 2.—(Canadian Press).—Red Ormand and Doc Silva's batting yesterday bagged a 6 to 5 game from the Newark Bears. Ormand and Silva each got four hits in five times at bat. Ormand banged out two homers. His circuit drive in the seventh with Silva on base won the game. Score:

C. G. E. TRIMMED C.N.R. IN FIRST OF NEW SERIES

Sweet Revenge for Their Beating of Morning in Cobourg Territory.

SCORE WAS 16 TO 5

Railroaders' Second Pitcher Was Hit Heavy and Often at Exhibition Park.

C. G. E. got off to a good start in the second section of the Midland League, when they handed the C. N. R. a 16 to 5 trimming.

The Railroaders had used their pitching ace Derry, in the morning game at Cobourg, and put in Derry, their second string pitcher.

The Electricians found Maher's shoots to their liking, and hit them all over the lot. Gibson, who succeeded him, got off a little lighter, allowing but 3 runs and 3 hits in 3 innings. Turner, on the mound for the locals, was touched for twelve hits, but managed to keep them well scattered, while his help gave him airtight support in the pinches. Ranger and Ross, with 3 hits apiece, were the leading hitters, although every player in the game but Rollings got at least one safe drive.

There were a number of spectacuar fielding plays, and very few of the errors had any effect on the run column.

Winning Team Fattened Batting Averages at Expense of Visitors.

Raybestos came out on top in a free hitting contest with Cobourg Dyeworks, at the Exhibition grounds yesterday afternoon by a 14-9 score. The lead seesawed between the two teams until the sixth innings when the Brakemakers went ahead to stay. Most of the Raybestos gang fattened their batting average, the leaders being Cupoli with 3 hits in 3 times up; Corrin with 4 in 5 and Kirn with 3 in 4. Woods of the Dyemixers had a perfect day with 3 hits in the same number of attempts.

GIANTS SCORED 6 RUN SHUTOUT FROM BROOKLYN

Bentley Was First New York Pitcher to Perform Feat This Year.

CHICAGO WON.

Philadelphia and St. Louis Were Other Winners in National League.

NEW YORK, July 2 (Canadian Press). — The New York Giants defeated Brooklyn with their usual ease here yesterday, smashing out a 6 to 0 victory. Bentley, the New York left-hander, won his sixth victory of the season from Brooklyn. Bentley was the first New York pitcher to pitch a full nine-inning shut-out victory this season. The score:

Brooklyn ..... 000000000—0 5 0
New York ..... 00310200x—6 14 0
Decatur, Greene and Deberry; Bentley and Snyder.

Chicago Won.

CHICAGO, July 2 (Canadian Press). — Friberg's homer in the fourth inning, with two on, and Jacobs' squeeze play in the fifth, which enabled Heathcote to score from third, gave Chicago the game over Cincinnati, 4 to 3. Pete Donohue allowed the Cubs only four hits. In addition, Chicago made three errors and Pitcher Jacobs contributed two wild pitches. Burns, Cincinnati, also got a homer. The score:

Cincinnati ..... 011000001—3 9 0
Chicago ..... 00031000x—4 4 3
Donohue, Mays and Sandberg, Wingo; Jacobs and Hartnett.

Philadelphia Won.

BOSTON, July 2 (Canadian Press). — Philadelphia defeated Boston yesterday, 9 to 6, with Glazner pitching effectively and never in danger. The visitors made five runs in the first inning, on five hits, including Harper's triple, and three Boston errors. The score:

Philadelphia ..... 510210000—9 13 2
Boston ..... 000030030—6 14 3
Glazner and Wilson; Stryker, North, Benton, Lucas and O'Neil.

Hornsby Made Homer.

ST. LOUIS, July 2 (Canadian Press). — The Cardinals made it two in a row over the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday by defeating them, 5 to 2. Hornsby hit his ninth home run of the season in the eighth, scoring Holm ahead of him. The score:

Canada Growing Keen About Playing Golf

WINNIPEG, July 2.—(Associated Press).—There are twice as many golf courses in Canada as before the World War, according to a recent survey. More than $25,000,000 has been invested in land and buildings by golf clubs in the Dominion.

A census taken by officials of the Canadian Golfer disclosed that there were 215 clubs in the Dominion May 1, 1923, and 350 on the same date this year. Ontario has 104 golf links, more than any other Province in Canada. Alberta is second with 51, Quebec third with 44, and Saskatchewan fourth with 41. Toronto leads the cities with the number of clubs, having 21. Winnipeg has 16, Montreal 13.

LAKEFIELD TEAM HAS HARD LUCK

Lack of Practice of Team and Apathy of Fans is Blamed.

BIG IMPROVEMENT

LAKEFIELD, July 2.—The baseball team are at present in rather hard luck, having been defeated by their old rivals, Keene, on Thursday evening. At present Lakefield has had two games at home and three abroad, and out of this they lost three, (Keene, George Street and Cognawagas), and won two, (Mackeys and Curve Lake)). The team has been brought up to a very fair standard of efficiency with good men, well placed, but two things appear to be against them, lack of practice and lack of backing from the village. The former can be acquired by patience and bulldog perseverance, but the latter must be given by the community. When one compares the crowds which turn out for a hockey match with the baseball crowds, one feels that the team must feel the lack of encouragement. This can be overcome if the people want. Many prefer to pay twice as much to see a bigger game. This is all right, too, but we must remember that the big leaguee players began in small teams and many of them in small towns, and the small town teams produce very good players. Let us give a boost to the home team and one feels sure it will be appreciated.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

BY BILLY EVANS.

Questions.

1. Runners are on third and second; one man is out; batter hits fly to deep left; runner on third tags up and scores legitimately after the catch; the runner on second thinking the catch impossible left with the crack of the bat; the ball is returned to the infield and put on second base, retiring the runner who had ventured off and thereby retiring the side. Does the run count? (Runner of course tallied before the third out.)—C. P.

2. How high in the air must foul ball go in order to retire batsman?—J. M.

3. What is world's record for throwing a baseball?—J. L.

4. How must a runner turn after reaching first, provided he does not attempt to go to second?—K. W.

Answers.

1. The run counts since player crossed plate before third out, same not being a forced out.

2. There is no set distance. The batsman is out on any foul caught, other than a direct tip from bat.

On Oct. 12, 1910, at Cincinnati, Sheldon Dejeune threw a ball 426 feet 9 1-2 inches.

4. Runner can turn in either direction, right or left, provided he makes no attempt to go to second.

QUESTIONS

1. If there are less than two men out and a runner on third, and the batsman interferes with a play at the plate on such runner, who is called out?—R.S.

2. If there is a runner on first, and the batter hits a home run, and the runner on first fails to touch third base on his way to the plate, does that affect the status of the batsman?—E. B.

3. Has the pitcher a right to take a position off the rubber, and feint a delivery of the ball to the batsman?—R .T.

ANSWERS

1. The runner coming home from third should be called out for the batter's interference with less than two out.

2. The failure of a preceding runner to touch a base, and who is declared out for so doing, in no way affects the status of a succeeding runner.

3. The pitcher positively has no right to be off the rubber, and feint a delivery of the ball to the batsman. Such an act is a balk.

LENGLEN QUITS TENNIS COURTS IN BAD HEALTH

Winner of Five Wimbledon Championships Forced to Retire Near Sixth.

DOCTOR'S ORDERS.

Only Two Bouts Stood Between Invincible Suzanne and the Prize.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 2—(Canadian Press).—Suzanse Lenglen, France's marvellous tennis player, who has five times won the Wimbledon championship and holds the world's title, is out of the game. Her doctors have forbidden her to continue play in the present tournament and she is under treatment for physical disability.

Mlle. Lenglen's strenuous match with Miss Elizabeth Ryan on Monday was a great strain on the champion, according to a statement made by Captain Borotra of the French team. Three weeks ago she was confined to bed with jaundice, and had not properly recovered when she began to play at Winbledon. Her doctor insisted on her abandoning the game for a period, but the French girl compromised by deciding that she would not play in the mixed doubles.

This did not suffice, however, to meet the physician's wishes and absolute restriction was put on her appearance on a tennis court last night. Indeed she has been ordered to spend several weeks in bed, but whether she will comply with this stringent measure has not been determined.

The first intimation of Mlle. Lenglen's ill-health was conveyed by the official announcement that she had scratched in the mixed doubles. It was hoped that a day's rest would enable her to continue in the singles, but the doctors would not permit half measures.

The withdrawal of the French champion is the sensation of the Wimbledon tournament. Until she clashed with Miss Ryan on Monday, she had flashed through three rounds of the women's singles witout losing a game. In her contest against Miss Ryan she had to use all her skill and agility to win and even then the Californian captured one set. Only Miss Kathleen McKane, whom she has often beaten, and Miss Helen Wills, the United States champion, stood between her and her sixth straight championship.

Miss wills is to meet Mrs. Satterthwaite in the semi-finals to-day, and if she proves the victor, she will play Miss McKane in the finals.

Mlle. Lenglen had retired when efforts were made last night to obtain statement from her, but confirmation was given at her residence that her health had compelled withdrawal from the championship.

One U. S. Survivor.

Another surprise of the day was the defeat of Vincent Richards of the United States Olympic team. Richards was favored from the start to win the title against the entire international field, but he was eliminated by the young French star, Jean Borortra, whose sharp, dazzling volleys, made his triumph a brilliant one. The score was 6-4, 4-6, 6-, 6-2.

Watson M. Washburn was the second of the United States players to be eliminated. Weary from a week of hard-fought matches in both singles and doubles, Washburn played with such a tired and unhappy air yesterday that he went down before Louis Raymond of South Africa who limped and hobbled about the court, wincing from the pain of a torn leg tendon.

These two defendants leave Norris Williams as the solitary United States survivor for the semi-finals. The other three contenders are La Costs and Borotra, of France, and Raymond of South Africa.

Williams, to win his way to the semi-finals, had to defeat one of England's veterans, A. R. F. Kingscote. It was a hard fought contest, Williams eventually bearing off the palm, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4. He will now meet LaCoste and unless he defeats him, the finalists this year will probably be Frenchmen.

ROSENEATH IS WELL IN LEAD

Win From Orland Put Them in Front in First Half of Schedule.

BATTLE ROYAL

ROSENEATH, July 2. — Roseneath baseball team's win from Orlando on Wednesday, while Colborne was losing to Brighton, gave them a good lead in the league race. This is the hardest team that Roseneath has faced this sesaon and the only one in the league that has been able to defeat the local nine.

It is hard to understand how a team of the calibre of Orlando is down in fourth place but they should be able to give a good account of themselves in the second half.

A win for the locals from Campbellford here on Wednesday will go a long way in declaring them winners of the first half, and the right to represent this league in the O.A.B.A. play-offs. The local team is playing a good class of ball, and with both Dunnett and Leach in first class condition, will make any team step to beat them from now on. Davey at short and Bates at second are hard to beat, working well together, and second base is never left without a guardian. Armstrong, Moore and Shearer make an outfield that is second to none in the league. B. Thackeray at first is playing his position in his usual style; R. Thackerary, catcher, is working in his usual good form, and improving in his batting, his two bagger in the seventh inning with Orlando, bringing in the two runs that won the game, as previous to this Orlando was leading by one run. Baker made a nice catch in right field. Moore, centre, fielder, played a good game. Besides making a hard catch earlier in the game, and doubling the runner at first he saved the game in the 9th. Mulhall drove a beautiful hit over Moore's head, but he ran after it and made a perfect throw in, which was relayed by Davey to Shearer, getting Mulhall, who was trying to stretch into a triple, at third, by inches. Richardson as umpire in chief, gave entire satisfaction.

The umpires in this league this season by their efficiency and fairness, have set a standard far above previous years, and the fans are highly pleased, as no fair minded man is annoyed at a game that is lost fairly.

Roseneath had decided not to enter the second half of the schedule, but owing to the good showing that the team is making, and thinking it would be in the best interests of the club, they have notified the league secretary that they will be in it to the finish.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Can one ball player create an atmosphere for good or evil among his teammates?

The case of Wid Matthews, formerly a member of the Philadelphia Athletics, now with Washington, would make it seem so.

It is a saying in New York, the way Ruth goes, so go the Yankees. That opinion could have been applied to the Athletics and Matthews last season.

* * *

For nearly three months last season the Athletics proved the sensation of the American League. Mack finally has a real ball club was the word that went over the circuit.

In the surprising showing made by a team that had finished seventh the previous year no player stood out more than Matthews.

When I saw the Athletics in training at Montgomery, Manager Mack spoke very kindly of Matthews.

"He hasn't the ability of a Cobb or Speaker, but he has the spirit and it should tide him over some of his faults. He should be a great help to my team," was the way Mack sized up Matthews.

* * *

During the early stages of the race Matthews proceeded to make good all the nice things that Mack had said about him. His spirit and fight stood out. He soon won the name of "Spark Plug" as a compliment to the energy he supplied his team.

* * *

Matthews had color. His fighting spirit was taken up by his teammates. The Athletics from a drab machine was soon transformed into a colorful aggregation, a team of fighters.

Just when the critics were wondering if the Mackmen were not playing over their gait, the club slumped.

While the slump was on, Matthews did something that displeased his manager. He was benched. The slump continued.

The Athletics, a pennant contender in the early stages, soon dropped out of the running. Likewise Matthews dropped out of the head lines.

Old "Spark Plug" had been fouled.

* * *

Matthews, the early sensation of the American League, was soon forgotten. During the winter when waivers were asked on him, not a club refused. Matthews passed to the minors. He was sent to Milwaukee in the American Association.

* * *

After a short stay in the minors, Matthews got into an argument with the owner of the club for which he was playing. Called him a "big bum," or something equally complimentary. He drew a suspension.

His suspension got him back in the big league. Washington, in need of an outfielder, bought him. He is going good again and the critics have once more slipped him the name of "Sparky."

Matthews says he has learned a lesson about a number of things and is in the big show to stay. No more arguments, not even with the umpire, for him.

* * *

In his first game against Philadelphia he made two hits, scored one run, the deciding margin of the game, made a couple of great catches and a fine throw that nipped a rally.

Funny how a released player always steps out against the old home team.

CRICKET NEWS

The De Laval C.C., of Peterboro, celebrated Dominion Day by journeying to Campbellford yesterday and engaging the local team in a friendly fixture. Campbellford batted first but could make nothing of the bowling of the brother's Dyer—Frank capturing 5 wickets for 7 runs, while "Reg." secured 4 wickets for 13 runs—the whole side being disposed of for a total of 21 runs. De Laval replied with 62 for 4 wickets when they declared their innings closed, Mr. Stuart (15) and F. Dyer (25 not out) being the principal scorers.

Campbellford had a second lease of the wicket and made a better showing, knocking up 48 before being disposed of. This left De Laval only 8 runs to secure a win over the double innings, but three wickets fell before they could claim the victory. At the close of the game the Campbellford entertained their visitors to supper, and after doing justice to a hearty repast the De Laval returned to Peterboro, having enjoyed a very pleasant and enjoyable afternoon. Appended are the scores:—

WEDDING BELLS

BRAILEY—LANCASHIRE

A pretty wedding took place on Tuesday, July 1st, at 2 o'clock p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lancashire, Cedar Dale Farm, Otonabee, when their youngest daughter, Belva Irene, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Joseph Oliver Brailey, eldest son of Mrs. Wm. Larkin, Orillia. The bride who entered the room on the arm of her father, looked charming in a gown of grey canton crepe, with shoes and stockings to match, and a large navy blue picture hat. She wore the gift of the groom, a handsome rope of pearls, and carried a bouquet of rose peonies and maidenhair fern.

Her only attendant was her little niece, Ruth King, who was flower girl, and looked sweet in a pink organdy dress and hat, and a gold locket, the gift of the groom. She carried a basket of sweet peas and orange blossoms.

After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. A. K. Edmison, Orono, about 25 guests sat down to a dainty luncheon.

The bride and groom left on the 9:10 train for Toronto, Niagara and points west. Her travelling gown was brown canton crepe, black shoes and stockings, and navy blue hat and wrap. On their return, Mr. and Mrs Brailey will reside at 21 Laclie.

PRATT—PAYNE.

At noon on Wednesday, June 25th, the marriage took place at Maple Rise, Dummer, the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. Herman Payne, of Miss Elizabeth Emma, eldest daughter of Mrs. Rebecca Payne, to Mr. Elijah Pratt, of Burnley, Ont. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. G. Weir of Warsaw.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Wm. F. Payne, was tastefully attired in sandalwood canton crepe, with touches of blue, and was attended by her sister, Miss Clara, who wore a becoming gown of sunset Normandy voile trimmed with ribbon. Mrs. Robert Northey of Smith played the wedding march, and during the signing of the register Mr. Warren Atkinson, of Roseneath, sang "My Task."

Among the many gifts received was a cabinet of silver plate, from the congregation of Bethel Church, where the bride was a valued worker.

MACDONALD—MEAKIN.

A quiet wedding took place at half-past six on Monday evening, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Reid, 216 King Street, when Hope Meakin, recently of Dundee, Scotland, and John MacDonald, of Peterborough, also a native of Dundee, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. M. C. Mackinnon.

The bride, who was one of the eighteen prospective brides who came over on the Metagama, and went through the collision off Cape Race, which endangered the big liners safety, wore white organdie, with the conventional white tulle veil and wreath of orange blossoms. She was attended by Mrs. J Reid, wearing a net frock. Mr Max Irvine acted as best man

A jolly social evening followed the ceremony, at which about twenty guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs MacDonald will reside in Peterborough.

EAST PETERBORO BATTLE TO-NIGHT

The Cognawagas and Mackey's Bread Company, meet in an East Peterborough League fixture at the Exhibition grounds to-night, at six o'clock. Both teams are well advanced in the league and will be out there battling their heads off. The Mackeys bread mixers will likely miss Harry Dugan, their second baseman, who it is rumored, has signed with the C.G.E. Midland League team. Bob however has several new players in line and will march a smart aggregation on to the field to-night, when he meets the Cogs. Vannest will likely uncork them on the mound for the southerners while Bab Mackey has not yet decided who he will pitch.

COMMON ASSAULT CHARGE HEARD

Alleged That Defendant Threw Stone at Little Girl For Honking the Horn.

A King Street woman prosecuted a Charlotte Street man on a charge of common assault, in Police Court this morning.

It was alleged for the prosecution that the defendant threw a stone at plaintiff's small daughter, hitting her on the knee while she and other small children were playing on the large vacant lot between King and Charlotte, at the rear of Dwyer's Auto Repair Shop and the defendant's premises, after annoying the defendant, it is said, by blowing the horn of his car which had been left on the lot.

Witnesses for the defence testified that a large number of children play in this large "waste," as it was termed by them, and that they are an annovance to merchants in that community.

Defendant emphatically declared that he threw no stone, but just frightened the children. The defendant is partially paralysed, and declared that he had just two speeds, "dead slow" and "stop," and that he could not possibly have hurried after the children as had been stated for the prosecution.

A playmate of the injured girl stated that she had blown the horn, and it was shown by the defence that the horn had been torn from the screws on the door.

The defendant testified that two nights ago someone had unfastened the cork on his gas tank, letting out four gallons of gas, and that a neighbor had lost a spare tire, the top of his radiator and other accessories from his car just recently, adding that a King Street resident had parts removed from his car which had been left on the large vacant lot.

When questioned by the Chief, he stated that he couldn't attach any blame to any person, but that he had reported the matter to the police when it happened.

Mr. J. A. O'Brien acted for the defence, and urged the Magistrate to dismiss the charge, contending that under the trying circumstances the defendant had conducted himself as a reasonable person would.

Defendant was fined $2.00 and costs. It was found that the threatening gestures of the accused, without taking into consideration the other allegations, would in itself constitute assault. A curt warning, directed to children in general who play on the vacant lot between King and Charlotte Streets, was delivered from the bench, in reference to the complaints received from merchants in that community.

SUZANNE LENGLEN TO REGAIN HEALTH

She Was Seriously Affected by her Strenuous Match With Elizabeth Ryan on Monday.

LONDON, July 2nd.— (Canadian Pres).—Jean Borotra, captain of the French olympic lawn tennis team, said to-day that, having given up the Wimbledon championship fight, Suzanne Lenglen intended to place herself entirely under doctors orders in an attempt to regain her health and stamina in time for the olympic games.

Further consultations with the medical men revealed that the girl star was more seriously affected by her trenuous match on Monday with Miss Elizabeth Ryan than was at first supposed. She was set back several weeks in the recovery she had been making from the severe attack of jaundice which she suffered during the winter, but the doctor were of the opinion that she would be able to enter the olympic tennis unless there were new developments. Mlle. Lenglen has been placed on a diet and forbidden to undergo any strenuous exercise or to do much travelling.

RELIEF POSTMEN HAVE QUIT JOBS

One Tenth of These Men in Toronto Have Voluntarily Given Up Their Positions.

TORONTO, July 2 — (Canadian Press). — One-tenth of the men taken on as postal helpers during the postmen's strike have voluntarily quit their jobs, according to the latest information from the Post Office headquarters.

Fifty-four resignations were turned in Monday as soon as the strike was over, and they kept on coming in steadily to-day until the 70 mark was reached. There were just 771 new men taken on during the strike.

But there was a curious development to-day when the mail carriers found themselves shouldering heavier loads of mail than they had to carry on Monday. To-day brought out an accumulation of newspaper and periodical mail, and also parcel post. This was all heavy stuff, so it came about that without any trouble or difficulty new men taken on were sent out as helpers to mail carriers, aiding them to bear the burdens. So late strikers and men who replaced them tramped their walks in pairs, side by side.

It is expected that many more of the men will yet resign from the postal staff.

DEPOSITORS OF BANK SATISFIED

They Expect to Get Compensation on Any Loss They May Suffer.

NO ASSUBANCE YET.

TORONTO, July 2 (Canadian Press). — Elated over the finding of the Banking and Commerce Committee of the House of Commons that the Home Bank depositors "have a moral claim in equity for compensation by the country on any loss they may suffer by reason of the failure of the Home Bank" depositors are now hoping that the Government will bring in a supplementary estimate on a special Bill to pay them $14,765,511 now due.

W. T. J. Lee, K.C., chairman of the Depositors' Relief Committee, returned to the city this morning from Ottawa, where he advocated the depositors' claim before the House Committee.

Mr. Lee thinks the matter will come up in the House of Commons to-day or on Thursday.

"So far so good," he said to-day when asked for his opinion of the report.

"The sub-committee was unanimous," said the chairman, and their report carried by a large majority in the main committee.

"We are naturally pleased with the result. We have got everything we fought for up to the present."

"Will the Government give effect to the recommendation and pay the depositors?"

"I am hoping so, but we have no assurance. They would bring in either a supplementary estimate or a special Bill."

NEWMAN HORTH SLAIN FRIDAY

His Dead Body Was Found in the Welland Canal This Morning With Hands and Legs Bound.

ST. CATHARINES, July 2.—(Canadian Press) — That Newman Horth, night watchman at freight sheds of the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto railway missing since Friday night, June 13th., was murdered, was made definitely certain this morning when a body taken from the Welland Canal at Port Robinson last night was identified as that of the missing man by his two brothers-in-law.

His hands were tied behind his back by a piece of rope and he had been rendered further helpless by long portions of stout wire, which had been wound about his body from his hips upwards, to ends of which railway fish plates were attacehd for purpose of sinking the body.

After being fettered this way, his coat had been placed about him. Identification was established by his bank bok. That robbery was not the motive is plain by the fact that his watch was still on him having stopped at 3.32, apparently five hours and 22 minutes after he had last punched the time clock at the freight sheds here. The body was found about thirteen miles from his place of duty.

Horth who was about 32 years of age, was married but leaves no family.

Toronto Boy Was Drowned on Tuesday

LINDSAY, July 2. — (Canadian Press).—James Anderson, 4 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson Toronto, was drowned at Thurstonia, Park, Sturgeon Lake, yesterday afternoon, when he ran out onto a small wharf and fell into water. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and family had arrived only three hours previously and had rented cottage for season.

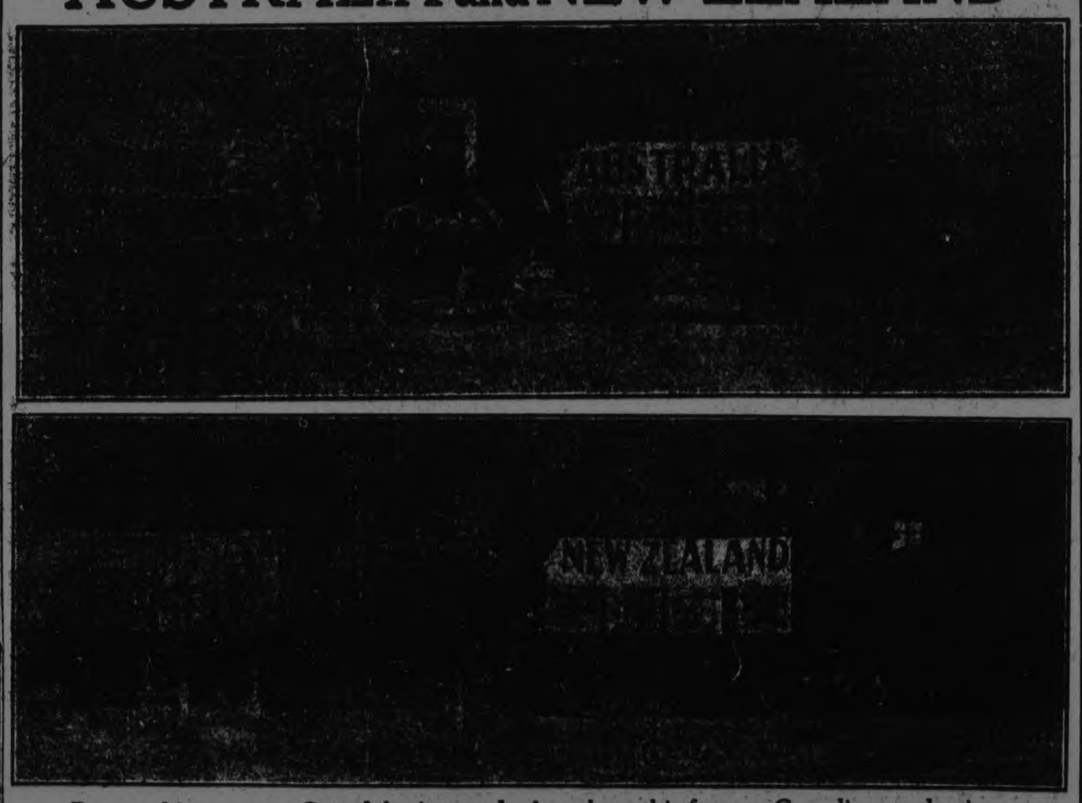
HEINTZMAN & CO. PIANOS IN AUSTRALIA and NEW ZEALAND



Recent shipments to Canada's sister colonies where this famous Canadian-made piano is the popular piano of the colonies.

Melba, the Australian Prima Donna, had a Heintzman & Co. Grand shipped direct to her own Australian home for her personal use.

"I have travelled the world over, and had the opportunity of using pianos bearing the name of the greatest piano builders of all countries. I do not hesitate to say that the Heintzman & Co. Piano, used by me, surpassed in beauty of tone and delicacy of touch any piano I have used anywhere."—De Pachman.

Heintzman & Co. 193-197 Yonge St. Toronto, Canada Established 1850--74 Years

Since the two large shipments illustrated above were made, Heintzman & Co. have been cabled to duplicate and ship at once both the Australia and New Zealand orders, so great is the demand for the instruments of this house.

DEMOCRATS ARE RISING TOWARD A NEW RECORD

Pass Fortieth Ballot Late Last Night Without Any Result.

McADOO LEADING.

Songs, Ballots and Demonstrations Amuse Delegates to Disgust of Theatres.

MADISON SQUARE. GARDEN, New York, July 3. — (Canadian Press.)—Still reeling under the effects of the bombardment and counter-attack which swept the Democratic National Convention late yesterday afternoon when William Jennings Bryan took the platform for William G. McAdoo, the convention assembled at eight o'clock last night for the thirty-ninth ballot.

The effect of Bryan's move and the storm which accompanied it was the sole topic of discussion among the leaders when the convention assembled, who had been benefitted and who had been hurt were the questions.

There was an agreement on all sides that if anything had been necessary to solidify the Smith people it was Bryan's remark that it was necessary to have a candidate who was right on the liquor question. Bryan had brought out on the convention floor that which the McAdoo people had no relish for throwing into the debate—the oil question and the tax refund problem.

Senator Walsh of Montana, a declared supporter of McAdoo, had given way in the chair for the night session to Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, a declared supporter of Smith, so that the way might be cleared for clearing the galleries of Smith rooters if that became necessary.

Near a Record.

Slowly the record of ballots was climbing toward the records made at Baltimore and San Francisco, where it took forty-six and forty-four respectively to find a nominee. If no nomination were made last night the record was in a fair way to be broken. At 8:15 o'clock Chairman Walsh began gavelling for order.

Following the opening prayer, the New York Police Glee Club gave some songs. The coppers sang Annie Laurie, the soldiers' chorus from Faust and the sextet from Lucia with elucidation and tone. The plaint of the theatre managers that the delegates failed to visit them and spend their money was easily explained.

On the 39th ballot, Missouri, with her 38 votes, returned to the McAdoo column.

Band Helped.

The band helped out the ensuing celebration by blaring "What's Become of Hinky Dinky Parlez Vous." The women were in full charge of the demonstration.

Somebody started the "We Want Smith" chant and immediately it was ringing from all corners of the Garden. It swamped the demonstration so far as noise was concerned.

The totals for the 39th ballot follows:

McAdoo, 499.
Smith, 320 1-2.
Davis of West Virginia, 71.

Fortieth Ballot.

On the fortieth ballot, the totals for rthe leaders stood:

McAdoo, 505.5; Smith 317.5; Davis, 70.5.

The passing of the five hundred mark for McAdoo was attained in a great drive toward getting a majority with rumblings of a fight.

Limit Financial Demands On Parliament Members

LONDON, July 3 (Canadian Press Cable). — Financial demands on members of Parliament by their constituents and others have led Major L. Hore-Belisha, Liberal member for Plymouth, Devonport, to introduce a Bill in the House of Commons with the object of limiting the giving of donations and subscriptions by members of the Commons.

WOULD CHANGE CONSTITUTION

Asks Amendment to B.N.A. Act Enabling Canada to Amend Constitution.

AUSTRALIA HAS IT.

OTTAWA, July 3. — (Canadian Press). — W. F. MacLeon, of York South, proposes to move an address in the House requesting that the British Parliament make such amendment to the British North America Act as to give Canada the right to amend her own constitution. Constitutional amendments under Mr. MacLean's proposal would be brought about by an absolute majority vote of each House of the Dominion Parliament. The Dominion Parliament would not, however, be empowered to pass any amendment affecting the rights guaranteed in the British North America Act to minorities.

Australia already possesses the right to amend her own constitution.

FAMILY TICKETS FOR EXHIBITION

One Way of Helping the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

Citizens of Peterborough are reminded of the family ticket for the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition that is now on sale.

This ticket will give five admissions, afternoon and evening, during the Fair, and conveyance will be counted as one person.

The holdig of a family ticket at the cost of $5.00 will be a great saving to those who wish their families to see the Fair.

They may be had from any member of the Board, and at President Denne's store, on George Street.

It is an exceptionally good way of helping out the finances of the Fair, as it brings in money in advance of Fair time, and the president and directors would appreciate a very ready demand for these family tickets.

Vital Statistics Show An Increase in Births

The vital statistics for the month of June show an increase over June last year of three births, a decrease of three marriages, and an increase of five deaths.

Last year there were 45 births, 31 marriages, and 27 deaths, while for June this year there were 48 births, 28 marriages, and 32 deaths.

Dan Cupid did very good work this month in linking up 28 couples, while the population of the city increased 16, this being the highest in several months.

GAS TAX PROFITABLE

Indiana alone, in the first 10 months of applying the 2-cent gas tax on motor vehicles, collected $3,705,850. During the summer months the state expects to collect $400,000 a month by this method.

N. S. W. REGRETS BRITISH STAND ON PREFERENCE

Speech From the Throne at Legislature Opening Expresses Disappointment.

SEEK IMMIGRANTS

Country Desires British Migrants for Safety of the Empire.

SYDNEY, N.S.W. July 3 .—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters). — The speech from the throne at the opening of the New South Wales legislature yesterday read by the governor, Admiral Sir Dudley De Chair, said that although no settlers had yet arrived under the new immigration agreement, provision had been made for selecting in Britain, men of the right type, and legislation to make provision for their future as settlers in New South Wales would be submitted.

The speech expressed regret for the British parliament's rejection of the preference proposals which "would make it more difficult to settle the irrigation areas and other Australian lands suitable for intensive cultivation." It was to be hoped that the matter of preferences would be further considered as the New South Wales ministers desired to do their utmost to absorb suitable British migrants in the interest of the Empire's safety.

It was disclosed that the state's finances for the year just closed were in a satisfactory state and warranted proposals for a reduction of taxation. The government, it was said, were somewhat hampered in financing the necessary development works owing to the adverse exchange and the difficulty of transferring money from London to Sydney. An effort was being made to overcome this situation.

New measures to be introduced said the speech would provide, among other things, for the granting of freehold land titles on irrigation areas.

CHATHAM'S OLD HOME

Thousands of Old Boys and Girls Flock Back for Occasion.

CHATHAM, Ont., July 3.—(Canadian Press).—While some old boys and girls took there departure yesterday, others arrived by all trains and they are not permitting any let up in enthusiastic home week celebration.

Crowds flocked to the athletic park in the afternoon where interesting soccer and lacrosse contests were staged, while another record crowd witnessed fast horses compete in speed trials at the Chatham Driving Park. A feature of the night's programme was a monster dance held on King Street, where hundreds of couples danced to music furnished by the Kent Regiment band. The feature is to be repeated tonight.

So far there has been no accident, and nothing which warranted police intereference.

Three boats are loading grain and two discharging coal.

NEW GAS WELL

Output of 20,000,000 Cubic Feet a Day for Calgary.

CALGARY, Alta., July 3.—(Canadian Press).—Well No. 4 of the Canadian Natural Gas, Light, Heat and Power Company, in the new Foremost Field, was brought in Tuesday with a measured output of 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily, open flow, according to formal notice given the Alberta Public Utilities Board by the company.

This makes the well the biggest of the group of four new producers in the field and provides a total supply of gas at Foremost of forty-nine million feet, open flow measurement.

Manitoba Swelters In 90 Degrees Of Mid-Summer Heat And People Are Stricken On Roadside And At Concert

WINNIPEG, July 3. Canadian Press. — Manitoba sweltered yesterday in the warmest weather recorded in the province this summer. The mercury in Winnipeg reached the high mark of 90 degrees in the shade, which however is several degrees lower than other western points.

A man believed to be William Green of St. James, a suburb of Winnipeg, was stricken by the heat while riding a bicycle on Portage avenue; he died before reaching the hospital.

Edmouton and Calgary report a slight drop in the temperature from respective high marks of 96 and 91 registered on Tuesday, the humid wave seeming to be travelling eastward.

The farmers throughout the west are satisfied with the weather conditions, the general belief prevailing that the rise in temperature will matrially aid the crops towards the ripening stage, but more rain is required in many districts.

The Dominion meteorological service forecasts that it will get still warmer before the mercury recedes.

Left 16 Children.

SASKATOON, Sask., July 3. — Stricken by the heat Mrs. F. Gunthorpe of Lagan, Sask., fell dead, while attending a Lutheran church concert at Drake. She leaves 16 children, the youngest four years old.

WALLACE FACES ARSON CHARGE

Lindsay Man Who Lives in Peterborough Held For Serious Offence.

ASSAULT, TOO.

LINDSAY, July 3.—(Special). — James Wallace, a former resident of Lindsay, but who has been living of late in Peterboro, has been arrested by Provincial Officer Storey and faces two serious charges. It appears that he returned to Lindsay a few days ago, and, visiting the home of his wife, proceeded to beat her up. A warrant was issued for his arrest on the charge of criminal assault. Since then, however, a more serious charge, that of arson, has been preferred against him. It appears that on the occasion of the assault it is alleged that he attempted to burn the property in which his wife resided. He faces trial in the County Police Court this week on the two charges.

OLD HOME WEEK

Lindsay's Venture is a Success—Many From Peterboro' There.

LINDSAY, July 3.—(Special.)—The success of Lindsay's Old Home Week is assured. According to the registration returns at the town hall, 2,200 former residents had signed their names up to six o'clock on July 2nd. A great many failed to register. These came in autos and, of course, failed to run into the reception committee. Over $4,000 was taken in at the gate at Agricultural Park on Dominion Day, and the committee feels satisfied that there will be no deficit when the celebration is over.

A number of prominent citizens from Peterborough were in town for the holiday, and they stated that Lindsay's success would encourage them to return home and boom an old boys' re-union for Peterborough.

STEVENS MAY RETIRE

Rumor Says He May Lead B. C. Conservatives in the Legislature.

OTTAWA, July 3.— (Canadian Press.)—The rumor is revived that Hon. H. H. Stevens will retire from federal politics to replace Hon. W. J. Bowser in the leadership of the British Columbia Conservatives in the Legislature according to the Citizen last night.

Many representations have been made in favor of either Dr. Tolmie or Mr. Stevens, the paper continues. The former is doing good work as executive dominion organizer of the federal party, and it is not wished that he go. While Mr. Stevens is valued very highly here there would be less impediment to his going. He was a candidate for the provincial leadership two years ago.

DECLINES HIGH POST

DeWet, Minister in Defeated Smuts Government, Refuses Supreme Court Position.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, July 3.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—Senator N. J. de Wet, K.C., minister of justice in the defeated Smut ministry, has declined the new government's offer of the judge presidentship of the Transvaal provincial division of the Supreme Court. He will assume the leadership of the South African party in the Senate.

LEOPOLD PLOTS TO SAVE SELF

Tries to Fasten Crime on Another Teacher of Ornithology, Evidence Shows.

TOLD THE POLICE.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 3.—One of the most amazing features of the Franks case brought out since Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb made their confessions was told by a witness in the State Attorney's office. How Nathan Leopold, whose super-mind concocted the baffling plot in the murder of little Robert Franks, planned to shift the blame for the crime upon another was related in detail.

George Lewis, of 4,559 Forrestville Avenue, friend of Leopold and fellow teacher in ornithology, told how Leopold plotted to cause him to be suspected of the murder.

Friends Since 1922.

Testimony which Lewis gave before Assistants State Attorneys John S. Barbaro and Joseph Savage dated back to 1922, when Lewis and Leopold first became friends through their common interest in birds.

They studied together, they collaborated in research work in ornithology and jointly organized private classes during that year, Lewis said.

Frequently from that time up until the murder the two of them went out to the culvert where the body was hidden, sometimes with their classes, but often alone.

Lewis said their last visit there together was on May 18, when he and Leopold were accompanied by a fellow-student named James Stein.

Called Him on 'Phone.

On May 22—the day following the murder—Leopold called Lewis on the 'phone to ask him if he would take his class out to the study grounds on that day as he was unable to go, according to Lewis' story.

Leopold told him that he would pay Lewis $1.50 for each one in the class. Lewis assented.

Lewis went out with the class, and upon returning 'phoned to Leopold, who, he said, seemed inexplicably uninterested.

On May 25 Leopold 'phoned Lewis asking him if he had lost his glasses while on the trip with the ornithology class on May 22.

"No, I have my glasses," Lewis said he replied.

"You wear tortoise shell glasses, don't you?" Leopold asked.—"Yes."

Just One Pair.

"Did you ever have more than one pair?"—"No, just one pair, and I have them," Lewis answered.

"It may not be of any significance, but Capt. Wolfe questioned me and I gave him your name," Leopold answered.

While the State continued its effort to pile up evidence against the millionaire slayers, the defence increased the number of alienists to show that the boys are "moral imbeciles."

Dr. William A. White, noted psychiatrist, and superintendent of St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D.C., took his place in the battery of alienists retained to examine Leopold and Loeb for traces of mental derangement.

U. S. SHIP MERGER

Consolidation of Government Operated Cargo Routes is Approved.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(Canadian Press).—Consolidation of the Government operated cargo routes from North Atlantic to French ports north of Bordeaux, Antwerp and Rotterdam, as proposed by the Fleet Corporation, was approved yesterday by the Shipping Board.

The best operators in the trade, the Black Diamond Steamship Company, and the Cosmopolitan Steamship Company, both of New York, will be reduced to one, with the elimination of the former, and the number of ships curtailed from 26 to 22.

ORIENTALS ARE PROTESTING IN MASS MEETINGS

Law Requiring Chinese in Canada to Register is Objected To.

WEAR BADGES.

Celestial Displeasure May Some Time Retaliate, Say Speakers at Gatherings.

VICTORIA, B.C., July 3.—(Capadian Press).—Chinese residents of Victoria held a series of mass meetings and wore specially designed tags on their coat lapels on Tuesday, expressing their protest against the new Dominion law requiring all Chinese in Canada to register.

Speakers at the meetings declared that when China managed to solve her problems and form a strong Government it would inevitably retaliate against Canada. The enforced registration was bitterly resented by all Chinese, they said. Apart from the meetings there was no demonstration.

PLUNGED TO DEATH OVER A PRECIPICE

Woman Driving Car on Manitoulin Lost Control at Dangerous Turn.

GORE BAY, Ont., July 3.—(Canadian Press).—The instantaneous death of Mrs. Lawrence Buck of Escanaba, Mich., occurred at Campbell's Bay, Manitoulin Island, about twelve miles from Gore Bay, when the car she was driving plunged down a bluff yesterday afternoon, killing Mrs. Buck outright and seriously injuring her husband who accompanied her. The car a high power Buick roadster was badly smashed in the accident. Mr. Buck who is a lumberman from Escanaba, Mich., and operating a small lumber mill at Honora, Manitoulin Island, was returning with Mrs. Buck from Western Manitoulin. When nearing the sharp turn in the road at Campbell's Bay it is apparent that Mrs. Buck lost control in negotiating the turn and the car plunged down the Bluff, which is quite high. When aid arrived it was found that the unfortunate woman was dead and Mr. Buck had sustained a deep wound in his scalp and a broken arm and other injuries. The prompt arrival of Mr. Geo. Scott, a farmer of the vicinity who witnessed the car take the plunge over the precipice probably saved the life of Mr. Buck who was pinned under the car and enduring terrible suffering and it is thought could not have long survived. The present summer as has been one in which more than the usual number of accidents have taken place on Manitoulin and the present instance is one of the few fatalities that have occurred.

LINDSAY HIGHWAY

Practical Assurance That the Provincial Highway Will Reach Town Next Year.

LINDSAY, July 3.—(Special.)—R. J. Patterson ,M.P.P., South Victoria, is authority for the statement that the Provincial Government has practically given assurance that work will commence on the Lindsay Provincial highway next year. This road is at present one of the most important in this section of the province, but is at present in a very bad condition. It is expected that a number of the hills, which have made the highway famous, will be cut down and also that there will be considerable filling in along the entire stretch.

DIED AFTER ACCIDENT

Indian Found on Railroad Track With Leg Almost Severed.

CHATHAM, Ont., July 3.—(Canadian Press).—Found lying on the Pere Marquette Railway tracks early on Sunday morning with his right leg almost severed, Moses King, 26, an Indian whose home is at Perry Island, died as a result of his injuries in St Joseph's Hospital yesterday. Coroner T. L. McRitchie, yesterday afternoon opened an inquest. The jury, after viewing the remains, adjourned to continue the enquiry next Tuesday afternoon.

King's cries attracted the attention of Ross Stringer, caretaker of the Maple Leaf Cemetery, who found him where he had apparently laid for several hours after being struck by a train.

Petting Parties Beware Says Special Constable

LONDON, Ont., July 3.—(Canadian Press).—Westminster township council named a special constable to act against "Petting parties" which farmers of the township claim infest the roads of the district. A petition asking for the appointment and signed by 85 names was read.

ALBERTA CROPS FIT FOR PRINCE

Manager of E. P. Ranch Surprised by Notice of Intended Visit.

RANCH IN ORDER.

CALGARY, Alta., July 3.—(Canadian Press).—"So far as we know, no particular plans will be made for the visit of His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales," said Professor W. L. Carlyle, manager of the E. P. Ranch, yesterday. "It is probable that the Prince will make a quiet visit, just as he did last year. We did not know that he was coming, but we are delighted by the announcement."

Prof. Carlyle did not know when the Prince was coming, but assumed that the visit would probably take place in October.

Prof. Carlyle was at the ranch when the Canadian Press got in touch with him over the long distance telephone, and informed him of the announcement which the Prince made in London on Tuesday. He said that the Prince would find some changes. The gardens were improving, in accordance with the original plans, and cattle and machinery sheds were being constructed. "But what will please the Prince," said Professor Carlyle, "will be the luxuriant grass and hay and the abundant crops. I have never seen Southern Alberta look better than it does to-day."

FIRE SWEPT OVER MONTREAL CENTRE

Nine Houses Burning and Four Theatened in Densely Crowded Section.

MONTREAL, July 3.—(Canadian Press).—A double alarm was turned in at 8.30 last night for a fire in the Quality Shoe Store, Dorchester St., East, in the heart of the densely populated downtown section.

The roofs and top floors of nine houses in the east end section of the city between Dorchester and St. Catharine streets were burned and four more buildings were threatened by fire which later called out three alarms. Narrow and densely populated thoroughfares brought out immense crowds and police from several stations were called in to handle the people.

At 9.30 the firemen were still pouring tons of water on the roofs and sheds and the cause of the original outbreak had not been ascertained.

PREFER THEM CLIMATIZED

U. S. Warns That Only Britishers With Year's Residence in Canada Can Cross Border.

MONTREAL, July 3. — (Canadian Press.)—"It is absolutely useless for people born outside of Canada, who have been waiting here to enter the United States, but have been in the Dominion less than one year, to apply for admission over the border at this time," says a statement issued last night at the United States' consulate-general.

The reason is that the total of would-be emigrants of all nationalities, but especially those of British origin, is so far in excess of the quotas provided for under the immigration act. Decision, therefore, has been made by the United States officials to give first chance to individuals who have been in Canada more than 12 months.

RETURN AS POSTAL HELPERS.

MONTREAL, July 3.—(Canadian Press).—All postal employees who went on strike two weeks ago either returned to work yesterday or signified their intention of reporting today, Postmaster Gaudet stated last night. They return unconditionally as postal helpers with a salary of $85 a month.

THE U.F.Y.P.O. WILL HOLD A STRAWBERRY SOCIAL AT THE HOME OF MR. CLIFFORD HANCOCK, SECOND LINE SMITH, TO-NIGHT (THURSDAY.) TICKETS 40c. 1d3 4159

THE SENATE IS INDISPENSABLE SAYS A MEMBER

"Might Afford to do Without the Commons," But Not Without Senate.

NATION'S BULWARK.

Condemns Newspapers, Fellow Senator and Sir Henry Thornton in His Homily.

OTTAWA, July 3 (Canadian Press). — An amendment was moved in the Senate yesterday afternoon to Senator Bennett's motion asking for a committee to investigate the charges against the administration of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine in British Columbia made by Senator J. D. Taylor of New Westminster.

Senator Tanner moved that the committee investigate "the failure of the management of the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Government Merchant Marine to properly investigate the statements and charges brought to their attention by Senator J. D. Taylor in his address to the Senate on 8th May last."

Senator Tanner's amendment also provided that the clauses of the original motion giving the proposed committee authority to investigate the Scribe Hotel purchase be struck out. This action was taken, he said, owing to the lateness of the session and the prospects of early prorogation.

Safeguards Nation.

Senator Tanner criticised the speech of Senator Haydon delivered some days ago, in which Senator Haydon defended the National Railway management and referred to the charges as trifling. The Senate was still the safeguard and the bulwark of the nation, he said, in spite of the statements to the contrary and appeals for its abolition. If Senator Haydon would go out among a certain class of people, "if he were to consort with some of those newspapermen who, it is said, have a reason for attacking the Senate—newspapers which are said to have a close affiliation with the patronage fund of the C.N.R. and which get not merely into the trough up to their knees, but up to their thoats—he would likely find those sentiments to which he refers in regard to the abolition of the Senate."

A demand for the abolition of the Senate might be found among some of the more restless, but among men who had a stake in the country, Senator Haydon would learn, he said, that while the country might afford to do without the Commons it could not do without the Senate.

Charges Thornton.

Senator Tanner reviewed at considerable length the charges against the Canadian Government Merchant Marine management, and said that Sir Henry Thornton had no use for an investigator who found out irregularities.

Senator Tanner reviewed Senator Taylor's connection with the whole affair, and said that Hon. Mr. Taylor had first approached the railway management in the most friendly manner, seeking to help the officers in clearing up the situation. He had not been received in the manner he should have, and was made the victim of delay on every hand.

Senator Roach questioned the statement that the repairs to the Canadian Farmer, which cost between $8,000 and $11,000, could have been made for $400. He argued that with the price of labour and the general costs of ship repair work $400 could not possibly meet the drydock work which must have been necessary in this case. Senator Roach had an extensive knowledge of nautical affairs, and did not think that the representatives of the underwriters could ever be persuaded to enlarge a bill of costs, particularly for a bribe.

He thought that Senator Taylor had been influenced by his affection for Captain Boyd in making his charges.

Senator Pardee adjourned the debate.

MAKING IT SNAPPY AT LINDSAY EVENT

Old Home Week a Big Success With Large Crowds and Lots of Dough.

Lindsay's Old Home Week has proved to be one of the very best advertisements for the town of many years passed. In point of preparation something excellent was devised and carried out. The attendance has been and is all that was expected, the registration of those coming home being especially large.

The big and broad Main Street at Lindsay lent itself in the very best way to decorative purposes and gave accommodation for the thousands who came in cars and other vehicles. Hundreds of homes were opened, supplementing accommodation at the local hotels. Some three thousand persons, coming from as far away as Dallas, Texas, Vancouver, Winnipeg and other points, found friends or relatives glad to receive them and give the home-comers a good time.

On Tuesday, a grand parade, made up of displays and exhibits of local business men and manufacturers, and a choice lot of humorous and fantastic get-ups were greeted with cheers and approval. Altogether the procession was about a mile long. The afternoon, at the Agricultural Grounds, offered a very good and successful entertainment, of select vaudeville (amateur), put on by the Toronto delegation as a contribution to the Old Home entertainment. In fact the whole programme was supplied by the Toronto boys, and included motor cycle races, several contests by guideless horses, the advent of the Toonerville Trolly and the assault on the trolly car and rifling by bandits. The attendance was estimated, on the grounds, and by reckoning from the turnstiles, as exceeding eight thousand. All of this contributed to the finances of the Old Home Week.

The illumination scheme was very finely carried out. Quite the most brilliant display the town had ever witnessed. The half-mile of Kent Street was fairly ablaze, once the gloom of evening set in. For this specialty a contract was made with a company who supplied and erected the display and found everything required. Warm praise was bestowed on this feature.

All over the town houses and homes vied one with another in making fine displays of flags, bunting and decorative effects, thus adding to the general air of festivity. On the several days of the great adventure, special events and gatherings were arranged and enjoyed.

The whole thing was and is especially creditable to Lindsay. To the men who so loyally worked and devised for the last two months to make the almost perfect arrangements, and who readily made guarantee of the probable expenses. It is understood that about from $13,000 to $15,000 will cover the cost of the week and responsibilities involved.

Not the least measure of satisfaction accrued from the meeting of Old Boys and Old Girls, scattered all over the Dominion and States adjoining, who came back to renew associations and review and recall the days when as real boys and girls they lived and were schooled and brought to man and womanhood within the town borders. Lindsay has made a distinct success, and the whole thing is worth a study and consideration to other towns, and indeed cities which purpose to hold such an occasion and look for a success. If Lindsay can do it, other places should.

FACE TERRIBLE FROM PIMPLES

And Blackheads. Irritation Intense. Cuticura Heals.

"I suffered terribly with blackheads and pimples. The pimples were large, festered and scaled over. They burned causing intense irritation. After washing my face the scales would fall off causing eruptions. I had to dispense with all pleasures because my face was terrible.

"I tried numerous remedies but all failed. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using one box of Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Felicia E. Smith, 3271 E. 46t St., Cleveland, Ohio.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are ideal for daily toilet uses.

NEWS FROM TWEED

Small Boys Appear Before the Police Magistrate.

TWEED, July 3.—Fourteen small boys were called before the Magistrate yesterday and fined for breaking insulators on the Hydro power lines. This is a very serious offence, and children should be taught the value of insulators. This danger was demonstrated in a very terrible way here a few years ago, when little Alister Akey was instantly killed on grasping a guy wire from one of the Hydro poles. The insulator had been broken by stones thrown by boys.

Mid-Week Holiday.

Wednesday afternoon holiday leaves Tweed rather quiet, but the bowling green is a very busy place. The game is young in Tweed, but the players are very enthusiastic and are improving. On July 1st some of the men went to Belleville, and Mr. J. F. Taylor and Mr. Trevor Fanning did some very fine work. The bowling green is an asset to the town in many ways.

Exams Started.

The entrance examinations started yesterday in the High School. Mr. J. E. Minns, Sister Chrystostum, and Miss Mary Minns are presiding. The pupils found the geography and grammar papers very reasonable.

SPRAY ROSE BUSHES.

You can destroy insects on rose bushes, shrubs and garden plants by spraying on a solution of Parke's Tobacco and Whale Oil Soap. It will not injure the tenderest growth or foliage, 30c and 50c cans. — At Bond's Drug Store, corner George and Hunter Streets.

CAMPBELLFORD WENT FISHING

Fishermen Had Some Rare Fish Stories to Tell as a Result.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 3. — The majority of the residents went on fishing excursions on the holiday. If the fish caught were at all commensurate with the stories brought back there is no danger of a lack of that variety of food in Campbellford for same days to come.

One residence on Front street was decorated with a small Union Jack, and that was the only token of patriotic sentiment in evidence in the entire town.

His Last Official Act.

The last official act of Rev. J. E. Glover, pastor of the Seymour circuit for the past four years, who left yesterday for his new home at Cambray, was to perform a marriage ceremony. The contracting parties were Miss Leah Bernice Massey of Toronto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Massey of Warkworth, and William Edward Young of Toronto.

To Operate Crusher.

The members of the Seymour Council have engaged Thomas Locke to operate the new stone crusher, which has been started in the pit owned by A. L. Reindeau. Mr. Locke has had experience in this line of work.

Personals.

William Ross, who has just graduated from the Salvation Army training school in Toronto, has been appointed to Campbellfrod as assistant to Captain Alfred Fisher, who comes here from Bowmanville.

Fred Rutledge of the operating staff of the C.P.R., Grafton, accompanied by his family, motored here on Sunday, and spent the day at the home of Mrs. A. Hanna, Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Grant of Barrie, accompanied by Miss Jennie Hanna of Toronto, motored on Sunday to the latter's home here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Nicholas's little son, Claude, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is slowly recovering.

Rev. R. G. Fry, who preached in the Burnbrae church, in the absence of Rev. J. J. Black, in Chicago, is visiting friends in the congregation. Mr. Fry recently graduated from the Union Theological Seminary in New York, with the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Mrs. J. W. Hales of Peterborough, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dunk at Crow Bay. Mrs. Hales caught three large bass on a recent fishing trip.

Dr. Herbert Beatty spent the holiday with his parents in Toronto.

Dr. Lillian Young, accompanied by her mother, and Miss Stella Kerr, motored to Norwood on the holiday, to visit Mrs. James Calder, and her daughter, Miss Christina.

Bailieboro Defeated Peterboro Whistlers

BAILIEBORO, July 3.—The Peterboro Whistlers ventured to Bailieboro on Tuesday and played a game of ball with the Bailieboro juniors. The Whistlers were leading 10 to 3 at the end of the fourth inning but the Bailieboro boys came back strong in the fifth inning with nine runs, putting them two in front of the Peterboro gang. Both teams battled on with one team taking the lead and then the other and when the nine innings was up the score stood 23 to 29 in favor of Bailieboro. It was a ragged game of ball and neither pitcher could do anything to check the other team from scoring. The teams lined up as follows: Bailieboro, R. Johnstn, P. H. Barnard, C. A. Deyell, 1b H. Dean, 2b; W. Johnston 3b; D. Long ss; C. Barnard rf; D. Huchison lf; A. Dawson cf.

Whistlers—Graham p; Baker, c; Jennings 1b; Maclean 2b; Neville 3b; Cuthbertson ss; Beavis rf; MacDonald lf; Sage cf.

Score by innings:

Bailieboro .... 3 0 0 0 9 1 2 8 x—23

Whistlers ..... 0 1 0 9 5 2 2 0 1—20

Umpires —K. Lang at the plate and P. Barnard on the bases.

NEWS OF BURNBRAE

Farewell Message of Rev. J. J. Black—Social News.

BURNBRAE, July 3. — A large crowd assembled on Sunday morning to hear the farewell sermon of Rev. J. J. Black, who is leaving for Orillia . Mr. Black gave a forceful and inspiring address, basing his remarks on Matthew 18, 12.

Large numbers of friends were present from outside points, Stirling, Wellman's Corners, and Campbellford.

On Monday evening the members and adherents of St. Andrew's filled the basement of the church to overflowing for a farewell gathering in honour of Rev. and Mrs. Black, who leave for their new home in Orillia on Thursday.

Mr. Hume ably filled the office of chairman, making as the chief point of his remarks the fact that they wished the meeting to be one of rejoicing in spite of the circumstance that their beloved pastor and his wife were about to leave them.

A short programme followed, consisting of inspiring addresses by Rev. Mr. Rannie of Calgary and Rev. Mr. McIntosh of Campbellford, and music and readings by Burnbrae talent.

An interesting feature of the evening was the farewell address to Rev. and Mrs. Black, read by Mr. W. A. Milne, and the presentation of a sum of money by Mr. Murray.

Mr. Black, in a few remarks, thanked the congregation for their generosity and faithfulness throughout his six years among them.

At the close of the meeting the ladies served ice-cream and other refreshments, which were enjoyed by all.

Burnbrae Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Meiklejohn and Miss Gladys of Campbellford, former members of Burnbrae congregation, were present on Sunday.

Mr. T. Chaplin of Hastings was a Sunday visitor at Burnbrae.

Mr. Robert Matthews has been seriously ill during the past week, but is improving.

On Thursday evening of last week the patrons of the Brae Cheese Company met at the home of the president, Mr. Tothen, and presented their cheesemaker, Mr. Cecil McLean and his bride formerly Miss Barnum, with a library table, in honour of their recent marriage.

The Burnbrae baseball team held a snappy workout at Menie on Tuesday evening in preparation for the game with Petherick's nine at Ryl-stone lawn social on 8th July.

RICE LAKE FISHING

Bailieboro Reports a Large Flock of Fishermen Over the Holiday.

BAILIEBORO, July 3.—The holiday brought a number of people to the lake to enjoy a day's fishing as well as a good outing. Many came on Saturday night and put up tents and stayed over the holiday.

The fishing was remarkably good on both Monday and Tuesday and many fine maskinonge and bass as well as numerous pickeral were landed much to the delight of the fishermen. Rice Lake is fast becoming a very popular fishing ground for tourists, and at nearly all times the fishing is excellent.

Lodge Paraded

The local Loyal Orange Lodge attended the evening service at the Methodist church on Sunday last. Rev. R. M. Patterson preached a most impressive sermon to the visiting brethren and Miss Harston helped out wonderfully with the music for the service. Quite a number of the members were present from the Fraserville, Carmel and Millbrook lodges.

Personal Mention

Mr. Archie Cole has returned home after a lingering illness during which time he was confined to Nicholls Hospital.

Mr. and Mr. Craft and their two daughters Elinor and Mary of Buffalo are holidaying at Rice Lake.

Miss Kathleen Dawson, graduate nurse of Nicholls Hospital intends to resume duty in that hospital.

Mr and Mrs. Stillaway and daughter, Pearl, of Toronto, accompanied by Mr. Corn and son Clair, returned to the city after two weeks spent at Rice Lake.

Dr. and Mrs. M. Mason, Mrs. S. Jewison and Mrs. Chas. Jewison and little son Jack, motored down from Toronto and spent the holiday with friends at Bailieboro.

Mr. James McClung and daughter Maude of Midland and formerly of Bailieboro spent a few days with friends at Bailieboro.

Miss Harstone of Woodville is the guest of Miss May Dawson.

Mr. William Ried of Toronto is the guest of Mrs. George Eagleson.

WEDDING BELLS

GILSON—SQUIRE

The marriage of Lucy Gertrude Squire, youngest daughter of the late J. L. and Mrs. Squire of Norwood, and Lieut.-Col. William Forbes Gilson, D.S.O., Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, formerly of 7th Battalion (First British Columbia Regiment), C.E.F., eldest son of the late General R. A. Gilson (Indian army) and Mrs. Gilson of Folkestone, England, was solemnized recently in All Saints' Church, Ottawa, by the rector, Rev. C. G. Hepburn. Until recently Mrs. Gilson was serving as a nursing sister in the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps at St. John's, Quebec.

HASTINGS TANNING COMPANY OUTING

Employees Had a Big Day With Lots of Sport.

HASTINGS, July 3. — The first annual picnic of the employees of the Hastings Tanning Company was a huge success. The weather was all that could be desired, except for an occasional shower in the evening, which came too late to interfere with any of the sports. Conveyances were provided by those having cars for several of the picnickers, who, some of them, left Hastings at nine o'clock in the morning.

An interesting baseball game was played before lunch, when two teams were chosen. The first game was won by Louis Scriver's team: Bruce Clapper, Nel. Scriver, A. L. Scriver, Neil Scriver, Charlie Dodd, Kathleen Clapper, Y. Sharpe, Mrs. Bond, and Mrs. L. B. Scriver.

L. Doonan's team was: Fred Dodd, Ada Bonds, Myrtle, Helen and Jean Dodd, Mrs. Little, Rol. Jones, Mrs. Doonan, and Clifford Scriver.

The score was 15 to 3 in favour of the former team. In the afternoon at 1.30 another game was called, this perhaps being the most exciting of the two. One play worthy of mention was when a base runner was going from second to third, the baseman happened to fall on the runner, the former a heavyweight and the latter a midget.

The game was played with a soft ball, and many times the ball seemed too large for the players' hands. A great many hits and errors were counted by the referee, and real good sport was taken out of the game, both by the players and spectators. The score was 14 to 12 in favour of Louis Scriver's team, who played the following: G. Herrington, A. Dodd, Mrs. F. Scriver, Mrs. E. Tate, Pat Dodd, Malcom Baker, Joyce Richardson, and Mrs. L. B. Scriver.

Mr. Alex. Shand acted as referee.

Mr. Neil Scriver, with the Scottish bagpipes, and Fred Scriver with the drums, played several selections during the day.

Lots of sport was taken out of the races—

Boys race, under 13 years—Everett Whitred, flashlight; Clifford Scriver, knife.

Girls 'race, under 13 years—Audrey Doonan, pair of shoes.

Men's race, open—G. Herrington, pair shoes; Fred Scriver, tire tube.

Married ladies' race—Mrs. Fred Scriver, water set.

Boys' race, under 10 years—Gerard Scriver, knife.

Girls' race, under 10 years — Madeline Bonds, two rubber balls; Georgina Beavis, rubber ball.

Sack race—Gerard Scriver, fishing rod.

Single ladies' race—Marian Clapper, pickle jar.

Fat man's race—J. Knight, razor; Al. Scriver, knife.

Men's open race—G. Herrington, first; I. Doonan, second.

Putting the shot—James Knight, first prize, distance 30 feet.

A tug-of-war was next arranged between the men of the finishing department and the men in the yard. The tug was uphill ,the finishing department winning the first tug down hill, then the yard men won the down hill. Another tug was arranged on the level and the men of the finishing department were the winners. The prize for this was a box of cigars.

This completing the sports, Mr. K. C. Briethrupt of Kitchener presented the winners with the prizes.

MILLBROOK WEDDING.

Miss Anna Russell Becomes the Bride of William Kennedy.

MILLBROOK, July 3. — A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride'smother, Mrs. H. Russell, 7th Line, Cavan, on Tuesday afternoon, when her eldest daughter, Anna Betty, became the bride of Mr. William Whitfield Kennedy, also of Cavan.

The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. G. S. Gervan, assisted by the bride's uncle, Rev. Edgar Russell, took place on the lawn, the bridal couple standing under an arch of flowers with a dainty wedding-bell, swaying gently in the breeze, suspended overhead. Messrs. Ronald Deyell, of Peterboro, and Max Russell, B.A., of London, held the white streamers which connected the arch with the verandah, making an aisle through which the wedding party passed to their places under the flower-laden bell.

The bride, looking very lovely in her wedding gown of white satin, with veil and orange blossoms, and carrying a beautiful shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley, was given away by her uncle, Rev. J. Russell, of London. The "Bridal Chorus," from Lohengrin, was played by Miss Ella Elson, an intimate friend of the bride, who looked charming in apple green silk, with large black lace hat. Miss Betty Lee, of Thorold, was maid-of-honor, and wore a Paris gown of green and gold silk crepe, and the bridesmaids were Miss Alberta Russell, the bride's sister, who was becomingly gowned in mauve and silver shot taffeta, and Miss Annie McConnachie, whose dainty dress of sunset crene added yet another attractive color note to the rainbow of beautiful colors which was personified by the entire wedding party. Large white picture hats, bouquets of Ophelia roses, completed the costumes of the maid-of-honor and the bridesmaids. Mr. Russell Beatty, of Port Hope, was groomsman.

Mrs. (Rev.) G. S. Gervan sang "O, Promise Me," during the signing of the register. A reception was held following the ceremony, the bridal couple, with their respective mothers, Mrs. H. Russell and Mrs. A. Kennedy, receiving in the hall, which was decorated with roses and peonies. The same floral scheme was carried out in the drawing-room and dining-room. Miss Elson played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" during the reception.

The bride wore the groom's gift, a rope of beautifully matched pearls, and the groom's gift to the maid-of-honor was a bar pin set with diamonds; to the first bridesmaid, Miss Russell, a black onyx pin also set with diamonds; to Miss McConnachie, a pair of handsome dron earrings; to Miss Elson, a rope of carved ivory; to Mrs. Gervan, a gold bar pin, and to the groomsman an onyx tie pin set with pearls. The bride's gift to the groom was a diamond stick pin with cuff links to match.

Six of the bride's girl friends, including Misses I. Kindy, of Toronto, Esther Deyell, Olive Elson, May Earle, Marguerite Russell, and Connie McConnachie, assisted in serving the wedding breakfast for which a caterer had been engaged.

About fifty guests were present, including a number from London, Toronto, Oshawa, Omemee, Orono, Peterboro and Port Hope. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left by C. P. R. from the Pontypool station, the bride travelling in a becoming dress of French grey crepe, trimmed with blue, French blue velours, cape grey and blue hat, with grey shoes and stockings to match. They will spend their honeymoon at Pittsburg, O., and other points, and expect to be absent about two weeks. Upon their return they will reside in Cavan.

The gifts were numerous and costly, and included a solid silver tea service, with tray to match, solid walnut tea-cart, Dresden china tea set, a variety of pieces in cut glass, solid walnut candlesticks, carved book-ends, a combined dinner and tea set in fine china, a wicker chair and fern stand to match, with many other beautiful and useful articles.

THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1924.

DOMINION DAY'S LESSON.

Force was added to the Examiner's contention that a community celebration on large lines is needed in Peterborough by the deserted appearance of the city on Dominion Day.

While Lindsay and Port Hope held demonstrations that attracted thousands of visitors, among whom were many hundreds from the banks of the Otonabee, Peterborough presented a forlorn appearance.

The exodus was so general that it seemed as if almost everybody was out of town.

Once in a while at least Peterborough should be able to arrange a celebration that will not only keep her own citizens at home but attract visitors from outside.

It might be tried if only for the novelty of the thing.

Belleville's recent celebration showed just what can be accomplished.

The receipts totalled over $17,000, and the committee was able to pay back the grant made by the City Council and turn over a neat surplus to the Parks Commission to assist in developing Belleville's park system.

Evidently such affairs are not as obsolete as some faint-hearted Peterborough citizens seem to imagine.

When Belleville and Lindsay and Port Hope can stage big events and draw thousands from the surrounding district, what is there to prevent this city from duplicating the success scored by the smaller communities?

THE NEW ARENA.

The announcement that Peterborough is to have an artificial ice arena, built on most modern lines and with an ice surface as large as in the other centres where similar arenas have been erected, will be received with enthusiasm.

The building of a modern arena will fill a long-felt community want.

Peterborough hockeyists and skaters have been handicapped by the absence of such a plant, the vagaries of the weather deciding whether or not practice could be held and important games played.

It is certain that if artificial ice had been available here last winter that the Ontario intermediate championship cup would be spending the summer here, for absence of suitable ice necessitated the final "home" game being shifted to Toronto.

The arena planned for Peterborough, the Examiner understands, is to have accommodation for 4,000 spectators and an ice surface of 180 by 80 feet.

Its erection will put this city where it belongs in the list of progressive centres that have recognized that winter sports play a big part in the life of the community and must be given a better chance than can be afforded by depending upon a steady supply of cold weather.

The civic pride of the citizens of Peterborough will cause the coming of a modern hockey plant to be hailed with general delight.

The city needs such an institution, and will regard it as a valuable community asset.

ELIMINATE THE STRIKE WEAPON.

The more is heard about the terms under which the striking Toronto postal workers returned to their posts the more apparent becomes the folly of the strike and the stubbornness of the Toronto workers in remaining out so long.

The misleading stories in the Queen City newspapers made it appear as if the strikers had gained some material concessions, but the explanation of Hon. Mr. Murdock in the House has exploded this idea.

The employees who left their posts and tied up the mail service of the Provincial capital for days gained nothing that they could not have obtained had they followed the same decision of the postal workers in Peterborough and many other centres who returned to their work two weeks ago.

The Toronto staff chose to ignore the ultimatum of the Government, and have much less claim to consideration than the majority of postal employees who refused to be stampeded.

The whole situation abundantly justifies the Examiner's contention that there should be a non-strike clause in the employment contract of all public utility workers.

The rights of the people cannot be interfered with by any body of men who think they are superior to the power of the representatives of the people.

Conditions for all Government employees should be fair and reasonable, and there should be some means of arbitrating grievances without a tie-up in any essential service.

Employees who are not satisfied with such a safeguard should be invited to try some other field of employment.

The public is no longer satisfied to have the strike weapon always dangling overhead, ready to fall any time a few Government employees fancy they have a grievance.

THE UNITED STATES METHOD.

The United States political system is always a mystery to Canadians, and watching the proceedings of the Democratic convention in New York City the average man on this side of the line is at a loss to understand how his cousins, who pride themselves on their business acumen and rapid-fire methods, can undertake the serious business of nominating a presidential candidate in such a fashion.

Canada's methods may be old-fashioned, but deliver us from a system that calls for such horse-play and noise and nonsense as are apparently considered necessary over the border.

Evidently the convention is run on the principle of determining which side can yell the loudest and longest.

McAdoo was cheered for an hour and the Smith forces therefore found it necessary to "demonstrate" for an hour and fifteen minutes.

Here is how a veteran newspaper man describes the scene:

"They raised the roof, bulged the sides, depressed the floor and shook the rafters of the Garden with every sort of noise from the soprano squeak of some golden-haired tots, especially placed to attract attention, to the bellow of a dozen tubas, the blare of a hundred trumpets and the wild wails of a fire department siren. They marched, sang, shouted, squawked, yelled and went into frenzied fits, fantods and catalepsies. They rang every welkin, woke every echo, clamored, brawled, bawled and ballyhooed. They raised bedlam, raised pandemonium and raised hell."

That method of nominating a candidate for the position of chief executive of a country of 110 million people may be quite orthodox to those accustomed to it, but over here we are inclined to be amazed at making a bear garden out of what should be a most momentuous occasion.

IS A JAPANESE-AMERICAN WAR COMING?

Our American neighbors would not be ill-advised if they took thoughtful note of the fact that everybody has begun to talk about a coming Japanese-American war, says the Montreal Star. Talked-about wars are apt to arrive. The latest "talk" on the subject comes from Paris—the world's whispering gallery—where they think they know all about the recent rapprochement between Japan and Russia. Japan apparently is arranging to get Russian oil and coal for the conflict; and even Russian Communists are thinking of helping the Japanese to smash "American Imperialism."

Our neighbors will not take it seriously until a Japanese fleet attacks Manila. That is the way of Anglo-Saxons everywhere. We go around annoying people, but are genuinely surprised when one of them strikes back. Still there are thoughtful folk across the border who take an intelligent interest in foreign politics; and they will be disquieted by the constant rumor coming from all directions of trouble in the Pacific. They will know—what American politicians either do not know or care nothing about—that the recent slap in the face they gave Japan was a "fighting gesture," that the succession of Japanese suicides over the event is most alarming, that the negotiations with Russia and the new friendly attitude toward China is even more alarming, and that the great American nation had better prepare either to salve the wounded feelings of Japan—which would be the proper, self-respecting and common-sense course—or to fight.

BUSINESS IS GOOD AND GETTING BETTER.

What do we mean—"Business is good?"

We mean it is not bad . . . we mean that there is plenty of business in Canada today for every he-man who goes out and looks for it.

We mean that more faith and entnusiasm in this wonderful, glorious country of opportunity could be used to advantage and less attention paid to the human parrot who hears a thing once and repeats it until he hears something new.

M. E. Thornton, Superintendent of Colonization of C. P. R., after making a journey across the border, said: "Optimism should be the keynote in Western Canada, if you can judge by comparison with the country lying to the south of us. After an extended trip down the Pacific Coast as far as Los Angeles, I am firmly convinced that Canada is on top of the world, sitting in a better position for the rapid return of prosperity than any other country."

The state of business in general is more or less of a mental impression anyhow.

The man who goes out to get business and allows thoughts of failure to obtrude even before his trip begins, is foredoomed to failure. He has not a chance, no matter how good business is—we all know that—the trouble is we forget so easily.

Just to prove that mental impressions play their part (providing you doubt our statement that business is good), when you go hom tonight—get comfortably seated—open up your newspaper—read all the optimistic business reports you see; if you begin to read an adverse report, throw it overboard immediately and search for something brighter. By the time you have read that paper you will agree with us —"Business is good."

Take the following items gleaned from the current press, for instance:

"Toronto.—'Canada is becoming more and more interesting to Englishmen, and before long additional English capital will be used for the development of Canadian industry,' said Sir John Aird, President of the Bank of Commerce.

"Hon. Charles McCrea, Ontario Minister of Mines, also stated that his mission to interest English capital in mining development in Ontario had been successful."

"Canadian Ford dealers' sales in May were 8,806, as against 8,446 in the corresponding period of 1923. A decided increase."

"A total of 4,653 applicants registered for work at the Provincial Government employment offices during the five weeks ending May 31st. No less than 4,954 employers' orders were received, and in all 4,633 applicants were placed."

"The value of boots and shoes exported by Canada during the year ended March, 1924, more than doubled the value exported during the preceding year."

"During the fiscal year ended March 31st, 1924, Canada exported goods to the value of $1,045,141,056, an increase of about $110,000,000 over the preceding year.

"Total trade increased by about $210,000,000, compared with the corresponding period a year ago."

These are a few of the reasons why we say—"Business is good and getting better."

BE OPTIMISTIC!—Ford News.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It looks as if the Democratic convention will yet have to adopt Andy Gump as a compromise candidate.

People who were complaining about the high wind Sunday ought to have been thanking their stars they were not down in Ohio when the tornado swept through.

A horse named Hallucination won a race at Hamilton. A lot of people have bet on hallucinations without cashing in.

A THOUGHT

A PANACEA

Marriage should be looked upon as a bond of service quite as much as a scheme of love.

The self-centered, looking only for personal gratification and individual gain, will neither enjoy happiness nor bestow happiness.

Marraige that is not founded on true affection and respect forms shackles that scar so deeply the heart and the mind that the trace of the scars may never be obliterated.

Easy-divorce is no remedy for mistakes in matrimony. It is a panacea.

The kindest and the happiest pair
Will find occasion to forebear
And something, ev'ry day they live,
To pity, and perhaps forgive.

Did you ever realize what a lot of fun you lose by waiting for a big party instead of seeing the humorous side of daily difficulties.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, July 3.—At the Union Stock Yards yesterday morning, with receipts for the two days amounting to approximately around 1,000 head of cattle 945 calves, 691 sheep and lambs, and around 2,100 hogs, trade was for the most part inclined to firmness.

Real nice handy butcher cattle with the light receipts, met with a strong demand and sold higher. Strong half fat steers are hard to sell, and in the opinion of the market ought to have been left on grass for the next two months. There is little or no demand for this class, and their shipment to the yards entails a loss on shipper and the public in general. Good cows held steady and sold from 1½ to 5¼ cents per pound.

All classes of bulls were slow, bolognas selling from 2¾ to 3½, the latter the extreme top price. Lambs, of which there were approximately 700 on sale, were selling at slightly lower prices, ranging from 15c to 17c a lb. The demand was fairly keen for this class and they were well cleaned up, especially the better quality ones. The calf trade was slow, prices ranging all the way from 4½c to 10c a wide range, but justified by the big difference in the quality of the offerings. In the hog trade the packers for the big plants were trying hard to clip off a quarter but so far they have not succeeded very well in their efforts. Taken on the whole the market, following the national holiday and the semi-quiet feeling, held up pretty well.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, July 3 (Canadian Press). — There was no improvement in the demand for cash oats in the domestic market here yesterday. The local market for spring wheat flour displayed considerable strength and prices moved up another 20 cents a barrel on all grades. There was no change in winter wheat flour. The feature of the millfeed trade was the much stronger feeling that developed in the market, and prices for all lines advanced $2.00 per ton. The market for rolled oats was firm. There was no change in the condition of the baled hay section. The local egg situation was unchanged. The trade for potatoes was quiet. The butter market was quiet and prices were steady. The undertone of the cheese market was weaker, and spot prices were reduced.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, July 3 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday:

Demand ... 4.3725
Cables ... 4.3750

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, July 3 (Canadian Press). — Cattle receipts yesterday were 10,000; trade active; clearance good; better grades fed steers and most grade yearlings and beef heifers closing 15c to 25c higher; top matured steers, $11.10; comparatively few grain-fed steers or yearlings under $8.25; several lots qualified grassy kind downward to $6.00 and below; grain fed fat cows selling at $6.00 upward; unevenly higher; grassy kind slow, mostly steady; vealers 25c higher; bulk to packers, $9.00 to $10.00.

Hogs, receipts 36,000; slow, uneven, mostly 10c lower than Tuesday's average; light lights and killing pigs 15c to 25c off; bulk good and choice 250 to 310 pound butchers, $7.10 to $7.25; top $7.25; majority desirable 180 to 225 pound average, $8.00 to $8.50; 140 to 150 pound average largely $6.00 to $6.75; bulk packing sows, $6.10 to $6.40; bulk good and choice strong weights killing pigs, $5.50 to $5.75; estimated holdover, 21,000.

Sheep, receipts 15,000; active, killing lambs strong to 25c higher; mostly 25c higher; sheep and feeding lambs steady; bulk fat native lambs, $13.50 to $14.00; top, $14.00; Westerns, $14.00 to $15.00; choice fed yearlings averaging around 94 pounds, $12.25.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 3 (Canadian Press). — Unfavourable crop conditions in the Canadian North-West had a distinctly bullish effect yesterday on the wheat market here. Largely as a result, Chicago closing prices for wheat were unsettled, 1-8c to 3-4c net higher, September $1.16 3-4 to $1.17, and December $1.19 7-8 to $1.20.

Corn finished at 7-8c net lower to 1c gain; oats 3-4c to 1 1-4c down; and provisions ranging from 2c decline to 7c advance.

Sharp upturns in quotations from Winnipeg and Liverpool were taken here as chiefly reflecting news of hot, dry weather in Canada, where rain was much needed. In this connection, talk was current that the Canadian yield might be greatly reduced as compared with the output last year. Bullish European crop estimates and unusual strength of Argentine markets were also a subject of comment, and so, too, were reports from the Dakotas, indicating the spread of the Hessian fly.

On the other hand, weakness of corn and oats counted at times as a weight on the wheat market.

Improved weather tended to ease down the prices of the more important deliveries of corn, July delivery, however, continued in demand owing to the smallness of receipts.

Oats were depressed by reports that Canadian oats, duty paid, were offered in New England at 5 cents under oats from Chicago.

"O fuck! what a pretty pussy!"

DICTATORSHIP OF MUSSOLINI ENDED

The Whole of Italy Is Weary of Mussolini, the Daily News Said To-day.

LONDON, July 2.—(United Press) — "Italy is weary of Mussolini, whose dictatorship has ended," the special correspondent of the Daily News, who has completed a tour of Italy, stating the situation created by the murder of Deputy Matteotti in cables from Chiasso, Switzerland.

"Fascisism," he declares, "has entered upon its last phase. Apparently Giolitti will be next Premier, although it may take some weeks or months."

The correspondent found the black-shirted Fascisti still truculently disposed to support Mussolini. Arnaldo Mussolini, the Premier's brother, declares the Fascist chief "still dominates the situation."

However, says the Daily News writ, it is reliably reported that on the day after the Matteotti murder, the Premier lost some of his confidence and cried out after the dramatic manner of Italians, blankness is all around me.

The correspondent insists that Mussolini's relinquishment of the Ministry of the Interior marked the end of his unlimited power.

CALEDONIAN CLUB HELD ANNUAL PICNIC

The Scot Spent a Day "Doon the Wat'r and Field Sports.

The Peterborough Caledonian Club held their annual excursion down the river to Rice Lake, thence returning to Wallace's Point, where nearly two hundred people participated in the usual festivities associated with the Scots wherever they go in their national way.

Leaving George street wahrf at 8 o'clock and calling further down the river, the steamer kept travelling until noon and during the journey the company enjoyed the selections on the bagpipes by Pipers Milne and S. Thompson. It was pleasant to hear the party sing many of the favorite folk songs of Auld Scotia, which brought back many happy recollections of the "Auld Hame." The treat of the day was the demonstration of various national dances in "Southern Sea" costume by Mr. James Miller, also his vocal solos added real mirth to his repertoire.

Sports and five-a-side football competitions resulted as follows:

Ladies' balloon race—1st Miss J. Pattison, 2nd Miss I. Robertson.

Boys' race—1st A. Saunders, 2nd A. Dick.

Girls' race—1st M. Dunlop, 2nd M. Bethune, special, Miss Hemphill.

Needle and Thread— 1st Miss Hemphill and A. Jackson, 2nd Mr. and Mrs. T. Craig.

Bun race—1st J. Miller, 2nd A. Williams.

Egg and spoon race—1st T. McArthur, 2nd T. Craig.

Five-a-side football—No. 3 beat No. 8 in the final game.

Before leaving for the home journey, the company enjoyed an eightsome reel to the strains of the pipes, played by Piper Milne, then Mr. R. Gilmour supplied the music for the square dances; also excellent prizes being awarded to the winners of the sport events.

The committee deserve great praise for the amicable manner in which they carried out every arrangement to make the outing a great success.

STONEY LAKE'S BEAUTY CALLS MANY VISITORS

Popular Summer Resort Has Opened What May Be Record Season.

COTTAGES OPEN

Several Pioneers of the Colony Will Be Missed This Year.

STONEY LAKE, July 2. — The prospects of a bumper season at Stoney Lake are extremely good this season and the owners of all the resorts expect full houses. Burleigh Falls has changed hands this year, having been purchased by Mr. Pappas of Peterboro. Cottages are opening up but until after Dominion Day most of them will remain as sleeping beauties till the arrival of the owners wake them to new life, when flage will wave on flag poles and hammocks will swing under the trees or on the verandahs and comfy porch chairs appear and the docks have their complement of boats. One or two piers are minus their board covering this season having been denuded of the same by the force of the ice jam in the spring. On the whole things have wintered well and the stage is set for a very delightful and prosperous summer season.

Cottages Built Lately

Only a few years ago there were no cottages to be seen on Lake Katchewanoonka, (the lake of many rapids) which lies between Young's Point and Lakefield, but times have changed and no longer can this pituresque lake claim lack of patronage as a summer resort. There are now more than a dozen summer cottages and this year a suitable hotel or boarding house has been erected at McDougal's Point just above Henderson's narrows by Mr. H. Northey of Smith, who has erected several cottages on the shore. It is a picturesque spoit and no doubt in a few more years Lake Katchewanoonka will rival the upper lakes in popularity. It is the fishing ground of many of the famous anglers of Lakefield and the vicinity and many a large lunge has been caught in its waters.

A fence has been erected at Sandy Point cutting off the Point proper. This is in reality private property but for years it was customary to treat it as a public play ground and too often the free use made of the property savored of abuse rather than use, so permission must be obtained to either picnic or camp there.

Viamede Growing

There has been an addition built to the dancing pavilion at "Viamede," which more than doubles the accommodation. A hardwood flour has been laid and it is proposed to hold by-weekly dances there.

The flag on Ship Island is in sore need or renewing as only a tattered remnant till bravely waves in the stiff breeze which blew over the lake on Saturday and Sunday.

Missed This Year.

Since last season at least three well known summer visitors at the lake have passed away, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Dumble and Sheriff Hall. All of these were well known and highly respected members of the summer colony, having been among the early residents, seeing the place develop from a few shacks and tents to a prosperous summer playground. Each year takes its toll but the summer colony at Stoney Lake is old fashioned enough to keep green the memories of those "loved and lost awhile."

Water Normal.

The water is at present moderately high and this season no record was made by high water as old residents claim that in spite of huge quantities of snow and a wet spring the lake rose little above the average high water mark.

There is very little evidence of new cottages at the lake this year though there is some building, a large pile of lumber between "Headlands" and the Brewin's cottage points to a new summer home. Mr. W. R. Morson built a boat house last season at "Yonoad" and Mr. Pitcairne enlarged his cottage at Crown Point.

A new cottage is being erected just below Sandy Point, the frame work is visible through the trees.

On several of the rather low lying islands one sees the rather amusing spectacle of the family stove wood being piled on the front verandah to protect it from the ravages of high water. This has been found necessary in many cases as too often the woodpile floats away in the spring and cottagers arise to find their fuel supply minus quantity.

The steamers are now running on summer schedule, which this year provides (with the early morning boat connecting with the early train) better service than ever before. The new service does away with the tedious wait in Peterboro, so often complained of by tourists.

Personals.

Mrs. Gordon Smith, of Brantford, has opened "Shota" for the season.

Mrs. Robert Neill, of Peterboro, is at her island on Lower Stoney Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hunter, of Lakefield, have opened their cottage near Mount Julian.

Dr. Leeming's cottage is open for the season. Dr. Leeming arrives early and stays till quite the end of the season.

Mr. J. D. Collins, of Peterboro, one of the real pioneers of Stoney Lake, has opened "Catamaran" for the season. Mr. Collins boasts of more than sixty summers spent at the lake, so doubtless he holds the record as a pioneer.

Most of the cottages at Kawartha Park are open, and already the place presents a busy scene.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Lowe, of Cleveland, have opened "Glenwood" and have already had several fishing parties registered.

Mrs Myers and family, of Toronto, are occupying the cottage which they purchased last season from Mr. McKinney.

Gordon Hill Grahame is at "Twilight," his picturesque summer home on Lower Stoney Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Peardon and family, of Toronto, are at Kawartha Park for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Glover, of Peterboro, have opened their cottage at Kawartha Park for the season.

Mrs. Russell, of Toronto, is spending a few days at the Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Walter and Miss Walter, of Montreal, are at "Pompadour Island" for the season.

Dr. and Mrs. Perry Goldsmith, of Toronto, have opened "Forest Home."

Dudley Jessop, of Chicago, is at Big Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams and family, of Peterboro, and Miss Galvin have opened their cottage at Kawartha Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitcairn and family, of Pittsburgh, have opened their cottage at Crown Point, Eagle Mount.

Douglas Hall, of Peterboro, is at Boschink.

Prof. and Mrs. J. R. Dodworth and family, of Pittsburgh, have opened their summer home at Boschink.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Campbell, of Toronto, have returned to Toronto after spending a holiday at "Glenwood."

Mr. and Mrs. George Brethen, of Norwood, have opened 'The Birches' at Crowe's Landing for the season.

Miss Lina McCabe, of Sewickley, Pa., and Mrs. Thos. L. Button, of Louisville, Kentucky, are guests at "The Victoria," McCracken's Landing.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison, of Toronto, are at "Storeleigh," their pretty cottage at Boschink.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Ackerman, of Norwood, are at their cottage for the season. In fact Mr. and Mrs. Ackerman are among the early visitors each year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. MacAllister Lyon have opened their cottage on Grassy Island for the summer.

Mrs. W. F. Johnston and Mr. Fred Dumble, of Peterboro, are at the latter's cottage in Gilchrist's Bay.

Henry Ruck, of Cleveland, has opened "Cleveland" for the season.

Mr. Jas. Acton, of Toronto, has opened his cottage.

Mrs. Russell Wood, of Peterboro, is at her cottage near Burleigh.

"Burnham Lodge," at Crowe's Landing, stands open again. This cottage is one of the "early to open, late to close" sort, and standing as it does on a promontory commanding a good view of both the upper and lower lake, its lights are a beacon to guide the navigator.

Mr. G. G. Hendren, of Lakefield, and sons, Ralph and Donald, are at "Rockridge," which they have opened for the summer. Mrs. Hendren and Misses Ivah and Mary will follow this week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Hamilton, of Kansas City, Miss., have opened their cottage for the summer.

The Guillets of Cobourg have opened their cottage, "Westaway," on Horse Shoe Island.

Mr. and Mrs. George McLeod and family, of Toronto, are at their cottage, "Minnewawa."

Mr. William Yelland's cottage at Hurricane Point is opened for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McBain, of Peterboro, are spending a few days at "Bona Vista."

Prof. Woodcock, of Toronto, has opened "Kiluna" for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Brownscombe, of Peterboro, have opened their cottage near Burleigh for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenny, of Peterboro, and a party of friends, have taken Mrs. Carey's cottage on Eagle Mount for a couple of weeks.

Messrs. Wm. and Clifford Harstone, of Toronto, arrived on Saturday to open "Raybourne" for the summer.

Mr. William Irwin's cottage at "Headlands" is open.

Mr. and Mrs. Willoughby and family, of Baltimore, Md., are at "Fairy Lake Villa" for the season.

Mr. Wilson, of Peterboro, is at "Catalina" Island.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Charlton and family have opened their cottage at Kawartha Park for the season.

George Street Choir Motored to Cobourg

The annual picnic of the George street Methodist church choir was held yesterday, July 1st. A large party left the church at 9.30 a.m., in cars, which were very kindly supplied by members of the congregation, and motored to Cobourg.

The choir members with their friends, 82 in number, sat down to dinner at the Hotel British, Cobourg, and did justice to the excellent meal served. The afternoon was spent in baseball and other sports, and about 4:30 the party left for Wallace's Point.

Supper was served picnic fashion to about 90 people, at the Point, and was prepared by the ladies of the party.

The evening was spent in baseball and races until it grew quite dark, and the picnic had to break up.

Everyone voted it the best picnic yet and the choir members are very grateful to the members of the Board who made it possible for them to have this splendid outing.

Sir Edmund Walker Leaves Large Will

TORONTO, July 2 (Canadian Press). — The will of the late Sir Edmund Walker, who died on 27th March, divides the estate of $1,105,107 equally among his four sons and three daughters.

There are also certain stores and furnishings of the residence, including pictures not yet valued.

The will is dated 19th October, 1912, and imposes no stipulations as to the use to be made of the estate.

"One reason for making my will as above," the will explains, "is my dislike of the exposure in the public press of the private concerns of individuals and their families."

Art Johnston's Horses Victorious at Napanee

In the Dominion Day races at Napanee yesterday, several local and district horses were entered in the various events. S. Watson, Cobourg, entered Spring Day, also Lillian Patch, the latter taking second place in three heats of the 2.30 class, in which Cy Winger, owned by W. Elmhirst, of Indian River, came first in all three heats.

In the free-for-all, Amardale, owned by A. M Johnston, of Peterborough, took first place straight through.

In the harness races at Newmarket, two Lindsay horses, C. Macdonalds Irene Hal and W. Fenning's Rena Hal, made good showings, the latter winning the $300 purse for the 2.50 pace or trot.

FINAL SERMON AT MILLBROOK

Rev. S. T. Tucker Preached Inspiring Message in Methodist Church.

CHRISTIAN MINISTRY

MILLBROOK, July 2. — "If you would preach sermons, have an important and definite object in your discourse. To gain your object, have a subject equally definite and important."

These axioms were well illustrated in the farewell sermon preached by Rev. S. T. Tucker, B.A., B.D., to a large congregation in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening. The object kept clearly in view was to show the value of the itinerant system, and the subject was: "John Wesley's Conception of the Christian Ministry and Its Relation to the Christian Church." The text was chosen from Romans 10, 15: "How shall they preach except they be sent?"

Three points received special emphasis (1) The minister is divinely called; (2) He is an ambassador of God; (3) He is the spiritual leader of his people.

John Wesley recognised three functions as being fundamental to the ministry—the priestly, which includes the bestowal of the ministrations of God to those in need, such as counsel in things spiritual, comfort in times of distress whether of mind or spirit, pastoral visitation, and the administration of the Sacraments. The prophetic element finds expression in the interpretation of the revelation of God in terms suited to our own times, the preaching of the Word being a foremost obligation of the ministry. As a teacher the minister has a duty to perform, his office implying his leadership in the religious education of his flock.

The logical conclusion is that the only way in which the ministry can efficiently carry out its Divine mission is by means of the itinerant system, incorporated since Wesley's time in the policy of the Methodist Church. This system requires that a man be willing to go where he is sent, but because he is ordained to the whole Church, he goes with the authority of the Church behind him, and the conference must make up his salary should the congregation refuse to do so. One of the principles is: "Every man must have a place, and every place a man."

A new factor has crept in within the last twenty-five years, and that is the invitation system, but the fact is fundamental that a Christian minister is "sent," not hired. Laymen sometimes say, "If we pay a man, we surely should choose the one we want." On that basis where is there any room for conviction of sin through an evangelistic ministry? For such is not popular, and the true spiritual life cannot be developed if a minister is looked upon as "hired" instead of being Divinely called as the ambassador of Christ to the community. The door of the proposed United Church is open for such a regime. This is the rich contribution which Methodism is making when the union becomes a reality.

There are injustices done, and unpleasant experiences thrust upon the newcomer to a charge, when the distinction is made between being "called to be a minister" and "called to be a pastor," but the Christian minister is here to serve Christ, the Church, and the community, not his own self interest.

Because of Mr. Tucker's farewell on Sunday evening, Grace Presbyterian Church withdrew its service, and the pastor, Rev. G. S. Gervan, as well as Rev. H. Arthur Barton, of Ottawa, took some part in the religious worship with the Methodist congregation.

The special music included a solo, "O Holy Saviour," by Mrs. G. W. Sayles, an anthem, "God's Beautiful Out of Doors," and a quartette, "Lead Me Gently Home, Father," by Miss Ethel Richardson, Mrs. F. P. Johnston, Messrs. G. A. Duncan and W. H. Coombe.

Before closing the service, Mr. Tucker expressed the regret which he and his family felt in leaving the Millbrook charge, and made special reference to the many warm friendships formed during their five-year stay, as well as their gratitude for the many kindnesses received from the entire circuit and community. The same hearty co-operation was asked for his successor, and the earnest prayers and interest of the people for their new pastor, who is coming a complete stranger to the charge, was kindly and urgently requested.

NOTICE WOULD HURT DEPOSITS

Nothing Gained in Announcing Government Not Liable to Bank Patrons.

EFFECTS ON BORDER.

OTTAWA, July 3. — "If you do that," said Hon. J. A. Robb, acting Minister of Finance, "a lot of people along the border of the United States will go across the line and deposit their money, and it will not be any safer there than here."

He was speaking of a proposal made by G. G. Coote, Progressive, Macleod, in the Banking Committee of the House of Commons this morning, that in each branch of a chartered bank should be placed a notice that the government assumed no responsibility for deposits.

The resolution was defeated by 29 to 8.

Mr. Coote then proposed to require each branch of a bank to post up monthly notice of local deposits and local loans.

"The people should know where their money is being loaned," he said.

J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Centre Winnipeg, opposed the resolution.

"It would be misleading," he said, "to make the branch unit."

The proposal was defeated by a large majority.

AUSTRALIAN BOYS TO VISIT CANADA

The Visit is a Return of That Made by the 101st Canadian Cadet Corps in 1912.

MONTREAL, July 3 (Canadian Press). — Fifty boys, ranging in age from 14 to 18 years, members of the Young Australian League will make a tour of Canada in August of this year.

The visit is a return of that made by the 101st Canadian Cadet Corps to West Australia in 1912.

The boys will arrive at Quebec on 23rd August, and will spend a full month in Canada, visiting such points as Montreal, Ottawa, Niagara Falls, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Jasper Park Lodge, and Vancouver.

They will also be the guests of the directors of the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto.

Their rail journey across Canada will be made in two special cars over the Canadian National Railways, and their itinerary will be so arranged that they will spend not less than twelve hours at any one point.

The boys are at present in Great Britain. They have been received by the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace, and have been the guests of honour at the British Empire Exhibition.

They have received more invitations than they could possibly accept, and in all the large centres they have been liberally entertained by the Rotary Clubs, public schools, and various civic bodies.

It is understood that the Federal and Provincial Governments of Canada are making arrangements to see that the boys carry back to Australia the most favourable impressions of Canada.

Army of Worms Are Crossing Illinois

BELVIDERE, Ill., July 3.—Army worms in almost a solid front, are marching across Northern Illinois, eating up crops as they go. Armed with torches, plows, spades, post hole diggers, poison bait, farmers worked from sunup to sundown yesterday in all parts of Dupage, Kane and McHenry and Boone counties, trying to save their crops from this pest. On a tour that took this correspondent across these four counties, farmers by scores have been found with practically all of their crops completely destroyed, while others made their attacks on the invaders in time to prevent severe losses.

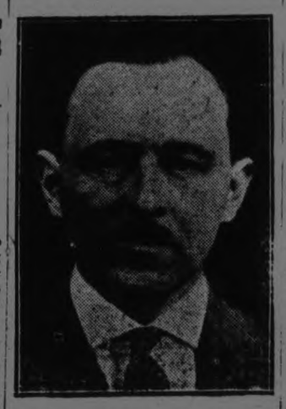
Baby Fell From High Chair and Broke Neck

COBALT, July 3. — (Canadian Press).—One tragedy marred a period of the old timers' re-union here Tuesday afternoon when Ambrose Gordon Murphy, the year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambros Murphy, fell from his high chair in the kitchen at their home and broke his neck. The child climbed over the chair in which he had been placed while the other members of the family prepared to go out.

Has Your Husband Got Indigestion?

Nothing creates domestic discord quicker than an attack of indigestion, and nothing gets rid of indigestion quicker than Bisurated Magnesia. No man can be sweet tempered (good natured or even fair minded when his stomach is constantly sick, sour, gassy, and upset with after-eating distress. If your husband has stomach trouble neither scold nor pity him, but help him by seeing that he has a supply of Bisurated Magnesia (either powder or tablets) constantly at hand. A teaspoonful of powder or two tablets taken in a little water after meals will instantly neutralize the acids in his stomach that are causing his trouble and he can enjoy his meals with no fear of indigestion. Bisurated Magnesia is the special form of Magnesia used by thousands to neutralize stomach acidity and quickly overcome Indigestion.—do not confuse with Milk, Carbonate, Block or Citrate of Magnesia. Insist on Bisurated. Its action is safe, prompt and sure and it can be obtained at small cost from any reliable drug store.

ELECTED PRESIDENT TORONTO BOND EXCHANGE



FRED G JOHNSTON, formerly Vice-President of G. A. Stimson & Co., who has recently accepted the appointment as President and General Manager of the TORONTO BOND EXCHANGE.

Mr. Johnston entered the bond and banking business over sixteen years ago and has specialized in Government, Municipal, and Canadian National Railway Bonds. He is a son of the late Judge Johnston, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, and received his education at Trinity College, Port Hope, and Upper Canada College, Toronto.

BICYCLE RECOVERED

Police Sergeant's Velocipede Found in North Monaghan Township.

The bicycle reported to have been stolen from the verandah of Sergeant Jack Deanneard last Monday night has been recovered.

Mr. Herbert Foster, a North Monaghan farmer, found the stolen bicycle lying at the edge of the gravel road bordering his farm, about six miles from the city.

No direct clue was left, but the circumstances under which the bicycle was found will probably enable the police to locate the offender.

Second Attempt Against Presbyterian Assembly

OTTAWA, July 3. — (Canadian Press). — Alfred Stork, Liberal, of Skeene, proposes to make another attempt to have the Supreme Court of Canada decide whether the Presbyterian General Assembly had authority to agree to Church Union. Mr. Stork submitted the same amendment when the bill was being considered in the Committee of the Whole, but it was ruled out of ground of insufficient notice.

Mr. Stork intends to move his amendment again when the bill comes up for a third reading tomorrow. The amendment provides for reference to the Supreme Court by the Minister of Justice, and had the support of the Prime Minister when previously discussed.

Lack of Understanding Caused Recent Demand

LONDON, July 3. — (Canadian Press).—Demands for Federal control of the power development came from the lack of understanding of the problem, Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce of the United States, declared to-day before the World Power Conference.

"The Federal regulation is not a road to the solution of the problem of inter-state movement of power," Mr. Hoover said. "The best solution should be found in co-ordinating regulations between groups and states with, perhaps, voluntary assistance from the Federal Government in securing this co-ordination."

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Courtesy in retail selling is sales insurance.

By LAWRENCE A. ADAMS
Assistant Marketing Specialist, U.S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Competition in retailing is now more a competition in service than in prices or in goods. The store owner who insists upon politeness to customers from all his clerks has a business which will be difficult for any competitor to take away.

The asurance of always receiving prompt and courteous service will attract customers into a store a few other things will. A moment's discourtesy from an employee will neutralize the effects of months of politeness and attention.

PENSION BOARD MAY BE OUSTED

I. W. Humphrey, M.P., Gives Notice of Motion to Remove Present Board.

RECORDS ARE LOST.

OTTAWA, July 3. — I. W. Humphrey, Progressive, West Kootenay, this afternoon, gave notice that he would move that the present Board of Pension Commissioners be removed from office, in view of evidence adduced before the Parliamentary committee on Soldiers' Civil re-establishment.

Documents Incomplete.

Hundreds of deserving veterans are denied pensions because of incomplete military documents, according to Gen. A. E. Ross, M.P., former director of the Canadian Medical services, in a statement to a parliamentary committee on soldier matters to-day. He emphasized that many men stayed on duty or accepted treatment at battalion horse lines, and now suffer disabilities as a result of which there is no record.

SWIMMING TAUGHT AT BOTH BEACHES

Both Officials Competent Instructors—Classes From 3 to 4 p.m.

Many important matters came up for discussion at the meeting of the Railway and Parks committee at the City Hall last night.

Accommodation at the bathing beaches will be improved and Alderman M. E. Turner, who presided at last night's meeting, wishes to announce to the public that the two men in charge of Inverlea and Lake street beaches will teach beginners the art of swimming between 3 and 4 p.m. each afternoon.

"Both officers are competent and I hope many will avail themselves of the opportunity provided by the Parks committee," said Alderman Turner.

Mr. Johnston, accompanied by E. Reid, of the L.O.A., was heard and on request was granted the use of that part of Riverside park between the ball grounds and the bridge, for the week of July 7th, on behalf of the Maple Leaf Carnival, for the sum of $175, payable in advance. This amount will inciude license fees and a stipulation was inserted restraining the carnival from obstructing the footpath from the bridge to the ball park.

The Temple Band offered to provide a concert in Victoria Park on the evening of Sunday, July 13th.

On motion of Alderman Stocker and Phelan the offer was accepted and permission granted.

The chairman was authorized to instal a signal system from each of the bathing beaches to the fire hall, in acordance with a communication from the Bell Telephone Co., offering to instal the system at a cost of $5.00 monthly.

A communication was received from Sir Henry Thornton, saying that the matter of gasoline-electric cars was under consideration.

There were present at last night's meeting: Ald. M. Turner (chairman), Mayor Turner, Ald. Phelan and Stocker.

HOUSEKEEPER WON BACHELOR'S WILL

Elizabeth Moffat of Peterborough, Rewarded by George Lockie For Attending Him.

TORONTO, July 3. — George Lockie, bachelor, was eighty-two years of age when he persuaded Miss Elizabeth Moffatt of Peterborough, to come and be his housekeeper on his farm in the township of North Monaghan, he promised to look after her in his will. When he died at the age of 95 years he had made several wills, each one increasing the amount left to housekeeper. By the last he left her $2,500, a cow, and a residuary interest in the estate. As a matter of fact there is little residue

Miss Moffatt sued executors to recover $2,000 for services rendered in addition to the amount bequeathed her. Judge Huycke of Peterborough allowed her $900.

Mr. Justice Lennox has dismissed the executor's appeal, declaring that if the testator had bequeathed his housekeeper all he possessed she would not be over compensated for services rendered during the last 14 years of the testator's life.

Canadian Stock Exchange and Mines | New York Stock Exchange and Curb Prices

TO-DAY'S QUOTATIONS AND OPINION AND REVIEWS OF THE MARKETS.

WHEAT MARKET.

Outlook for high temperatures and dry weather in the Northwest will result in injury and the maintenance in high prices in the wheat market. Alberta reports recent frost has hurt the crops as black rust period nears it tends to produce uneasiness and there is a disposition to buy on all breaks. It was noticed that buying came on all the breaks.

If serious damage comes from the Canadian crop, prices will advance sharply and with encouraging reports from the American west it may result in prices being placed on the export level, therefore forare upto a level where many of the eigners would buy wheat more freely and help prices. Corn prices original bulls have taken profits and are sitting back for the time being. They say they do not wish to be short corn under existing conditions.

MINING MARKET.

The mining market was dull this morning with trading very slack. Inmost transactions the prices were inclined to be off. Lorraine was perhaps the weakest, selling down to 1.35 at the noon close.

The New York market continued in a slight advance this morning. The public are not in the market to any great extent as yet, but participation is becoming more noticeable as the market moves upward. Prices were inclined to shade off a bit at noon on profit taking.

DEMOCRAT DARK HORSES WAITING

McAdoo and Smith May Be Simultaneously Scratched Off Ballot — Convention Nears Record.

DEADLOCK CONTINUES.

MADISON SQUARE GARDENS, New York, July 3. — (Canadian Press).—Eclipsing all records for prolonged balloting save one, the Democratic National Convention was still deadlocked as tightly as ever to-day with no indication of how soon a break would come.

McAdoo had dropped below the 500 mark again, due to the loss of Oklahoma, which jumped to Senator Robinson. The Smith people said they were laying back "letting McAdoo have his run," and the McAdoo people said they were waiting for all the Smith votes to be brought out on the floor before disclosing their strategy further. It looked very much as though both forces were near their top strength.

Meanwhile the managers of the candidates who have been held in reserve as dark horses to break the deadlock were carefully considering the arrival of the moment for them to make their drives.

Members of the Democratic National Committee had plans under consideration which called for the simultaneous public withdrawal of Smith and McAdoo.

"There still is some question whether the time is ripe for such a move," said Joseph Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, when asked about it. Cordell Hull, chairman of the committee, thought the suggestion had merit. Other members of the committee received the suggestion favorably, and leaders outside of the committee expressed willingness to confer on the question.

The Earl of Derby Presided at Banquet

LONDON, July 3. — (Canadian Press).—Earl of Derby presided at the banquet here last night, givtn in connection with Congress of Empire Chamber of Commerce. Many men distinguished in political life were present, including many representatives from overseas dominions. Earl of Derby, in proposing health of British ministers, deeply regretted relations in which Dominions were involved in homeland political controversy. Empire affairs should be taken out of these realms, he said.

HEARING OF BANK DIRECTORS' CASE

Attorney-General Nickle Before Privy Council of Five Lords.

LONDON, July 3. — Argument opened in the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to-day in the appeal of Hon. W. F. Nickle, K. C., Attorney-General of Ontario, from a recent judgment of Mr. Justice Middleton, of the Supreme Court of Ontario, affecting the trial of charges against the directors and officials of the defunct Home Bank of Canada.

The committee was omposed of Lord Cave, Lord Carson, Lord Dunedin, Lord Blanesburgh and Lord Darling, the latter taking the place of Mr. Justice Duff, of the Supreme Court of Canada, who has been sitting on earlier Canadian appeals.

The question for their Lordships to decide is whether on a criminal prosecution the defendants can elect to have the indictments aganst them removed from the Supreme Court of Ontario into the County court.

Mr. Justice Middleton held that the accused directors had the right to a speedy trial before County judge, and granted a mandamus acordingly.

On behalf of the Appelgate court of Ontario this order of Justice Middleton was upheld and now the Attorney General of Ontario is asking the Privy Council to decide it it was rightly granted.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Holiday Makers Fill Up the Nearby Summer Resorts.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 3. — Percy Boom is growing in favour with picnic parties in this district, and the spacious grounds are always available for such outings free of charge. There is plenty of space for baseball, football, and athletic games of all kinds. On Dominion Day the Baptist Sunday School annual picnic and the outing of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church were held there.

The Baptists of Brighton and Morganston have spoken for the grounds for 15th July. The Methodists of Orland were at the Boom on Saturday last. The Society of Friends, or Quakers, from the Morganston district, had a holiday there recently. These people, supposed to be the most circumspect of all denominations, apparently enjoy themselves as thoroughly as do their contemporaries, indulging with gusto in every form of manly sport, but it is noticed that they are abstainers from the use of tokens in any form.

All the cottages at Percy Boom are now occupied, and have been since the opening of the season. The residents there at present are as follows:

No. 1 Cottage — Frank Gardiner of Toronto, his wife and two nieces, the Misses Moore.

No. 2 Cottage—Charles H. Nadoo and family of Campbellford.

No. 3 Cottage — Harry Cotton of Toronto, wife and family.

No. 4 Cottage — A. Smith of Toronto.

No. 5 Cottage — This is the home of Proprietor Boyce and family.

No. 6 Cottage—Mr. and Mrs. John Waite of Wicklow, G. Findlay, Wm. Duckerist, the latter of Detroit. This party left for home on Monday night, but the cottage was at once taken by Mr. and Mrs. John Denham of Rochester, N.Y.

No. 7 Cottage — Mr. and Mrs. M. Edwards and daughter of Belleville.

No. 8 Cottage — Mr. and Mrs. Jason Lennox and daughter of Oshawa.

No. 9 Cottage—Rev. W. S. and Mrs. Boyce, the former a retired Methodist minister in Brighton, and brother of the proprietor of the resort. Mr. and Mrs Boyce have occupied this cottage every season for years.

The annual picnic of the Tabernacle Church, English Line, was held on Monday across the river from Percy Boom on the property of Ernest Dunk.

A POPULAR VACATION RESORT.

"Distant fields are greenest" does not always hold true, for Lake of Bays is close to Toronto, just 146 miles north, and as a place of beauty or a holidaying spot of varied interests it is not excelled in Canada.

For the nature-lover Lake of Bays is truly edged with a thousand interesting bays, each with its own peculiar beauty, inviting close study and exploration.

For those who prefer sport the splendid summer hotels offer every facility for golf, tennis, boating and bathing, while Lake of Bays and adjoining lakes abound with trout, pickerel and bass that thrill the fisherman.

Canadian National trains make excellent connections with steamboats which serve every part of the district.

Complete information and literature may be had from any agent of the Canadian National Railways.

MOUNTED POLICE OPEN CONVENTION

It is the First and Last Event of Its Kind in History.

(By Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance)

MACLEOD, Alta, uly 3.—(Special)—Tonight in MacLeod, Alberta, a spectacle is being enacted which history will never see again, the original members of the Northwest Mounted Police are celebrating the 50th anniversary of their arrival at Fort MacLeod in the fall of 1874.

They are here by the score from all over the American continent, old and grizzled but as alert as youngest members of the present contingent. The MacLeod Jubilee, the first and the last even of is kind—which was launched this morning at ten o'clock by a parade three and a half miles long, is in full swing. The streets of the little old Fort Town will be jammed day and night until it is concluded Thursday evening.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quareled, and who had gone abroad. After the death, Paul comes home for the reading of the will, and to Wanda's surprise she finds she is disinherited, and that he is the heir. Paul dislikes Wanda intensely because of her behavior, and tells her she must leave the house immediately; she refuses and, in order to stay there, pretends to be ill. They are always quarreling. Then on eday Wanda expressly disobeys Paul, and rides his horse, Lion. He follows her. Lion takes fright at a steam engine, tries to take a hedge, and falls. Wanda is unhurt, but Lion is killed. Paul tells Wanda she must go away next day with Mrs. Garnet.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

XVII—PAUL ARRANGES.

"I will not go with Clare. She is not my friend. She has tried to set you against me, and all the time she has been pretending to me to wish that you and I could be friends. She's two-faced, a cheat!" declared Wanda.

"That is not the truth. Mrs. Garnet has never said a word about you that is not kind and tolerant."

"Tolerant! How dare you discuss me with her?"

He shrugged his shoulders.

"I've had no option, unfortunately. But I've finished now. You will please leave my house tomorrow."

"I shall be only too thankful to go."

But it was not the truth. The thought of leaving Grey Chumley hurt her intolerably.

She went upstairs to find Mrs. Garnet already packing.

"How dare you make arrangements for me with Paul?" she raved. "As if I were a child. I will not take his money. I will not be dependent on him."

Mrs. Garnet looked frightened.

"Wanda, what a tornado you are—I am your friend—"

"I used to think you were," Wanda interrupted darkly.

"I am your friend. I only want you to be happy. We can go up to town to my flat. I shall be only too pleased to have you for as long as you like," she paused. "Wanda, you're very unkind."

Wanda turned away, biting her lip to keep back another burst of tears.

"If you are pleased to have me, there is nobody else in all the world who is," she said chokingly.

Mrs. Garnet went to her and kissed her.

"Dear Wanda, I shall always want you. "You know I have always been fond of you," she said gently.

So it was settled. Wanda spent the evening packing her clothes; she would not go down to dinner, and Paul and Clare Garnet dined alone.

Paul glanced uneasily at Wanda's empty chair.

"Isn't she going to have any dinner?"

"She will have it upstairs."

He made a pretence of eating.

"We should only have fought to the end of the chapter," he said at last abruptly. "Why on earth can't she be reasonable? I don't want to turn her out."

"I think she prefers to go," Mrs. Garnet said gently. She raised her eyes to his moody face. "She declares she will not touch a penny of your money," she murmured.

"That's ridiculous," he said sharply. "She must be made to. How can she live if she does not?"

"Wanda is very obstinate."

"You must get round her obstinacy then," he insisted. "You are her friend."

Mrs. Garnet sighed.

"Wanda is very difficult. Of course, I am only too pleased to have her with me—she has agreed to come to my flat in town tomorrow when we leave here, but I am not well off, as you know."

Paul fell easily into the trap.

"Look here, you must let me pay while Wanda is with you," he said eagerly. "Of course, that will be the best arrangement. I shall be only too pleased. Why didn't I think of it before?"

"You are very good," Clare said tremulously. "If I were a rich woman I would not hear of such a thing, but as it is—"

"As it is, it is all settled," he declared more cheerfully. "It is a most excellent arrangement. I shall be under eternal obligation to you."

Mrs. Garnet sighed.

"I wish I could do more for you," she said.

Paul made no answer.

He wandered about the house after dinner, unable to settle to anything. He wished Wanda would come down; he kept remembering her as she had looked when he came across her in the drawing-room, her face buried in her hands, her slim body shaken with sobbing.

Apparently she had a heart somewhere if she could be so upset about the death of a horse.

He knew quite well that Lion's death had been an accident, but he was afraid that other and more serious things might occur if Wanda stayed in the house. Besides, he felt irritated when she was near him; she seemed to upset his life and to be an eternal thorn in his side.

RUSSIAN CROPS ARE A FAILURE

Widespread Areas of Russia Are Threatened With a New Famine.

MOSCOW, July 3 (United Press) —Widespread areas in Russia are threatened with a new famine because of a crop failure, caused in part by the poor quality of seeds imported from America according to despatches received here to-day.

A widespread draught and unprecedented heat also has contributed to the crop failure the Government advices show. Conditions are especially acute in the Volga, Northern Caucasias, Cuban Don and Astrakan regions with a combined population of more than eight millions.

The Government however, has issued a reassuring statement declaring the panic among the population is disappearing as imported material moves into the threatened areas and price regulation measures go into effect.

Residents Wonder Why the Town is Improving Government Property—The Explanation.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 3 — Every time work is started with a view to improving a certain section of a street there are always citizens who are heard to question the wisdom of the expenditure. Town teams recently started drawing gravel to fill a depression in the lot which the Government purchased as a location for the post office which the Department has long been urged to put up but without result. Ratepayers wondered why the town was spending money on Government property and if the municipality was not really trespassing on land that did not belong to it. The explanation is simple.

At the last meeting of the Town Council a resolution was adopted to use the post office site as a parking place for cars provided permission could be obtained from the Government. A favorable reply to a request to that effect has been received. Before the site could be used it was necessary to fill the centre wih gravel as a miniature lake formed there after each heavy rain.

Councillor Cole, chairman of the committee on roads and bridges, told the Council that in his opinion the work could be done for $150. As a matter of fact it cost $167 and the lot is now ready for cars. A parking place for autos has for a long time been recognized as a necessity ant there was no other suitable location near the centre of the town.

THOMAS BEST DEAD

Was Well Known Resident of Mount Pleasant.

MOUNT PLEASANT, July 3. — The death occurred on Monday evening in Mount Pleasant, of Thos. Best, in his 85th year. The funeral of Mr. Best took place yesterday afternoon at two o'clock, to the Presbyterian cemetery at Emily. The pallbearers were nephews: H. Argue, of Millbrook; T. W. Jamieson, Hubert Gardiner and Melville Jones of Mount Pleasant, Joseph Shields and Ira Gardiner of Omemee.

The late Mr. Best was born in Mount Pleasant and lived there all his life. He was a miller and had a wide circle of friends. He was highly respected in the community, where he was well and favorably known. He was a staunch Presbyterian in religion, and in politics was a Liberal. He is survived by his widow and two sons: Austin E. and Hiram G. Best, both of Mount Pleasant. Mr. John Best of 426 Donegal street, this city, is a brother; and D. R. Gardiner of 213 London street, is a brother-in-law. A cousin is S. H. Best, of 469 Stewart street.

The late Mr. Best's funeral was a very large one friends being present from Toronto, Peterboro, Lindsay and Millbrook.

REFERENDUM IS COMING BEFORE THE SNOW FLIES

Definite Assurance Given to Electors in Northwest Toronto Last Evening.

"VOTE FOR EDWARDS."

"It is One Hundred Per Cent. True," States Dr. Forbes Godfrey.

TORONTO, July 3. — Fairly definite assurances of an O.T.A. referendum in the autumn, were forthcoming last night in Northwest Toronto in election meeting in the Sovereign Hall, addressed by W. H. Edwards, Conservative candidate; Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, Minister of Health and Labor in the Ferguson government, local members of Legislature, and ward association officials.

"You have been promised a plebiscite, and you are going to get your plebiscite," said Dr. Godfrey in course of an address in support of the candidate. The remark was greeted with some cheering.

"When?" asked a membr of the audience.

Dr. Godfrey: "It is never judicious my dear friend, for a Cabinet minister to state any set date, but just hold your horses and keep cool, and elect W. H. Edwards in Northwtst Toronto by a resounding majority. The govenment in Queens' Park will always carry out its word. The machinery is there, the vote has been ordered, and when Hon. G. Howard Ferguson states, as he stated on the hustings, 'I will submit this question to the people, as it should be submitted in democratic countries,' then you can rely upon his word. It is 100 per cent. true."

J. A. McCausland, the Conservative candidate for South West Toronto, shed what was accepted as a little more official light on the government's intention, when he stated last night.

"I am not giving away any secrets when I say I would almost stake my reputation in saying you will have a vote on O.T.A. before Oct. 31st."

PRESENTATION TO MONAGHAN TEACHER

Miss Olive Northcott Honored by Pupils and Parents.

FRASERVILLE, July 3.—A number of the scholars and their parents gathered at School No. 5, South Monaghan, on Friday afternoon at the close of the school to bid farewell to their teacher, Miss Olive Northcott. Rev. A. H. McConnachie gave a brief address, and Mr. F. E. Anderson made a short speech. Then Miss Northcott was asked to come to the platform, while Bessie Wood read an address and Muriel Whittington presented Miss Northcott with a beautiful ivory clock and tray. The address was as follows:

June 27, 1924.

Dear Miss Northcott,—Seeing we are losing you as our teacher, we scholars and parents have come together to tell you how much we have valued your good work during the last three years.

You have been faithful as a teacher and we scholars have learned to love you more as the years have come and gone.

We are sorry to lose you, but we wish you all success in your new school in Lakefield. We will get a new teacher, but we will not soon forget the one who stayed with us for three years and did all in her power to help us.

As a token of affection and of the respect of the whole school section, we ask you to accept these gifts with our very best wishes.

Signed on behalf of the School.
Arthur McConnachie.
Bessie Wood.

Miss Northcott was completely taken by surprise, and in a few words thanked the scholars for their kindness.

ROBERT HARVEY MET WITH DEATH

Slipped and Fell While Working at Cement Company, Lakefield, and Died a Few Minutes Later.

LAKEFIELD, July 3. — Robert Harvey of Montreal met death yesterday afternoon at Lakefield, when he slipped and fell while at work at the Lakefield Cement Works. He was employed by the Dominion Bridge Company and was working at construction work under the supervision of L. J. McMann when the accident occurred. He was brought to the Hospital at Peterboro but died a few minutes after he arrived at the hospital. His death was caused by a fractured skull and internal injuries. An inquest is not necessary as coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young finds that he died a accidental death. The accident happened a few minutes after five o'clock last night when the men had all quit work and gone home for supper. Mr. Harvey who was coming out of work with the rest of the men, forgot his pipe and returned to get it. He was boarding at a private house, while all the other members were boarding together. When he did ot return home for supper his wife, who was also stopping in Lakefield telephoned the hotel but he was not there. With some others she went to the Cement works and there she found him lying unconscious. He was a man between fifty and sixty years of age and it is believed that he took a weak spell while up on the building getting his pipe and fell to the ground. He never regained conscious ness.

TWEED BOWLERS

Bowlers Will Take Part in Several Tournaments in the District.

TWEED, July 3. — The Tweed Bowling Club, now in its second year, feels strong enough to take part in the various tournaments that may be held in the district this year, and one or more rinks will represent the village at these functions.

The club has an excellent green on the lawn of C. H. Kerr, who has given the members the use of this land free of cost. Six rinks have been drawn for the scheduled games as follows:

Rink 6 — Flood, Fanning, Rev. A. E. Smart, McGee, skip.

In addition to these there are seven members on the reserve list.

LAWYER IN JAIL

Attorney - General Refuses Bail for Napoleon Marion of Hull.

HULL, Que., July 3.—(Canadian Press). — The Attorney-General of Quebec, Hon. L. A. Taschereau, has instructed Hull officials to refuse to permit Napoleon J. Marion, former Hull lawyer and recently of Montreal, to be liberated on bail. Marion has been in the Hull jail since Friday and is treated like other prisoners.

The accused appeared in Hull on Friday for sentence on a charge of converting about $1,095 to his own use, and although Judge Roland Millar fixed bail at $2,000, the Attorney-General in the meantime notified Crown Attorney J. A. Parent and Sheriff St. Pierre that bail was not to be granted.

Marion was remanded to appear before Judge Honore Achim on July 24 for sentence.

GOLD PENDANT TO MISS MAE HINTON

Percy Township School Teacher Honored by School Friends.

HASTINGS, July 3.—On Thursday afternoon the residents of School section, number 12, Percy, met at the school and spent a very enjoyable afternoon. The main item of the programme was an address and presentation given their teacher, Miss Mae Hinton who is this year leaving for other fields of work.

Willie Walter acted as chairman. The school sang "The Maple Leaf" and Miss Irene Brown gave a reading, a recitation was given by Bazil Johnson, an instrumental number by Miss Alma Brown and Miss Alice Hill gave the reading when the teacher was called to the front for presentation. Miss Dorothy Waters presented the teacher with a dainty gold pendant set with pearls which was enclosed in a satin lined box trimmed with yellow roses.

Dear Miss Hinton,—

We, the resident of S.S. No. 12, Percy and Seymour take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of your services.

Your interest in our children's progress, educationally and in every way that would be in their benefit, has been appreciated very much.

We feel that you have accepted your work, not as a task, but as an opportunity to use your abilities for unselfish and loving service.

We regret very much that you are about to sever your connection with us, but be assured that you carry with you the love and trust of your pupils and the respect and confidence of the parents.

As a tangible expression of your appreciation we ask you to accept this present as a slight token of remembrance.

May the coming years bring you increasing influence and continual happiness in your sphere of life whereever your lot may be cast, is the best wishes of all your friends in S.S. No. 12, Percy and Seymour.

Signed on behalf of the school—
Joe Fisher, Edgar Tripp, Mary Tripp.

In a few well chosen words Miss Hinton made a reply saying she had greatly enjoyed her two years in Fleming's School and thanked all for the beautiful gift.

Miss Ruth McDonald and Miss Hazel Watson then presented the teacher with two beautiful boquets of roses tied in ribbons. The program closed with "For she's a jolly good fellow" and the ladies of the community served a lovely lunch to all present.

BORER

The corn crop now is imperiled by the "borer" insect, just as cotton by the boll weevil.

The corn borer came from Europe. It was discovered first in our country in 1917 among broom corn of eastern Massachusetts. Attempts to "quarantine" it are failing. The borer is moving westward into the big corn belt at the rate of 100 miles a year. It is said to be the most difficult of plant life pests to combat.

A titanic struggle between man and insect life is getting under way. So far, insects have not become as great a menace as disease bacteria —plant life, cousins of toadstools.

COUNTY PICNIC A BIG SUCCESS

Trips Up and Down Indian River a Feature of the Programme.

NEWS OF WARSAW.

WARSAW, July 3.—The Peterboro County U.F.O. picnic held at Warsaw last Thursday afternoon was a success. Quite a number from a distance came in the morning. The forenoon attractions were trips up the river in boats or Mr. Archie Hawthorne's motor launch, as far as the Falls, visits to the scaur and to the potash kettle and points of interest on Indian River. It was well worth any one taking a trip to see. In the afternoon there were races of various kinds, a softball game between Warsaw and North Dummer. Warsaw won.

North Dummer and Warsaw baseball game was in favor of Warsaw 22-5.

North Dummer and Warsaw football game was a tie 1-1.

Over sixty-five dollars was paid out in prizes. An interesting one was a sack of flour given to the man present with the largest family. It went to Mr. Albert McQuaig, who was on the grounds with his wife and eight children.

Hector Munro did some good work in the high and long jumping and did it very easily.

In the married men's race several finished not over three feet apart.

A great deal of interest was taken in all the races.

In the evening there was a dance in the Town Hall which was quite well attended by young people.

Schools Closed.

The schools are all closed for summer holidays. Warsaw school is one of the entrance examination centres.

On Friday and Saturday there will be a fowl culling demonstration at several points near Warsaw.

A Presentation.

On Tuesday evening last members of Bethel congregation and others of the community met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Payne and presented their sister, Miss Emma Payne, with a case of "Old Colony" silver as a wedding gift. She was married the next day at noon and will live at Burnley. She will be very much missed, as she was a great help in church work and was always willing to lend a hand to any one in trouble.

McIlvena—Cooper

Friday evening, June 27th at the home of the brides' parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Cooper, Warsaw, was a quiet but pretty wedding, when their daughter, Ferena Eleanor was united in marriage to Mr. Oliver B. McIlvena, also of Warsaw. Rev. F. G. Weir was the officiating clergyman. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a handsome gown of poudre blue satin, trimmed with pearls, white shoes and stockings. She carried a shower boquet of ophelia roses.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bridal party repaired to the dining-room, where a dainty luncheon was served.

The groom's gift to the bride was a white gold wrist watch. Her father's gift was a cheque.

The young couple will reside in Warsaw

Cottesloe Service.

The evening service at Cottesloe, next Sunday at 9 o'clock will be under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society. Mrs. Atkinson, formerly Miss Payne, a returned missionary will address the meeting. It is a public service.

Miss Alice Payne, Rochester, N.Y. is spending her holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Payne. Miss Sage, Miss Petrie and Miss Greenbank are spending the holiday with Mrs. E. R. Hamblin.

NEWS OF HASTINGS

Death of Joseph Gould After a Long Illness

Hastings, July 3. — The death occurred in Asphodel on Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock at his home, of Joseph Gould, at the age of 60 years.

Deceased had been ill for some time and death came as a relief to the sufferer.

There are left to mourn his loss his wife and her sons, Joseph and Maxwell, and one sister, Mrs. William Scriver.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon, services at the house at two o'clock, and will be held under the auspices of the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Interment takes place in the Trent Valley cemetery.

WITH THE AVIATORS

British Flyers Still Going — Americans Are Delayed.

LONDON, July 3. (United Press) Winging eastward with scarcely a break in his day to day world flight the British airman, Major A. S. C. MacLaren has arrived at Shanghai China. In a desperate race to make up time lost when he waited out the Monsoon of India, MacLaren will fly on immediately to Kagoshima, on the southwest coast of Japan.

Americans Delayed

LONDON, July 3 (United Press) —A slight accident is delaying the American World flyers at Embala, 450 miles from Alla-Habad according to the Times.

One of the American machines developed cylinder trouble and a new cylinder is being carried from Lahore by aeroplane.

There is a report in Calcutta that Major Martin who originally commanded the flight, will resume command when the airmen reach Paris.

LONDON WOOL SALES

Yesterday's Offering Was 128,000—Prices Up to Average.

LONDON, July 3. — (Canadian Press).—The fourth series of 1924 London wool sales opened with 128,000 offering yesterday. The best grades of greasy and scoured merinos sold at figures fully equal to the May auctions, the inferior and faulty lots being five per cent. easier. The finer greasy crossbreds showed a decrease in price of about five per cent., while the medium and lower grades were down from five to ten per cent. Similar declines were noticeable in slips qualities and Punta Arenas greasy crossbreds, consequently there were many withdrawals.

Remington Quiet-12

Made in Canada

Quiet Speedy Efficient

Quiet, because of its specialized construction, which embodies many exclusive Remington features.

Speedy, because the keys respond rapidly and accurately to the lightest and swiftest touch.

Efficient, because it is the crowning achievement of fifty years of experience in building the Remington—the world's first and still its superlative typewriter.

Such is the Remington Quiet 12. Your typist will prefer it because of its "natural touch." You will prefer it because of the impression of quality it will give to the appearance of your letters.

ROTARY CONTESTS GET A GOOD START

Large Number of Tickets Applied For and Given Out on Dominion Day.

Tuesday morning saw boys and girls flocking to the express office on Hunter Street, bent on business on their own account. For each and all were eager to secure a bunch of tickets and start in on making sales. All were supplied and immediately got to work.

There seemed to be some misunderstanding as to the status of the competition, and the conditions may be here stated again. There is one bicycle for boy contestants and another for the girls. The boy's prize can be won only by a boy. And similarly that for the girls can only be taken by a girl. So there is no contest as between boys and girls. Not at all. Each sex has its exclusive prize.

More girls are needed to come forward and take a hand. This is one of the rare times when the girls should not assume that girlish modesty would prevent any girl taking a part. Both girls and boys will be received by citizens in good part and welcomed, and the tickets bought, not only to help the several contestants but because the receipts from the day's doings are to go to the Crippled Children Fund of Rotary. So the boy or girl, taking a hand, will contribute very much to aid the good work to help children not so well situated in life as the ticket sellers presumably are, and who will have good arms and legs and feet perfectly normal boys and girls. It is to help those who may be unfortunate, especially those unable to be assisted owing to straightened family circumstances that the whole business is organized. So cheerfully lend a hand in any way, and this invitation applies to both adults and boys and girls.

At least twenty more girls are asked to come forward. No girl need be in doubt that if she be a prize-winner that she will not fit the bike, or rather the bike fit the girl. The size of the wheel is a matter of selection, as to size, but it might take years to add to the height of a small girl to fit onto a standard sized wheel. In addition, be advised that the very best of wheels will be provided, worth each, at selling prices, $55. If a small girl should win, and call for a junior wheel, at, say $35, why then she will have in addition $20 in cash. Just think of that. Might invest the sum in a Ford car, possibly. Come on girls. See Mr. Seels at the Dominion Express Office, and secure a bunch of tickets.

Lots more to tell about the Big Rotary Carnival, but such will be printed in other issues of The Examiner.

Fines Against Speeders Be Reckoned As To Rate

NEW YORK, July 3.—(Canadian Press).—Fines against speeders will be reckoned hereafter according to the rate at which they were driving, under a new schedule announced by Magistrate H. Stanley Renaud, who took the place of Magistrate Norman K. Marsh in the Traffic Court yesterday.

If you were driving 31 miles an hour your fine is $31, and so on. Second offenders can go as fast as 50 miles without extra damage to their pocket-books, because the regular assessment against them will be $50 anyway; but in addition they will go to jail for two days. Third offenders pay $100, go to jail for five days, and have their licenses revoked.

600 Immigrants Landed At Toronto Last Night

TORONTO, July 3.—(Canadian Press).—After a lapse of several weeks, during which a few would-be Canadians reached the city, a party of 600 immigrants arrived last night by the Canadian National special train at 10 o'clock. The newcomers, who were almost entirely from the British Isles, were bound for farms in Ontario, many of them in the neighborhood of Toronto.

CONDITIONS THAT CALL FOR A TONIC

Symptoms That the Blood is Thin Should Not be Neglected.

Weak, run-down, lacking strength, energy and ambition, nervous, sleepless, poor appetite, digestion distu less, poor appetite, digestion disturbed—these are the symptoms named by a great majority of people who have been benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These tonic pills correct the condition described, and if you have any of these symptoms you should give these pills a trial. Their great value in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mrs. Melville Fortune, Preston, Ont., who says: "Some months ago I became very depressed and worried. My friends thought I was in a decline. I would often faint, was weak, pale and hardly able to go about. I lost weight to the extent of 34 pounds in four months. I was taking treatment but did not get any benefit until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These made a wonderful change in my condition, and by the time I was on my fifth box I had regained 22 pounds of my lost weight. I feel altogether like a new woman, can do my housework with ease, and have reason to praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the great good I have found through their use. I will always gladly recommend them for anaemia and general debility."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Cognawagas Won From Mackeys 11-2-Lakeviews Beat Crescents 13-1

COGNAWAGAS IN LISTLESS GAME WITH MACKEY'S

Cogs Won 11 to 2 With Inter-Team Argument the Only Excitement.

POOR SUPPORT

Hip Hardill's Work at First for the Losers Stood Out Well.

The Cognawagas ran riot with Mackey's outfit in an East Peterboro game played at the Exhibition Park diamond last evening and when the books were audited the earnings stood 11 to 2 for last year's champs. The game was listless throughout owing to the many Mackey boots and the score gives a fair indication of the fielding turned in by the respective teams. Both teams collected nine hits the Cogs getting a few more extra base clouts, but the dough-punchers errors and general hard luck combined to give Cogs the commanding lead. Koster at short for Mackey's had an off day, not being able to get his hands on anything and his many fumbles were costly. "Hip" Hardill's work at first for the losers stood out. "Hip" covered the initial sack like a 'Stuffy' McGinnis and socked everything thrown in the general direction of first and he was also strong with the willow getting three hits in four appearances, one going for a triple.

Hardill Grabbed Everything

Williams pitched nice ball for the southenders striking out ten and "Shiner" Clarke twirling for Mackey's deserved better support and a closer score.

KINGSTON OUT AFTER SECOND HALF HONORS

Ponies Hope to Beat Peterborough Here Saturday, But Petes Can't See It.

HECK VS. KELLY

Petes' Right-hander Likely to Face Ponies' Good Left-Handed Twirler.

Belleville tripped up the Kingston Ponies in their head long dash on Dominion Day and with the Limestone City crew's winning streak terminated the Petes are determined to put the skids under the Ponies again on Saturday when Kelly, Batstone and Company will appear at Riverside Park. The Petes started out unluckily in the second half race by losing a 1-0 decision to Oshawa but they played great ball nevertheless and every fan who saw the holiday morning fixture is still talking about it. Saturday's fixture should be equally as hard fought for the Solomon crew need a win in the worst possible way while Kingston are out after the second half and are anxious to wipe out the loss in Belleville. Kelly will likely pitch for the Ponies while Heckman will do the honors for the Petes.

BRITISH TEAM IS UNFORTUNATE

Several Crack Men Laid Off —Girl From Hawaii Won Swimming.

HAD LUNCHEON.

PARIS, July 3. — (Canadian Press).—Several misfortunes have overtaken the British Olympic track team, according to information given out here. It is learned that the crack British distance man, Cottrell, who was expected to score in the 5,000 and 10,000 metre events, was badly hurt in an accident just before the British trials and has been eliminated from competition. Guy Butler, of Oxford, a 400-metre man, has an injured tendon, and Griffiths, a half-miler, has been disqualified as an amateur because he is alleged to have accepted compensation for a race eight years ago.

The United States swimmers held trials at Les Tourelles yesterday, and to the surprise of everybody, the young Hawaiian, Mariechen Wehselau, defeated Gertrude Ederle, holder of the world's record in the 100 metres. The time of the Hawaiian girl was one minute 12 4-5 seconds, bettering the Olympic mark by 2 2-5 seconds, and only 3.5 seconds short of the world's record.

The members of all Olympic teams were entertained at luncheon by the United States Olympic Committee at Rocquenfort. Marshal Foch was present.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

BY BILLY EVANS.

QUESTIONS

1. There are runners on first and second and one out. The batter hits to the shortstop, who throws to first base after holding the runner on third. The batter is thrown out at first. After the shortstop has thrown the ball to the first baseman, the runner on third decides to make a break for home. The batsman apparently interferes with the first baseman in his effort to get the runner at the plate. An accurate throw would have easily retired the runner, but due to the interference the first baseman made a wild throw, both runners scoring. The umpire refused to allow interference but sent the runnners back to second and third. The play happened in the first of the ninth, the home team leading, 3 to 2. The next batter doubled, scoring two runs, enough to win the game. What about this play?—H. S. B.

2. Does the calling of a balk on the pitcher have any influence on the status of the batsman? That is, if the count was three balls and two strikes would he be entitled to go to first —R. C. K.

ANSWERS

1. In the play you cite, either the first baseman interfered or didn't. That was up to the judgment of the umpire. If he believed there was interference he should have ruled the runner out who tried to score from third, which would have retired the side. According to the way you have stated the play that would have been the proper ruling. If the umpire didn't believe there was interference he should have permitted both runs to score. Under no condition should he have sent them back to their respective bases.

2. The calling of a balk never in any way affects the status of the batsman. In your case the count would have simply remained three balls and two strikes.

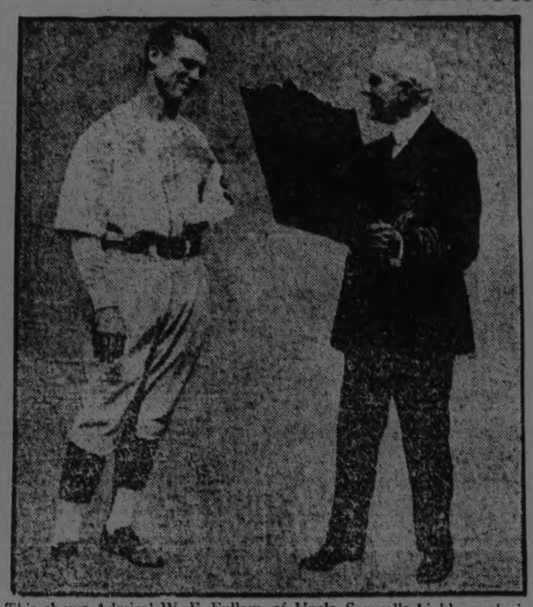
BASEBALL DIPLOMAS DON'T EXCITE MR. SISLER MUCH



This shows Admiral W. F. Fullam of Uncle Samuel's highly explosive navy presenting a baseball diploma to George Sisler, manager of the St. Louis Browns.

The diploma is emblematic of baseball perfection, an honor which the baseball experts of the land bestowed upon Mr. Sisler for his work in 1922.

Judging by his countenance, Mr. Sisler is not at all worked up over the ceremony, and is probably grumbling to himself, "Where in the heck will I hang this darn thing?"

Pitchers' Battle in Detroit Ended in Win For the Home Team.

AMERACAN LEAGUE.

DETROIT, July 3. — (Canadian Press). — Whitehill and Connally fought a pitchers' battle here yesterday, Detroit winning, 2 to 1, from Chicago. All of the runs were made in the first inning, Barrett's error being responsible for Detroits' two runs. Score:

TIMELY TIPS TO AMATEURS

SAYS BABE ADAMS
Pitcher, Pittsburg Nationals

I have always believed that a smooth pitching motion was the first asset every pitcher should possess.

Nothing take more out of a pitcher than a jerky motion that places most of the strain on the arm and loses the benefit of the follow-through body motion.

Next in importance is the knowledge on the part of the pitcher that he has eight players in the field, wildly anxious to help him to victory by doing their part.

Victory is the thing.

I take far more joy out of a 9 to 8 victory, made possible by my team mates batting, than a 1 to 0 defeat in which I have pitched brilliantly.

A pitcher must not try to carry the entire burden. Don't think you must strike out every player.

SYRACUSE TOOK LAST OF SERIES

Frank O'Rourke Was Only Leaf Who Got Through Meine's Curve.

IN INTERNATIONALS.

TORONTO, July 3.—(Canadian Press).—Syracuse evened the series by winning the final game from Toronto yesterday 6 to 3. The curve ball pitching by Meine baffled the Torontos players with the exception of Frank O'Rourke whose triple and home run, the latter with Gilhooley on base accounted for all the Leafs runs. Faulkner pitched great ball after relieving Reynolds in the fourth. Thevenow and Boll featured the fielding. The score:

Syracuse	.....	201	111 000—6 10 0
Toronto	.....	100	020 000—3 7 0

Meine and McKee; Reynolds, Faulkner and Stanage.

Rochester Still Going

BUFFALO, July 3. — (Canadian Press).—Rochester continued their winning streak, taking yesterday's game from the Bisons, 6 to 3. Score:

BASEBALL NOW IS NO BETTER THAN OF OLD

Game Has Progressed Only as to Ball Parks and Crowds.

QUALITY DOWN

Many of the Old Thrilling Plays Have Been Forgotten.

How does the baseball of today compare with the brand of 20 years ago?

The old-timer admits that it has progressed, only as to the style of the ball parks and the size of the crowds.

Recently while sitting on the Detroit bench, prior to the start of a game between New York and the Tigers, says Bill Evans, I heard a star of 25 years back, and one of the present-day luminaries, discuss the much debated question.

The present-day star based his argument that the game of today was better than the brand of a score of years ago, because of the greater number of good hitters.

The old-timer came right back; said the increased batting was due to inferior pitching. He pointed out that in the old days a team faced good pitching every day. He insisted that few major league clubs of today could boast of more than one outstanding pitching star.

The present-day hero dwelled on the home run feature of the game and the big thrill it provided.

The old-timer gave all the credit to the lively ball, and said if the great hitters of the past, like Anson, Brouthers, Lajoie, Delahanty, Wagner and others, were playing today they would shame some of the batting records that are being made.

The old-timer won me to his side of the pitching argument. There has been a dearth of pitching material in the last 10 years and that feature of the game has suffered. Fifteen years ago every club had four star twirlers, some of them five, and second string pitchers not far behind in ability.

To me the strategy of the game has suffered considerably by the craze for hitting. The desire to make homers, and get runs in clusters, has done away with the get-one-run idea that called for strategy in various ways.

Here are some of the features of the game that I have noticed disappearing from the regular play,

Not in 10 years have I seen a pitcher catch a runner off third base. In the old days this was not an unusual play.

Drawing the third baseman in by faking a bunt with a man on second and no one out, the batsman purposely missing the ball, and the runner stealing third as he saw the third sacker dashing in, always thrilled. It's now a rarity.

The near passing of the place hitter. This feature of batting by the old school players came in for much attention.

The delayed steal of second as the catcher leisurely tossed the ball to the pitcher and the runner on first with a good lead noticed no one near the bag.

Much of the strategy of baseball hinges on good base running. No feature of the game has suffered more than base running by the mad desire to swat the ball. That explains it.

I listened to the argument between the old-timer and present-day star with much interest, and I am frank to say that the veteran was deserving of better than a draw for the arguments he presented in behalf of the brand of ball played 20 or more years back.

DE LAVAL WIN CRICKET GAME

Defeat Examiner 43 To 26 in Return Game.

The return game between DeLaval and the Examiner was played at the Exhibition grounds last night, and resulted in a win for the former. The Examiner, who were two players short, batted first, but the deadly bowling of Frank Dyer proved too much for the "scribes," who were soon disposed of for a total of 26 runs. The bowling of Dunkley and Taylor for the Examiner also proved to be good, six De Laval wickets falling before they could claim a win. The side were ultimately all out for 43. Detailed scores.

LAKEVIEWS WON FROM CRESCENTS

Sheehy Was Hit Freely in Off-Color Night— Support Weak.

SCORE WAS 13 TO 1.

Ferg Sheehy on the mound for the Crescents last night was walloped for ten hits, including a double by Johnston, and 13 runs, allowing the Lakeviews to win 13 to 1.

He was wild and passed nine men, while Rishea, his catcher, did not hold him up at all, and passed balls allowed several runs. His team mates also gave him rather ragged support at critical times.

The Lakeviews started early when they manufactured a lone tally in the first inning on a walk and two passed balls. In the second inning Sheehy started on his walking bee. He passed three men, filling the bases, and Johnston came through with a timely single that sent two men over the plate, but he was left stranded on second when the next two men rolled to the first baseman for easy outs. The Crescents got their lone counter in their half of the second when Cameron threw wild over first on Rishea's roller.

Rishea stole second and was on his way to third when Rody missed the third strike, but Collins dropped the ball and then threw to third to get Rishea stealing, instead of getting the man at first. The peg was wide at third, and Rishea was safe while Johnston threw wild over first in an attempt to get Rody, and Rishea scored. In the last five innings Crescents were blanked while the Lakeviews netted eight in the third, one in the fourth and one in the fifth.

Whitehouse, who did the heaving for the Lakeviews, was in the pink of condition, and whiffed the Crescents at leisure. He turned in one of the best performances this season, and netted ten strike-outs while he was touched for four scattered hits, none of them figuring in the run column. He had a barrel of speed and mixed them nicely. His team mates behind him turned in a nice game, and had but two errors chalked against them. Jimmy Johnston led his team at bat when he came through with two singles and a double that accounted for five of his team's runs. Marchen at second also turned in a nice fielding game. He accepted four hard chances without a slip, and came through with a timely hit in the fourth. Griffin, the first man up in the first innings hit the ball far into right field for three bases but was left stranded there when the next three batters went out in order. Fitzgerald at the hot corner for the southerners also turned in a nice fielding game, and came through with a clean sheet in the error column.

MISS WILLS WON IN SEMI-FINALS

Suzanne Lenglen Looked on From Side Lines Throughout Events.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 3. —(Canadian Press). — All of the events in the Wimbledon tennis championship tournament reached the semi-final stage yesterday, and the women's singles were carried up to the finals through the retirement of Mlle. Susanne Lenglen, world's champion, because of illness, and the victory of Miss Helen Wil's, the United States star, over Mrs. Phyllis Satterthwaite, of Great Britain, in the last but one match which the United States champion must win in order to capture the title, which has been held since the war by the superb Frenchwoman.

When Mlle. Lenglen's resignation upon doctor's orders was announced, it was added that her physician had told her to go to bed and stay there, but she bobbed up in the competitors' stand yesterday afternoon, remaining there watching the play on the centre court from the first match to almost the end of the last one.

Her absence from the court itself had no apparent effect upon the popularity of the proceedings, every seat and every bit of standing room being occupied when Miss Wills, playing beautifully, triumphed over Mrs. Satterthwaite, 6-3, 6-1.

As a result of the French player's retirement, the long-heralded encounter between Mlle. Lenglen and Miss Wills will not take place at Wimbledon, and the Californian will meet Miss Kathleen McKane in the final encounter on Friday.

In the upper half of the men's doubles, R. Norris Williams II. and Watson M. Washburn defeated Charles H. Kingsley and J. C. Masterman, and will meet the Alonso brothers of Spain in the next to the last round. In the lower half Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter beat Max Woosman and J. D. P. Wheatley, of Great Britain, and will meet Louis Raymond and P. D. B. Spence, of South Africa, in the semi-finals.

Mixed Doubles.

In the mixed doubles the last two pairs of United States invaders fell yesterday afternoon, Williams and Mrs. Wightman being defeated by J. Brian Gilbert and Miss Kathleen McKane, and Hunter and Miss Lillian Scharman succumbing to the strokes of L. A. Godfree and Mrs. Shepherd-Barron, after a long, hard fight, both sets going into deuce games.

CLERGYMAN AND ALDERMAN FINED

Rev. G. J. Bousfield Incensed at Court Case After Calling to Pay Tax.

APPLIED TOO SOON.

It was Canine Day at the Police Court. The city coffers will be considerably enriched as a result of the prosecutions made by Chief Newhall against those who failed to observe the city ordinance requiring a tax to be paid by all who harbour, own, or possess dogs.

Through the co-operation of the Police Department and the city dog-catcher, James Gates, a general round-up of the non-observers of the by-law was made which resulted in the heavy docket this morning.

Sometimes it happens that those who make the laws, fail to observe them. In the Police Court this morning, when numerous persons were heard on charges, alleging contravention of the city dog by-law, the first gentleman to be fined was Alderman Joseph Crowe.

Mr. Crowe stated that he was harbouring a small dog "about the size of two fists," which belonged to a son in Toronto.

Magistrate Langley announced that as this by-law was being disregarded, it would be necessary to impose a small fine.

Ignored Chief's Comment.

Chief Newhall explained the discrepancies of the offender before the Court in the observance of the dog by-law, but Alderman Crowe preferred to talk to the Magistrate.

When Magistrate Langley stated that the fine would be $1.00, and 3.45 costs, adding that in default of payment distress would be levied, and on failure to realise a prison term imposed, Alderman Crowe asked "How is it a party got off by paying $1.95, without appearing in Court?"

To this the Magistrate replied that no one can settle a criminal case out of Court, but a practice has grown up in certain cases when numerous persons are appearing for the same offence to allow the offender to leave a written plea and a deposit for costs without attending Court.

"These written pleas are to be dealt with yet," stated His Worship.

Was Too Prompt.

Among those fined to-day was Rev. G. J. Bousfield, who was fined $1.00, and $3.45 costs.

'How do you plead, guilty or not guilty?" asked His Worship.

Not guilty," he replied.

The Magistrate then proceeded to read the charge, in contravention to the city by-law, requiring all dogs to be registered and licensed, and a tag secured for him.

Rev. Mr. Bousfield then proceeded to explain that the reason he had pleaded not guilty was because he had come to the Station and offered the police $4.00 for a tag before 1st May, and that it was not accepted because, as was said by them, the tax was not due.

Rev. Mr. Bousfield: "Somehow or other, when the 1st of May came, it slipped my memory. I had no intention of evading the by-law, and I dont see why these policemen, with all their red tape, couldn't accommodate me when I was here prepared to pay the tax.

"They are not ready, on their part, as I asked them to remove a stray dog which remains about my premises, and it was not done. I am not going to let her starve."

Was Willing to Pay.

"They are not doing their duty. I was ready and willing to pay, and had no intention of evading the by law, and I am making this statement now before the Chief."

The Magistrate explained that he could not dismiss or decide upon a case without hearing the evidence, and it would be necessary to try the case since he had pleaded not guilty.

"I haven't time for that," the reverend gentleman remarked.

"I'll plead guilty then," stated Mr. Bousfield. "I could have settled like some of the others out of court, but when I am summoned to attend court I want to come, but I don't think this thing has been very nicely done."

Chief Newhall: "The Reverend gentleman's remarks are very unkind. This is the first I have heard about rtmoving this stray dog. If the dogcatcher was put in the box he could tell of all the trouble I have taken to oblige this gentleman. The same law applies to you as to anyone else."

Rev. Mr. Bousfield: "I'm not asking for any statement like that. You haven't done anything in reference to the stray dog I spoke to you about."

Chief Newhall: "It is the first I have heard of it."

Rev. Mr. Bousfield: "Why you acknowledged it the other morning in my presence."

Magistrate: "Stop this! I am going to have order in this court.

The Magistrate then announced the fine of $1.00 and $3.45 costs.

The fine was cheerfully paid and Mr. Bousfield left the court room.

26 Pleaded Guilty.

Of those summoned to appear this morning 26 came to the station before to-day, paid the tax and left a written plea of guilty, and a deposit of $1.95 to cover the costs incurred.

The magistrate withdrew the charges in each of these cases when their names were called.

Ald. Joseph Crowe, Rev. G. J. Bousfield, Messrs. J. R. McPherson, and Edwin Parsons appeared, and were each fined the sum of $1.00 and $3.45 costs.

The other cases were adjourned to be heard on Monday, that is those who both failed to appear or enter written pleas. This was done as it was said that some who had paid the tax after being summoned were under the erroneous impresston that nothing more was required of them.

TOURIST TRAFFIC IN THIS DISTRICT VERY PROMISING

Many Requests Have Been Received by the Chamber of Commerce.

FISHING GOOD.

The Kawartha Lakes are growing in popularity, and this season's tourist trade promises to surpass all former years.

Already many American fishing parties have arrived. Several parties stationed at Oak Orchard, Burleigh, and vicinity, when interviewed on the holiday, reported the fishing to be good. "The black bass are biting fine," stated an Indian guide from Curve Lake.

Reports that the northern waters abound in fish, with the black bass biting good, by the American first-comers, is indicative of a busy season. The anglers of the American cities, who come north every year, try to strike the best locality, and the black bass enthusiasts will be greatly influenced by the letters sent nome from those already here. It is the early reports that count, and a black bass guarantee will bear more weight than hotel accommodation and good roads.

"Lead us to the fish," seems to be their slogan.

Over seventy-five inquiries have been received by the Chamber of Commerce ,asking for maps, charts, &c. Letters from West Virginia and as far West as Wisconsin, have been received. Pamphlets, explaiping the unsurpassed beauty and summer accommodation of the Kawartha fishing waters, as well as the maps and charts requested, are always forwarded to those who write for information.

The requests, while more numerous than in other years, the Chamber have received communications fram as far south as Florida in the past. It is early in the season, and the record for distance can easily be broken yet.

The Kawartha Lakes are known throughout the continent as a summering centre. The summer trade as a result is annually increasing. However else other industries are progressing, the tourist traffic as a source of wealth has rapidly increased, and 1924 promises to be the banner year in this regard.

Holy Name Society Held Second Social

The Holy Name Society of St. Peters Parish held their second social of the season, the first last week having been spoiled to a great extent by inclement weather, last evening, on the grounds of St. Peter's High School, Reid Street. There was a splendid attendance during the evening, and the various booths were patronised in a most satisfactory manner. The central situation of the school grounds proved a very desirable location for the event, which was decidedly successful. An innovation in the evening's programme that was one of its most enjoyable features was the special vaudeville offering by Danny Simons. In his own inimitable fashion, the always popular comedian, in costume, entertained a delighted audience with songs, steps, and humorous anecdotes. Several enjoyable musical selections were also given by the orchestra of St. Peter's High School, with Harold Armstrong as leader.

The booth where numbers of useful and pretty things were disposed of was in charge of Miss D. Welsh, energetically assisted by Messrs. T. Turcotte and Gerald McFadden. A lunch counter was supervised by Mrs. J. MILLARDE DIRECTS "GOVERNOR'S LADY" FROM BELASCO PLAY.

Creator of "If Winter Comes" Puts Bradley Success on Screen.

The screen version of David Belasco's stage success, "The Governor's Lady," has been made into a special production for William Fox by Harry Millarde, the man who made "Over the Hill" and "If Winter Comes." On the stage the play was a tremendous success, and enjoyed an unusually long run.

"The Governor's Lady," from the pen of Alice Bradley, is a powerful story, dealing with all the romantic growth of a man who completes his education through his work and contact with big people . His wife is slow in adapting herself to his rapid development. This situation brings out a series of intensely dramatic incidents that have been presented forcefully in the picture.

The story is one that has its parallel in real life, not only in political circles, but in the lives of big business men. "Its fidelity to life is photographic,' said the critics, following the Broadway production of the play. The same was said and written when the production went on the road.

The cast includes Robert T. Haines in the role of the Governor and Jane Grey in the title role. Other principals are Ann Luther, Frazer Coulter, and Leslie Austen.

"The Governor's Lady" comes to the Regent Theatre to-day, Friday, and Saturday.

AT THE CAPITOL

VOTES POUR IN FOR CAPITOL POPULAR SHOP GIRL CONTEST

Votes are pouring in for the popular shop girl contest put on by the Capitol Theatre in which all salesladies in Peterborough retail stores are eligible. Votes are handed to Capitol patrons as they enter the theatre, and may be deposited in a ballot box in the lobby of the Capitol. Announcements of standings will be made shortly.

NEW JACKIE COOGAN PICTURE A CLASSIC

Jackie Coogan's new Metro picture, "A Boy of Flanders," based on Ouida's famous story, comes to the Capitol today, Friday and Saturday.

It deals with Nello, a Flemish lad who is outcast by his townspeople when his aged grandfather dies, leaving him in grinding poverty. Every day after covering his milk route, Nello paints a picture of Petrasche, his Great Dane, and little Alois, daughter of the stern miller. He enters it in a contest and, when the prize is awarded to another, he wanders off in a terrible snowstorm. How he is reinstated in the community and wins the prize, kept this afternoon's audience in death-like suspense. Victor Schertzinger directed the picture under Jack Coogan Senior's supervision.

"THIRD DIMENSION" STEREOSCOPIC MOVIE NOW AT THE CAPITOL

The "third dimension"—depth—is on the screen at last.

The latest and most startling invention in motion picture science, the illusion of perfect perspective which makes actors and objects "stand out" from the screen in a life-like and startling manner, has been used in making "Plastigrams," a one-reel novelty that will be on the screen at the Capitol Theatre today, Friday and Saturday.

Fortunes have been spent trying to perfect a process that would supply the effect of the old stereoscope which graced the parlor table in our grandmother's time, but with the exception of the Ives-Leventhal process, by which "Plastigrams" was made, the results were impractical for ordinary motion picture houses. The new process, which is the invention of Frederic Eugene Ives, inventor of the half-tone process of printing, is so perfected that the use of this stereoscopic picture is possible in any motion picture theatre.

So realistic are the effects obtained through the use of this process, that figures seem to leave the screen and to approach within arm's length of the spectator, and many startling and amazing effects are produced.

EXCEPTIONAL CAST IN "DIZZY DAISY"

One of the biggest comedy casts ever assembled in a two-reel picture will support Louise Fazenda in "Dizzy Daisy," the Jack White Comedy which will appear at the Capitol Theatre today, Friday and Saturday.

Miss Fazenda, who is starred, will be surrounded by a cast consisting in part of Lee Moran, for years featured in comedies, Dick Sutherland, one of the best known "heavies" on the screen, Otto Fries and Jack Lloyd, familiar faces to every theatregoer, and by Virginia Vance and Cliff Bowes, starred in comedies for the last two years.

The picture was produced under the personal supervision of Jack White and directed by Fred Hibbard. It is claimed to be one of the best comedies in which the inimitable Louise has ever appeared.

CHARITY BOARD HELD MEETING

Charity Dispensed by City Unusual For This Time of Year.

The regular monthly meeting of the Charity Board was held Monday night, at the City Hall.

City Relief Officer Finch Miller reported that eight new families had received civic assistance during the month.

This is rather a large addition to the roll of charity recipients for this time of year.

Mr. Miller stated to-day that most of those on the list are in need as a result of the incapacity or sickness of the breadwinner.

"We just have two as a result of unemployment," he remarked, "and that is very unusual as we seldom have to assist any families at this season of the year because of unemployment."

The following is a statement of orders showing expenditure from May 26 to June 30, and for the first siv months of the present year:

	May 26 to June 30	Jan. 1 to June 30
Groceries	$317.00	$1902.60
Fuel	42.00	860.75
Tickets	—	84.35
Homes and Sundries	701.80	1829.11
	$1060.80	$4685.21

The following accounts were received and payment authorized:

J. Allen, $7; M. Braund, $50; J. T. Braund, $33; H. J. Boyle, $22; Collins & Crowe, $38; Curran's Grocery, $6; G. Guirry, $5; M. Halpin, $8; W. H. Hamilton, $8; J. Zacks, $26; Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, $45; E. F. Mason $21; Peterboro Protestant Home, $314; A. Pearson, $12; Peterboro Lumber Co., $42; Mrs. S. Roy, $15; A. Reynolds, $33; John Speer, $16.

Present at the meeting were: Messrs. H. Rush (chairman), F. W. Miller, H. C. Stabler, A. B. Cunningham, J. Speer, G. B. Richardson and J. C. Read.

Canadian Soccer Team Defeated By Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 3.—(Canadian Press).—Canada's touring all-star soccer team was defeated by a team made up of the best players in Victoria by a score of 2 to 1 here yesterday.

Canada played in bad luck, having things all their own way until the last quarter of the match, when the Victorians made a supreme effort and scored twice. Mosher was obliged to retire early in the second half. His loss was keenly felt. No substitutes have been played so far during the tour.

PROHIBITION IS NOT A DETRIMENT

More Tourists Flock to Ontario Than Quebec or British Columbia.

The announcement that there is a prospect that the Ontario Government may hold a referendum in reference to the Ontario Temperance Act has stirred up temperance enthusiasm in and around Peterborough with the result that temperance advocates are gathering information to offset the arguments commonly being used against prohibition. It is understood that a lot of very interesting ammunition is being obtained showing the extent to which bootlegging is being conducted in British Columbia and Quebec, where they have government control.

One of the arguments used against prohibition is that automobile tourists are more likely to visit provinces like Quebec and British Columbia where there is Government control than provinces like Ontario where prohibition is in force. It has often been stated that Quebec's liquor law was bringing large numbers of tourists into that province and that Ontario would be well advised to follow her sister province's example for that reason. It happens that the Dominion Government keeps a record of the number of automobile tourists who come into the various provinces. Local temperance advoctaes are pointing out that the Government figures do not support the contention of the friends of Government control.

These figures, which are published by the highways branch of the railway department, show that in 1923 Ontario was visited by United States automobiles to the number of 1,755,299 for periods varying from twenty-four hours up to six months, while for Quebec the corresponding figures were 100,696 and for British Columbia 63,965.

Of course, a large proportion of the excess of motor car "entries" at customs in Ontario were for twenty-four hours only; but on every test given by the department Ontario still holds the lead. According to the return of entries for "touring purposes" Ontario comes first with 55,524, while Quebec had only 32,035 and British Columbia 36,069. Or again, take the average number of entries for two days to six months per customs port in each province, and Ontario shows up with 7,640, while Quebec has 4,288 and British Columbia 3,690. One need not admit that if government control did attract tourists therefore it is to be desired. But at all events if one does accept that test, then surely the Ontario Temperance Act is holding its own very well.

HOW TO SEND MONEY BY MAIL.

Never send money in an unregistered letter, and never send coins through the mail, because you stand a chance of loss as the coins often break through the envelope.

The letter you send must pass through many hands before it reaches the addressee, and should an unregistered letter containing money become lost, it is next to impossible to trace it and find where the responsibility for loss lies.

On the other hand, if your remittance is sent by Post Office money order or postal note, and the letter is lost, a duplicate is furnished free of charge and you are also assured of the money being paid to the person intended to receive it, as the payee, if unknown, at the Post Office, must be identified before payment is made, so you see there is no danger of loss when sending money in this way.

PREMIER TO MAKE STATEMENT SOON

Plebiscite on Sale of Liquor Not Yet Definitely Decided.

TORONTO, July 3 (Canadian Press). — For over an hour and a half the Ontario Cabinet was in session to-day, with every member of the Government in the city in attendance.

It was rumoured that the plebiscite on the sale of liquor was under consideration.

'Is there anything about a plebiscite?" Premier Ferguson was asked when he left the Council Chambers.

"Not yet," he stated.

"I will make an announcement covering the whole matter in a very short time," said the Premier.

"The reason that I have not made any statement until now is that I believe that an issue such as the temperance question should be kept clear of politics in order that a clear, unbiased expression of opinion might be obtained."

"Mr. McAusland stated that he thought that the plebiscite would be held in October. Is that correct?"

"A lot of other people have been saying the same thing," countered the Premier.

TORONTO GRANTED LEAVE TO APPEAL

The Case is Between Toronto Hydro Commission and Snider Arbitration Board.

LONDON, July 3. — (Canadian Press).—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to-day granted leave to appeal in the case of the Toronto Hydro-Electric Commission and the Snider Arbitration Board. It was explained to Their Lordships that the Electrical Trades Union had applied for a board under the Industrial Disputes Act concerning a dispute between the Union and the Hydro Commission. The latter objected to the jurisdiction of the Board and affirmed that it had no power against them. Its appointment, the Commissioners further declared, interfered with civil rights.

Counsel for the petitioners, in giving the reason of the Commissioners for not appealing the decision of the Appellate Court of Ontario to the Supreme Court of Canada was that they considered the matter was of urgent importance, and therefore took it direct to the Privy Council.

Lord Cave announced that Their Lordships were satisfied that the question was one of great importance, and should be determined as speedily as possible. Leave to appeal was accordingly granted.

OBITUARY.

EVA LA VOIR.

The death took place in Toronto on Tuesday of Eva La Voir, daughter of the late Robert La Voir, formerly of this city. The funeral will take place on the arrival of the C. P.R. noon train to-morrow. Interment will take place at the Little Lake cemetery.

ALBERT E. DIXON.

The community was shocked to learn of the death, on Sunday morning, of Mr. Albert E. Dixon. His illness was of short duration, and the end was not anticipated until pneumonia developed.

He was the son of the late Joseph Dixon, whose father was one of the first eight men from the Mother Country to come to Canada and endure the privations of pioneer settlement in 1818. The original home was erected where the Chemong Road enters the city. In later years it was replaced by the substantial homestead which is well-known to the older members of Peterboro. Here he spent his younger days with his five brothers and one sister. His two surviving brothers reside in the far West.

He selected the legal profession, and after a brilliant career graduated with honors from Osgoode Hall at the age of twenty-one. He practiced in Peterboro until the time of his death, his service being esteemed by a large number of clients. He was the advisor and friend of many, and his loss will be keenly felt.

He was a life-long member of George Street Methodist Church, where he faithfully served in many capacities.

He was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters and of the Peterboro Lodge I.O.O.F. He took a keen interest in Chemong Park, serving for years as secretary of the Cottagers' Association.

He leaves a sorrowing wife, and two sons, Roy and Reginald. Another son Herbert was killed in action, serving with distinction in the Canadian forces.

The funeral was held on Tuesday, July 1st, and the many floral tributes bore testimony of his worth and character.

The beautiful service was conducted by the Rev. Harold Young, assisted by the Rev. Henry Manning.

Members of the Law Association acted as pall-bearers, who were: Judge Huycke, Crown Attorney Hatton, Magistrate Langley, V. T. McElderry, S. T. Medd and J. R. Corkery.

HOUSE REJECTED BANKING REPORT

Of Conservatives Only Leon Ladner, South Vancouver, and W. F. Maclean, of South York.

OTTAWA, July 3. — (Canadian Press).—By a vote of 109 to 32, the House of Commons just before midnight rejected the report of select standing committee on banking and commerce, seeking enlargement of scope of the committte to include the investigation of "some type of Central or Federal Bank System in Canada." The vote came after an all day debate in which support of report and of idea of federal reserve bank, came chiefly from agrarian members of Conservatives only Leon Ladner (South Vancouver) and W. F. Maclean (South York), supported the report. These with J. L. Stansell (East Elgin) were the only Conservatives to vote for the report when division was taken all Liberals and about half a dozen Progressives including J. Fred Johnston, chief Progressive whip voted against.

BAD MANNERS OF U. S. CAUSE TROUBLE

Get a Foreigner in a Frank Frame of Mind and Ask Him What He Thinks of the U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(United Press).—Bad manners of America are responsible for most of her international troubles, Dr. J. Russell Smith, of Columbia University, told delegates to the National Education Association here to-day.

"Get a foreigner into a frank frame of mind and ask him what he thinks of American manners," Dr. Smith said. "He will tell you that their manners are hateful. It is difficult not to hate a man, whose manners are hateful."

The educator also criticized the more vociferous apostoles of "100 per cent. Americanism." Those, he said, who claim for America the one first-class civilization in the world.

"Here is a perfectly useless, perfectly needless, non-profit-making case of international trouble," Smith said. The broader Americanism is polite and humble and not proud and arrogant.

Smith urged teachers of geography to instal sympathy for the problems and achievements of other peoples in their students.

JAPANESE ADVISER WELL PROTECTED

Strong Patrol of Police Surround the Imperial Hotel and His Office.

LONDON, July 3—(United Press)—A strong patrol of police of Tokio has been thrown around the Imperial Hotel and the offices of the Japanese Advertiser, according to a cable to the Times.

The precautions are taken to safeguard Americans, as a result of the incident in which a Japanese lowered the flag at the American Embassy.

Japanese newspapers are not allowed to publish any accounts of the incident.

The Times says that Shidehar apologized to the American Charge De Affaires Caffery within three hours after the latter's request for an investigation, and that Caffery regards the affair as "serious" but an individual matter, not representative of the nation.

CANADIANS' DANCE WEMBLEY FEATURE

Celebrated Dominion Day at Empire Exhibition — Five Hundred Present.

MONTREAL, July 3.—Canadians visiting the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley celebrated Dominion Day in a fitting manner, according to cable advices received yesterday morning at the headquarters of the Canadian National Railways in Montreal. Canadians at the Exhibition on that day were invited to assemble at the building of the Canadian National, and about 500 accepted the invitation. They were met at the pavilion by J. E. Dalrymple, traffic vice - president, William Phillips, European manager, and R. B. Teakle, general manager Canadian Government Merchant Marine. A garden party was held on the lawn which surrounds the building, and the entire party journeyed to "Dance Island," where a Canadian ball was staged. It is believed that practically every Canadian on the grounds was present at one or the other of the two entertainments.

Canada Should Equip at Least Four Cruisers

VANCOUVER, July 3.—(Canadian Press).—When the attention of Vice Admiral Sir Frederick Field now visiting here was drawn last night to the questions asked in the House of Commons at Ottawa on Tuesday, criticizing statement purported to have been made recently in Victoria by commander of British special service squadron to effect that Canada should equip four cruisers, two for service on the Atlantic and two for service on the Pacific, Admiral Field categorically denied that he had made any such observation nor made specific reference as to what Canadian Naval policy should be.

DEMOCRATS HAD NO SUCCESS UP TO LAST NIGHT

Fifty-Six Ballots Taken Fruitlessly, Shattering Previous High Records.

McADOO GAINS

Policy of Waiting for Something to Turn Up Holds Big Convention.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, July 4. — (Canadian Press).—Unable in another long day of balloting to break its deadlock over the nomination, the Democratic National Convention went into another night session yesterday with its leaders apparently as much at sea as ever over ways and means to extricate it from disagreements and vexations.

Four hours of fruitless conferences intervened between the afternoon adjournment and the reassembling of the delegates for another evening under the glare of the great chandeliers in Tex Rickard's vast auditorium, whose walls had looked down on many a bitter contest, but never before on one like this.

It appeared to the delegates that every one of the campaign managers of the rival candidates had taken to himself the philosophy of Micawber, and that each was attempting to out-wait the others in the hope that something would "turn up." How well the delegates liked it was not entirely revealed, and none undertook to predict when they would take matters into their own hands, and go on leaderless to some sort of a nomination.

The fifty-fifth ballot was immediately taken and showed:

McAdoo 496.5; Smith 320.5; Davis 62.5; Ralston 97; scattered 167.5—total 1,098.

On this ballot McAdoo lost half a vote, Smith was unchanged, Davis gained 3½, and Ralston gained 5.

Fifty-Sixth Ballot.

The fifty-sixth roll call went all the way down the list of States to North Carolina before there was a single change from the previous ballot. Then the Tarheel delegation, which had been giving a few scattering votes to Underwood and Davis and the balance to McAdoo, created a moment's diversion by throwing its entire vote of twenty-four into the McAdoo column.

The results showed at the end of the ballot:

McAdoo 430; Smith 320.5; Ralston 97; Davis 58.5; scattered 191.5 — total 1,098.

It was a gain for McAdoo of three and a half, and a loss for Davis of four, with Ralston and Smith unchanged.

Although no resolution will be passed, it is expected the premiers will Individually approve the Government's policy.

STARS AND STRIPES TORN FROM EMBASSY

Tokio Charge Informed That Culprit Was Arrested—Police Apologize.

WASHINGTON, July 4.—(Canadan Press.)— Charge Caffery at Tokio advised the State Department yesterday that he had been officially informed that the man who tore down the United States' flag in the United States' Embassy compound had been arrested, and that a representative of the Tokio Police Department called at the Embassy on July 1st to apologize on behalf of the police.

The ban on publicity was removed on July 1, the Charge said, and the Vernacular press gave the affair much prominence, condemning it in the strongest terms. The Jiji Shimpo characterized the act as "a stain on our national honor."

CIVIL SERVICE RETIRING BILL

Provision Made for Retiring Allowing of $2,500 for Clerk.

OTHER CHANGES

OTTAWA, July 4. — (Canadian Press).—After an afternoon's discussion, the Civil Service superannuation bill yesterday passed committee stage in the House and now stands for third reading. During the proceedings, a clause was inserted providing that if he retires at 70 —two years hence—W. B. Northrup, clerk of the House will receive $2,500 per annum as retiring allowance.

The bill progressed slowly in committee with no change until Clause 10 was reached. Then, after a discussion between Sir Henry Drayton and Hon. J. A. Robb, the latter agreed to alter the clause so as to leave with the head of a department greater discretion in extending the service of a civil servant who has reached the age of 75. The clause sets seventy as the age limit. This may be extended for five years more at the request of a department head. The clause which followed this proviso, and which was struck out in committee read: "But no such extension shall be granted after the expiration of ten years from the date of the coming into force of this act."

Clauses passed until clause 17 was reached. Mr. Robb then moved for the inclusion of a clause 17A which provides for the payment of $2,500 per annum to the present clerk of the House on his retirement. Mr. Robb said that Mr. Northrup, the clerk, was now 68 years of age and under the Act would retire at 70. If he should avail himself of the privilege of retiring in two years he would receive but $960 unless special provision was made. It was considered fitting that Parliament should provide a more adequate retiring allowance than that which would be paid to Mr. Northrup under the Act. Mr. Robb pointed out that the allowance which he proposed was the same amount as that given to the former clerk of the House.

Sir Henry Drayton suggested that on the retirement of Mr. Northrup the present assistant clerk should assume the duties of clerk and assistant. Mr. Beauchie, the assistant clerk was quite capable of handling the work being familiar with both languages.

Mr. Robb agreed that this suggestion was well worth consideration and intimated that it would receive consideration on the retirement of the present clerk.

The remaining clauses of the bill were passed with little discussion.

GIVES POWERS TO FOREIGNER TO EVADE LAW

Objections Made to Proposed Amendment to Immigration Act.

JUSTICE WANTED

Chinese Usurp Positions of 105 Steel Workers, Neill Says.

OTTAWA, July 4. — (Canadian Press).—When a bill to amend the Immigration Act came before the House of Commons last night, A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni, objected to certain features of the bill. It gave powers, he said, to the Minister of Immigration to permit immigrants who had entered the country illegally, to remain here. Mr. Neill drew attention to the fact that 105 Chinese were employed on ships owned by the British Empire Steel Corporation. These orientals, he claimed, had been admitted to the country in direct violation of four sections of the immigration laws which were quoted. The only right they had to remain was a letter from a deputy minister without reference to any statute. These men were on Canadian boats, in Canadian waters, and displacing Canadian men.

J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg Centre) said that the amendments were an attempt to get rid of some of the "vicious legislation" of 1919, but they did not go far enough.

Mr. Woodsworth urged that every man who had been admitted to Canada should be entitled to a fair trial under the laws of the country on any charge which might be brought against him. He was not in favor of the reception or retention of undesirable citizens. But this legislation gave to an official who was not a jurist the right to decide the fate of a citizen who had lived in Canada, perhaps for years.

A. N. McMaster (Liberal, Brome) thought the bill established an undesirable precedent.

Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Immigration, assured the House that persons accused of holding views which were opposed to the social code of the country were not deprived of a fair trial under this bill. It provided for an impartial hearing by an impartial official and afterwards left the accused the right to appeal to the Minister for a review of his case before any deportation action could be taken. He suggested that persons accused of revolutionary tendencies "want justice swiftly and surely."

U. S. MAY TRY TO HELP YOUNG MUIR

Official Intercession by Washington in Sentence of Canadian Court Suggested.

NEW YORK, July 4.—(By Canadian Press).—Great interest is being displayed here in the case of Walter Muir, New York youth, who is under sentence to be hanged at Valleyfield, Quebec, July 11.

A number of influential societies have interested themselves in the case and officials said they were awaiting word from Ottawa as to the decision of the Canadian Government in the case, before taking further steps to secure a commutation of sentence for Muir.

The City Parliament of Local Councils, a federated body representing fifteen community governing bodies in and around New York City, has been active in sending petitions and resolutions to Ottawa and Washington in an attempt to secure a more lenient sentence for Muir.

It was said in well-informed quarters today that unless the decision of the Canadian Government is announced in he near future an attempt will be made to have the Washington Government intercede officially for Muir.

Canada's First Treaty Is Signed in Dominion

OTTAWA, July 4.—(Canadian Press).—A treaty extending the most favored nation treatment between Canada and Belgium was signed at seven o'clock Wednesday evening at Laurier House, Ottawa, by Hon. J. A. Robb, and Hon. Dr. H. Beland, on behalf of Canada, and Baron De Selys, Consul General for Belgium, in the presence of the Prime Minister. This is the first treaty entered into by the Canadian Government, and signed in Canada. Full powers from His Majesty, the King, to sign the treaty on behalf of Canada were received a few days ago by Hon. Mr. Robb and Hon. Dr. Beland.

DOOLEY'S THIRD HIS LAST, SURE

Comedian Wed in Jersey Because He Owes $2,100 to No. 2 in Yonkers.

HIS LUCKY TIME

NEW YORK, July 4.—Johnnie Dooley, one of Broadway's favorite comedians, yesterday took another wife "until death do us part."

It was Johnnie's third venture. While his Adam's apple did a daily dozen, Johnnie explained to 200 admiring friends jammed in Mayor Breidenbach's office in Newark, N.J., one moment after the ceremony:

"This is my last marriage folks—honest. She's the girl of my dreams, and sa-ay, she's going to be permanent. I don't want to steal Nat Goodwin's record, no, sires! I had bad luck the other times, but now—"

An expansive smile and a roll of the eyes toward Mrs. Johnnie Dooley the third expressed his deep appreciation of her willingness to darn his stockings for a lifetime.

The bride? Oh, she is that diminutive little brunette who trips a frolicsome toe in the Winter Garden.

Johnnie is thiry-seven, and Connie is not ashamed of her twenty-five years. Just before he led the procession of thirty-five cars to the Jersey side he expalined:

"You see, there are, er—certain legal entaglements concerning my marital status in New York State. So we're going to have Newark's Mayor do it in proper style."

The "certain legal entaglements" evidently referred to Johnnie being behind in alimony payments to Wife No. 2. He owes her $2100, and Johnnie is praying that she will "have a heart" and not collect a cent.

Johnnie's optimism is based on the fact that the ex-wife Yvette Rugel of the vaudeville stage, was married again a few days ago in Atlantic City.

As Johnnie might say himself:

"When a gal goes and gets a 14-karat husband herself, why should she want silver out of me?"

But Johnnie didn't take chances. That was why that ceremony was performed over on the Jersey side.

FIVE BRANCH LINE BILLS WERE KILLED

Four of the Lines Are in Saskatchewan and the Fifth is in Nova Scotia.

OTTAWA, July 4 (Canadian Press). — Five Canadian National Branch Line Bills were killed in the Senate yesterday.

Four of the lines are in Saskatchewan ,the fifth is in Nova Scotia.

The four Saskatchewan lines are: Turtleford to near Hafford, Lloydminster north-westerly, 45 miles; from Radville, Bengough or Ritchie; from Nipwain north-easterly.

The first three were killed either by formal motion to hoist or by non-approval of the preamble, the fourth was killed by concurrence in a report from the Senate Railway Committee that construction of the line is 'not expedient."

The Nova Scotia line from Sunnybrae to Guysboro was killed in the same manner.

Three Alberta lines received third reading. A joint section from Rosedale, from Rosedale westerly, and between Hanna and Warden.

TO CHLORINATE WATER AT CITY BATHING BEACH

Toronto Medical Officer of Health Renews Last Year's Recommendation.

PROTECT HEALTH

Would Discharge Chlorine Into Stream From a Motor Boat.

TORONTO, July 4. — Considerable cost will be added to the operation of the city's five free bathing stations for children, as well as the two bathing places at Sunnyside, if a proposal of Dr. Hastings, M.O.H. to chlorinate all the waters is put into effect. The only estimate of the cost available is based upon what treatment costs in the District of Columbia, U.S. where the Potomac River bathing places are treated at a cost of two cents per bather per bath

"Last year we took up with the Harbor Commission the question of administering some sort of chlorine treatment to the waters of the Sunny side pools, but the commissioners then declared the cost to be prohibitive," said Dr. Hastings, yesterday morning. "We will be presenting the matter to them again soon, and we propose that every city bathing station should receive the same protection. Cost should not enter into the matter if the public health is threatened."

Don Tests Favorable

Dr. Hastings was asked particularly about the hygienic condition of the free bathing station for boys in the upper Don River.

"We have the water tested regularly and the reports are invariably favorable at the Don," said the M.O.H. "The water there is free of the bacteria which is to be feared. There is a certain amount of sewage discharged into the Don, but there is a constant movement of the stream We are, however, considering chlorination of the Don at present. It will probably be done from a motor-boat. Chlorine will be discharged into the water."

Dr. Hastings said that chemical treatment of open lake and river waters is not new. Most of the large American cities have been protecting their bathers in this way.

EMPLOYMENT VERY QUIET IN TORONTO

Six Thousand Five Hundred Men Walk the Streets in Search of Work.

TORONTO, July 4 (Canadian Press). — "Things are still very quiet but there is a hopeful tendency abroad," was the epitome of the present labour situation in Toronto given at the Government Employment Office yesterday.

There are still a large number of men out of work, and it is estimated that there are registered, including men who keep getting casual jobs for a day or so, no fewer than 6,500 in the city.

This is a state of affairs that has had no parallel in recent years.

Last year at this time men were at a premium for construction and building work.

Practically the only avenue of any size through which men are being sent to work is on farms to which over 200 went last week.

Building, after the boom last year, is apathetic, permits totalling from $6,000,000 to $7,000,000 less than for the corresponding si months of 1923.

One Child Was Killed In Toronto Smash-up

TORONTO, July 4 (Canadian Press). — One child is dead and four others wer injured in accidents yesterday.

A little boy was killed by being run over by a motor car. Three others were hurt by vehicles, while a little girl was injured when she fell from a bench.

Roy Daniel Perkins, of 86 Woolfrey Avenue, died early yesterday morning in the Hospital for Sick Children, of a fractured skull. The little boy was playing on the sidewalk on Woolfrey Avenue on Wednesday night, when, the police declare, he ran out on to the roadway and was struck by an automobile.

The body of young Perkins was taken to the morgue, where an inquest will be held immediately.

MOVIES HELP SCULPTOR

A young sculptor in Paris, George Fite Waters, is achieving phenomenal success in catching the characteristic expressions of his models. And he does it without subjecting them to hours of tireless posing. They call, have tea and chat as he films them. Then by projecting the film slowly he is able to accomplish his preliminary work. Only when the work is well advanced is there a sitting. Here he is at work on a bronze of Vladimir Rosing, one of Europe's youngest and most promising musicians.

BABOON JUMPED ON BABY THIEF

Visitor in Algeria Did Not Know Friendly Monkeys Would Fight.

NARROW ESCAPE

NEW YORK, July 4.—Augustus D. Curtis, who has returned from a trip around the world on the Canadian Pacific steamship Empress of Canada, had two narrow escapes from death on the journey. The first occurred when he was attacked by baboons in Algeria, the second when he took part in an elephant hunt in Ceylon.

Mr. Curtis belongs to the Adventurers' Club, in which the late Theodore Roosevelt took an active interest. He was accompanied on his trip by his wife and son Darwin, who inherits his father's enjoyment of the chase for big game in out-of-the-way places. Telling of his adventure with the baboons, Mr. Curtis says:

"With several fellow-passengers of the Empress of Canada I took an excursion into the interior of Algeria, and came upon a ravine that was alive with baboons of many sizes. They seemed to be a friendly lot. When I found a baby baboon that proved easy to catch, I decided to take it home for my small menagerie. As I started off with the young baboon under my arm, the other animals set up a terrific screeching, apparently in protest.

"I had almost left the ravine when one animal, nearly the size of a young orang-outang, leaped from the branch of a tree under which I was passing, alighted on my back, and grasped me around the neck with a strangle-hold. When I felt its arms tightening about my throat, I dropped the baby monkey and tried to dislodge my adversary. The baboon was clawing savagely at my face when one of my companions rushed to my aid and knocked him loose with a kodak tripod. The baboon turned and ran up the tree from which he had jumped.

"I did not realize at the time that the attack was particularly dangerous, but I was told by a native that baboons have been known to beset men seeking to abduct their young, and to tear their faces to bits with claws and teeth."

Undeterred by his experience with the baboons, Mr. Curtis captured a young elephant which is being sent home by freight.

CROP REPORT GOOD.

REGINA, Sask., July 4.—(Canadian Press).—Fairly favorable in most districts is the gist of the Weekly Crop Report of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, issued yesterday. The southwest and part of the central areas of the province report crops above the average. These districts have sufficient moisture for present needs but rains are needed in other parts. Slight damage is reported at scattered points from cut-worms, hail and frost.

PIRACY CHARGE IN RUM-RUNNING

Winnipeg Lawyer Tells of Being Carried Off by Bootleggers.

SHIP DISGUISED

MONTREAL, July 4.—(Canadian Press).—Reminiscences savoring of Captain Kidd's adventures and piratical deeds were recalled here yesterday afternoon before Chief Justice Decarie when J. M. Isaac, a Winnipeg lawyer, testified on the charge of piracy on the high seas against Captain Sam C. Ford. He told of having been handcuffed on the steamer Lutzen together with the supercargo Jack Morris, and kept in the bottom of the hold while Captain Ford and confederates who had invaded the ship, proceeded to disguise it and engaged in selling the cargo of whiskey and other liquors to bootleggers along the coast of Long Island, a few miles from New York City.

In cross-examination Isaac declared he was at St. John N.B. last October when he found out that four hundred case of liquor were shipped on the Lutzen by a wine and spirit company of that city. He testified that Captain Ford had threatened to "drill a hole through him if he ever dared to speak of the affair later."

The name of the ship was changed to the S.S. Gama. After the cargo had been sold he and Morris were taken to Bermuda where they were compelled to sign fictitious names on the crews list. Isaac admitted he was partially interested in the cargo of the Lutzen. He denied however having made the statement that he was himself on a bootlegging expedition when the ship was raided.

It was at this point that Isaac acknowledge that the Montreal address he had given was only temporary and that his permanent address was No. 2 Ruskin Road, Winnipeg. Answering a question by the Judge, he said he was a lawyer by profession.

The hearing was then postponed until next Tuesday.

SHIPPING NEWS

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., July 4.—(Canadian Press). — Three full cargoes of wheat for Port Colborne, one full cargo of oats for Dept Harbor and one full cargo of flax to Chicago constituted the day's shipments from the ports of Fort William and Port Arthur, yesterday making a total of 729,000 bushels. The Collingwood and Marquette finished discharging their coal cargoes and the former took on wheat while the latter cleared light for ore. Only one boat, the United States freighter Reiss, was loading grain yesterday evening and no grain boats are reported coming up.

MONTREAL, July 4.—(Canadian Press).—Arrived yesterday: Canadian Britisher, Vancouver; Baron Elibank, Glasgow.

UNITED STATES HELP EXPECTED TO FIX EUROPE

Ramsay MacDonald Says America is Too Wise to Jump Into Arena.

MORAL OBLIGATION.

British Premier Believes Duty as a World Nation Will be Carried Out.

LONDON, July 4.— (Canadian Press.)—The British Prime Minister, speaking at Abergwynfi, Wales, yesterday, and expressing pleasure that the United States had consented to attend the Allied conference, said he did not expect the United States to come in now to help solve the European problems.

"She is too wise to do that," said Mr. McDonald, "but there is no great nation on the face of the earth, no nation like America, mighty in the quality of its people, powerful in its wealth and riches, that can isolate itself from the others. There is a moral obligation to take an interest, and no people, once they feel they have a moral obligation, will bear it more manfully and loyally than our kindred people of the United States."

CONFERENCE KNOCK PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Power Men in Convention Believe Private Interests Protect Public.

LONDON, July 4.— (Canadian Press.)—The discussions yesterday before the World Power Conference seemed to indicate a preference for private enterprise as opposed to Government ownership or control. Guy E. Tripp, Chairman of the Board of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, considered that under the existing system of public regulation the people of the United States were better protected by private interests against waste, extravagance and dishonest methods than they would be by public ownership. He believed that the adoption of Government ownership of the super-power system would impair public credit and introduce a positive political menace.

In the technical section numerous engineers advocated using steam at much higher temperatures and pressure than now is customary, as a means of reducing the consumption of coal. W. S. Monroe, president of Sarganet and Landy, Chicago, instanced an installation where steam was used at a pressure of 550 pounds, and Sir James Kemnal, Managing Director of Babcock and Wilcox, London, said he anticipated the use of pressure as high as 1,500 pounds, thus cutting coal consumption nearly one-third.

C. E. Davies Resigns Position With C. N. R.

TORONTO, July 4 (Canadian Press). — After twenty years of service, C. E. Davies, general superintendent of the Canadian National Telegraphs, is resigning.

He has sent in his resignation, to become effective as soon as possible.

Mr. Davies was made assistant general manager on the 1st of January, but he occupied that position only one day, when the general manager, the late George C. Jones, died.

He was acting general manager until Mr. Jones' successor was appointed.

Jugo Slav Frontier Guards Were Killed

ROME, July 4—(United Press.) —Two Jugo Slav frontier guards were killed in a frontier skirmish near Trieste, according to reports from that city, which said the fighting took place on Italian territory. The guards repeatedly fired toward an inland post and the garrison, thinking it was being, attacked, returned the fire.

REGULATOR OF CANAL TESTED

Automatic Device Displacing Stop Logs Was Designed by W. H. Pretty of the Peterboro Staff.

SET UP AT DAM 10.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 4. — W. H. Pretty, of the engineers' staff of the Trent Canal, Peterboro, was in town yesterday to witness the testing of the new electrical automatic regulator at Dam 10, which was designed by Mr. Pretty. Power, which is obtained from the municipal plant was turned on yesterday for the first time. The test was satisfactory, but some minor adjustments will be required before the plant is in perfect working order.

A detailed description of this apparatus was given in The Examiner recently. It is designed to do away with stop logs by the automatic control of the level of the water in the Trent Canal, and to avoid the danger of flooding the town in the event of accidents to any of the dams in the district. If it works satisfactorily, as there is every reason to believe it will, it is likely that similar plants will be installed at other points on the canal.

The mechanical parts of the outfit, including the gates, were supplied by the William Hamilton Company of Peterboro, and the electrical machinery by the C.G.E.

Methodist Garden Party.

The annual garden party of the Methodist Church was held last night on the church lawn, which was scarcely large enough to accommodate the crowd that gathered from town and country. The grounds were brilliantly lighted, as were the various booths, all of the latter doing a flourishing business. Refreshments were served on the European plan. The Northumberland Regiment Band, under the leadership of R. T. Cowell, who has recovered from his recent illness, rendered a fine programme of secular and sacred music.

The amount of the receipts was not known last night, but the surplus will be satisfactory, judging by the business done during the entire evening by the various departments.

Princess Theatre Sold.

Mrs. George Parish, of Niagara Falls, has purchased the Princess Theatre from Mrs. Lena Phillips, and will take possession at once. The house will be managed by Mrs. Parish's husband. The theatrical business is a new venture for Mr. and Mrs. Parish, but after looking over the ground they are satisfied with the outlook for a successful business.

The re-opening will be held as soon as certain repairs have been made to the interior of the building.

Giving up Business.

Ex-Reeve J. A. Anderson, who has conducted a general store on Tice street since coming here from Morganston, where he was engaged in a similar line, 13 years ago, is holding a sale of his stock, and announces his intention of leaving town. He is not yet ready to announce his plans for the future, but the store as well as the stock, and Mr. Anderson's residence on Canrobert street, will be sold. For the former building, a three story brick, he has already received two offers, both from local parties.

Mr. Anderson, whose son Harry has been in partnership with him since coming of age, was reeve of Campbellford last year, and even those who took exception to his attitude on several public questions, are ready to concede his sincerity, and to recognize the pertinacity with he stuck to what he regarded as principal, to the end. He is a prominent member of the Masonic Order and a former president of the Liberal-Conservative Association in this riding. He is a member of the session of St. Andrew's church, and Superintendent of the Sunday school

16 LB. 'LUNGE.

Dr. S. L. O'Hara and J. I. Adams spent half an hour fishing at Crow Bay and in that time landed three 'lunges. The largest of these was caught by Mr. Adams, and weighed 16 pounds.

Personals.

Judge E. C. S. Huycke of Peterboro, who held Division Court here on Wednesday, remained over for a fishing trip for a few days.

Harry Forrest of Memphis, Tenn., is visiting his cousin, Howard Forrest of town, and other relatives and friends in the district. Mr. Forrest, who was born here, left home for the United States about 14 years ago and is now southern sales manager for the Arbuckle Coffee Company, of New York.

Sergt. George T. Salter, formerly with the Campbellford Cloth Company, is now storekeeper for the Hydro at the power house now in course of construction at Dam 8.

William Sarginson has been engaged as blacksmith at the same place.

Dr. W. A. Murphy motored to Toronto, accompanied by his sister, Miss Gertrude, who remained there, and who will prepare to continue her studies in that city. Miss Murphy was a student at the High School here during the past year. Dr. Murphy returned by way of Lindsay, his former home, to spend a day at the Old Boys' Reunion.

R. T. Cowell leaves on Saturday for a camping trip on the Ottawa Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Adams motored to Norwood Wednesday, to visit with friends.

HASTINGS VOTES FAVOR OF BY-LAW

Fixed Assessment Granted to the Hastings Tanning Company.

HASTINGS, July 4. — The vote taken yesterday by the property holders of the village of Hastings for granting a fixed assessment to the Hastings Tanning Company, Limited, on all property and assets of the company in the municipality of $7,000.00 for a term of ten years from January 1, 1925, resulted as follows:

Number of votes polled, 190. 178 for by-law; 11 against by-law; 1 ballot spoiled.

Mr. Alex. Wilson acted as deputy returning officer, and Mr. E. Perrault acted as poll-clerk. The assessment does not affect the company's liability for school taxes and local improvement rates.

Thompson—Whithead.

The wedding was solemnized on Wednesday afternroon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Whithead, Rosedhill Ave., Toronto, of Greeta Brophy Whithead to Mr. W. C. Thompson, son of Rev. and Mrs. D. A. Thompson, of Hastings. The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's father. The bride was given away by her father, and wore a dress of flat grey crepe with hat and shoes to match. She carried a bouquet of roses, orchids and lilies of the valley, and was attended by her sister, Miss Norma Whithead, who wore grey georgette and a corsage bouquet of mauve sweet peas and lilies of the valley. The groom was supported by his brother, Rev. E. A. Thompson, of Monkton, Ont. Miss Helen Whithead, a cousin of the bride, played the wedding march.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home.

The young couple left by motor to the Adirondacks, and on their return will reside in Toronto.

A Presentation.

At the closing exercises held in the Dutch Line School, Miss Mamie Davidson, who has been the teacher for the past three years, and is now leaving, was presented with the following address:

Dear Miss Davidson,—It is with mingled feelings of regret and pleasure that we assemble here this afternoon. Regret because you are leaving us, and pleasure because we have the opportunity of spending another social afternoon with you.

No doubt we have annoyed you many times in the past three years, but we are feeling to-day that we are losing a good teacher and a dear friend. Even if you are not with us any more, we will always remember the happy days we have spent together at school and at our homes.

Now before you leave us, Miss Davidson, we feel we must show in some tangible way our love to you. So now we ask you to accept these knives and forks and spoons, as only a slight token, and we sincerely hope that it may always be to you a reminder of the many days that we mingled together.

Signed on behalf of your school children.

Funeral Yesterday.

The funeral of Mr. Joseph Gould was held from his residence on the Norwood Road on Thursday afternoon, and was very largely attended. The Canadian Order of Foresters, No. 618, marched in a body to the house, and the service at the grave was conducted by the society, of which he was a member.

Deceased was born in Percy Township, and came to take up residence in Hastings about twenty-five years ago.

Besides his wife and two sons, Joseph and Maxwell, two sisters and one brother survive.

Rev. M. L. Hinton, pastor of the Methodist Church, had charge of the service at the home, and spoke very highly of the deceased.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. C. P. Doughty, J. C. Wilson, Arthur Knight, Henry McMillian, Alex. B. Smith and L. B. Scriver.

Interment took place in Trent Valley Cemetery.

OBITUARY.

ROBERT MEIN.

The community was shocked to learn of the sudden death yesterday afternoon of Mr. Robert Mein, 538 Harvey street.

Deceased has lived in Peterboro practically all his life, being born in Otonabee.

He was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, and was a faithful member of the choir for many years.

He leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing wife and one daughter, Mrs. A. H. Lang, of Toronto, his only son, Ernest, being killed over-seas in action; also his aged mother, Mrs. John Mein, one sister, Mrs. A. C. McCrea, and one brother, A. J. Mein of this city, and Mrs. A. Mather, of Hamilton, survive.

The funeral will be held from his late residence on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

London City Council Wants 2c. Postage Rate

LONDON, Ont., July 4 (Canadian Press). — The City Council, at its meeting on Monday night, will adopt a resolution calling upon the Federal Government to restore the old two-cent postage rate as a means of encouraging a return to normalcy and the betterment of conditions in business.

The announcement was made yesterday of the Council having taken the question up with a view to leading the movement in Western Ontario, that, it is hoped, will spread across the country.

STIRLING FARM CROPS PLEASING

Prospects of Bountiful Harvest Improved by Recent Showers—Cheese Prices Higher.

INDIAN RIVER NEWS

INDIAN RIVER, July 4.—At a recent meeting of the Indian River U.F.Y.P.O. Club, after a short program had been conducted, the club secretary, Miss Mary Lynch, also school teacher in the locality, was called upon to take a chair on the platform, while the following address was read:

Dear Miss Lynch,—

It was with a feeling of regret that we, the members of Indian River U.F.Y.P.O. heard of your departure from among us.

You have only been immediately connected with our club for a short time, but long before you became an active member you had assisted us many times as judge in our county debates, and to you we owe in a measure the success which attended our efforts last year.

We trust that your new duties may place you where the pleasant relations already begun may be carried on.

As a slight token of our esteem, we ask you to accept this little gift, and trus that its daily use may remind you of the many good times we have spent together here, and speak of the good will of the club as a whole.

We all unite in wishing you success wherever you may go and hope that our re-unions may be many.

Signed on behalf of the club—Ruby Bolton, David Forsythe.

David Forsythe then presented the secretary with a handsome manicure set. Miss Lynch expressed her thanks and appreciation in a few well chosen words. The meeting closed with God Save the King.

Ruffians at Work On an Orland Home

ORLAND, July 4.— While Mr. M. Austin and family of Codrington, were away from home Sunday evening about a dozen young men of the surrounding neighborhood destroyed a lot of shrubbery, dug up flower beds and plugged up the chimneys on both the store and house.

Mr. Austin arrived on the scene a little sooner than was expected and it is alleged secured enough information that he was able to place the matter in the hands of the Crown Attorney at Cobourg.

Interesting developments are expected to result.

The public generally complain of misdemeanors of all kinds from this source and will be glad if there is a stop put to their evil work.

CREPES POPULAR

For mid-summer the crepes and chiffons come to the front. This season many of the loveliest ones are in plaids in tartan patterns or in black and white with just a touch of some vivid color.

FIRE DESTROYED LOUISE CHATEAU

Famous Palace in Clouds at Lake Louise Was Completely Ruined by Fire Tuesday.

LAKE LOUISE, Alta., July 4.—(Canadian Press).—Two fire blacken ed walls and heap of smouldering debris was all that remained to-day of the original Lake Louise Chateau famous "palace in the clouds." The fire which broke out in the main kitchen Thursday noon, raised the whole structure to the ground and was checked only when concrete walls and steel fire doors of new wing of the Chateau were reached.

Six persons all members of staff five Japanese and one white man, were burned and injured when they jumped to safety from second floor, but of the two hundred guests, who were registered when fire broke out, all escaped injury.

Canadian Pacific Railway officials are busily engaged in settling claims for baggage and personal belongings and consequently are unable to give an official estimate of the damage. It was stated, however that it will reach nearly $250,000

The fire is thought to have originated through an overheated stove in the kitchen. The building and contents, outside of the guests' belongings, were fully covered by insurance.

NEWS FROM TWEED

Miss Gladys Elliott Sails For the Old Country With Other Teachers.

TWEED, July 4. — Miss Gladys Elliott of Tweed sails to-day from Montreal for the old country, in company with two hundred teachers. They are going to visit the homes of famous poets in the British Isles. They will land first in Ireland, and then cross to Scotland and England. While in England they will spend a week at the British Empire Exhibition. The tour will be completed by the first of September. Miss Elliott and three friends will then leave the party and proceed to Paris where they intend to study French until Christmas.

Crusher Disabled.

The cap on the main box of the stone crusher at Millbridge was broken on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Ray, road superintendent, brought it to the Dominion Foundry in Tweed that evening, and he was given a new one at three o'clock Thursday afternoon. The casting weighed 95 pounds. This seems like very swift service.

JABOTS POPULAR

The pleated jabot of lace or chiffon is used effectively on the black crepe or satin gown that clings to long sleeves no matter how the mercury climbs.

FREE SWIMMING LESSONS.

The Parks Committee of the City Council is to be commended upon its arrangement by which citizens who are anxious to learn to swim will be given instruction by the caretakers at Inverlea Park and the Lake street bathing beach.

Instructors have been secured who are capable of coaching beginners, and their services will be available at certain hours daily during the season, thus providing an opportunity for those who have not mastered the art of swimming to learn under safe auspices.

To the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. great credit must be given for the number of capable swimmers turned out of these institutions, but in spite of what they have accomplished there are doubtless many citizens who have never learned anything about swimming and would be helpless if they were to be capsized out of a canoe or happened to fall off the gang plank of a steamer.

They should avail themselves of the chance that is offered by the city's free swimming lessons at the two municipal swimming beaches.

A few hours a week devoted to learning the rudiments of swimming will be voted time well spent.

THE PLEBISCITE.

Premier Ferguson has promised that there will be an announcement in the very near future in regard to the plebiscite on the Ontario Temperance Act.

In view of the statements made by Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey and J. A. McCausland, M.P.P., to the effect that there will be a vote taken before the end of October, a definite pronouncement from the Premier would seems to be in order.

If there is to be a plebiscite before next November the people are entitled to know it at once.

Both "wets" and "drys" should be given a chance to gird their loins for the fray.

On the other hand, if there is to be no vote this year that fact should be established without loss of time.

There would be nothing gained in allowing the Province to get all worked up about nothing.

The majority of people have a shrewd suspicion, however, that the date of the vote has already been decided upon.

Mr. Ferguson should speak up and set all rumours at rest by officially announcing the day upon which the people will have a chance of expressing their opinion of the Ontario Temperance Act.

THE FIELD INCIDENT.

Admiral Field, in command of the British naval squadron which is touring the Empire, is reported to have made at a banquet in his honour on the Pacific Coast a suggestion in regard to how Canada could best help to strengthen the Empire6s naval forces.

His remark has apparently caused a mild sensation among some of the members of the Canadian Parliament, and one of them remarked brusquely: "Tell him to mind his own business."

It is difficult to see why the legislators at Ottawa should be so upset.

The Admiral's advice was that of an expert, of a sailor who fought in the Battle of Jutland and throughout the war, and it was given courteously and in anything but a carping manner.

He represents the British Navy for whose existence Canadians daily gave praise during the Great War.

To suggest that he should be "told to mind his own business" is to affront the whole naval forces of the Empire whose envoy he is.

Perhaps any reference to Canada's naval policy was a mistake, but then the Admiral is a sailor and a fighter and not a politician—and he cannot be expected to know all the red tape of Parliamentary dignitary.

Ottawa could well have afforded to overlook the whole incident.

Our participation in the naval defence of the Empire, or even of our own shores, is so sketchy and inadequate that we should be glad to preserve a discreet silence on the matter.

MISS BOULTON'S MISSION.

Miss Constance Boulton has returned from England where she has been lecturing for the last six months in the interests of immigration for the Province of Ontario.

It must have been a very interesting and enjoyable trip for Miss Boulton, who was acting in an official capacity as representative of the Ontario Government.

She is a fluent speaker, and her glowing description of Ontario and its possibilities doubtless made a very favourable impression upon her Mritish hearers.

But the point naturally rises here as to whether or not the Ontario Government is justified in view of present conditions in the Province in sending orators to the Old Country to persuade the people of the Motherland that a nexodus to Canada is a necessity.

Perhaps conditions here are much better than in England just now; perhaps there are better chances for success, but granting that, the existing situation does not call for immigration on a large scale.

There is much unemployment, even at this season of the year when outdoor work should be at its height.

Depression has hit many parts of the United States, with the result that Canadians who were tempted to cross the border by the prospects of higher wages now find themselves out of work, and they are coming home again.

We're glad to have them, but they increase the number of unemployed and make it that much more difficult to digest a large amount of immigration.

THE TAX ON LETTERS.

More than five years having elapsed since the close of the war, it is time the Dominion Government considered the advisability of removing the tax on first-class mail matter, says the London Free Press. It is by no means a luxury impost, any more than the collection of four cents on a 15-cent box of matches, and a number of other vexatious, if hitherto unnecessary, charges under which the Canadian public labors at the present time. It not only concerns directly the whole population of the Dominion, but constitutes a heavy burden on business of all kinds, adding to the overhead which must in the end be passed on to the buying public.

The Free Press advocated a two-cent letter rate back in 1890, when the ordinary postage was three cents, and there was no precedent for a lesser charge. At that time the postal service was being extended to all parts of the Dominion, involving heavy outlay, but it was argued that loss in revenue through a reduced rate would be easily made up by increased use of the mails, and in due course the Government made the change. The Great War brought new taxation in this and other countries, but a stage has been reached when readjustments may reasonably be looked for. New Zealand within the past three months led the way by reverting to penny postage, and even from Great Britain the letter rate is lower than ours to Britain to the extent of our one-cent tax.

It is not a desirable condition that letters should travel from Detroit to London, for example, at two-thirds the cost of mail from Windsor. The United States has added enormously to its post-war obligations by adoption of a soldiers' bonus, but that is not being made the occasion of a tax on business by means of an increased letter rate. The Canadian Government might have pleaded increased salaries to postal workers had that course been taken in the recent dispute, but there is no added liability of importance in that respect. The postal system is one that pays its way, and we have it on the authority of George W. Kyte, M.P., Liberal Whip, speaking in London the other evening, that the King Government has a surplus of $35,000,000 for the past fiscal year. That being the case, taxpayers generally will look for removal of some items of extraordinary taxation, and surely none could be better spared than that on letters.

SWIFT CANADIAN JUSTICE.

Less than three months ago, on April 1 to be exact, a gang of bandits in Montreal held up and robbed a bank collection car, the driver of the car being killed in the fray as well as one of the bandits. On Monday of this week, in a Montreal courtroom, six of these bandits were sentenced to execution, and unless there is some intervention they will be hanged on October 24. They have four months of life left.

There can be no claim made that their trial was unduly hastened or that they were not given a fair trial. The evidence was conclusive enough for the jury to return its verdict in 11 minutes. If there is room for executive clemency in the case of one or more, the delay of four months is quite sufficient for its proper presentation before the Department of Justice.

This Montreal episode is uncommon in but one respect, namely, the number of those found guilty at one time and sentenced at one time. Yet in this city itself but a short time ago a judge called three men before him and sentenced them to death, and two out of the three were executed within a few weeks. Circumstances in connection with the case of the third man brought a commutation to life imprisonment. The ratio between murders and executions in this country is high and for that reason the total of murders is not great.

There are many thinking people in the United States who point this way as a model for their own land. There has come to be in the courts of the Republic such a number of openings for legal quibbling and objections to delay justice that the number of murders is constantly growing, while the number of executions appears to diminish. Millions of people are speculating today as to whether or not the two Chicago degenerates, Loeb and Leopold, will ever really pay for the inhuman crime they perpetrated recently. A Chicago paper of the last few days speaks of the group of alienists who are in session over every kind of evidence that may indicate that these two rich young fools were abnormal in any way. Abnormality of mind is not regarded in this country as excuse for a crime. These two youths would be found guilty in a Canadian court in short order if it were made plain that they knew what they were doing when they murdered the boy, whom they had kidnapped. A plea that their search for emotional excitement might in any way lessen the enormity of their crime would be regarded as an insult to the intelligence of a Canadian judge and jury.

It is not fair to judge all American courts by those of Illinois, or of some other States, for that matter. While most of the States suffer from an undue amount of law and too little scope for cool, cold justice, there are States where the pleas that are set up in Illinois would be viewed with as much disdain as in Canada. The general effect, however, of all the other devices of a professional class has been to break down some of that respect for law and justintroduction of technicalities, delays, injunctions and tice which should be inherent in Anglo-Saxon peoples. The prevalence of crime of the most terrible kind is in part a result of the belief slowly but steadily formed and still forming that it is possible to defeat the law if you have a good lawyer and particularly if you have the needed money. The legal profession in the United States is getting to the point where the preservation of its traditional standards will require a drastic housecleaning of its practices and it may be of many of its members. Else there will be a general conception that the sole purpose of law is to provide a livelihood for lawyers and shield criminals from punishment.—London Free Press.

THE WATER ROUTE TO THE WEST.

For those who this summer are intend upon seeing the glories of Jasper National Park, the Canadian Rockies, or the Pacific Coast, travelling part of the way by water makes a delightful break in the long journe..

By rail to Sarnia—thence to Port Arthur aboard the luxurious steamers of the Northern Navigation Co., the traveller loses very little time, and is amply repaid by the change of scene, cool lake breezes and social life on board.

There is dancing every evening, concerts, sing-songs and promenading, not to mention the quiet hours reclining in a comfortable deck chair with a book or magazine. The cuisine is excellent and the staterooms rival the comfort of the great ocean liners.

Any agent of the Canadian National Railways or Northern Navigation Company will gladly give full particulars or illustrated booklet.

A THOUGHT

AN INSTITUTION

Any organization that aids in an ambition to use in business or professional life higher ideals and more lofty principles will live, even though its members make mistakes.

Any organzation that invites the membership of men of sober, conservative habits, or of religious practice, must either make its more generous-minded men conform to the conservative course or subject itself to criticism and the lack of full cooperation.

When men are gathered together in the name of any organization, they are no longer just individuals—they are an institution with an influence for or against "higher ideals."

Whether it is best for the conservative to be charitable or whether it is best that the boisterous be put to bed by fraternal friends, is a question that the individual member can settle for himself, but depending much on the way this thing is settled, tells of the permanent progress of an organization.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, July 4.—In view of the fact that the one national holiday of the year came along this week, the receipts of cattle from all parts of the province over the holiday was not very large, yesterday's being especially light, a little over 100 cattle. Even at that trade was slow and the supply from the left-overs of Wednesday ample for all demands. Choice butchers, what there were of them, ranged in price from 6¾ cents to 7¼ cents, while the few exporters offered sold from 7 cents to 8 cents a pound. A few fat cows that went as export cattle brought 6 cents, but this was exceptional. The cattle trade as a whole was slow.

Bulls are in light supply in the last two days, only about two dozen being sold on the market and ranging in price from 3 cents to 5 cents per lb. The trade in store cattle has also been slow, not above two full carloads being brought in.

Sheep and Lambs.

The lamb market opened up strong holding well at Wednesday's prices, but failed to hold the advance, starting at from 16c to 16½, but closing at around from 15c to 15½c. The run of lambs yesterday was 328 and this lot was soon cleaned up, though as stated at the decline toward the last. The sheep trade held steady; medium to light sheep brought from 5c to 6c, heavy 3 to 3¼c, culls 2c to 4c and breeding ewes 4 to 6¼c.

Calves—The calf market was slow, has been all week. Good to choice 7½ to 8¼; medium to good 6c to 7c, culls 3½ to 4½ and fair calves 5c to 5½. The calf market is dropping off and next Monday will likely see smaller receipts with lower prices. That is the prospect at the present time.

Hogs—The hog market is unchanged with price running at 8c f.o.b. and from $8.70 to $8.90 off cars.

The Export Trade.

Touching on the export cattle trade, H. P. Kennedy, head of the H. P. Kennedy, Ltd., said that the export trade during the season had been quite heavy, practically all the steamers space being well taken up, especially those sailing to Birkenhead and Glasgow. Some of the boats running to Manchester showed a loss. Receipts of Irish cattle according to the last report received by the firm, are increasing each week and prospects are for a sharp reduction in prices within the next thirty days. This, according to Mr. Kennedy, may not affect the dry fed or stable cattle. As to the relative value of Canadian and Irish cattle, Mr. Kennedy said they were selling at about equal prices.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, July 4. — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Demand, 4.37 5-8.

Cables, 4.37 7-8.

CHEESE S[illegible].

BROCKVILLE, July 4. — At the regular meeting of the board there were 4506 boxes of cheese offered of which 3481 boxes were colored and 1025 boxes were white. The highest bid made was 16 cents.

KINGSTON, July 4. — There were 418 boxes of cheese offered on the board of which 90 boxes sold at 16 1-16c per lb.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, July 4. — The foreign demand for coarse grains here yesterday showed an improvement, and a fair amount of business was done. The trade in cash grain was also better and prices were higher. There was no further development in the flour situation but the undertone was firm. A firmer tone prevailed in winter wheat flour. The tone of the market for millfeed was firm. The undertone of the rolled oats section was steady. A fair amount of business was done in baled hay. The market for potatoes was without any special feature. There was an improved demand for butter and eggs. A weaker feeling prevailed in cheese.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, July 4. — The consumptive demand is good at the larger consuming centres in Canada and the receipts arriving are said to be of fair quality. The movement into the coolers is now becoming quite light. In the United States the egg markets are reported to be easier with a material falling off in the consumptive demand although receipts are still coming along quite freely, which means there is considerable surplus which has to be placed in storage.

Toronto firm, jobing prices unchanged.

Montreal market remains firm — jobing fresh extras 35, firsts 30, seconds 25c.

Winnipeg receipts light; dealers quoting country shippers delivered, extras 23; firsts 21; seconds 16.

Saskatchewan receipts light; dealers quoting country shippers, delivered, extras 22, firsts 20, seconds 15.

Alberta egg markets unchanged. Poultry markets are well supplied, and as a result the prices are dropping. Live broilers 20, fowl 11c per lb.

British Columbia steady, retailing extras 35, first 26 to 27c.

St. John, N.B., egg market firmer, jobbing extras 30, firsts 26 to 27.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., consumptive demand fair, inter-provincial movement continues to be brisk. Prices ruling at country points, extras 26; firsts 23, seconds 19.

Chicago spot lower, 25; Decembers unchanged.

New York, extra firsts 28; firsts 27, storage packed extra firsts 29, firsts 28.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, July 4. — Cattle receipts yesterday 5000; general trade brisk; clearance good; all interests good buyers; fed steers and yearlings mostly 15c to 25c higher; vealers, quality considered, 50c to 75c higher; top matured steers 11.15; bulk 8.50 and 10.00; best long yearlings 10.40; choice vealers to packers upward to 10.75; bulk light and handyweight calves 9.75 and 10.50.

Hogs, receipts 27,000; active, 5 to 15c higher; slaughter pigs, strong to 25c higher; bulk good and choice 240 to 310 pound butchers 7.20 and 7.25; top 7.30; better grades 180 to 225 pound weight largely 7.00 and 7.15; bulk desirable 140 to 170 pound average 6.25 and 6.90; packing sows 6.20 and 6.45; bulk strong weight killing pigs 5.75 and 6.00; estimated holdover 4500.

Sheep receipts 13,000; generally strong to 75c higher; bulk fat native lambs 13.75 and 14.00; bulk fat range lambs 14.25 and 15.25; top 15.25; good to choice fed yearlings 12.25.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 4. — Unwillingness to retain ownership risks during a three days stoppage of business led to considerable selling of wheat holdings yesterday, and forced prices downward after some early gains. Closing quotations for wheat were heavy, 3-4 to 1¼c net lower, with September $1.15 3-4 to $1.15 7-8 and December $1.18 5-8 to $1.18 3-4. Corn finished 1¼ to 1 1-8c to 1 3-4c off; oats at 1 5-8 to 2 1-8c decline, and provisions unchanged to 15c higher.

At first the market was strengthened by reports of continued dry hot weather harmful to the crops in the Canadian northwest. These reports, however failed to bring in much new buying and it became apparent that for the time being the holidays rather than the crop outlook would prove to be the major influence. Meanwhile, threshing returns southwest, told of good yields, and especially as the day drew to an end the market found support inadequate. Although an elevator interest here did more or less purchasing, the close was at virtually the bottom figure reached.

Better weather put corn and oats under rather extensive selling pressure. The majority of traders apparently inclined to an opinion that bullish news had been discounted.

Firmness of the provision market was ascribed to an upward tendency of hog value.

WOMEN'S CLUB HEAR LECTURE MARMORA HALL

Agricultural College Representative Spoke on Relation Between Home and School.

COURSES LAUDED

Miss Slicter Advocates Teaching of Loyalty in the Public Schools.

MARMORA, July 4.—On Thursday afternoon last Miss Slicter, the speaker from MacDonald Agricultural College, ddressed the Women's Institutes of Marmora and Delora in the Marmora Hall. As an introduction, she spoke of the work of the Institute in Ontario, especially of the 3-month and 2-week courses of study which are carried on by some Institutes under the supervision of the Agricultural Society.

Her main theme, however, was the co-operation of the home and school. Several characteristics of the mind of the child were mentioned as those in which both the home and the school must aid in the development.

Education is self-living or full development. The four-square life is the only true way of living, that is development of head, hands, heart and health.

The development of the heart is character forming, and is probably the most important of all.

One of the first points which must be emphasized by both the home and the school is loyalty. Loyalty is more than mere flay raising. It is culture in the child during his whole youth.

The second characteristic which should be cultivated by both mother and teached is that of honesty. Not the kind of honesty which shows itself only when others are around, but the honesty which is wholly in the nature of the child. Tests which have been made in the United States show that over 90 per cent of the children tested were partially dishonest.

Courtesy and good manners are essential to the education of the child but frequently either the home or the school fails to co-operate with the other.

The statement was made by a prominent college professor that foreigners in Canada are more courteous than the Canadians themselves.

The pupils of the schools should be proud of their schools. To obtain this end the homes should see that the school buildings and grounds are such that the pupils have a well maintained school and beautiful grounds to make the children proud to help keep them so.

The home and the school should work together to give the children an appreciation of the finer arts, such as music, literature, and art. Every child should be taught to sing and each school should have a musical instrument. Every school should have some good books and good pictures as part of their equipment.

A musical programme was also given by the Marmora Institute and help was given by Miss Marian Shannon, Miss Larraine Bell, and Miss Alma Osborne. Lunch was served to all present after the meeting.

EGG PRODUCERS BANNER BRANCH OF FARM STOCK

In Poultry Country is Going Ahead by Leaps and Bounds.

DOMINION STATISTICS

Other Live Stock is Shown To Be On a Decrease.

The production of poultry is on the increase. Figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that poultry raising is the banner branch of the agricultural industry.

The number of poultry on Canadian farms has increased by one-third during the last three years. During the fiscal year 1923, there was an increase of 23,000,000 over 1922. The value of eggs produced in Canada last year amounted to $48,770,000, an increase of $280,000 over the previous year.

On the other hand, there were 118,320 fewer horses during the last fiscal year than there were in 1922, a reduction of 473,000 cattle, and the number of sheep was also reduced by 510,000 during 1923.

Regarding swine, there was a marked increase of about 490,000 last year, but statistics reveal that there were 116,000 fewer than there were in 1918.

The Financial Post makes the following comment: "In poultry, the country is going ahead by leaps and bounds, there having been an increase of about 2,500,000 during the year," and again it remarked: "The poultry business is one that we have reason to be proud of and it should receive every consideration from the men at the top."

The value of the eggs produced last year exceeded the value of the production of the fisheries of the Dominion. While farm products in general are considerably lower than they were a few years ago, the market prices of poultry products have never shown any makred decrease. Good prices are always obtainable for eggs during the fall and winter months, the profit-making period.

Despite these astounding results, the average farmer for the most part, neglects his chickens. One prominent speaker, who addressed the Peterboro Poultry Association here some time ago, remarked that poultry on the farm are neglected, unless everything else is backward, then Mr. Farmer turns his attention to the egg-producers. Whatever else may happen, the farmer knows that with a little care, he is assured of quick returns from his feathered flock.

DOURO CROPS GOOD.

DOURO, July 4.—Crops are looking fine now. They have a splendid color and are advancing rapidly. Rain would be very welcome.

The price obtained at Indian River for milk delivered in May was $1.05 per cwt. A few veal calves and hogs were shipped from this part from Indian River on Monday.

Some good fields of winter rye are to be seen standing a good height and well headed.

Supply Maybe & Perhaps.

It is well not to rely too much on the idea that demand and supply fix the price. It is enough in a broad sense, but, like many other theories, it has to be qualified in practice with ifs, ands, and buts.

Aaron Sapiro is fond of pointing out that it is demand and supply, plus time and place, that determines the price. That is, it is the relation of the supply of something, at a given spot, on a certain day, to the demand at the same spot and on the same day, that fixes the selling price.

Again, it is not actually supply and demand that fix the price, but what people think the supply and demand are. It is not the facts, but what speculators think are the facts, that govern the trading.

As long as they are guessed at, and it is the gamblers who do the guessing, it is sure as fate that in the long run producer and consumer alike are soaked.

FARMERS CAN'T AFFORD HELP

Local Farm Implement Man Expresses His Opinion of Situation.

PREVAILING WAGES

Obtaining farm help is not so much a problem to-day as the problem of being able to pay farm help.

The records of the local employment bureau show 22 orders for farm laborers during the last two weeks, and just eight placements in that period.

It is true that it is difficult to find suitable men, but many farmers are doing without help because they cannot afford to pay men under present conditions. This is the greatest aspect of the situation which is affecting the farmer to-day.

The present farm prices will not permit high wages, and many farmers have told the agent at the local employment bureau that they couldn't afford to pay a man more than $18 or $20 monthly.

The prevailing wages range from $25 to $35 per month, with board.

Mr. Duncan Drummond remarked that he had seen very few farmers looking for help. "It is not that they don't require assistance," he stated, "but they are not in a position to pay men."

Several men who have applied at the employment bureau for farm labor demanded a house and garden, and situations of this kind are seldom found.

Another feature of the farm employment problem is the fact that the few who desire to work on the farms refuse to accept positions unless they can be located near the city. "It is also difficult to get in touch with a farmer living a considerable distance from the city," remarked the local agent, "and few of the men who apply have the money to pay transportation charges to interview them."

RUSSIAN WHEAT NO COMPETITOR FOR THIS YEAR

Strong Evidence That Soviet Will Soon Have Large Export Surplus.

AFFECT CANADA

Predictions Made That Exports From Russia Will Demoralize Canadian Trade.

By JAMES MAVOR.

I have been asked to give a statement of the known facts regarding the possibility of large quantities of Russian wheat being thrown this season into the international market by the Soviet Government. Some of the representatives of that government have been predicting that this year or at latest, next year, wheat would be exported from the Black Sea ports of Odessa and Nicolaiev in such vast quantities that the export wheat trade from the United States and Canada would be completely demoralized. What justification is there for statements of this kind?

Before the Great War, the statistics of cereal cultivation in Russia were probably the most carefully compiled and the most accurate in the world. They were collected and summarized by competent agronomists and they were based upon repeated agricultural surveys. In no other country were the statistics of cereal production so reliable and so exhaustive. This condition has completely altered. The competent statisticians are dispersed abroad. The agronomists who managed the great estates upon which the whole of the wheat prepared for export was grown have been killed or are now in exile. The harvesting, threshing and elevator systems have been destroyed. The railways have been suffered to fall into ruin and the financial and commercial mechanism by means of which the wheat was exported has been wiped out of existence. To what extent have the railways been restored? To what extent has the Soviet Government replaced the managers of the estates? To what extent has the Government been able to organize a new financial and administrative system to replace that which it destroyed? These are very difficult questions to answer; because the area of Russia is enormous and the operations of the Government so shrouded in mystery that a reliable summary of the situation is impossible. At the same time there seems no reason to doubt that the Moscow Soviet has been working practically to bring Russia back into something like economic order out of the chaos into which the disastrous attempt to introduce a compulsory and universal as well as a hybrid system of state collectivism and communism had plunged the country.

The following data are taken exclusively from official publications of the Soviet Government. The reliability of these statements cannot be guaranteed but even as they are they show that up until the present time the pre-war standard of production has by no means nearly been reached and that although sudden expansion is not impossible, there is no reason to feel confident that any such expansion will occur.

Up until the year 1913, the production of wheat formed on the average about one-third of the total production of cereals in Russia. The average acreage sown in cereals for the five years immediately preceding the war this acreage fell to 76 million; in 1920 it was 60.5 million, in 1921, 53.2 million and in 1922, 63.2 million.

The average yield of cereals (wheat, rye, barley and oats) 1909-1913 was about 4.5 billion poods. The yield of 1921 was only 1.6 billion; that of 1922 was 2.2 billion. This increase was partly due to the fact that the harvest was favorable and partly to the introduction of the new economic policy of the Government, in which they modified their communist rule and to a certain extent permitted the operation of private enterprise. The harvest of 1923 yielded rather less than 3 billion poods of cereals. The harvest of 1922 was thus about 50 per cent. and that of 1923 about 60 per cent. of the pre-war average.

In European Russia the peasants owned, before the war and the Revolution, 76.3 per cent. of the land. After the Revolution the peasant owned 96.3 per cent. He gained some of the land-owners' and some of the church lands and the Government seized the remainder. Nominally all the land has been nationalized; but no Government in Russia would now be able forcibly to dispossess the peasants of the land seized by them. The decree of nationalization was purely formal and its effect was simply to give the Government a claim for taxes which have been proved to be uncollectable. The net addition to the peasants' lands was 40 million dessiatines or about 100 million acres.

Formerly the grain grown by the peasants was practically all consumed in Russia. The grain (especially wheat) grown upon the landlords' estates was almost the only grain exported; because the landlords alone possessed the machinery for cleaning the grain and preparing it for shipment. In 1922 after the famine of 1921, the Soviet Government began a policy of distribution of seed grain. In that year they "lent" to the peasants 50 million poods of seeds, and in 1923, 30 million poods. This policy resulted in the increase of the cultivated area by about 10 million dessiantines, bringing that area up to 63.2 million dessiatines. The Government also established seed breeding stations (comprising about 100,000 acres) from which improved seeds are distributed to the farmers.

The pre-war average of cereal production has been stated at 4.5 billion poods; the programme for 1924 aims at 4 billion poods. The gist of the question of wheat production in Russia for export lies in the point,—will the peasants, deficient as they are in agricultural skill and knowledge, be able with such assistance as the Soviet Government can give them to produce from the 100 million acres of land newly absorbed by them, as large a quantity and as good a quality of cereals as the land-owners formerly produced upon the same land. It is obvious that this is a very difficult question to answer, especially since the well-to-do peasants have been despoiled of their property in the same manner as the large landowners.

It is clear that unless the Railway administration can increase considerably the number of wagons, difficulties would be encountered in dealing with a large crop this year (1924).

LATE START IS NOT FATAL FOR CANADIAN CROP

Prospects Vary From Fair to Good Throughout the Dominion.

CATCHING UP

Good Reserve of Moisture Helped Over Early Difficulties.

TORONTO, July 4.—After a late start, satisfactory progress is now being made by the Western wheat crop. Moisture conditions are generally good and although rain is needed in some districts there are no reports of serious drought. There was a good reserve of moisture from the fall and winter, and recent rains have been quite general.

Following unsatisfactory returns on the wheat crop last year many farmers have reduced their acreage for this crop. Manitoba has perhaps 25 per cent. less, Saskatchewan is reduced a little and Alberta may show slight increase. The acreage in flax is increased while there is also a considerable increase in corn, sweet clover and fodder crops, particularly in Manitoba, as a reflection of larger interest in live stock.

Backward weather has unsettled agricultural conditions in Ontario. Growth is now catching up rapidly and while it is yet too early to say what the net result will be, prospects on the whole may be said to be fair to average, in the opinion of Bert Roadhouse, deputy minister of agriculture. Wet weather in the spring resulted in considerable drowning out, necessitating re-seeding in some areas, while in other districts operations were delayed. The result has been that acreage seeded to early crops was reduced while the area of later crops has increased. The net result of this shifting cannot be judged as yet.

Fall wheat is in good condition, perhaps a little better than the average, but this is not a relatively big crop in Ontario. Spring grain crops are rather backward still but catching up. The hay crop is good and this is a big factor in the situation. The prospects are that the fruit crop will be a good average.

Conditions in the East are generally good according to reports reaching the Bank of Montreal. In Quebec hay and grass pastures look well and conditions are generally favorable. In New Brunswick hay a grass pasture show prospects of an excellent crop. Present prospects for potatoes are good. In Nova Scotia hay and grass pasture is promising. In the Annapolis Valley apple trees give promise of a large crop. In Prince Edward Island all crops are in good condition.

In British Columbia the late season has affected hay and roots. Grains generally are good with the exception of the Okanagan Valley. Fruit prospects are only fair. Cherries and peaches are poor, apricots fair and apples and pears about 75 per cent. of average; tomatoes are above the average; small fruits are good.

BATTLE GROUNDHOGS

Bailieboro Farmers Are Troubled With Pests—Crows Also Annoying.

BAILIEBORO, July 6.—War is being waged by the farmers of this district against the groundhogs and crows. The farmers are both shooting and trapping the groundhogs as, on many farms, they have become a complete menace to the farmers, not only in digging holes in the fields and destroying the crops, but in many cases they have also done great damage to the farmers gardens. Some of the farmers who grow a quantity of corn, poison some of the grain and sow it along with the other corn. Once the crow eats the corn that is treated it begins to do its work almost immediately, and in many corn fields a number of dead crows are to be seen laying here and there all over the plot. When the crows fly over the field and see the dead crows they make a great fuss by flying over head but very seldom light on the plot when the corn is planted. This method is much ahead of the old method of dressing up a scarecrow. Pigeons are also a great nuisance in the cornfield, and the only way to get rid of these birds when they bother the corn is to shoot them, as they are not so timid as the crow.

GROWTH IS BETTER

Roseneath Crops Feel Effect of Showers — Strawberries Ripen.

ROSENEATH, July 4.—The outlook for a good crop in this district is not what people thought it would be, but since the local shower on Tuesday last growth has been wonderful.

Hay is lengthening out and is not maturing like it was the ground being in a moist condition.

Spring grain is growing nicely, although straw will not be abundant, for although there may be a fair yield of grain the straw will be short. Fall wheat and rye are all headed and promise a good yield.

Gardens are in a flourishing condition and the corn is looking fine. Turnips are all sown but not up as yet. Strawberries are just starting to ripen.

Hollyhocks In Heaven.

The streets of heaven, I've been told,
Are paved with bricks of solid gold.
The gates are all of precious stone,
And poverty's a thing unknown;
No thunder-showers enter there,
For every day is dazzling fair,
Yet, strangely, I have never heard
A flower mentioned, or a bird;
And I'm quite sure that I would tire
Of playing on a golden lyre.
So, if there's room, along the walks
I think I'll plant some hollyhocks.
And soon as they begin to grow
I'll tend them with a golden hoe;
Day after day the stalks will climb,
And birds will come at blossom-time;
If Gabriel should pass my way
I'm certain he'd sit down and stay.
—MAYNE WARD.

MILLBROOK CROPS HELPED BY RAIN

Fall Wheat Headed Out and Spring Grains in Shot Blade.

MILLBROOK, July 4.—The recent rains have been most welcome, greatly improving the crop condition throughout the district and probably in the entire Province as well. Spring grain are in the shot blade, while fall proved, but not more than a good half crop is assured from most fields. Corn, of which not more than three good shoots should be left in a hill, is well up, speaking generally, and this weather should mean rapid growth.

Crops which can be sown late without serious disadvantage, such as turnips, buckwheat, and, in some cases, corn, are still being put in. Practically no baking of the soil is spoken of now the rains have come in such generous measure, and the root crops are, on the whole, doing well. Information received as the result of inquiry in various parts of the district is to the effect that the season's prospects are considerably brighter than a few weeks ago.

Within the last two weeks home-grown strawberries are being offered in the local stores in fairly large quantities at 25 cents a box. All fruits are late this season, and strawberries are at least two weeks behind normal. Local growers, including W. Brown, T. Luxon, and F. McMahon, are agreed that while it will probably be the first or second week in July before the season is at its height, the warmer weather and welcome rains will make the crop an abundant one. The cool weather delayed the season, and the heavy rains may have a tendency to make the berries sandy. On the whole, berries, so far, have been of good quality, though the size is somewhat disappointing—a feature likely to be eliminated now sufficient moisture has been supplied, but warm sunshine will be imperative if the fruit is to ripen rapidly. Most of the garden parties under local auspices have been held off until July this year, waiting for the supply of strawberries to increase.

Instead of setting out fresh tomato plants each season, a local and experienced gardener has for several years tried the plan of letting the tomatoes in his garden seed themselves, the results being satisfactory. The seed, self-planted in the fall, remains in the ground all winter and the young plants come up each spring, yielding early and finely-flavored fruit. The size and quantity have so far left no room for complaint, and the plants are reported as less tender than those started indoors, scarcely requiring protection on cool nights, or from the hot rays of the sun.

Training tomatoes up stakes, usually from three to five feet in height, and pinching off the side shoots, is recommended for an earlier and cleaner yield of fruit, while the quantity also will be increased.

Local prizes for dairy butter are from 25c to 28c per pound, for eggs 24c a dozen, and for potatoes, of which very few are offering, $1.75 per bag. According to reports from the Agricultural Department, a big acreage is being devoted to potatoes this spring, as, on the whole, they have proved a paying proposition. At 85 cents a bag last fall there was no money in them, but this spring the bulk of the crop held over through the winter months has averaged from $1.40 to $1.50 per bag. Over 600 acres of choice land is being planted in tubers in the vicinity of Summerside, P.E.I., an American market being assured for the entire product. In fact seed potato production will be the principal branch of agriculture on the farms in the Summerside neighborhood this year.

A. G. Eckardt, honorary president of the Ontario Association of Fairs and Exhibitions, has the distinction of being honorary president of more fair associations than any other living man, so far as can be learned. Mr. Eckardt's reputation as a generous supporter of rural fairs is widespread, and has earned for him many friends.

The statistical crop year in Europe and on the great wheat markets of the world, dates from August 1st, instead of September 1st, as has been the case in Canada until the recent change to the former date was brought into effect. There has always been a considerable volume of new wheat delivered prior to September 1st, hence statistics of deliveries and movements after that date do not correctly state the position in respect to the new crop. The cities of Fort William and Port Aurthur which with a total of 35 elevators having a capacity of 65,000,000 bushels, give to Canada the distinction of possessing the greatest wheat port in the world. At the rate of 5,400 tons a day, it would require a whole year to ship the wheat capable of being stored in these elevators.

Ground into flour, this would furnish a loaf a day for 520 days to the entire population of the Dominion. The grain that has been shipped from Fort William and Port Arthur in one year, approximating 370,000,000 bushels, would make a wall one foot thick and three and one-half feet high, circling the globe.

REVIVE CHARGE DISCRIMINATION IN GRAIN RATE

Manitoba Wants Coastal Laws Suspended for Balance of Season.

SAY U. S. FAVORED

Milling Industry Being Built at Buffalo Might Have Come to Canada.

WINNIPEG, July 4.—As another grain shipping season approaches, the attack on grain rates from the head of the lakes is revived. Discriminatory charges, which have been freely made in season and out, and which resulted in the appointment of a commission of enquiry and the temporary suspension in 1923 of coastal rates, are again being made. The strongest point advanced is that having to do with the building up of a tremendous milling industry at Buffalo. The question is raised: would this industry come to Canada if the alleged discriminatory rates were impossible?

The contention is that the United States boats carry grain down the lake for about a cent or over less per bushel than the Canadian vessels charge on shipments to Canadian ports. Canadian vessels carry grain to United States ports at a lower rate than they charge to Canadian ports, despite the fact that the distance to the United States ports is greater. Often it is stated the Canadian vessels themselves make the lower rates.

The Winnipeg Free Press has this to say in its latest attack on the Canadian grain rates:

"There is a Canadian mill at Port Colborne, just eighteen miles from Buffalo. This mill has to get its supplies of Western Canadian grain by Canadian boats, because of the shipping regulations; and these boats patriotically charge at least a cent a bushel more than they charge for carrying the same wheat to its American competitor in Buffalo. If the coasting regulations were suspended these discriminations against Canadian mills, Canadian ports, Canadian railways, would at once disappear. It might fairly be predicted that the rate to the bay ports would drop below the Buffalo rate; and those ports would begin to come into their own. Canada's experience has been extensive enough to justify the passing of judgemnt upon our Canadian shipping companies. They have no sense of any obligation to the people of Canada in return for the monolpoly privileges they enjoy. Their one concern is how to take advantage of their privileged position to add to their revenues. That in the pursuit of this advan tage they favor Buffalo as against Canadian ports and discriminate against Canadian industries in favor of their American competitors concerns them not a jot."

Power to suspend the coastal laws in case of discrimination, is invested in the Board of Grain Commissioners. The Free Press wants to see the government act by making a formal suspension for the balance of the shipping season.

BETHANY CROPS GOOD.

BETHANY, July 4.—The heavy rain received on Saturday evening was of great benefit to the crops. The pasture, which was far behind other years, was getting badly burnt by the continued dry spell, and it will be revived to a profitable extent. The fall wheat and rye are in head and will develop larger and more kernels by the timely rain. Potatoes and hoe crops are advancing nicely. Potatoes in the garden are about ready to blossom. Eggs and butter continue to be plentiful, with the market price quoted for the former, 27c per dozen, and 25c per pound for the latter.

ON ASPHODEL FARMS.

HASTINGS, July 4.—The heavy rain shower on Saturday evening will do a great deal of good to the farmers and gardeners. Strawberries are now quite plentiful, beginning this week at 15c per box. Miss Helen Greenley, of Toronto, is spending her vacation with friends here.

SCIENCE FAILS TO TAKE PLACE OF SUNNY DAYS

Despite Strides Made in Agriculture Results Still Depend on Weather.

FROM THE PAST

Seasonable Rains and Suitable Temperature Linked With Industry.

COBOURG, July 4.—The Canadian Agriculturist in the spring of 1849, remarks that "the fruits of the husband man are immediately dependent upon the favourableness of the season," and although the science of agricultural and its general advancement since that date have removed some handicaps, it seems equally true to-day. "With seasonable rains and suitable temperature, the industrious farmer is sure to reap a bountiful harvest, says the Agriculturist. And this is as true to-day as it was then.

Nothing pertaining to the settlement of Upper Canada by the Loyalist Refugees is of more general interest than the provisions which they made for taking up agricultural life and their discouragement, failures and successes.

The refugees and disbanded soldjers who entered Canada in 1783 and 1784 had but few implements, and these were of a most imperfect character. The most of them had no means of lessening labor, no beasts of burden. yet they bent manfully to the task of ekeing a living from the virgin soil. There were a few old soldiers who had a little money, received at being discharged, and some sold the location tickets of a portion of their lands to purchase cows or oxen. Both oxen, which were considered the best for working among the stamps, and horses were brought from Lower Canada and York State. A very few of the first settlers brought one or more cows. Dr. William Canniff, in his historica notes, says a cow was allotted to every two families. There were probably secured in Lower Canada when they came first to Sorrell. Thomas Goldsmith came in in 1786 and drove a number of cows to the Bay of Quinte district, but he could not get enough for them to eat and some of them perished. After a few years, when the settlers became a little more established, steps were taken more generally to procure stock.

Thomas Goldsmith, in 1785, undertook to drive some cattle through the woods to Cape Vincent and to swim them across the St. Lawrence. After a long day's tramp he rested at night with his head upon a root of a tree and with no protection but its low spreading branches. He became so benumbed that he did not realize that a drenching rain was falling until he was drenched through. Yet Mr. Goldsmith lived to be 90 years old.

Ex-Sheriff Sherwood tells of the great pride which he and his brother experienced when they were presented with a cock and hen, which were no common luxuries, and with what care they watched them.

Prices in 1895.

Rockfoncault says of prices in 1795: "The cattle are not subject to contagious distempers. They are numerous without being remarkably fine. The finest oxen are procured from Connecticut at the price of seventy or eighty dollars a yoke. Cows are brought either from the State of New York or from Lower Canada, the former cost $20, and the latter $15. These are small in size, but, in the opinion of the farmers, better milch cows, and are, for this reason, preferred. There are no fine bulls in the country, and the generality of farmers are not sensible of the advantages to be derived from cattle of a fine breed."

The Feed Problem.

In the summer the cattle are turned into the woods; in winter, that is, six months together, they are fed on dry fodder. Old records tell of cattle being kept also through the greater part of the winter season on brouse, the tender twigs of trees and sprouts.

It is further stated that as there was no market for cheese and butter, farmers did not, as a rule, make more than was sufficient to supply their own families.

Sheep were Numerous in Canada.

As early as 1795, the same historian states that sheep were more numerous in Canada than in any part of the United States which he had travelled. The price was quoted as $3 a head. He adds they thrive in this country, but are high legged and of a very indifferent shape. Coarse wool, when cleaned, costs two shillings a pound.

An old account book of August, 1788, has several interesting entries. Evidently Government agents had been employing labor which led to the following:

To David Bradshaw, one day with his oxen, 6s. To Samuel Browson, jr., two days work with two yoke of oxen, 10s., while Adam Archert got 6s. a day for work with a yoke of oxen and worked 11½ days.

Mr. Dempsey, who was among the first settlers in the Quinte district, brought in some cattle. He was offered 200 acres of land for a yoke of four-year-old steers, which offer he refused. At another time he was offered one hundred acres for a cow.

Goodyear Does It Again!

The story of a sensational improvement in tire-making, of greatest economic interest to every car owner

YOU probably know that the modern, low-pressure balloon tire is made with thinner sidewalls and greater flexibility than other tires.
These characteristics involve new problems in design, and important special requirements in materials.
The most essential requirement of the successful balloon tire is a new kind of cord fabric, of extreme elasticity and endurance.
No ordinary cord fabric can withstand the balloon tire's continuous and repeated flexing, and at the same time victoriously resist severe road-shocks.
In its laboratories and its own cotton mills Goodyear has solved this urgent problem—by perfecting a remarkable and exclusive cord fabric called SUPERTWIST.
Tests made with tires embodying this new material, showed that a carcass made of SUPERTWIST delivered more than 100% greater service than a carcass containing an equal number of plies of standard cord fabric.
In other words, it was demonstrated in these tests that, ply for ply, Goodyear SUPERTWIST cord fabric literally doubled the carcass life of the tire.
Certainly this justifies the belief that no greater contribution to the art of tire-building than SUPERTWIST has been recorded since the introduction of the cord tire itself.
The superiority of Goodyear SUPERTWIST is due to its greater elasticity and power to flex, with consequent wider distribution of shock and greater freedom from stone-bruise and like injuries.
This incomparable material is now used in regular Goodyear production and is built into all Goodyear Balloon Tires—to fit new wheels, or the wheels now on your car.
For Goodyear Balloon Tires to fit your present wheels, see the Goodyear Selected Dealer. Regarding new smaller wheels and rims, with Goodyear Balloon Tires, see the Goodyear Selected Dealer, your car dealer or the nearest Goodyear Branch.

MILLBROOK WILL IMPROVE SCHOOL

Board Made a Trip to Colborne to Get Some Ideas.

MILLBROOK, July 3.—Messrs. L. C. Russell, A. A. Smith, J. A. Vance and G. E. Burnham, representing the local school board, motored to Colborne on Thursday and inspected the science labratory of the new High School in that town. Some added equipment is necessary for this department of the new Continuation School here and Inspector Mills suggested the visit to Colborne with a view of gaining information before proceeding further with the local requirements. Miss M. Mitchell, a former teacher in the Continuation School here, is the second teacher in the High School at Colborne, and has been re-engaged for another year. Colborne is a three-teacher school, adding the third member to the staff soon after building their new school.

Rev. J. Wilks preached in the Park Street Baptist Church, Peterboro, on Sunday. Mrs. Wilks accompanied him and both were guests of freinds over the week-end. Unavoidably absent from the farewell service in the Methodist Church, Millbrook, on Sunday evening, Rev. Wilks sent a letter publicly expressing his personal regret at the removal of Rev. Mr. Tucker, and his family, and the pleasure and profit he had experienced from the associations he and Mr. Tucker had enjoyed during the latter's five year pastorate on this charge.

Sunday School anniversary services were observed at the Carmel appointment on Sunday afternoon when Rev. Arthur Barton, of Ottawa, preached an excellent sermon based upon two passages of Scripture, "Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward," and "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." The attendance was large, the reports most encouraging, and the service used, owing to the proximity of Dominion Day, was along patriotic lines. Mr. F. Hard is the efficient superintendent of the Sunday School which is one of the best in the district.

Miss Elsie Spence is visiting her sister, Miss Gertrude Spence, teacher of the school at Malton, and both have been guests of friends in Toronto. They will return home on Wednesday evening.

Rev. S. T. and Mrs. Tucker leave on Thursday morning for their new home at Orono. Rev. F. H. Howard the incoming pastor on the Millbrook circuit, is taking his holidays during July and is not expected to preach his first sermon here until the last Sunday in this month. His goods will be brought over by truck from Whitby on Wednesday.

Miss M. E. Fisher has been attending the Social Service convention in Toronto the past week.

Miss Gladys and Mr. Ewart Tucker are remaining in town as guests of Ernest and eJan Burnham until Saturday.

Mis Kathleen Lancashire sang "The Ninety and Nine" as a solo at the moving picture show on Friday and Saturday evenings last week, Miss Ella Elson accompanying her on the piano. The picture of the same name was the special attraction, drawing a good attendance and being much appreciated.

Mrs. E. S. Burnham is making an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. J. T. V. May, at "Freckless Cottage", Beaverton, Lake Simcoe.

Mrs. Jas. Leitch, of Toronto, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. E. Ball, and other friends in Millbrook and Cavan.

Dr. E. Gillott has moved into her new home next to Mr. W. E. Ball's residence. The attractiveness of the cosy bungalow is added to by the fact that in planning the interior decoration Dr. Gillott's well known artistic ability found expression in a hand-painted border for each room—an unusual and dainty finish for the walls not likely to be duplicated in any community.

Mr, and Mrs. C. Garside and children, were guests of his parents in Peterboro on Sunday.

Mis C. Luxon is home from her school at Sutton West for the summer holidays.

The Agricultural Society has a bee of officials and members at the fair grounds last week and have completed the cement work for the foundation of the new grand stand. According to agreement with the reunion executive the amount on hand from last reunion last August is to be supplemented by an equal amount by the Agricultural Society and an up-to-date grand stand built at the fair grounds. The improvements agreed upon for the athletic grounds have been carried out and it is hoped that the grand stand will be proceeded with, and its use made possible, in the near future.

Mrs. McChung, of Midland, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. Forsyth.

Rev. A. Edmison, who is leaving the Orono circuit for Little Britain, was the guest of friends in town on Tuesday and gave Rev. S. T. and Mrs. Tucker a call.

ROSENEATH WILL GIVE FREE TILE

In Return For Improving the Ditch Along the Main Stem.

ROSENEATH, July 3.—On the south side of the main street of the village between the sidewalk and the road is a ditch, running the full length of the street, in some places to the depth of three and four feet. After the May Council meeting, Messrs. Chas. Brown and Edwin Harvie decided to level this ditch in front of their property as they could get dirt for filling across the street where Mr. Jno. McMillan was excavating for a cellar for his new house. They put in forty-eight cement tile and covered them widening the driveway to the sidewalk, making a great improvement to the street as well as the appearance of their property and making a splendid parking place for cars.

On Saturday, Mr. Harvie, on behalf of himself and Mr. Brown, waited upon the council asking them to donate the tile as he thought it was nothing more than right that they should do something. Reeve Honey asked if it was for the benefit of the street or their property that they did this work, and Mr. Harvie answered principally for the street. Reeve Honey said he doubted this and said that they should have come to the council for help before commencing the work and he thought it would be a bad precedent to grant the tile, as any farmer in the township who wanted to beautify his own property might follow the same example, but he would be in favor of selling them the tile at cost price. Councillor Parker, Arnold and Shearer thought it would be an improvement to the street and Parker thought as the village land was assessed at a higher rate than country property the council should pay half on the tile. Arnold thought that they should be granted the tile with the understanding that any other parties on the said street could receive the same privilege as he would like to see the entire street completed in the same manner. and he moved a resolution, seconded by Councillor Blodgett that the said parties receive the tile free of charge. Reeve Honey asked for the yeas and nays and all voted yea except Reeve Honey.

Ladies' Delegation.

Mrs. Davey and Mrs. Turner, as a delegtaion from the Women's Institute, were present, asking the council to pay the caretaker's salary of $100, the amount paid for looking after the gasoline lamps which were bought a short time ago by the Institute. Reeve Honey said that this was the first time to his knowledge that a ladies' delegation had ever waited upon the council, but as they had started this proposition he did not feel like taking it off their hands, for this year at least. His reason was that the county rate was the same this year and in order to keep the taxes down it was necessary to economize. Councillor Parker was not in favor of paying the whole salary, but thought a donation of $25 towards it would be sufficient. Councillor Arnold said he wanted the taxes kept down, but the thought the lights were something that was beneficial to every ratepayer in the township and he felt that although $100 was too much at present he thought Councillor Parker too low in his estimate of the amount to be granted. He moved a resolution, seconded by Councillor Blodgett, that the council pay the Women's Institute $50, half the caretaker's salary.

Reeve Honey again asked for the yeas and nays; Councillors Arnold, Blodgett and Shearer voted yea; Councillor Parker and Reeve Honey voted nay.

The Roadmasters.

The following pathmasters returned their road lists:

Wm. R. Taylor, John Burrison, Herbert McCracken; Irwin Brown, Earl Thackeray and Charles Grigg.

Frank Brown, Charles Grigg and Percy Parker each received one day's gravelling for their respective beats.

The committee that inspected the roads in the west end of the township reported them in fair condition.

County Council.

Reeve Honey gave a report on the past session of the county council.

Reeve Honey had interviewed the township solicitor in regard to certain parties putting gates at the entrance of blind roads and he was informed that the roads could not be claimed even if they were fenced but it would be better to have an agreement with such parties. On resolution of Councillors Parker and Shearer, Councillors Blodgett and Arnold were appointed a committee to interview Messers. John Duff and John Robins in regard to gates.

On resolution of Councillors Arnold and Blodgett, Reeve Honey was appointed a committee to have an agreement drawn up by the solicitor between the township and Joseph Kelly in regard to gate on road leading to Earl Shearer's.

Accounts Paid.

Moved by Councillors Parker and Shearer that the following accounts be paid: W. Blodgett, grading, $7.00; E. Brisbin, grading, $45.00; John Burrison, gravelling, $58.25; Herb McCracken, gravelling, $30.50; Irwin Brown, gravelling, $28.85; Herb. McCracken, gravel, $17.40; Wm. Coyle for Indian list, $5.00; Earl Thackeray, work on road, $3.20; John O'Brien, work on road, $9.00; Ray Brown, work on road, $3.15; Wm. Arkles, work on road, $3.60; Sawyer & Massey, repairs for grader, $9.00; Gordon Parker, committee work, $3.00; T. H. Honey, committee work, $4.50; Earl Shearer, committee work, $3.00.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

CAVAN ROAD MAKERS.

Good Job Made of Eighth Line Road—Cavan News.

CAVAN, July 3.—A good job of road work, which was much needed has been done on the Eighth Line, East of the Middle road. This is a part of the road where so many cars were stuck this spring, and where the mail courier in his trip from Frazerville, has suffered so much inconvenience.

Crushed stone has been drawn and the road covered with it for a considerable distance. McNeil's hill has also been graded and considerably improved. This change in the road will be much appreciated by all who have to travel it.

Shipping Lumber

Mr. W. M. Cody is again shipping lumber from the siding at his lumber camp.

This has been a busy spot for the greater part of the time since last December. A great amount of lumber has been sawed several cars have been shipped, and very much remains to be shipped.

The camp is occupied for the summer by two men and their families. These men will be kept busy loading slabs, and lumber for shipping and doing other work on Mr. Cody's timber limits.

Persnal Mention

Mr. Osborne Staples is home from Toronto Normal School.

CITY COUNCIL PAID LINDSAY FRIENDLY CALL

Mayor Turner and His Party Conveyed Good Wishes of Peterborough to Celebrants.

OLD HOME WEEK.

Visitors Were Entertained by Rotary and Feasted by Kiwanis—Town Wide Open.

LINDSAY, July 4.—(By a Staff Reporter). — Yesterday was Peterboro's day at Lindsay's Old Home Week. It was ushered in by a visit from Mayor J. J. Turner and members of the City Council, who arrived in the forenoon, and completed by an invasion of a score of Rotarians in the evening. The 57th Regimental Band competed in the musical festival, but failed to take a place in the prize list.

Mayor Turner, Aldermen Stocker, Crowe, Meyers, Maher and Jones composed the party representing the city of Peterboro that was welcomed by Mayor Graham of Lindsay and entertained by the Kiwanis Club at luncheon, with about eighty members present. In a bright address His Worship Mayor Turner conveyed the greetings of the city on the occasion of the Old Home Week, which he said Lindsay had managed in splendid form, and extended an invitation to Peterboro's function which he quite expected would follow the Lindsay success.

Aldermen Maher and Jones, old Lindsay boys, spoke briefly their appreciation of the success Lindsay had made of the venture. All of the visiting speakers congratulated the officials and citizens on the co-operation that existed throughout the town and on the beautiful decorations that brightened every street. Alderman Maher told how he had, a few years ago, opposed the idea of an Old Home Week for Peterboro, feeling that the time was not opportune. Now, he said, he was a convert to the idea, and when the question arose in Council he would be one of its strongest supporters.

Mayor Graham declared the visit of Peterboro's City Council to assist in making the Lindsay project a success was one of the greatest encouragements he had received. It just indicated the kindly feeling that existed between the two places. "When Peterboro has its Old Home Week, Lindsay will be empty," he promised Mayor Turner. "Everyone will go to help you celebrate."

James Browne, of Peterboro, sang very beautifully "My Sweet Irish Rose." Others from the city entertained by Kiwanis were A. MacNab, C.N.R. agent, and G. Matthews, of the Canadian Packing Co.

Band Contest.

A band contest, in which four bands took part, was the feature attraction of the afternoon as the cornet solo competition was of the evening. Cobourg, Orillia, Oshawa and Peterboro bands took part in the former, and Oshawa carried off the magnificent silver trophy.

Horse racing in the afternoon, a large choir at night, a band tattoo and fireworks, completed the day's programme, and a dance in the Armouries rounded out another of the perfect days Lindsay is enjoying.

During the afternoon the Peterboro councillors met Major-General Sir Arthur Currie, who was present for the unveiling of a memorial tablet in the Collegiate Institute.

Among the Peterboro Rotarians who visited Lindsay yesterday were the following: G. S. Matthews, J. Primeau, W. R. Morris, R. Kingan, C. Rogers, A. Brown, A. Kay, L. Potvin, J. Lynch, W. R. Widdiss, D. R. Wren, W. H. Bradburn, H. O. Fisk, J. McHardy, R. L. Dobbin, S. D. Hall and Lee Barnes.

LOCAL YOUTHS IN JUVENILE COURT

Charged With Shop-breaking and Theft on Sunday Last.

SECOND OFFENCE.

Three boys of the ages of eleven, twelve and fourteen years appeared in Police Court this morning, charged with breaking into and stealing a quantity of candies from Stevens' wholesale confectionery warehouse on Sunday last.

Because of the tender years of the offenders, the Court-room was cleared and Juvenile Court procedure adopted. None but officials and parents of the boys were present.

Two of the boys had been in trouble before, and the other had received warnings from Chief Newhall in his office previously for improper conduct.

To-day, the three were remanded.

Western School Mams To Sail For England

WINNIPEG, Man., July 4 (Canadian Press). — One hundred school teachers from the four Prairie Provinces entrained here this morning en route for Montreal over the Canadian Pacific lines, to join the annual tour of the Overseas Educational League, in which they will spend five or six weeks in Great Britain, France, and Belgium, returning to Montreal from Cherbourg on 21st August.

The train, which consisted of seven cars, is running as a special direct to Montreal to connect with the s.s. Marloch, sailing this morning.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a handsome, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who had gone abroad. After the death Paul comes home for the reading of the will, and to Wanda's surprise she finds she is disinherited, and that he is the heir. Paul dislikes Wanda intensely because of her behaviour, and tells her she must leave the house immediately; she refuses and, in order to stay there, pretends to be ill. They are always quarrelling. Then one day Wanda expressly disobeys Paul, and rides his horse, Lion. He follows her. Lion takes fright at a steam engine, tries to take a hedge, and falls. Wanda is unhurt, but Lion is killed. Paul tells Wanda she must go away next day with Mrs. Garnet. He promises Mrs. Garnet to pay her the money which Wanda refuses to take from him.

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT.

XVIII—"I HATE HIM!"

Paul went out into the garden and looked up at her window. There was a light in the room, but the shade was drawn.

He supposed she had gone to bed, and in spite of himself he could not help smiling as he remembered the way in which she had pretended to be ill, in order to remain at Grey Chumley.

He remembered, too, her plans for subjugating him and finally marrying him. Well, none of those plans had matured, and he wondered why.

Not that he wished to marry her, not that anything on earth could have persuaded him ever to do so, but it would have been interesting to know why she had so soon abandoned that line of campaign.

He stayed up and about the house till past eleven, but there was no sign of Wanda, and at last he was forced to go to bed.

But at breakfast time Wanda appeared. She was ready dressed for travelling, and looked smarter and neater than he ever remembered seeing her.

"Why are you going so early?" Paul asked with a sense of irritation when she told him that she was going to catch the first train.

Wanda raised her brows.

"Why not? I hate hanging about. When a thing has to be done, it's far better to do it at once."

"What does Mrs. Garnet say? She told me she wished to take the afternoon train."

"You always seem to expect your own way," he told her with some show of temper.

"So do you," she answered coolly.

She left the table before he had finished his breakfast, and through the open door he saw her luggage being brought downstairs.

"It's absurd to go so early," he complained to Mrs. Garnet.

"It was Wanda's wish," she answered helplessly. She held out her hand. "I want to thank you for——" she began, but he cut her short.

"Please don't thank me. The honor and pleasure are mine."

"You are so good," she murmured, and thought of the cheque which she had found in an envelope amongst her morning letters. Being a friend of Wanda's was going to prove distinctly remunerative, she could see.

Wanda came into the room at that moment. "Are you ready? The car is here," she looked defiantly at Paul. "I've hired one from the village, not wishing to use yours," she said.

"That was very thoughtful of you," he answered.

Mrs. Garnet began drawing on her gloves.

"Have you said good-bye to everyone, Wanda?" she asked.

"I haven't said good-bye to anyone," Wanda said bluntly. "It's stupid to say good-bye. Besides, they're all glad I'm going."

"It's your own fault," Paul said angrily.

She turned away without answering, partly because she was afraid that the tears, so near her eyes, would overflow.

Paul went with them to the door.

"I shall see you again soon," he said as he shook hands with Clare.

"Oh, yes! Please come and see us any time you like," she urged.

Wanda laughed.

"That won't be very often," she said.

"Good-bye, Wanda."

"Good-bye." She got into the car to avoid shaking hands with him.

"Please don't feel that we have parted bad friends," he went on clumsily. "I shall hope to see you at Grey Chumley again, often."

She gave a short laugh. "I'm afraid you'll be disappointed then." Her passionate eyes met his for a moment, then suddenly they were blurred with tears which she could not control as she realized that this was indeed her last glimpse of Grey Chumley.

"After all, it was to have been my home," she told herself with bitter resentment. "I hate him for taking it away from me. I hate him."

To-morrow—Wanda is Unhappy.

Belleville Celebration Revives Stories and Legends of Long Ago.

COBOURG, July 4.—(Special.)—The Belleville U.E.L. celebration is over, but instead of interest dying, it has served to revive stories and legends of pioneer days, especially connected with the coming of the Loyalists to Canada in 1783 and 1784. In this way, by old historical notes and stories handed down, or gathered here and there, we should add to our folk lore, in which Canada has a treasure trove of memories, that older nations might well be proud of.

In warfare of those wider times much happened that did not do honor to either of the combatants, yet few perhaps are aware that interwoven in our Canadian history are stories that remind of convenanter days in bonnie Scotland. Luke Carscallan was one of the early settlers in 'Fourth Township,' Adolphastoon. He had served in the British army in the old land, and retiring, emigrated to America. When the war broke out he wished to remain neutral, but was told by the American officers that he must come and assist them or be regarded as a King's man. His reply was he had fought for the King and would do it again. An order was made to arrest him, but when the officers came he had secreted himself. Thinking the father was not far away they took his young son and threatened to hang him if he did not reveal where his father was hiding, but the lad, a worthy scion of the parent stock, refused to do so, and instead bravely answered "hang away." Three times was the boy suspended but he would not tell, and then, foiled in their purpose, the officers let him go.

A Prison Comrade.

Years ago there came to the home of Henry Hover in Adolphastoon, a stranger. He did not find Hover at home, and so wrote the one word, "Greenaway" upon a piece of paper and slipped it under the door. Henry Hover was a Loyalist and that slip of paper awakened memories of the terrible war years, for Greenaway was the name of a comrade to whom he was chained for nearly two years in a dismal prison, they having been captured by the American army. It is further stated that when he was taken captive he was wearing a pair of linen trousers, and no other clothing was supplied him. At the close of the war he was given a grant in the Niagara district, but wishing to join his father at Adolphastoon, he proceeded down the lake in the 'hulk' of an old French vessel and reached the Fourth Township soon after Major Vanalstine's party had settled there.

Ball Shot Back at Enemy.

John Horn, the founder of the Horn family in Canada, whose descendants no doubt were among the early settlers in Cobourg, where Horn's mills was for years a leading industry, was born near Albany. He served with the Loyalist army during the war and was shot in the cal fof the leg. The shot was cut out and at the request of the sufferer, was shot back at the enemy. He settled in the Quinte district and his family of eight sons all made their homes in Canada.

Hair Frozen to Ground.

Alexander Nicholson, who settled at Fredericksborg, with Rogers corps, awoke one morning when he was trying to make his escape to Canada to find his long hair frozen to the damp ground. He had no shelter for many days and nights during his weary journey, but finally reached Canada. In 1809 he settled in Thurlow township.

Despatch in Silver Bullet.

Another Loyalist named Ostrom was engaged during the war in carrying despatches through the enemy's line. Upon one occasion he had the despatch in a silver bullet, which he put in his mouth. Having reason to believe that it would be discovered, he feigned to be chewing tobacco and took the bullet from his mouth and tossed it away, thus saving the despatch from getting into the enemy's hand.

An Early Sheriff.

A Mr. Peters, who was an officer in the Queen's rangers, was among the early refugees to Canada. He resided at Little Lake, then at the Carrying Place and later in Cramahe and was the sheriff of the Newcastle district.

Brant's Pistols in Cobourg.

The name of Sheriff Ruttan is indelibly connected with the early history of Cobourg and Northumberland county. There were two Ruttans among the Adolphastoon settlers. Both served in the British army as officers. In 1778 Peter Ruttan accompanied Joseph Brant from New York to Western Canada on a tour of observation. A friendship sprang up between them and Brant presented Mr. Ruttan with a handsome brace of pistols, which he valued highly. After Mr. Peter Ruttan's death they came into possession of Sheriff Henry Ruttan of Cobourg.

These stories of early settlement days have been largely handed down by historians such as Sabine, Ashley, Casey, Ruttan and others, some by word of mouth, others by addresses given many years ago at U.E.L. gatherings, and others in old records, and are calculated to inspire us with some conception of the heroism of these early days.

Construction of King Street Sewer Started

John Thirnbeck's excavators are at present engaged in the construction of a sewer on King Street, from George Street to the creek. The work is already well advanced. The outfall sewer on Park Street South has been completed and only the removal of remnants of the plant is left as a mopping up detail.

WEATHER HELPS CHEESE MAKING

Prevailing Coolness This Season Favors Dairy Industry—G. G. Publow at Ormond Meeting.

EXPLAINS GRADING.

HASTINGS, July 3.—A special meeting of the patrons of the Ormond Cheese Factory at Hastings was called for on Wednesday evening and was held in Mr. E. J. Lynch's Hall. While a fair percentage of the patrons attended, many more did not appear.

Mr. G. G. Publow, chief dairy instructor of Kingston, was the main speaker, and others were Mr. S. L. Joss, manager of the United Dairy Corporative, in Belleville, and Mr. S. W. Ward of Peterboro and Mr. J. Murray of Campbellford, both local dairy instructors. A similar meeting was held last year and the instruction received was very beneficial to the patrons and Mr. Publow congratulated the patrons of the Ormond on the splendid record of 1923, which he said was exceptionally good. Before the instructor came last year 145 first grade cheese and 74 seconds were shipped in the month of May. After the instructor had addressed the patrons in June, 1923, 252 specials and 177 firsts were shipped. In July, 327 firsts, August 138 specials, 206 firsts, September, 272 specials, October 42 firsts and 211 seconds and the speaker said that during the warm weather very few factories did better.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Publow said that ninety per cent. of the milk from cows was unfit for the cheese process, even from good cows At certain seasons it is impossible to make good cheese. This year has been very favourable owing to the cool weather and nights. Weeds make weedy flavors in the cheese as also do dandelions but these flavors may be taken out in the process of making.

Cleanliness Necessary

Clean milking pails, cans, straining cloths is very essential for good cheese and the cooling of the milk before being put away is another very necessary point to be remembered. A large can set in another vessel of ice or cold water was highly recommended. Milking machines are very difficult to handle as the tubes if not properly cleaned collect bacteria. The cheese maker and producer should work together and at present the raw material varies but would not if everyone had one condition.

Sometime was taken up during the meeting as to what effect the feeding of turnips had upon the milk. The instructor was not in favor of feeding them but said if they were fed at the proper time which should be after the milking hour the flavour could not be detected in the cheese.

Strict Grading

This year more so than before the cheese are being strictly graded and at least two cents per pound will be deducted by the graders for cheese which have been made from milk received from turnip fed cows.

No decision was arrived at as to what the producers of the Ormond Factory would do, although Mr. T. J. Lynch the president tried hard to have some definite decision made. The water in the turnip is where the value is derived from and the feeding of sugar beets and mangles was very much recommended.

One of the patron asked why it was that Canadian Cheese was being graded so strictly this year when a few years ago, nothing was said about the flavor of turnip being on the cheese. The answer given was that during the war and a year or so after the demand was much greater than now and also at present other countries were working hard to produce cheese and obtain the largest place of marketing, South Africa and New Zealand being two of these.

Great stress was laid upon the fact that good cows good feeding be one point to be remembered. Both Mr. Ward and Mr. Murry strongly objected to the feeding of turnips.

Mr. Joss, the manager of the United Dairy Co-operative Board, gave a brief outline of how the cheese are handled in Belleville before being shipped to Montreal.

The cheese has to be thoroughly cooled before the process of grading is made possible. Upon arrival in Belleville it is placed in cold storage for from 24 to 48 hours, after this an official weigher is called in, who follows up and weighs as the grader has finished his grading.

These are then ready for shipment, if purchased. Some cheese shipped is too green; it is held in cold storage until ripened.

This year in the month of May 15,890, three times as many cheese as last year were shipped by the Belleville Board.

At the Wembley Exhibition in London, which continues all this season, in the restaurants at the Exhibition, exceptionally good results are being obtained, as they are advertising on the menu cards "We serve Canadian Cheese," and good results may therefore be obtained for a much broader market for Canadian cheese.

In closing Mr. Publow said that no cheese is as good as the best Canadian cheese and great care should be taken to keep up this standard, and the producer is the one to do it.

CITY TREASURY IS REPLENISHED

First Instalment of 1924 Taxes Due Saturday—Many Ratepayers Have Already Reported.

BANK IS ASSISTING.

Saturday closes the period for the payment of the first instalment of this year's taxes, and the duty that draws the ratepayers to Tax Collector Green's department in the City Hall brings home to them a realization of the implications of citizenship.

Since the holiday there has been an almost continuous file of customers piling up with their cash and cheques a credit in the bank to meet the cost of maintaining the public utilities and accommodations. The last day will probably bring out a crowd of those who deferred their payments. Any strenuous rush that may materialize around the several wickets in the tax collector's office, where experienced assistants are engaged for this occasion, should be relieved by the special cage that has been opened in the Bank of Montreal for the receipt of city tax money. This cage is alongside the savings department.

Receipts so far are about equal to last year, the Collector said, and it is expected that the great bulk of the first instalment will be in the treasury by Saturday night.

The Sons of Scotland Held Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of Camp Clan Alpine, No 36 was held in the S. O. E. Hall last night, Bro. Worthy Chief J. Greirson presiding Bro. S. D. Shaw, organizer, Toronto, was also present and gave a resume of the association's activities since his last visit to Peterborough. In the course of his remarks he showed that the association held an enviable position amongst benevolent organizations, their balance sheet showing their ratio of assets to liabilities at 113.7 p.c., which gives them the highest standing amongst Canadian associations. It was agreed to hold a lawn social at the home of Worthy Chief Greirson, Mark street, at 7 p.m. on Thursday, July 10th, to which all members, their wives and friends would be invited.

Bros. H. Richmond and Anderson were appointed to look after the musical programme. Bros. J. Grierson and Shaw agreed to look after the refreshments and also were instructed to make arrangements in case of wet weather.

$1,000 OFFERED DAN DALEY FOR A McADOO VOTE

$5,000 Will Be Spent Among the Massachusetts Contingent to Win Votes For McAdoo.

CHARGES DENIED.

NEW YORK, July 4. — Two New York newspapers, consistent supporters of Governor Smith in his fight for the Democratic presidential nomination, carry a report to-day saying that Daniel J. Daley of Brookins, Mass., is charging that he had been offered $1000 to switch his vote at the National Democratic convention from the New York governor to William Gibbs McAdoo.

Daley, a lawyer, charged that the man who approached him offered an additional $5000 to be spent among the members of the Massachusetts contingent to win votes for McAdoo.

Daley said that the man, who formerly lived in Boston, had been a resident of New York for some years.

"I can identify him, if necessary," he continued. "He has been hanging around the delegation since the balloting began, talking McAdoo, and urging us to change."

When David L. Rockwell, McAdoo's campaign manager, was told of the charges, he said:

"This is absolutely false. What is probably true is that men on the other side are out masquerading as McAdoo promoters in an attempt to discredit us. There has not been a time since our campaign opened that we have had $5000 in our treasury at one time. We could not do this if we wanted to. The charges are ridiculous and absurd, so far as we are concerned."

New York, July 4. — The nomination of a Democratic candidate for the presidency has reached the hotel room stage, the convention having become hopelessly deadlocked.

The man who will be the standard bearer of the now disrupted party will in all likelihood be selected by a little group of leaders conferring behind locked doors of some hotel bedroom.

It has become obvious to all but a very few of the rival leaders of the deadlocked forces that neither Alfred E. Smith nor William McAdoo can be nominated.

It has become obvious that the vast majority of the delegates are weary of the factional fight and that they would quickly put an end to it if they knew where to go.

Their leaders cannot tell them until Smith and McAdoo managers have been convinced that their men have no chance, and have been forced into line behind some compromise.

There remains a chance that the rank and file of the delegates may decide to disregard the bosses and nominate a man themselves, but those who are familiar with the political game in this country declare this to be a very slim chance indeed.

NEW YORK, July 4. — The Ohio delegation to the Democratic National convention, went into conference shortly before noon to-day to consider the future disposition of 48 votes which Ohio has given regularly since the convention opened to former Governor James M. Cox.

DEAF CONVENTION BEST ON RECORD

Eighteenth Biennial Gathering of Association Was Splendid Success.

BELLEVILLE, July 3—The eighteenth biennial convention of the Ontario Association for the Deaf wound up with a banquet in the specious hall of the Ontario School for the Deaf and a fraternal jollification. In point of attendance, business and pleasure ,the 1924 gathering was the best on record. The school was able to accommodate the returned students of other years in the new buildings which were greatly admired and which added greatly to the enjoyment of the meetings.

President H. Lloyd of Brantford, was re-elected to the chair. Mr. Robert Mathison, M.A., and C. B. Coughlin, M.D., were elected honorary patrons and Prof. George F. Stewart was made honorary president. Mr. A. Jaffrey of Toronto is first vice-president, Mrs. A. S. Waggoner of Hamilton second vice-president. Mr. J. T. Shilton, B.A., of Toronto, is corresponding secretary, and Mr. Charles Ryan of Woodstock, treasurer.

Loyal Toasts

Mr. Lloyd presided at the banquet after which toasts were honored — "The King," "Canada," "This Association," "The School," "The Department," and "The Ladies."

The place of the next meeting was not decided upon.

The program last night was unique In addition to speeches there were pantomimes in costume of old songs such as "Auld Lang Syne," the fact being most apparent that in gesture and pontomimic art the deaf are highly equipped by their training in observation. Motion pictures followed, in which the screen people acted as well as used the sign language. One of the scenes was an excerpt from "Hiawatha," by Longfellow.

Miss Kitty Johnstone of this city, danced a number of Scottish dances for the company, her father, Pipe-Major Albert Johnstone acting as piper.

On Monday night at the presentation of the portrait in oil of the late Prof. Greene the presentation was made by Mr. Elliott of Toronto; Mr. Mason the artist, who painted the likeness, gave reminiscenses of his acquaintance with Prof. Greene, one of his teachers, while Mr. Mason attended here.

A Day of Celebration

Prof. Coleman gave an interesting address of recollections of the found ing of the school and of its early history.

Tuesday afternoon was a real outing for the delegates, the programme of sports on the lawn being participated in by practically all who were in attendance at the convention. These sports and the fraternizing and "visiting" of the former students provided the most enjoyable portion of their stay at the school.

Before the convention closed resolutions of thanks to the superintendent and the staff for the use of the buildings and courtesies shown the former students were passed.

OTONABEE CHAPTER INSTALL OFFICERS

Mr. A. McFarlane, For Fifty Years a Member of Peterborough Lodge, Was Presented With Gold Headed Cane.

Before the installation of officers, P. G. A. McFarlane, a fifty-year member of Peterborough Lodge, was presented with a gold-headed cane and jewel, representing fifty years of continual membership in the Lodge. The presentation was made by P.G. A. A. Fowler in a nicely-worded address.

After the installation of officers, another pleasing event occurred, when Bros. A. A. Fowler, P.C. S. P. McFadden, and T. Maniece, were called to the front, and presented with veteran jewels, representing twenty-five years of good standing in the Lodge. The presentation were made by Bro. J. A. Vance D.D.G.M. An appropriate address by P.G. Thos McFadden, father of Bro. S. P. McFadden, was made, the speaker stating that he was within two years of being eligible for the honorable Veteran's Jewel for fifty years service.

At the conclusion of the installation ceremonies, cake, ice cream and coffee were served in the dining-room.

Herman P. Faris Has Accepted Nomination

CLINTON, July 4. — Promising that when he is elected president and placed in the White House, "it shall be white indeed, and not splotched with either oil or booze," Herman P. Mother Finds a Large Rat in Bed With Baby

BELLEVILLE, July 4 (Canadian Press). — Mrs. Walter Thornton, living in Avondale, a suburb, heard her baby scream just after breakfast to-day, and hurried to the bed where it lay, and was horrified to find that a rat had bitten the child on the hand, almost severing a finger.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

GOOD ADDRESS KIWANIS CLUB

Rev. James W. Gordon Discussed Books and Reading—How to Read a Newspaper.

There are very few magazines worth reading, stated Rev. James W. Gordon, M.A., B.D., in an instructive address on "Books and Reading" at to-day's Kiwanis luncheon.

"The average business man has no room for them," he remarked. "Magazines have the same place in a business man's life as a trip to the movies."

In introducing the speaker, President Jack Marshall stated that Rev. Mr. Gordon was favourably known, and in his short sojourn in this city he had made his mark.

Kiwanian "Bill" Williams, who is leaving Peterborough to reside in Toronto, was given a rousing farewell at to-day's luncheon, and was presented with a gift as a token of the club's appreciation.

'We are losing a valued member, a real live wire, and one who has always been on the job when there was anything to do," began Kiwanian Jack McKone. "Bill is going to a larger field, and will find greater spread for his capacities. What Peterborough loses, Toronto will gain. This is his last day with us, and we could not let him go without a little remembrance," he concluded.

"I will always remember the happy associations experienced at the Peterborough Kiwanis Club, and I sincerely hope I can be with you again," replied Kiwanian Williams.

After thanking members for the gift, he reminded them that he would expect frequent visits from local Kiwanians while in Toronto.

Take a Holiday.

Kiwanian Joseph Wearing sponsored a motion to reduce the regular luncheons for the remaining period of July and August to one meeting, to be held on the first Friday of August.

Although an amendment was made the motion carried by a sweeping majority.

'We will come back in September, fresh and enthusiastic, and it would be better for us to cancel the regular meetings during the hot weather than to drag along with small attendances,'" opined Kiwanian Wearing.

Kiwanian Jack Green was to-day's booster ,and in a brief address outlined the work carried on by him as dental officer for the public schools of Peterborough.

One complete survey of the children has been made by the Dental Officer and those pupils whose parents were not in a position to pay for dental treatment have had their teeth fixed at the expense of the Board of Education.

A second survey has been commenced, stated Kiwanian Green, and the results of the first survey are greatly in evidence. The decay in permanent teeth has decreased 50 per cent., it was stated.

"The educational value of the work is very important," remarked the speaker. "If children's teeth are cared for between the ages of 5 and 12 it is likely that they will assume the responsibility of caring for them the rest of their lives."

Appreciates Press.

"We owe an immense debt to the newspapers," remarked Rev. Mr. Gordon, the speaker of the day.

More newspapers ought to be read instead of reading one or two very carefully.

The speaker explained the method and system one should adopt to be intelligently informed by newspaper reading.

One should be able to tell at a glance the items of interest to him on a front page. A great many columns are merely of passing interest, and from 5 to 20 minutes a day spent on each of several newspapers is sufficient for the average person, stated Mr. Gordon. He further said that an American and a British news paper should be included in our daily reading.

'People in books are just as real, and sometimes more valuable, than friends," opined the speaker. "You can't exaggerate the human tragedies or possibilities of life. By books we can acquainot ourselves with the great thought of all ages." "By reading we can gain an intimate and exact knowledge of what happened through all the years, socially politically and economically."

Rev. Mr. Gordon, for information, urged the reading of history, for a man who does not know history cannot be a competent critic. He remarked that a good deal of the comments on social and political life are made because men do not know history. "Every man who wishes to be intelligent must read history," he said.

"We should read books to amuse us," observed the speaker. "Such books criticize ourselves and they should be read because we do not hear enough about ourselves."

He further stated that men who read books can't be narrow for it is generally found that those who criticize others are those situated in a groove, who say others are narrow if they fail to fit that groove.

"One can only learn to appreciate good music by hearing good music," remarked Mr. Gordon. "To be a judge of good books, we must read them."

The speaker used the Bible as an illustration in applying three tests to demonstrate the qualities of a book. It was shown that the Bible is the best seller in the world. Between 3 and 4 million are sold annually. It has lasted through the ages as no other book, and it has demanded translation into other languages. It was explained that this unique book stands out preeminently as an example, and affords a means of determining the status of any other book by comparing the outstanding features which have made it "The Book of Books," with the corresponding ones of other books.

The speaker, before concluding, suggested that each of the Kiwanians present should buy one standard book of history, one great biography, one great work of fiction and one of the best books of current fiction and read them between now and this time next year and repeat this practice for 10 years.

"This looks easy," he said, "but when we recollect how we have spent our spare time in the past, it will look much easier and probably a whole lot wiser."

The Political Police Searching Communists

BERLIN, July 4. United Press.—The political police searching the Communists quarters in the Reichstag in the Prussian Landtag to-day found a quantity of grenades, explosives, caps, and pistols.

The discovery caused a sensation. A number of documents, which the police say, held damaging evidence against the Communists, concerning the plans of the Reds, termed by the police as "dangerous," were also found.

The Communists tried to prevent the police from searching the rooms, but were unsuccessful.

The Prussian Minister of the Interior Savering, on beng informed of the seizure, hastened to the Landtag to make an investigation.

A New Rector For St. George's Church

The Rev. J. Lancaster Hughes, now of Young's Point, will assume the rectorship of St. George's, South Peterborough, on or about the 15th of July, in succession to the Rev. W. R. Courage, who has removed across the border.

BABY EDWARD PYE SCALDED TO DEATH

Seven Months Old Baby Turns on Hot Water While in Bath Tub and Was Scalded.

TORONTO, July 4. — (Canadian Press). — Scalded by boiling water early last evening, 7 months old Edward Pye, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Pye, of 143 Indfan Road, died four hours later. A tragedy seems to have been hovering over the Pye home with a determined stand, for in February last 2-year-old Eileen Pye, sister of the little dead lad, was also scalded, and at first her life was despaired of. She has now recovered. Mrs. Pye, who is the mother of five children, was putting them to bed, and had already tucked Eileen into her cot and commenced to bath baby. He was sitting in a small bath tub adjoining the large bath, in the bottom of which about two inches of water lay.

Hearing one of the other children crying in bed, Mrs. Pye left Edward for a moment to see what the trouble was, and had scarcely left the room when she heard him screaming in terror. Running back, she found that he had somehow attempted to pull himself up and turned the tap on, loosing a flow of scalding water all over his body.

RAIN SPOILED THE ST. PAUL' SOCIAL

What Looked Like a Very Attractive Garden Party Was Cut Short by Heavy Showers.

What promised ot be a very attractive garden party had a splendid beginning yesterday afternoon in the handsome grounds of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Cormack, at 361 Park street, but was cut short in summary fashion later by the rain that kept patrons away in the evening. While it lasted, the affair had a splendid attendance from the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, who responded generously to the occasion. Held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, general arrangements were in charge of the president, Mrs. C. H. Moore ,while Mrs. D. Jordan supervised arrangement of the tables for high tea and afternoon tea. Decorations were exceptionally pretty, and were carried out in unique color schemes with crepe paper and flowers. A candy sale was in charge of Mrs. Wm. A. Burrell and Mrs. H. C. Sherwood, while Mrs. Ed. Manning had charge of the sale of ice cream. Mrs. R. W. Davidson was convenor of the musical programme. During the afternoon, Miss Ruby Quartermaine sang, the Misses Helen and Mildred Morphet gave an instrumental duett, and the Sunday School orchestra of St. Paul's Church rendered several pretty selections. Mr. and Mrs. Cormack made admirable hosts for the occasion. Despite the inclement weather, a sum in excess of one hundred dollars was realized from the garden party.

ROUYN GOLD AREA MAY GET RAILWAY

Ontario Government May Connect at any Moment T. and N. O. Railway With Rouyn.

TORONTO, July 4. — Approval having been received from the Dominion Government for the extension of the Ontario government Railway lines into the Rouyn gold district in Quebec, the Ontario government has placed the province in a position where it may at any moment connect the T. and N. O. Railway with the Rouyn field.

Premier Ferguson intimated yesterday that this would undoubtedly be the course of the government should further discoveries in the new gold fields warrant the expenditure of the $1,500,000 necessary to extend the line from the present terminus at Larder Lake 37 miles eastward to Rouyn.

The mineral discoveries in the Rouyn district, just over the Quebec border line, led the Ontario government last fall to look carefully into the matter of the extension of railway transportation into that country.

This fall the T. and N. O. branch at present under construction, will have been completed as far as Larder Lake.

From the terminus of the present construction to the township of Rouyn, in the centre of the gold area, is about 37 miles.

"The Government," stated the premier yesterday, "has recently given further instructions to the commission to run a location line, working out the information necessary to enable us on short notice, if we so desire, to let the contract for the extension of the road to tap the Rouyn mineral country.

Ninety-five per cent of the claims staked in that country have been staked by Ontario people, and if the present promising conditions develop as anticipated, we will be in a position to let the contract anytime within a month to build the line to take care of this business."

Wellington Francis Died This Morning

TORONTO, July 4.— Wellington Francis, K.C., well known Toronto barrister and financier, died here today in his 75th year. He was president of the Standard Bank of Canada, president of Toronto Mortgage Company, vice-president Consumers Gas Company, Director of Toronto General Trusts Corporation and a member of the law firm of Francis and Wardrop.

Mr. Francis had been ill for the past eight months.

W. G. McADOO WILL FIGHT TO THE END

He Addressed One Hundred Women Who Called Today at His Headquarters.

NEW YORK, July 4.—Declaration of his purpose "to fight until the last drop of blood runs out of me," was made by W. G. McAdoo, contender for the Democratic Presidential nomination in an address to-day to a hundred women who called at his headquarters. The Ohio delegation to the Democratic National convention meeting in caucus to-day, decided to withhold action regarding the future disposition of Ohio's 48 votes pending the receipt of further word from former Governor James M. Cox, for whom votes have been cast since balloting began.

Twelve hour lull in balloting was productive of little but rest for the tired delegates. Resuming on 662nd ballot to-day, leader showed up as follows: McAdoo 469, Smith 338.5, Davis 60.5, Ralston 38.5. This was a loss of half a vote for McAdoo, a gain of three for Smith, carrying him to a new high level, and a gain of one for Ralston.

A queen and her castle

THEY were seated in the living-room—Fred Henderson and his guest from the office—waiting for the dinner gong.

"Nice little home you have here, Fred. Everything so neat and in good taste. What's the recipe?"

"Credit the little woman in there. She's the home manager—art director, purchasing agent and general counsel on what to buy and how to buy.

"She knows! Reads the advertisements! Reasons that advertised goods must be right goods—in style, taste, quality; that they must be worth every penny asked for them. If they were not, the manufacturer making them or the dealer selling them could not long continue in business. Logical, isn't it?

"Yes, sir, Bill, if I were as well informed on things to eat, clothes to wear and furnishings for the home as Louise, I'd kick up this bally job of mine and become an 'Expert Adviser to People Who Don't Read Advertisements.'"

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

WHAT THE RADIO DID

Wheeee! Whirrrr! went the big horn!

All the Green Woods people were dressed up in their Sunday best at Mister Coon's party.

It was a most fashionable party, and Nancy and Nick and the little fairyman were proud of the Coon gentleman and his new radio set.

Oh, yes, it was Mister Coon's new radio set that the party was about. Everybody had come to hear a concert.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said Mister Coon, importantly, getting up in the middle of the floor where a little square box with a big horn was sitting on a table, "I will now tune in. We shall hear a concert that is going on in New York."

Everybody clapped and Mister Coon bowed and then he pushed in some knobs and pulled out some knobs and turned a thingamadodger.

Wheeee! Whirrrr! Squeeeee—eee—eee—rattle—rattle—rattle! went the big horn, or rather, they were the sounds that came out of it.

"My!" said Mrs. Muskrat to Mrs. Groundhog. "They do have queer voices in New York, don't they, Mrs. Groundhog?"

"It isn't just right yet," said Mister Coon. "The air isn't right."

"No, I'd say it wasn't exactly right," grinned Mister Bunny, nudging Old Daddy Cracknuts. "I've heard a good many airs but none exactly like that."

Mr. Coon pulled out some more knobs and pushed in some other knobs and the little lights went blink, and suddenly there was a shriek like the 9 o'clock curfew whistle.

"Oh, oh, oh!" shrieked the Green Wood ladies, covering up their ears. "That must be Grand Opera! Such loud singing makes us deaf. Do they always sing that way in New York, Mister Coon?"

Mister Coon blushed. "There is something wrong," he explained nervously. "Sometimes it's a little hard to make it work right."

The Twins and the fairyman tried to help him fix things. "I think it's all right now," said Nick. "Try to get some other place, Mister Coon.

"I will tune in on Chicago," said Mister Coon, "and we will hear a bedtime story."

"That's better," whispered Daddy Cracknuts. "It won't split our eardrums."

So Mister Coon pulled another handle and instantly a voice came out of the horn, saying, "Once upon a time a little—squeeee—squeeee—squeee—squeeee — roar — roar — whirrrrr — whoop—eeee!"

"My goodness!" exclaimed Grandma Frog. "I should think that would waken up all the babies this side of America. That's a most remarkable bedtime story!"

"Yes, isn't it," remarked Mrs. Shipmunk. "Oh, there! Listen, now."

The voice in the horn went on: "And one day he went to school and—bang, whang, squeal, roar, shriek!" it finished with a wail.

"My, my! I'd hate to send my child to that school," said Mrs. Groundhog.

"It's very late and we'll have to be going," said Mrs. Bunny. "Goodnight, Mister Coon. "We've all had a nice time at your party." And out they went—all of them.

But they hadn't any more than turned the corner when the radio set began to behave itself beautifully. The Twins and the fairyman stayed and heard ten pieces played by a circus band.

RIGID CHANGES IN IMMIGRATION LAWS

Canada Should Take Advantage of U. S. Laws and Select the Best of English Immigrants.

OOTTAWA, July 4 (Canadian Press). — Canadas policy towards "Red" immigrants came under discussion in the House of Commons last night.

Fololwing the Winnipeg strike in 1919, rigid changes were made in the Immigration Act in regard to the admission of persons seeking to overthrow constituted authority by force.

The Government Bill discussed yesterday modifies 1919 legislation to some extent.

Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Immigration, argued that immigrants accused of holding views opposed to the social code of the country were not, under the Bill, deprived of a fair trial,but he did not think a trial in the ordinary Courts necessary.

Incidentally, the question was raised of the Chinese employed on boats owned by the British Empire Steel Corporation, Mr. Robb contending that the men had not been admitted to Canada, but were on the seas.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, former Solicitor-General, urged that Canada should take advantage of the severe immigration laws of the United States and select the best of European immigrants.

The Bill passed the committee stage after prolonged discussion, and stands for the third reading.

America Will Have To Aid Europe Soon'

LONDON, July 4.—(United Press) — "The time must come when America will have to help in some way to solve the European problems," Premier Ramsay MacDonald declared in a speech in Wales last night.

"I shall be glad to see the United States represented at the forthcoming Reparations Conference, not fully, but helping by watching and concentrating.

"I believe that the conference will be successful but I will not attempt to prophesy."

"The Dunlop Trail"

Summer Resorts of Ontario in a Nutshell for the Motorists.

"The Dunlop Trail" is the "new idea" touring book, which represents the first attempt to lay Ontario before the holiday-seeker in such a way that he can motor over the Province systematically.

The whole story of Ontario is told in sequence—Ontario from Winnipeg to Cochrane, to Windsor, to Montreal—yet the book only comprises forty pages, and is pocket size.

Not a reference page from cover to cover—in other words, you get the whole story of a district when you are at the two pages covering that particular district. No advertising of any kind in "The Dunlop Trail."

All maps and illustrations specially drawn all material specially compiled. Think of this feature: All your mileage figured out for you over the entire Province—the first time this has been attempted in the history of motoring.

In "The Dunlop Trail" you find every River and Lake trip that has a schedule; also special Train trips; combination Auto, Boat and Train trips; the first complete list ever published of places where Summer Hotels are located; every Golf Club and Camp Site in the Province, and real information, where you want it, about steamer and ferry services for taking autos aboard.

In order to keep the circulation of "The Dunlop Trail" in the proper channel a nominal price of fifty cents has been put on it. Any Garage or Tire Dealer in Ontario will take your order for "The Dunlop Trail" or you can procure it direct from this Company at any of the Ontario Offices mentioned below.

PETES HAVE TO BEAT KINGSTON HERE SATURDAY

Home Talent Must Win from Ponies to Get Start in Second Series.

WILL BE A BATTLE

Ponies Have Smart Ball Club And are Keen Contender for the Pennant.

Tomorrow's game between the Kingston Ponies and the Petes at 3 p.m. at Riverside Park promises to be one of the most interesting of the season. Both teams will be at full strength and with Kelly, the Ponies portsided ace opposed to Al Heckman the battle should be an air tight struggle all the way. Heck showed by the ball he pitched on Tuesday against Oshawa that he is right again and with the good right-hander doing his stuff as of yore against Kingston the Limestone crew will find the Petes a much different proposition than they were a week ago. To get started in the second half the home talent will have to grab off tomorrow's game while Kingston cannot afford to drop another fixture after losing to Belleville Tuesday.

Oshawa and Belleville clash at Oshawa tomorrow and the winner will be at the top of the heap for the moment. Next week the Petes play Belleville twice while Oshawa and Kingston engage in a series.

Every game in the second half will be desperately fought for Oshawa, Belleville and Peterboro realize that it is their last chance to get into the play off and here will be no quarter asked or given from now until the end of the schedule.

CHICAGO BEAT CINCINNATI

Wild Throw in Ninth Broke Tie to Let in the Winner.

CHICAGO, July 4. — (Canadian Press).—After Cincinnati had tied the score in the first half of the ninth in yesterday's game, a wild throw by Bush in Chicago's half, permitted Friberg to score from third, where he had landed on Grigsby's two-bagger to centre,giving Chicago the game, 4 to 3. Score:

Cincinnati	02000001	3	8 1
Chicago	00020100 1	4	9 0

Sheehan and Wingo, Sandberg; Kaufmann and O'Farrell.

Brooklyn Pitcher Won.

BOSTON, July 4. — (Canadian Press).—Grimes pitched the hard-hitting Brooklyn team to a 6 to 5 victory over Boston yesterday. Cooney was knocked out of the box in the third inning and Lucas then finished the game well. Johnston's play was brilliant. Score:

Brooklyn	10300100 1	6	17 3
Boston	10000100 3	5	10 3

Grimes and Taylor; Cooney, Lucas and O'Neil.

CAVAN TUXIS BOYS PLAY IN OAT FIELD

Grounders Were Lost, But the Boys Managed to Get the Pop Flies.

CAVAN, July 4. — On 1st July the Cavan Tuxis baseball team journeyed to Fairmount, only to be defeated 7 to 3. The game was an imitation of hide and seek in an oat-field. The crop will be a success, as it is easily a foot high now.

All pop flies sent up were caught, but mostly all grounders were safe.

The teams have each won one game up to date.

Batteries: For Fairmount, B. Craw and C. Seymour; for Cavan, G. Staples and W. Reynolds.

Three of the Caban team failed to appear, so the team played under difficulties, picking up three strange players.

Next week the Cavan boys will play Ebenezer.

HOME RUN WON FOR SKEETERS IN 11 INNINGS

Jersey City Pests Took First of Series From Newark 8 to 7.

THREEE HOMERS.

Buffalo Dropped in to Beat Rochester by 11 to 8 With With Free Hitting.

NEWARK, N.J., July 4 (Canadian Press). — "Red" Holt's homer in the eleventh inning yesterday won an 8 to 7 battle for the Skeeters over Newark in the first game of the series. This was the third extra inning game played by Jersey City this week. Pitcher Johnny Enzmann and Shortstop Jack Sheehan of Newark also hit homers. The score:

Newark	10011310000	7	15 1

Frank and Freitag; Lynch, Enzmann and Dougherty.

Buffalo Won.

ROCHESTER, July 4 (Canadian Press). — Rochester and Buffalo dropped into Rochester for a single game yesterday, and the Bisons smothered the Tribe under an avalanche of free hitting to win the game 11 to 8. The score:

Buffalo	00441000 2	11	15 3
Rochester	00320003 0	8	13 2

Reddy and Hill; Beall, Steggerda, Wisner, Heilman and Lake, Munn.

IRON HORSE OF TURF IS READY FOR BUSY YEAR

Usually the Meets Bring Out More Than One Old-Timer Carrying Silk.

TOMMY IS ONE

This is Twelfth Season for Tommy D. and He's Still Good in 2.15 Class.

DETROIT, July 4.—Just how long can a trotter or pacer keep up the good work is a question often asked by the casual race goer.

It would seem that the hard campaigns to which they are subjected would wear them out in possibly two or three seasons at the most, and yet each year there is more than one "iron horse" sporting silks.

Witness the case of the veterans gelding, Tommy D, 2:05½. The past season marked the 11th consecutive campaign and during these years he took part in 125 contests.

Tommy first showed up at the North eVrnon (Ind.) half-mile track in 1913, and since that time has been raced hard and consistently from one end of the country to the other.

To make his career on the turf all the more remarkable only last year he established a new three-heat record for Cape Breton tracks when he won at Glace Bay in 2:12¼, 2:15 and 2:16¼.

This time may seem slow to the layman but, age of horse and track conditions considered, it is a great achievement.

It is planned to send Tommy to the races again this season, his present owners feeling that he still has a few good miles left in him.

While the full satistics for his 1923 campaign are not available, the following table showing his racing record from 1913 to 1922 inclusive will be found interesting:

Year	No. Sts.	1st	2nd	3rd	4th	unp
1913	11	4	5	1	0	1
1914	14	9	1	3	0	1

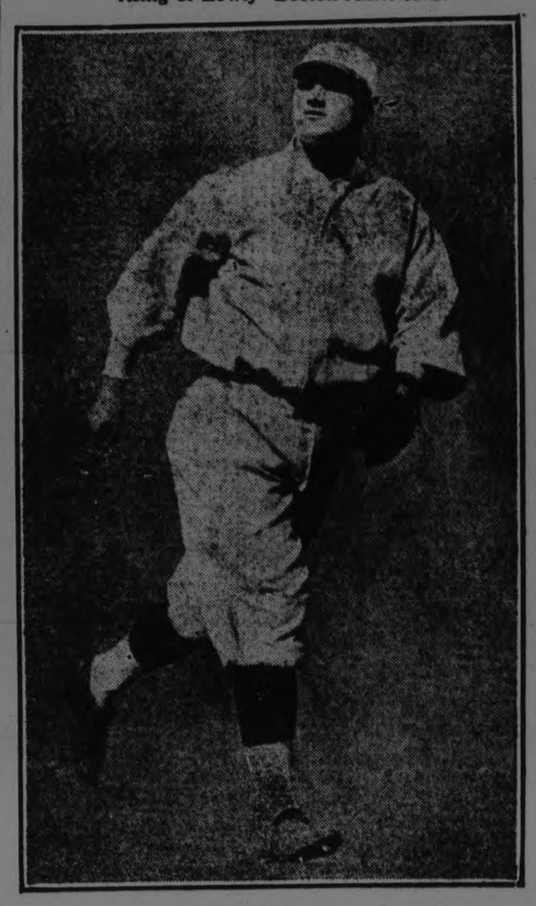
YEP, BOONE HAS BEEN A BOON TO THE RED SOX

Hard Hitting Young Outfielder Plays Heavy Role in Uprising of Lowly Boston Americans.



IKE BOONE

The most astonishing development of the major league season has been the unexpected uprising of the Boston Red Sox, a team which finished an emphatic eighth last year.

And one of the main reasons for the phenomenon is Ike Boone, a young outfielder frm the Texas League. Mr. Boone has truly been a boon to Manager Fohl. His hitting has been both timely and spectacular, and his work in the field has been up to the standard in every detail.

Boston fans have lifted him to the pedestals of idolatory formerly occupied by Speaker, Hooper and Lewis when these outfielding notables cavorted at Fenway Park.

FRENCHMAN IN TENNIS FINAL

One Defeated a South African Yesterday, While the Second Won From U.S.

AT WIMBLEDON.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 4 (Canadian Press). — Two dashing young Frenchmen, Jean Borotra and Rene La Coste, will fight out the finals for the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championship in the men's singles.

Both came through the semi-finals yesterday afternoon with the fine speed and audacity characteristic of the rising athletic generation that has hurried all manner of athletics forward in the new post-war France.

In becoming a finalist La Coste put R. Norris Williams II., the only United States survivor in the men's singles, out of the running, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, while Borotra won his way to the final round by downing Louis Raymond of South Africa, 6-2, 6-4 and 7-5.

Borotra's victory over the South African, who fought hard all the way, despite a slight limp from a torn tendon, was more impressive than La Coste's triumph at the expense of Williams.

Williams, by a succession of errors, was largely to blame for his own defeat.

Borotra's achievement, following his recent stunning victory over Vincent Richards, the young United States player, firmly establishes him as one of the great lights of the tennis world.

A slight drizzle fell throughout the Raymond-Borotra match, and the slim Frenchman, often racing at full speed, slipped and fell several times and thus lost furtive drives whizzing away from the hard-hitting South Africans racquet. His volleying had all the fire, dash, and sharpness which it displayed in his game against Richards.

The other notable match of the afternoon was in the womens doubles in which Miss Helen Wills, the youthful United States champion, and her countrywoman, Mrs. George Wightman, took a well-played match from the other United States pair, Miss Eleanor Goss and Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup, 8-6, 6-4.

In the other semi-final of the womens doubles, Miss Kathleen McKane and Mrs. Phyllis Covell defeated Mrs. Lambert Chambers and Mrs. Shepherd-Barron, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

U.S. POLO TEAM WON.

ST. CLOUD, France, July 4 (Canadian Press). — The United States team loomed up as practically certain of the world's polo championship by virtue of its crushing defeat of Great Britain's Olympic team yesterday by a score of 10 to 2.

The United States quartette proved themselves good mudders against Britain.

BRITAIN WON SHOOTING

VERSAILLES, France, July 4.—(Canadian Press). —Great Britain yesterday won the last Olympic shooting match between teams of four each at a running deer — with 363 points out of a possible 400. Norway was second, one point behind; Sweden third with 250, Finland, fourth with 239, and the United States, fifth with 233. Czeco-Slovakia was sixth, with 204.

FEATURE GAME OF THIS DATE

BAKER GETS FOUR HITS, ALL DIFFERENT.

J. Franklin Baker made merry with his bat on the afternoon of July 3rd, 1911, at the expense of Jack Warhop. Four times Baker came to bat, four times he hit safely, and every time he hit for a different distance, his day's work included a single, a double, a triple and a four bagger. Harry Krause pitched for the Athletics, but you would never know it from the summary, for he struck out nobody, walked nobody, made no wild heave and punctured no batter's anatomy. Ira Thomas handled no chances behind the bat. The score:

SOCCER NOTES.

On Saturday afternoon, the Canadian Woollens and Thistle meet in a league fixture at Nicholls Oval. Kick-off at 3 o'clock prompt. In the last game the Jags lost two valuable points and will no doubt be out to get full points tomorrow.

The following Thistle players are requested to be at the Oval on Saturday at 2.30 prompt: Curtis, Anderson, Rae, Bishop, Jackson, Dawson, Burgess, Ross, Hutton, Belleville, Holston, Richmond, Williams and Middleton.

In all probability Wyllie of the Woollens will be transferred to the Quakers in the near future. He will be the porridge boys gain to strengthen their forward line.

The Woollens were lucky to win at Campbellford in the Cup Tie game last Saturday, according to reports.

The P. and D.F.A. will meet on Monday evening in Chamber of Commerce rooms at 8 o'clock prompt because there is important business on hand.

According to rule:: All players who were ordered off the field must appear at the next meeting of the Board of Directors in person so as to hear the caste from every angle. So be present boys when your case comes up at the meeting.

How Much Insurance Do You Carry?

Will the policies you carry provide your family twenty-five dollars per week? How could they get along with less? Have you provided a fund of ready cash to take care of immediate expenses and to educate the children?

$1,000 at 6% yields daily income of 16 cents or $1.12 per week.

$10,000 yields $1.64 per day or $11.48 per week.

The NUT CRACKER

BY JOE VILLIAMS

STRAIGHT DOPE BENNY ON THE RADIO

I'm not one of these dukes that think a belligerent set of knuckles is the only way out of an invective-tossing tournament. The ancient wise cracker who wrote that apple-sauce fashionably spread will turn away wrath plays my kind of fiddle.

And yet I gotta admit that that Arkansas senator who busted up a golf etiquette debate on a Washington course with a right-hand swing to the whiskers is deserving of a full set of cheers and at least one robust hoopla.

As a game golf isn't any worse than any other form of outdoor dementia, but it is burdened with more artificial suaviy and hypocritical politeness than an executive session of the Ladies' Mutual Admiration Society.

If you make a bad shot your opponent breaks right down on the spot and sobs like a blond manicurist in a breach of promise suit. "Well, of all the tough luck I ever saw—" he goes on to say in a voice that brims over with heavy, sticky emotion.

You know of course that he is about as sincere as a Woolworth pearl necklace and that what he really means to say is, "It serves you right, you big squash. What plumber taught you the game "

I don't recall that Dempsey climbed back into the ring after Firpo knocked him over the ropes and congratulated the South American bottle washer with, "My good fellow, that was a magnificent punch. Pray, tell me, where you developed it?"

Sportsmanship is a noble piece of work and its own name and birthright and it doesn't need a store front or a press agent to prove its virtues.

Still, I wouldn't say that it is always right and proper to silence a gabby golf pest with a punch on the beezer.

Whadda suppose they made them new steel shaft clubs for anyway?

No two snowflakes are alike.

ORLAND TRIMMED COLBORNE GROUP

The Home Battery Failed to Hold the Visitors—Story of Game.

ORLAND, July 3. — The home team swooped down upon Colborne diamond and secured an easy victory from the leaders yesterday.

There seemed to be but little doubt from the beginning as to the result as the Colborne battery could not cope with the heavy batting that the Orlandites put up.

Ives lead off in the pitching for Colborne and worked hard but had weak support as he only walked one man and hit one, but he only had two strike outs, while Miles who took up the pitchers mantle in the eighth added only one more strike out to add to the string.

Ingalls took the mound at the beginning and while he was qute wild at times he succeeded in striking out no less than five but walked three and hit one.

He was relieved in the middle of the 5th by A. Zufelt who was faced by full bases with two strikes and three balls on the batter yet he exricated himself from this difficult position yielding only one run in that inning.

He struck out five, hit one and allowed no walks.

Downs whose hand was still stiff from the spiking he received at Roseneath was unfortunate in batting high flies yet he got away with two runs which would have been entirely out of the question if the fielding had been fair.

Overlooking a man on first he threw to second and this resulted in three runs for Colborne.

Colborne paid more dearly however in both the second and seventh for their errors allowing the visitors five runs each.

Dawson got a hot liner from Barfet in the outfield which looked good for at least two runs.

Downs fouled high which Mayhew made a fine effort to get and would undoubtedly had but for some eager fans who trespassed to close to the diamond. Umpires will do well in the future to see that the grounds are kept clear.

Orland had fourteen men left on bases while Colborne had four.

The score and lineup was as follows:

Colborne	1	3	1	3	0	0	0	0	0
Orland	0	5	1	1	2	0	5	0	1

Colborne

Ives, pitcher; Mayhew, catcher; Hawkins, centre field; Wilson, left field; Barfet, 2nd base; Ross, 1st base; Moran, right field; Mulhall, 3rd base; Myles, ss; Ives, Turpin spares.

Orland

Ingalls, pitcher; Downs, catcher; Way, centre field; Dawson, left field; Houlihan, 2nd base; K. Zufelt, 1st base; Moran, right field; Mulhall, 3rd base; Samis, ss; Moran, Beatty, Spares.

LEWIS WON WELTERWEIGHT

LONDON, July 4 (Canadian Press). — Ted (Kid) Lewis, of England, last night defeated the Scotsman, Johnny Brown, on points for the welterweight championship of Europe. The bout went twenty rounds.

George Cook, the Australian heavyweight, defeated the Spanish heavyweight, Paolino Ezcudun, on points.

The contests took place at Albert Hall.

Six languages will be used at an International Congress of Philosophy in Naples, Italy, this year.

HECKMAN TIED WITH BATSTONE FOR LEADERSHIP

Petes' Pitcher and Ponies' Third Baseman Head Central League Swatters.

FIRST HALF HONOURS.

Petes Are Second in Team Batting and Also Second in Team Fielding, Figures Show.

The Kingston Standards averages for the first half of the Central Ontario League show Al. Heckman, the Petes' pitcher and all-round man, and Harry Batstone, the Kingston third baseman, tied for the individual batting honours with the neat average of .405. Only nine regulars hit better than .300 during the first half —Heckman .405, and Legon .320 for Peterborough; Batstone .405, Compeau .387, and Rice .374 for Kingston; Rowden .435 for Oshawa; and W. Mills .367, Hagerman .333, and Casey .308 for Belleville.

The fielding averages show Shiner Johnston leading the second basemen with .943 and Heckman the pitchers with .960.

In total bases Belleville led with 151, followed by Kingston with 146, Oshawa 134, and Peterborough 129. Kingston had 21 two-base hits, Oshawa 18, Peterborough 17, and Belleville 15, while Kingston and Belleville each had 9 triples, and the Petes and Oshawa 5. Kingston and Belleville had two homers, Oshawa 1, and Peterborough 0.

Kingston led in stolen bases with 13, the Petes being second with 11. The Petes led in sacrifice hits with 19, Johnston leading the League in this department, while the Solomon crew also made the most double plays, 7, as against 6 by Belleville, 4 by Oshawa, and 3 by Kingston.

In club batting the Petes were second, Kingston leading, and the Petes were also in second place in club fielding, one point behind Belleville, the leaders in this department.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

An entirely new departure in the moving picture world, an innovation that is really startling in its effect, is the introduction into the Capitol Theatre programme for this week of something absolutely new. The third dimension—depth—is on the screen at last, and its surprising results are interesting in the extreme. Plastigrams, in a one-reel novelty, aroused much excitement among Capitol patrons last evening. Shrieks of surprise came from those who waited for the shot as the gentleman on the screen advanced toward them with pointed gun, that vanished at the psychological moment, and the turning of a hose on the audience by another screen performer was almost too realistic for the spectators to withstand. These plastigrams, with their stereoscopic effects, are extremely entertaining. If their use could be incorporated into some of the thrillers of the screen, its entertainment would probably be heightened about one hundred per cent., as the effect obtained is that of absolute reality. As well as moving about on the silver sheet, the actors appear, by the aid of the colored lenses provided each patron, to advance right out of the picture. It is a novel departure that has to be seen to be appreciated, and that offers a wide field of speculation as to the future possibilities of such a peculiar invention.

The famous Jackie Coogan, as a little Belgian boy, with baggy trousers, funny little cap, great clumsy, clattering wooden shoes and patched jacket, as Nello, the immortal hero of Ouida's story, "A Dog of Flanders," is at the Capitol Theatre in the feature picture. The precocious genius of the small, talented Jackie is paramount in this picture, with his companion actor, four-footed and faithful, the Great Dane, Petrasche, whom Jackie rescues from a cruel master and makes his companion.

The art of the little lad who seems to have every facility for portrayal of various screen emotions at his finger tips is outstanding in "A Boy of Flanders." Admirers of the attractive little boy actor will like him immensely, although the story itself does not contain as many touches of humour as most of the Jackie pictures. Its background is unusual. Screened in Antwerp, the production follows, with absolute fidelity, the story of Ouida, with the exception of the final episode, which the story makes tragic, and the picture turns to joy. The climax, when the boy and dog alike appear to be lost in the snow-storm that sweeps over the fields of Flanders and buries the Cathedral steps at Antwerp in a deep cover, is a poignant and appealing episode. A quality of pathos, by reason of the poverty of the boy and his dog and his old, blind grandfather, is characteristic of the story, but the finale is joyous and bright. The splendid acting of the wonderful child-actor makes it appealing and entertaining.

An effective contrast, is the preceding comedy, with Louise Fazenda in "Dizzy Daisy," a ridiculous conglomeration of swift-moving, outlandish episodes, in which the inimitable Louise takes the part of a hired girl, interested in rescuing a visiting English Algy from the clutches of a band of high-class thieves. A series of peculiar mishaps await the lady and her awkward charge, escaping with a packed jewel case from a pursuing group of marauders. To part company with her companion in mid-stream, one section of their motor boat retreating to the wharf, the other advancing gaily, and to plunge their launch, nose first, into a collapsing building, high and dry, are among the least of the adventures of the dizzy pair.

NOVARRO AT LAST PLAYS SPANIARD

Metro Star Portrays Hero of Own Race in Niblo Production.

Ramon Novarro, who is playing the part of the young lover, Juan Ricardo, in the Louis B. Mayer-Metro production, "Thy Name is Woman," which is coming to the Capitol Theatre on Monday, is having the novel experience of depicting one of his own countrymen on the screen under the guiding genius of Fred. Niblo. Mr. Novarro is a Spaniard and this latest Niblo offering is laid in the heart of the Pyrenees.

"I was born in Mexico," Mr. Novarro says. "My parents had come from Spain just a short time before my birth. Until I was sixteen years old I could speak nothing but the Spanish language. I was practically fed on Spanish literature and Spanish art, and, of course, with such a foundation, all things Castilian became very dear to me. When I first determined to go into pictures I had the keen desire to give eventually an interpretation on the screen of one of the parts I had read about. French characterizations have come my way; Balkan parts as well; moreover, I have played a South Sea Islander, but heretofore never a Spaniard. That is why I was overjoyed when Mr. Niblo engaged me for the role in 'Thy Name is Women'; I am a Spanish officer, a part which brings back pleasant reminiscences, for I can well remember as a little boy how I hoped some time I might become an officer in the king's army."

"Thy Name is Woman" is a Fred. Niblo production presented by Louis B. Mayer through Metro. It was adapted by Bess Meredyth from Benjamin Glazer's American version of Karl Schoenherr's play. Victor Milner was the cameraman and Ben Carre was art director.

AT THE REGENT

REALISM FEATURES FILM PRODUCTION OF BELASCO DRAMA

Critics Agree That "The Governor's Lady" is True to Average Life.

Some critic has said of "The Governor's Lady," the David Belasco play, which William Fox is presenting on the screen, that "its fidelity to life is photographic." This probably is the most accurate description that can be given to this picture, which has won the unanimous praise of critics everywhere.

"The Governor's Lady" presents the story of Daniel Slade, who has risen from the laboring ranks in a silver mine to the governor's chair. There is a great deal of Napoleon in his make-up and he is able to override every obstacle and plunge on towards his goal.

His wife fails to keep up with his advancement in the social world. She is the type of a woman who buries heslef in her home and its duties, with the belief that her old-fashioned love for her husband will suffice.

Just before Slade's nomination as Governor of his state, he meets the daughter of a senator. Slade is infatuated with the girl and impressed with her social poise. When he tells his wife that she is a hindrance to him in his career and that he intends to marry the Senator's daughter, she leaves.

On the eve of his election to the governorship, Slade receives word that the girl who was to take his wife's place had changed her mind and will marry a young lawyer. He then goes to the big executive mansion a remorseful and lonely man. From this point the photograph moves rapidly forward to one of the most dramatic climaxes ever seen on the screen.

"The Governor's Lady" will be seen at the Regent Theatre Friday and Saturday.

GOLF BLEACHERS AT TITLE MATCHES

Host Club to Amateur Teams Plans Innovation This Fall.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

The matter of handling the gallery at championship matches has become one of the most perplexing problems in golf. Where, ten years ago, galleries rarely exceeded hundreds, they now mount into thousands. And as the game is becoming increasingly popular it is conceivable that the problem will take on added complexities in coming years.

Ropes, Boy Scouts and prayers make up the main ingredients of the system now in use. At best, it is a hit-and-miss system, but until some genius evolves a better one it probably will have to stand.

In this connection we note that the Garden City Club, in the metropolitan district, where the American and British amateur teams clash in the Walker Cup matches next fall, plans to build a grandstand facing the eighteenth green. This stand, big enough to accomodate 1500 people, would be the first stand ever used in golf.

Naturally, the view of the spectators would be restricted to activities developing within a limited zone; but then the home green is usually productive of plenty of excitement. It certainly was in the two big championships last summer.

Bobby Cruickshank tied Bobby Jones in the open at Inwood on the home green with the most dramatic iron shot of the year and it was on the home green in the amateur at Flossmoor that Jess Sweetser dropped a curling, down-hill putt for a half against Max Marston when the Yale man appeared hopelessly beaten.

It would have been worth anybody's time to sit for hours in the stands to see either of these finishes.

The stand idea might be carried further than the proposed Garden City arrangement. On every course almost is a certain point of vantage from which play at four or five holes may be observed.

A sizable stand could be erected at such a spot, supplementing the main stand at the eighteenth green, and while this might not be entirely satisfactory it would at least minimize the number of pop-eyed fairway rovers who just must see every shot.

Woollens Defeated the Quaker Girls

On Wednesday evening at Central Park the Woollens defeated the Quakers by the score of 12 to 8. The game was fast and close throughout, with both teams turning in some snappy fielding and heavy hitting. Miss Patterson, for the Woollens, pitched steady ball and kept the Quakers' hits well scattered. Her team-mates gave her good support, and were always ready and willing to help her. Miss Naish, for the Quakers, also pitched a good game of ball. The teams lined up as follows:

Woollens—Patterson p, Mann c, Todd 1b, Clark 2b, Bradley 3b, Logan ss, Robinson rf, Gregory lf, Langton cf, Hemphill sub.

Quakers—Naish p, Connors c, Fowler 1b, Edwards 2b, Collins 3b, Taylor ss, Cranham rf, Trotter lf, Evans cf, Fallis sub.

Umpire—A. Delahaye.

Colonials Trounced Y.W.C.A. Aggregation

In a Ladies' Softball League game last night at Central Park the Y.W.C.A. dropped a game to the Colonial sluggers by the score of 16 to 9. The game was full of thrills, and both teams were always dangerous. Miss Gimblett, for the Y, gave everything she had, but the Colonial girls had a batting streak on and hit the ball all over the lot. The Y girls also collected a number of hits off Miss Adams on the mound for the Colonials. The teams lined up as follows:

Y.W.C.A.—Gimblett p, Andrews c, Miller 1b, Meredith 2b, Wheeler 3b, Scott ss, Nixon rf, Kirn lf, Brown cf, Brownlie sub.

Colonials—Adams p, Johnson c, Bradshaw 1b, Batley 2b, Hatcher 3b, Greenhalgh ss, Young rf, Forster lf, Hill cf, Muir sub.

Umpire—A. Delahaye.

Four Men Killed In a Train Wreck

LAKE CHARLES, La., July 4.—(Canadian Press). — Four men are dead and probably others are injured as a result of the wreck of an eastbound freight on the Southern Pacific at La Casina, a small village about 18 miles east of here, according to meagre reports to-day.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, July 4.—Cobourg L.O.B.A. Lodge No. 351 and Cobourg L.O.L. No. 127 attended divine service at St. Peter's Church on Sunday evening last, where they listened to an excellent sermon. The rector, Rev. Canon F. J. Sawers was in charge of the service.

Colborne Teachers Resign

Miss Grace Peebles, principal and Miss Mayhew, a member of the Public School staff at Colborne have tendered their resignations which have been accepted by the Board of Education there.

Colborne Board is asking for $800 less this year than last in their financial estimate which has been submitted. It is stated that this will mean a reduction of two mills on the rate.

Accidental Death.

At the inquest held on Wednesday evening by Coroner Ferris to inquire into the cause of the death of the late Philip Romans the following verdict was returned:

We, the jury, find that Philip Romano came to his death through being struck by a Canadian National passenger train, near Sinclair street crossing, Cobourg, on June 16th, and that his death was accidental.

The engineer, fireman and brakeman on the train gave their evidence. Frank Guy who was in charge of the signal line gang, and Sidney Gould who was working with Romano, at the time he was struck by the train. Mr. P. J. Gould assistant superintendent of the C.P.R. was present.

Examiner at Belleville

Mr. Egerton Boyce, organist of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Port Hope, was at Belleville this week acting as examiner at the British Academy examination in music. Mr. Boyce has been very successful in his chosen vocation. He is a son of Rev. and Mrs. W. S. P. Boyce, Brighton, and a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lawless, Grafton.

Howes—Harwood.

Miss Lillian Ethel Harwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Harwood, Port Hope, was married at St. Mark's Church in that town on Saturday to Mr. Henry John Howes, Toronto. Canon Oswald Rigby, rector, performed the ceremony.

Departmental Examinations.

The Lower School examinations are over and the 127 students who wrote are glad no doubt to be through with this ordeal. The Middle and Upper School pupils are now having their turn. 61 wrote here on the Middle School examinations, which includes entrance to Normal and Junior Matriculation. 21 are writing on the Upper School examinations, including Faculty Entrance, First Class certificates and Honor Matriculation. This is over four times as many students as wrote on these examinations, a few years ago.

Real Estate Deals.

Councillor F. J. McArthur has purchased the store property, which he occupies on King street, south from the Dumble estate.

Mr. F. D. Allport, town has sold a house on University avenue to F. C. Pipino.

CRICKET NEWS

All members of Peterboro Cricket Club are requested to be on hand at Exhibition Grounds at 2.30 p.m. Saturday as a match has been arranged with a strong eleven captained by Frank Dyer.

Auto Sense STOP, THIEF! By Williamson

There are many devices on the market for protecting your car from the automobile thief, but if he wants it bad enough he will get it regardless of the precaution you take. However, the thief is more or less of a sneak, and does not want to attract any more attention than he can help. He is also anxious to make a quick getaway.

For this reason, he is likely to pass up your car and try another one if he finds yours fitted with some device to worry him.

The accompanying strip illustrates a very simple way to cause him trouble. With the throttle lever locked in an open position the engine would race so fast when started that he would be unable to do anything with it. If the spark lever is fully advanced he would experience a back-fire or kick when he attempted to start the engine, especially if it is cold.

However, he can raise the hood, disconnect the throttle lever, and use the accelerator to regulate the speed of the engine unless the accelerator is locked down too. If this is done speed of the car from the driver's seat without going to a lot of trouble, trouble that will attract a lot of attention.

The ignition lock offers protection from amateur thieves only. The professional carries pass keys or can shunt the current around the switch with a hairpin or a small piece of wire.

The throttle and gas levers on a Ford can be locked down very easily and unless you have put on an accelerator the car can not be operated as long as the lock is in place. However, these levers can be straightened out and the lock slipped off. You can foil the thief in this respect by having a chain link welded on each lever in such position as to overlap for locking.

Man Says Good-bye and Jumps Into River

PORT ARTHUR, July 4.—(Canadian Press).—"Good-bye fellows," said an elderly man, name unknown, to a number of others standing about the C. N. R. dock this morning. Following the words with action, he jumped into the water. Whether or not he changed his plans when he got into the water, he swam around without any apparent intention of making it a permanent good-bye. A Government launch approached, and the men aboard it pulled him out and he walked away in his dripping clothes.

Two Jugo Slav Custom Officials Were Killed

BELGRADE, July 4.—(Canadian Press).—An incident is reported from the Italo-Jugo Slav frontier in which two Jugo-Slav Customs officials were killed. The version of the incident as received here is that the Customs officers, while patrolling, met three Italian frontier guards, who summoned them to halt. When the Customs men pointed out that they were on Jugo-Slav territory, according to this account, the Italians opened fire, killing the two officials and wounding a civilian.

INDEPENDENCE IN POLITICS RATHER THAN 3RD PARTY

Senator Lafollette Was Heralded as Americans Most Loyal Defender.

GREAT SPOKESMAN.

CLEVELAND, July 4—(Canadian Press).—Extolling Senator Robert M. Lafollette after ridiculing the Republican party, scorning the Democratic organization and fiercely denouncing the Communists, William H. Johnston, head of the Machinists' International Union and chairman of the conference to progressive political action, to-day struck the keynote of the convention of the latter organization at its opening here. Independence in politics rather than a "third party" movement was emphasized as expedient.

Senator Lafollette was hailed as "the tribune of American people, their greatest spokesman and their most loyal defender."

The recent Republican national convention was referred to as "a lifeless gathering of political puppets"; the Democratic convention as "a disorderly mob meeting, which responded to boss control quite obediently in its voting"; and the Communists as "tools of re-action who are constantly striving to destroy the American Labor movement and create chaos in the ranks of the Progressives."

Baby Girl Had Her Face Chewed By Dog

OWEN SOUND, July 4. — The one and a half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Mitchell of Chatsworth, literally had her face chewed to pieces by a dog on their farm last evening. She was brought to the hospital here last night in order that the surgeons might operate on her. The child had been playing with the dog, which was ordinarily regarded as a docile animal.

Two teeth and part of the jaw have been torn away, and the face and lips are cut and lacerated right through to the jaw.

CHURCH UNION TRAVAIL ENDED IN PARLIAMENT

House of Commons Last Night Passed Contentious Measure to Senate.

AFTER 3 MONTHS.

Two Amendments in Closing Stages of Struggle Declared Lost.

OTTAWA, July 5. — (Canadian Press).—The Church Union Bill has passed the House of Commons and gone up to the Senate. The final stage took place yesterday evening when, after the rejection of two amendments, the third reading was carried. No vote was recorded on either of the amendments or on the third reading; but William Duff of Lunenburg asked that the minutes contain the statement that these decisions were reached only "on division." This implies a formal recognition that opposition was continued to the end, though no division lists appeared in Hansard. A division was recorded last Tuesday night on the Duff amendment to change the name of the new Church to "The United Church in Canada" instead of "The United Church of Canada"; this amendment was defeated by 50 to 38.

When the bill was called yesterday evening, Alfred Stork (Liberal, Skeena) moved, seconded by W. G. Raymond (Liberal, Brantford) that the bill be amended to provide that it should not apply to the Presbyterian Church until all doubts of the powers of the General Assembly to agree to union had been removed and that this question be referred to the Supreme Court of Canada. There was no discussion and this amendment was declared "lost on division." Mr. Duff then moved, seconded by Mr. tSork, to amend the bill to provide that the vote on union in the congregations should be taken by a circulated ballot instead of at a meeting of the congregation.

T. W. Caldwell (Progressive, Victoria-Carleton) raised a point of order on the ground that the House had already voted on a similar amendment.

The Speaker said that there was some difference betwcen this and the previous amendment, but that it could not be moved in its present exact terms without notice.

"Do you want us to talk until nine o'clock?" asked Mr. Duff.

The point of order was then tacitly waived, and this amendment, like the previous one, was declared "lost on division."

Without further debate the third reading was then "carried on division," and the long struggle over this bill in the House of Commons, which began nearly three months ago on April 10, was over.

Another One.

When this measure had been disposed of, another bill of a religious nature was taken up in the proposal of E. B. Ryckman (Conservative, East Toronto) to incorporate the Shantung Christian University, which met with some opposition, and eventually had to be laid over.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, opened the discussion by asking whether the Department of Justice had passed upon the constitutionality of the bill, and J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Centre Winnipeg) wanted to know whether the degrees to be granted by this university would be good in Canada or in China. Hon. A. B. Copp, Secretary of State, said that he thought the bill did not go beyond the powers of Parliament, and Mr. Meighen agreed that it was not unusual for the Canadian Parliament to incorporate institutions to carry on their operations in another country. Mr. Woodsworth, however, pressed his objection, recalling that a charter had been refused to the Frontier College last session, and he was supported by A. W. Neill (Independent, Comox-Alberni). In the absence of the sponcor, Mr. Ryckman, the bill was then allowed to stand over.

RIOTOUS SCENE AS CONVENTION REFUSES SMITH

Battle of Ballots Continues With Sixty-seventh Still a Deadlock.

EFFECTIVE VETO.

Democrats Turn Down Their Thumbs on Suggestion to Hear Candidates.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 5.— (Canadian Press).—Demonstrating their power of veto, the McAdoo forces in the Democratic national convention yesterday defeated a proposal to invite their candidate to appear and speak before the delegates, and then as promptly and as easily, defeated a counter proposal that Governor Smith be allowed to appear and speak for a half hour.

But the McAdoo people did more than defeat a resolution; they demonstrated that they have more than one third of the votes in the convention under their control and that they are in position to use them effectively to veto the nomination of any candidate they choose. The Smith people, although they were on the losing side of the resolutions voted upon, demonstrated also that they are in possession of the same veto power and in position to force it.

Thus, an attractive looking proposal that both leading candidates exhibit themselves before the convention, really was the vehicle for demonstrating once again, as on the Ku Klux Klan issue that the McAdoo forces and the anti-McAdoo forces are in a seemingly hopeless deadlock.

Once more yesterday the Convention began its proceedings with a stormy scene ,this time over whether it should reconsider its decision not to hear Governor Smith address it.

At the opening of last night's session Chairman Walsh had read a letter from W. G. McAdoo suggesting that the convention hear Governor Smith as it had declined to do at the conclusion of the afternoon session.

Gavin McNab, of San Francisco, a McAdoo man, asked unanimous consent that the afternoon's action be reconsidered and immediately precipitated one of those riotously stormy scenes where have been characterized by hundreds of men shouting at one time, and Chairman Walsh banging the heads off gavels as fast as they could be supplied. The Smith people shouted down the suggestion with such cries as:

"You've insulted the Governor of this State once and now you want to do it again," and, "who's running this convention anyway the convention or some outsider out in 'California?"

Finally, on demands for the regular order, Chairman Walsh ordered the resumption of balloting.

On the sixty seventh ballot they stood this way:

McAdoo, 490; Smith 336.5; Davis, 75.5; Scattered—196 Total —1,098.

This was a loss of five for McAdoo; a loss of two for Smith, and a gain of one for Davis.

BRITISH EMPIRE PROMOTES PEACE

No Countries So Fitted To Do Spade Work as Those in the British Commonwealth.

OTTAWA, July 5 (Canadian Press). — No countries in the world to-day were in a better position to carry on the spade work of the promotion of world peace than the five nations of the British Commonwealth, with the free co-operation of th United States, Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador to the United States, told the Canadian Club here yesterday in his first adlress before a Canalian audience.

The Ambassador stated emphatically that he did not believe the appointment of a Canadian Minister at Washington would indicate any future break-up of the British Empire. The Canadian Government's right to make such appointment would never be questioned.

"Should a Canadian Minister be appointed, it will be my duty, honour and pleasure to assist him in every way in my power," said Sir Esme.

COAL INVESTIGATION.

Documents Filed Show Cadomin Coal Co. Asked For Inquiry.

WINNIPEG, July 5.—(Canadian Press).—Documents were filed yesterday with the Royal Commission inquiring into contracts for the supply of coal to the Department of National Defence at Winnipeg to show that the Cadomin Coal Company had requested the Ottawa authorities on July 27 last to investigate the kind of coal that was being delivered to Tuxedo Barracks.

The Cadomin Company claimed they had only shipped from their mines a little more than 2,293 tons while the local officers had reported to Ottawa that the full tonnage of the contract with the Canadian Coal Sales Company, amounting to 8,450 tons of Cadomin, had been delivered.

HARMONY ENDED.

Robert Forke Told That Reorganization May Bring Re-union.

OTTAWA, July 5. — Four more Progressive members of Parliament have withdrawn from attendance at the Progressive caucus, at least for the present session. These are in addition to the six who notified Robt. Forke, Progressive leader, of their intention two weeks ago. In their letter to Mr. Forke, the latest group of seceders, besides announcing their with withdrawal from caucus for the present, express the view "that a proper re-organization of the group would result in increased harmony and efficiency and might bring about re-union."

The four who signed the letter sent to Mr. Forke last night are: W. C. Good (Brant); G. G. Coote (MacLeod); P. Elliott (Dundas), and W. J. Ward (Dauphin). The text of their letter to Mr. Forke is as follows:

"As our names have been associated in recent newspaper despatches, with those of the seceding members of the Progressive group, and as there has been a demand that we should define our position, we herewith make the following brief statement:

"In the first place we should like to say that we are in large measure in agreement with the statement of principles and viewpoint issued by the seceeding members. In the second place as regards the work of Parliament we have been for a long time in active and regular collaboration with most of the seceders, and believe it our duty to continue that collaboration. For the remainder of the session therefore we think it better to discontinue our attendance at the Progressive caucus. We believe further that a proper re-organization of the group would result in increased harmony and efficiency and might bring about a re-union. We sincerely hope that such a desirable re-organization may take place before the work of another session begins."

PUBLIC WORKS ESTIMATES.

OTTAWA, July 5 (Canadian Press). — The House of Commons in committee last night took up the estimates of the Department of Public Works.

A re-vote of $22,000 for the dredging of Yarmouth Harbour in Nova Sotia was passed ,and the committee considered estimates for harbours and rivers in Prince Edward Island.

TROPICAL HEAT OVER PRAIRIES

Medicine Hat Leads the Cities With 102 in the Shade.

MANITOBA LOWER.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 5 (Canadian Press). — Western Canada continues to swelter in a tropical heat wave which at many points has boosted the mercury well above the century mark.

The temperature has slightly moderated in British Columbia and in Alberta, while weather reports indicate that a shallow depression is passing eastward over Saskatchewan.

Medicine Hat, Alta., topped the Western cites wth 102 degrees n the shade, while Grand Forks, B.C., enjoyed a slight respite from Wednesday's peak of 109, the thermometer dropping to 101 degrees in the shade yesterday.

At Empress, Alta., the century mark was reached.

Several districts in Alberta and in Saskatchewan registered well over the 90 mark, although in Manitoba the highest point reached was 87 degrees at Portage La Prairie.

In Winnipeg the temperature went as high as 84 degrees.

The forecast for to-day is for continued fair and warm weather, with scattered showers predicted for the Prairie Provinces.

G.W.V.A. URGES REORGANIZATION

Says Board of Pension Commissioners Should be Removed From Office.

COMMENDS ROSS.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 5. (Canadian Press.) — In thorough agreement with T. W. Humphrey, progressive member for West Kootenay, the St. Catharines branch of G.W.V.A. has telegraphed the Dominion command G.W.V.A. and the parliamentary committee its support of his notice of motion that the present personnel of the board of pensions commissioners should be removed from office, especially in view of the fact that the board of pensions commissioners have practically nullified legislation providing for an appeal board, by re-appealing decisions of thec appeal board. To extent of 2371 applications for appeal made 635 have been heard and only 118 finally settled within the last year. Commendation to General A. E. Ross for his stand for an alteration of the present pension to prevent further injustice and hardship to exservice men is given in the same telegrams, which confirm his declaration that hundreds of deserving veterans, through their desire to remain on duty as long as possible, have been denied pensions owing to incomplete medical history ,they having accepted battalion treatment at the waggon lines rather than leave the battalion or battery for medical service treatment. The St. Catharines branch of the G.W.V.A. expresses thorough accord with this statement which is a matter of common knowledge among exservicé men.

KEEP FINNISH LANGUAGE.

Finnish Lutherans Refuse to Unite With Germans of Same Creed.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., July 5.—(Canadian Press) — By a decisive vote taken in convention here yesterday, the Finnish Evangelical Lutheran National Church of America declined the invitation of the Missouri Synod of Lutheran Churches to unite with them. Objection was taken to the Union for several reasons. It was said, chiefly that the Finnish Evangelical Lutheran National Church wished to continue a national language institution. The Churches in the Missouri Synod are German Lutheran. The vote was unanimous and followed considerable discussion in the Finnish language.

BARONETCY WAS WORTH $750,000

Says Solicitor in Stewart Party Funds Controversy in England.

GRAVE CHARGES.

LONDON, July 5. — (Canadian Press Cable).—Extraordinary statements concerning the alleged gift of £50,000 to party funds was made at a meeting of creditors of Sir John Stewart, the Scottish whiskey dealer who shot himself in February last.

The Trustee of the estate said Stewart's affairs were in a state of extreme confusion and from a source beyond question it has been learned that the deceased had contributed £50,000 to party funds. The amount however had been repaid and distributel among the creditors. The trustee refused to state to whom the £50,000 had been paid by Stewart.

"Was that £50,000 paid to Lloyd George " he was asked. The Trustee replied that he had not the faintest idea.

A solicitor acting for a creditor, said steps would be taken to make the trustee divulge where the money went. He added: "I do not believe £50,000 was the utmost paid for that baronetcy. It was more like £150,000 for I know the price of baronetcies in the past.'

The chairman remarked that probably £50,000 might have been sufficient at the time. He added that he knew some of this money had come back.

Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan, Tells London He Has Been Well Treated.

LONDON, July 5. — (Canadian Press).—"I have been treated very well in the land of my adoption," declared Premier Dunning, of Saskatchewan, when lunched by the Overseas League yesterday, "but no better than anyone who to-day goes to Canada animated by the same willingness to work. Continental peoples are clamoring at Canada's gates. I am no advocate for shutting the gates against those not of our own blood. This would be futile and impossible although Canada prefers British stock."

LIGHTNING SETS FOREST ABLAZE IN NORTH WEST

Excessive Heat Had Prepared Bush For Electrical Torch Yesterday.

ROUGH COUNTRY.

Some of the Scores of Fires Are in Almost Inacessible Points.

CALGARY, Alta., July 5.—(Canadian Press).—Following days of excessive heat, a "dry" electrical storm has swept through the interior of British Columbia and set the forest alight in dozens of places. News received by the headquarters of the forestry service in Calgary yesterday told of forest fires in many places in the railway belt west of the Alberta boundary.

While northern Alberta forests are burning in many places conditions on the reserves, including the Brazeau, Clearwater Bow and Crow's Nest, are still normal. No fires are reported but the hot weather has increased the fire hazard.

A week ago the railway belt in the vicinity of Revelstoke and Kamloops was clear of fire. On Thursday a severe electrical storm swept through the mountains and left a path of blazing trees.

Yesterday Revelstoke reported one large and five small fires burning. The large fire is on the slopes of Mount Tilly, immediately above the town. The lightning fires were started for the most part high on the mountains and are working down.

Many of them are in extremely rough country and it is necessary to make trails through the bush in order to begin fire fighting. The hazard has increased in the Golden area and extra patrols are on the job.

At Sicamouse three large and seventeen small fires are burning all the result of the storm. The large fires are near Enderby on Joss Mountain and on the North fork of the Eagle river. Firefighters are now on their way into these fires but the country is almost inaccessible. Kamloops reports seven small railway fires which are being fought at present. On the coast there is only one fire in the railway belt and it is under control.

The large fire that started Sunday at Sturgeon Lake is still burning and big gangs of men are being rushed in. Another bad fire is burning on the Wapiti river, south of Grand Prairie, Alberta. Pumps are being sent in to fight this blaze.

The exceptionally hot weather has turned what were considered good fire conditions into a dangerous hazard and the forest service patrols are making every effort to cover the country under their supervision. Conditions in the Bow Reserve are better than anywhere else in the west at the present time.

CONFERENCE ON POWER PROBLEM

Delegates From Canada to World Convention Present Interesting Papers.

OIL FROM COAL.

LONDON, July 5 (Canadian Press Cable). — At the World Power Conference yesterday one discussion in which the Canadian delegation manifested keen interest was that of the conversion of coal into oil.

B. F. Haanel, chief engineer of the Fuel Testing Division of the Department of Mines, said that there were great hopes held that this might prove the solution to the liquid fuel problem which shortly will become very grave.

Other speakers expressed the opinion that the chances of success for the commercial application of such processes were remote.

Mr. Haanel described the work done in Canala concerning the carbonisation of lignite coal, and said that Canadian lignites were different in chemical and physical properties from those of Europe.

The consensus of the debate was that the days of utilisation of raw coal were numbered ,and that all the ccuntries would have to first extract the valuable by-products, leaving a residue suitable for domestic fuel purposes.

There was considerable discussion regarding the utilisation of peat, the Canadian delegation agreeing entire-

Charge of Piracy on High Seas Brings Out Story of Rum Row.

MONTREAL, July 5. — Canadian Press. — The charge of piracy on the high seas which is being heard against Captain Samuel C. Forde of New York, in the courts here, has been held over until Tuesday next.

The story unfolded in the enquete court here by John M. Isaacs of Winnipeg, now resident in Montreal, was one that has not become uncommon since the bootleg "grand fleet" took to manoeuvring in "Rum row" off the United States coast.

According to the testimony of Mr. Isaacs, the British ship Lutren sailed from St. John, N.B., on October 9, 1923, with a cargo of 4000 cases of liquor, valued variously at between $80,000 and $100,000. Her master was Levi Plessner, and the registry port of the Lutzen was Hamilton, Bermuda.

Isaacs testified that he had shipped on board of the Lutzen "in a spirit of adventure" and went only "as a sort of passenger."

Two days out from St. John, according to Isaacs, he and a supercargo, Morris, were held up in their cabin by the first and second mates, and the second engineer of the Lutzen. They were handcuffed and imprisoned in the ship's chain locker. That evening the vessel being about 30 or 40 miles out from New York, Captain Samuel Forde came on board. By that time the Lutzen h l entirely changed her appearance, having been altered in color from battle ship grey to black; fake wireless had also been rigged up. At two o'clock in the morning Isaacs and Morris were taken to Forde who informed the prisoners that they were in his power, that the cargo had been sold, and that if they did nto do what they were told he would "drill holes in them."

Forde ,according to the witness, passed himself off as a "man-killer," but that everything was fixed with the "best lawyers in New York City, the politicians and the men with the pull."
